Another great jazz festival

The tradition continues

By J.P. Crumrine
Editor

The 19th Annual Jazz in the Pines has come and gone, but the beautiful memories will linger forever, wafting through our minds along with all the mellifluous sounds heard those two days.

This year's Jazz Fest illustrated the crossroads of several jazz stories. For example, Kenny Burrell, the guitarist, has been playing since the 1930s. He enchanted the Holmes Amphitheatre audience on Saturday. Then Sunday, Ray Goren, a 12-year-old blues guitarist, took control of the crowd in much the same way.

"This is jazz. Seeing how it evolves from one generation to another," said Bubba Jackson, artistic consultant and emcee. Saturday's headline performer, Gordon Goodwin, naturally encouraged the crowd to return next year, but he challenged them to bring someone "10 years younger and introduce them to this special music and amazing festival."

While the pre-event jitters concerned Festival Chair Marsha Lytle, by Monday she knew the 2012 event was quite successful in all dimensions — financial, musical and in service.

"The preliminary gate figures indicate that Saturday was bigger than 2011," she said. Although the initial pre-sales figures raised doubt for Lytle, the gate receipts and an unexpected surge from town sales have been better.

"We may not match last year's gift to the school, but who knows, it's early," she said much more optimistically. "I'm more pleased than I expected."

Of the performers, Lytle's favorite was Mary Stallings, 71. "I really love female, vocal jazz."

The bus service from the desert was successful, too,

Labor Day weekend fun

By Grace Reed

As summer draws to an end, Idyllwild is gearing up for a busy weekend, full of fun things for everyone to do. Come and enjoy community-wide yard sales, Idyllwild-style, with art and music.

It's time to grab the Town Crier yard sale map and plan your routes for three days of bargain shopping. You never know what collectables and treasures await you.

The 18th, annual Mountain Community Patrol (MCP) yard sale will be held Friday and Saturday, August 31 and Sept. 1, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 54185 South Circle Drive. Proceeds from the sale benefit MCP, a nonprofit organization whose members provide public safety services on the Hill.

Back by popular demand is the David Salk pottery sale. You'll find "imperfect but still nice" pottery, Saturday and Sunday from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. at 53960 Lower Pine Crest.

The Art Alliance of Idyllwild (AAI) is adding a new twist to the community-wide yard sale weekend — a free art and treasures festival at the Idyllwild Community Center where you can listen to music and watch artists create works that will be available for sale at artist-direct pricing. Special treasures are being offered throughout town. Look for AAI posters in participating merchants' storefronts and restaurants in town. Mention the Arts & Treasures weekend to receive your special treasure, Friday through Sunday. For more details see the AAI ad on page 16 or visit www.artinidyllwild.org.

There's still more art to be had. The Acorn Gallery will be hosting an reception for artist Kelsy Gray featuring her latest work: "Los Angeles 'Phase 1'"... Saturday, Sept. 1, from 12:30 p.m. to 2:30 p.m. The Acorn Gallery is located next to Cafe Aroma. 659-5950. See ad page 16.

The Idyllwild Nature Center will be busy both Saturday and Sunday. For details see the story on page 15.

Sheriff's Idyllwild sweep nets 12 arrests

Department is building additional leads

By Marshall Smith
Staff Reporter

The Riverside County Sheriff's Department conducted an intensive week of raids and interrogations in Idyllwild that resulted in 12 arrests. The police operation began Monday, Aug. 20, in response to a rapid escalation of property crimes in greater Idyllwild over the last year. Hemet Station's Lt. Dean Agnoletto coordinated the action. By Monday, Aug. 27, 12 individuals, mostly local Hill residents, had been arrested and charged.

Each person was charged with suspicion of having committed a violation of the law. Subsequent court proceedings determine whether there will be convictions on the charges.

"We are building a case on the local burglaries," said Hemet Station's Sgt. Jim Wilson. "There are more persons of interest out there and there will be more arrests. These people are damaging their own community and we are going

Probation and community service for jury tampering

By J.P. Crumrine
Editor

In July 2010, Christopher V. Hillman was convicted of seven counts of attempting to influence the jury during the Raymond Oyler arson murder trial the previous year. On Friday, Aug. 24, Judge Larrie Brainard sentenced Hillman to 36 months of formal probation.

He must perform 300 hours of community service and file proof of its completion by Aug. 26, 2013. He also must pay fees and fines totaling nearly $6,800.

Hillman is Oyler's brother-in-law. In March 2009, Oyler was found guilty of igniting the 2005 Esperanza Fire, which killed five U.S. Forest Service firefighters.

During Oyler's month-long trial, it was interrupted one day when jurors discovered and reported fliers on their car windows. The material referred to the possibility of another arsonist.

Hillman was arrested in August 2009 following a six-month investigation. His trial for jury tampering began in July 2010. About a week later, jurors found him guilty of trying to influence a juror.

Within a month of Hillman's conviction in 2010, trial Judge Brainard had concerns about the adequacy of Hillman's defense.

In April, a three-judge panel overturned Judge Brainard's decision to grant Hillman a new trial.

Convicted murderer given 26 years to life

By J.P. Crumrine
Editor

In May, a Riverside County jury found Angela Shaver guilty of first-degree murder. The victim, Paul Cline, then 60 and a resident of Old Cary Road in Anza, was found dead in March 2006.

On Aug. 17, the court sentenced Shaver to 25 years to life in state prison for Cline's murder. The court added two more years to its murder sentence because the jury found enhancements — the use of a deadly weapon to commit a felony.

However, the judge had to grant Shaver credit for time she spent in jail since her arrest as part of the final sentencing. Those 2,341 days amount to about 6 years and 5 months.

On the evening of March 21, 2006, investigators from the Riverside County Sheriff's Hemet Station responded to reports of a theft at Cline's residence and served a search warrant at the residence.

During the search, evidence supported the search warrant for theft and indicated that Cline had been the victim of murder. Cline's body was found during a nightlong investigation of his home and a nearby hillside north of Bautista Road in Anza.

Hiker fatality at Humber Park

By Marshall Smith
Staff Reporter

On Thursday, Aug. 23, the Riverside County Fire Department/CAL FIRE reported the death of a male hiker on the Ernie Maxwell Trail. Responding personnel performed resuscitation efforts but the man was pronounced dead at the scene.

A Sheriff's Department press release later in the day stated Hemet Station had received a call for assistance about a hiker "passed out and unresponsive on the trail." The release noted CAL FIRE responded to the location and found the man in full cardiac arrest. Riverside Mountain Rescue Unit responded and assisted with recovery of the deceased hiker.

The County Coroner's office assumed control of the investigation and has not yet released the hiker's identity.

Changing the building permit process

Editor:

A few months back, I circulated a petition asking for a revision of the building permit process to handle certain things that needed to be fixed.

Mostly I focused on the cost and complexity of the process.

In about a week, 100 people signed the petition and I subsequently met with [3rd District] Supervisor [Jeff] Stone to submit the petition. He seemed to lend a sympathetic ear and then passed the petition on to someone on his staff who dealt with such issues.

It seems like time to give a report to the people who took the time to sign the petition.

I have not heard anything back on the petition, but I had taken a local architect along to the Stone meeting and he had had some positive results. Supervisor Stone had apparently transferred the prior head of Building and Safety, who had refused to give an extension of a permit to someone who had a stroke and who probably would have had to abandon the house he was building. This seems to be progress in the area of responsiveness, but leaves the other issues untouched.

My next meeting with Stone is in a month.

Since I sincerely believe our local economy is being depressed by the permit process, I intend to connect up with other areas in Riverside County and urge them to circulate their own petitions to get relief.

Final thoughts

The ARF Idyllwild mayoralty election was in June. These will be the final letters and comments about that race. It is time to turn to the future.

I encourage readers to focus on the November election which will be in less than 70 days.

If you prefer local topics, then Max's leadership and re-election campaign can be addressed next spring.

You will see periodic interviews with the Mayor about the job and town.

ARF dedicated to the lost animals

Editor:

I'm sorry. You have reached a number that is disconnected. If you are trying to reach the Animal Rescue Friends of Idyllwild, they are no longer in service. Due to lack of donations and volunteers, ARF will not be open and all calls will be forwarded to Animal Control. Good luck.

Is this true? No. Could it ever be true? Yes.

ARF is a small rescue, not a shelter, dedicated to the rescue of locally lost, unwanted and abandoned pets.

This vision is carried out by a small handful of volunteers. The generous donations from our community, grants, and fundraisers cover our yearly budget. We do survive from year to year. There is no promise that our doors will stay open without the dedication of our supporters.

Our beliefs and goals lean heavily towards the positive, using calm assertive energy when needed, both with the humans and the four-leggeds. Negativity is not tolerated in our organization, towards other humans or animals. Which includes verbal abuse, vicious behavior, slander, physical contact, threats and idyll "wild" gossip.

Our primary job is to ensure a rescued cat or dog is adoptable. We do this through positive training, love, kindness, health care, endless hours of administrative duties, walks, leash training, foster reviews, home inspections, and an emotional investment as well.

We will not welcome anyone who cannot abide by this mission.

They will not be welcomed at the ARF house, be involved in ARF events, and nor will their donations be accepted.

This negative energy is sensed immediately by our animals, and that takes us four-paws back.

The decisions we conclude are based on discussion, intelligence, positive reinforcement, and ultimately, what is best for our ARF orphans.

And the mayoral race was just that — a positive "fun"draiser for the community and its animals. The end result was a successful fundraiser for ARF and a four-legged representative for ARF for the year.

Idyllwild now has Mayor Max, which put us on the map, and a human spokesperson for ARF. Her loyalty to the rescue is never ending, her energy is positive, and her networking skills and time spent are commendable.

We can't make everyone happy. In one breath, I'm hearing that all of that campaign money for Max should have been given to ARF. But the next breath contradicts that — arguing she should have not been allowed to give so much money to ARF.

Her continuing support is shown monthly with updates of where the ARF mayor has been and what education he is giving to the community. It's not all about "Max" it's all about Max being the spokesdog for ARF.

Regardless of the physical contact, slander, and vicious remarks thrown at her, Max's human stands for ARF.

So, freedom of speech is what brought this on. I just ask that before you speak, make yourself aware of the whole story, because we have more important things on our agenda than babysitting. Our animals need our attention, and truthfully, I'd rather spend it with them.

Some people talk to their animals.

Not many listen though. That's the problem.

ARF accepts donations

Editor:

For the record, Idyllwild Animal Rescue Friends (ARF) is most definitely accepting donations and truly needs them.

Madelaine's writing of ARF's quote "We are no longer accepting donations" was truncated. It should have read, "We are no longer accepting donations from you [Madelaine]."

While seemingly incredible for any nonprofit to refuse a donation, ARF did so for good reason.

Confirmation of ARF's willingness to accept donations can be gained by sending them one.

ARF accepts donations 2

Editor:

ARF is definitely accepting donations, just not from Madelaine Barnett Cresswell. This is because of Madelaine's very poor behavior regarding the election.

I was recently contacted by ARF who let me know that they are no longer associating with Madelaine due to her very poor behavior since the election. They did not tell me what Madelaine did to lose her status at ARF, but I personally witnessed her causing scenes, ranting, and telling lies at both the 4th of July parade and also at the inauguration. Others have also called me and apologized for her behavior.

Madelaine didn't like losing the election, and all this post-election drama she is causing is just proving that more and more. Had she won the election for Hogan, there wouldn't have been a peep.

Madelaine continues to intentionally harm ARF by publishing false statements in the newspaper. Of course ARF is accepting donations. I have continued to donate to ARF since the election,

Idyllwild Botany

By Dave Stith

The journey to Jean …

This botanical season has unintentionally become one of personal firsts for both Tom [Chester] and me. Three out of the last four hikes have been to areas on the mountain that we had never been to before. It began when we learned that there was a route to Deer Springs.

This information kindled a desire to explore the ridge between Marion Mountain and San Jacinto peak, which includes some of the the highest elevations in the San Jacintos.

Our latest hike took us to the second highest peak in the San Jacintos Mountains — Jean Peak. Our route from the tram had us following along with the many others hiking to San Jacinto Peak who also were not deterred by the thunderstorm forecast.

We had a long commute to our destination, but near the bottom of Round Valley Meadow we couldn't resist stopping to watch a doe and her two adorable fawns intently feeding in the lush green undergrowth.

The trail between Wellman's Divide and Miller Mountain passes through a broad drainage and originates at the saddle between San Jacinto and Jean peaks. The saddle was the bridge we planned to take between the two peaks. Our mileage would be less if we could go directly up the drainage; but from our vantage point on the trail, it appeared unbearably steep. Reluctant to deviate from our original plan, we continued along the trail toward San Jacinto Peak.

Instead of taking the short spur trail to San Jacinto Peak, we took a left turn off trail toward the south. Unfortunately, the route was not obvious from the trail. After one dead end and some indecision, we were able to make our way around a rocky outcrop and down into the saddle that separates the two peaks.

From there we picked up a trail of cairns leading toward Jean Peak. When they veered off to the east, we chose not to trust them — not wise decision.

Instead we took a more direct route up another rocky outcrop. Tom and I both had the same thought that this was not an endeavor that one would want to take on alone.

We were having doubts that we would reach the peak before our allotted time ran out. Yet, the desire to identify a plant we could see just a little farther above us spurred us onward. From there, we eventually emerged from the rocks and could see some familiar landmarks. We rejoined the trail of cairns. A combination of relief and exhilaration filled us when we finally reached the summit.

The long hike from the tram and the off-trail route-finding left us with only a few minutes to do some field botany work. That was ample time to identify the handful of familiar species at the peak. As uninteresting as that may sound, in science we say "negative data are still data."

One interesting observation from the summit was that the majority of the limber pines were on the west side of the ridge while the lodgepole pines were on the east side. We will have to see if this generality holds true anyplace else.

We then faced the task of finding our way back to the trail. We started by following the cairns from the summit. After a short distance, they seemed to be going in the wrong direction, we lost sight of them, we started to contour back toward the saddle, and then we found another trail of cairns heading down.

I could see the drainage that we pondered from the trail earlier in the day, and Tom noted from his GPS that we were as close to that point as we were to the point where we exited the trail near San Jacinto Peak. Confident that there was a fairly safe short cut off the peak, with a new resolve, we descended the steep slope of Jean Peak to the trail below saving us both time and distance on our return hike.

Back on the trail, we discussed a curious observation about our mountain springs. On the west side of the mountain, between Deer Springs Camp and Little Round Valley, numerous springs create flowing streams that must and the donations have been warmly received. You can easily prove this to yourself by stopping by ARF with a donation or mailing one in.

Please remember this always: Positive energy leads towards life. Negative energy leads towards death. Madelaine has continued to create negative energy for ARF. They are right to sever their connection.

Can't we all just get along?

Editor:

The first three letters of "fund" are "fun."

Obviously, since Madelaine did not win the election, she's not having a lot of fun. She's a very angry person.

I can understand that. When you have hopes and dreams of winning, and you don't, it can often be disappointing. However, that does not mean that your opponent needs to be wrong or be attacked for winning.

Part of the problem here is that the ARF "fun-drive" is not and was not intended to be a general political election where it's one vote for one person. This "fundrive" and its rules are not actually an election in the truly democratic sense of the word. The rules of this "fun-drive" were set up for maximum donations to be allowed, not one vote for one dog.

It benefits ARF for multiple individual votes and for large donation voting because it allows for ARF to get much more in donations. But clearly, do not compare ARF's "fun-driving" rules with a regular election because it's apples and oranges.

The rules of the game determine how the game can be played. If I were ARF, I would not change the election rules to thereby get less donations. When you go to a museum, they have plaques in the lobby, and the people who make the biggest donations have larger plaques. It's almost the most common thing in our world that people who do more, donate more, contribute more, and are acknowledged more. There is nothing wrong with contributing. It's not a crime to contribute. It's encouraged and validated throughout our society.

If Phyllis's dog, Max, had not been in the election and Madelaine's dog, Hogan, had won the election, I doubt that Madelaine would want the person who came in second to be attacking Madelaine.

I have found in my personal life and have a personal policy not to project hostility because the more you project anger, hostility, and resentment, it tends to come back at you. The election is over. The results were according to ARF's rules, and my wish for Madelaine is for her to be at peace with herself and move on to bigger and better things because being angry at others just contaminates one's peace of mind.

The true meaning of giving

Editor:

The true meaning of giving must come from the heart.

Yes, Ms. Mueller was indeed extremely generous with her ARF donation — unfortunately leading to much controversy.

Extreme amounts of money were spent by her for the election, "Max for Mayor" which certainly could have added to ARF's coffers — but of course it was Ms. Mueller's money spent as she felt.

As I have previously written, this generous donation was grossly misdirected. Donations should be given "from the heart" directly to ARF not for the benefit of electing Max as mayor.

All other 15 candidates worked very hard raising funds to benefit our wonderful four-legged friends. This is what it was all about.

Addressing the letter written Aug. 23 by Mr. Dernehl who apparently lives "off the Hill," your research deserves a D- (and I am being extremely generous). Research the facts and learn the "true meaning of giving."

Thank you dear ARF for having allowed us to have been a part of your wonderful organization, may you keep up the great work, the animals and Hill need you.

This is my final letter saying all I have said. We will now put our efforts into deeds not words.

Idyllwild has a Little Free Library

Submitted by Mark Salter

Mark and Sally Salter are excited to be the stewards for a Little Free Library, which is a national movement.

"We initially stock the library with a variety of good quality books that we hope will interest our neighbors," Mark wrote in his own press release. "We are concentrating on children and young adult fiction, crime fiction, nonfiction and science."

Friends and neighbors stop by and take whatever catches their fancy. They return and bring books to contribute. Little Free Library books are always a gift — never for sale.

Little Free Library is a movement started by Todd Bol of Hudson, Wisc., and Rick Brooks of Madison, Wisc., in 2010, and has grown to include little libraries in most states and dozens of countries.

Little Free Library's mission is to promote literacy and the love of reading by building free book exchanges worldwide.

Besides literacy, the Little Library movement, of which there are more than 3,000 locations in the U.S., tries to foster a sense of community and connection as proponents share skills, creativity and wisdom across generations.

The library is located at 25264 Cougar Road in Fern Valley and is available 24 hours a day.

New lieutenant at Hemet Station: Dean Agnoletto

By Marshall Smith
Staff Reporter

In March of this year, Dean Agnoletto was promoted to the rank of lieutenant and posted at Hemet Station. He replaced Lt. Geoff Raya, who had been promoted to captain and given the command of the Indio jail facility.

Agnoletto's police background is in special teams of all sorts — SWAT, homicide, gang task forces and special enforcement. He said he got into law enforcement straight out of college because it gave him a career in which to use his mind to solve crimes and make use of his athleticism while working the job.

Agnoletto grew up playing ice hockey in Niagara Falls, Ontario, Canada. He attended college in the United States on a soccer scholarship. He played soccer at both Azusa Pacific University and Concordia College from which he graduated with a bachelor's degree in management. At Concordia he captained the soccer team. He is married with children.

A pivotal event in Agnoletto's professional life, which reveals much about him as an individual, occurred in September 2002. As a detective assigned to the Palm Desert station, he was dispatched to an incident where a mother had killed her three-year-old daughter and attempted to kill her five-year-old daughter. The five-year-old, Gracie Cervantes, had been shot multiple times and had had her throat cut from ear to ear. First responder firefighters who found her lifeless were astonished when she moved and gasped for air. Agnoletto was assigned to interview Gracie. "I just don't understand how someone can compromise parental trust," said Agnoletto. The interview with Gracie formed what Agnoletto describes as a lifelong friendship and commitment to the young girl. "The more I interacted with Gracie, the more I learned what a difficult life this five-year-old was living," he said. "It was clear that Gracie and her little sister had had to fend for themselves."

Agnoletto opened a college trust fund, the Gracie Cervantes Trust Fund, through the Riverside Sheriff's Association. He has staged fundraisers and to date has raised $35,000 for Gracie's education. "She's 14 now, great at soccer and happily living with an adoptive family," said Agnoletto. He was quick to note that his fundraising drive continues in high gear, given rising college tuition costs even at California state institutions.

"I've always had a soft spot for children, especially abused children," said Agnoletto. "I will always be in her [Gracie's] life and will be there for her."

In 2006 the Riverside County Sheriff's Department honored Agnoletto with a humanitarian award for his continued devotion to this young survivor.

to find them."

Two arrested on the first day of the sweep are already entered in the judicial system in Superior Court records. The more recent arrests are not yet in the system. Daniel Plott, arrested Monday, Aug. 20, remains in jail on $25,000 bail, charged with felony violation of probation and a narcotics violation. His next scheduled court appearance is on Tuesday, Aug. 28, at the Southwest Justice Center in Murrieta.

Harry Dennis, arrested the same day, was released after pleading guilty to possession of drug paraphernalia. He was sentenced to pay court charges and restitution fines totaling $200.

Additional arrests, through Monday, Aug. 27, include seven people arrested for suspected felonies and three for misdemeanors (see box listing those arrested for felonies). The three misdemeanor arrests include two men from Idyllwild charged with being under the influence of drugs or alcohol, and one man from Cabazon charged with being in possession of burglary tools.

Wilson said further investigations could lead to future felony charges for those arrested for misdemeanors as well as arrests of additional persons of interest. "Other leads are being developed and this operation will continue to unfold," he said. "It's important the community knows these are the people who are casing properties that are being broken into."

On Monday, Aug. 27, deputies met with Idyllwild real estate agents to update them on the growing crime wave and how to "harden" homes they have listed or represent in order to prevent break-ins and thwart potential burglars.

Hemet Station deputies have also begun recovering stolen property from at least one location and are notifying owners if the property carries owner identification.

One of the steps Wilson recommends to help expedite return of stolen property is to etch or inscribe valuables with name and or California driver's license number, or if the item is boxed, at least print identification information on the box. That information has already led to the return to some owners of recently stolen property.

Shannon Houlihan Ng is new Idyllwild librarian

By Marshall Smith
Staff Reporter

Shannon Houlihan Ng brings impressive credentials to her new position as head librarian for the Idyllwild Library. She has a master's degree in Library and Information Science (MLIS) from UCLA, an undergraduate degree in English (Cal State San Bernardino), with additional postgraduate studies in English, a secondary teaching credential in English and a librarian services credential in progress. She has worked for nearly 20 years in the library science field, with emphases on acquisitions and programs for young people.

She brings a passion for expanding outreach to teens and younger readers and plans to make use of the new library's state of the art technical facilities to grow that outreach. "I want to reach young adults using the new tools that are available," said Ng. She is also facile with social media and will be able to utilize that media to reach younger audiences.

The new branch library in Strawberry Plaza, scheduled to open in October, is cutting edge, and Ng plans to use the library's new features and equipment to increase use of and interest in the library facility. "This library will be more user driven," said Ng. "New features include self checkout, more computer stations, separate teen and children's areas, a fireplace lounge and quiet reading area for adults and a study room that can be reserved." Ng envisions the study room as a large private area that could be used by home-schooled students or local study groups. She will also educate users in the library's new features and systems.

Ng said she is looking forward to Idyllwild's small town life. She is, as she said, an Air Force "brat" where most of her father's assignments were in smaller towns. "I feel more at home in a small town atmosphere," she said. "It's nice when everybody knows everybody and you know where you fit in." Ng is now staying with friends locally but is looking forward to finding her Idyllwild home. Having gone to high school in southern Illinois, she said she is not intimidated by the prospect of an Idyllwild winter. "I'm very familiar with snow," she said.

Ng's resume, in addition to chronicling a strong professional background, details her commitment to volunteering. "Volunteering is essential to everyone's character," she said. "It's the strong part of being a citizen." Ng is an American Red Cross CPR trainer and has been active with the American Cancer Society's Relay of Life, the National Charity League and has served for many years, in many leadership capacities, as a volunteer with the Girl Scouts of America. The United Way of the Inland Valley recognized Ng as Volunteer of the Year, the California State PTA conferred its Honorary Service Award, and the Girl Scouts of America, San Gorgonio Council honored her as Outstanding Volunteer.

Architects complete final checks at library

By Marshall Smith
Staff Reporter

Representatives of HMC Architects, Ontario and Hamel Contracting, Inc., conducted inspections of the new Idyllwild Branch Library in Strawberry Plaza on Wednesday, Aug. 22.

Clipboard in hand, Evan Troxel of HMC moved throughout the new structure on a "punch walk," asking questions of Dave Celani, Hamel foreman, and noting items requiring explanations or small adjustments. Troxel had a list of items to check or punch to show satisfactory completion or record what needed further attention.

This is a preliminary procedure before turning the library over to the Economic Development Agency and Friends of the Library for installation of furnishings and transferring books from the old library location and stocking the new. The library's grand opening is scheduled for 3:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 23.

There is no soft opening according to Tom Freeman, press spokesperson for EDA. "The contractor will finish up in the next few weeks with minor punch list items," said Freeman. "Library collections will start to be introduced to the new library location next week for placement on shelving. Cataloging the new and existing circulation will take some time. And library furniture is scheduled to arrive the first week in October."

Freeman said the new library will be "more than ready" for the grand opening.

Outside Idyllwild

By Bruce Watts

Reliving summer through pictures …

As Labor Day approaches, signaling the end of summer, I find myself looking back at all the fun things that I had the pleasure to see and photograph this year.

For yours truly, it was indeed the summer of nature photography. I went from snap shots of lakes, mountains and the occasional flora and fauna to my first attempt to catalog all the wildflowers that I encountered during the spring and summer season.

On my "learn as you go plan," I was able to get some good macro shots with my inexpensive point and shoot camera. With the opportunity to use more advanced cameras, I actually started to learn some of the basics, for example, the rule of thirds, ISO, white balance and how to read a histogram.

If I keep it up, I might actually begin to comprehend the whole process and how everything is interrelated. Who knows, maybe someday I will switch to manual mode and actually control the whole process.

Camera equipment aside, the real thing I liked about the summer was the sense of wonder about seeing things on a small scale again. Like a child out looking at bugs and butterflies, birds, flowers, clouds and mountains, I was in awe of Mother Nature.

I combed the mountain, lakes, streams, meadows and the forest floor, where I found wildflowers of every color and shape imaginable. From the smallest mere speck of white to the giant candlestick century plant, I completely focused on seeing it all. Even while driving up and down the mountain I could spot flowers that were not yet in my photo collection and I would stop to take a shot or two.

Half of the fun of discovering "new-to-me" wildflowers was identifying the species and learning their family and where they grow and more. I probably learned about fifty scientific names as well, but I still have a way to go until I have them all in my memory banks.

Some of the highlights in the plant world for me this year were teasels, scarlet monkeyflowers, bush poppies, orchids and evening primrose. The latter is every bit as showy as the lemon lily but a lot more common. I even found evening primroses in my back yard.

On the bird front, I was able to photograph a blue heron. I saw the Western tanager for only the second time in 35 years. I took videos of hummingbirds as they buzzed around a field of scarlet penstamon. Unfortunately, I failed in almost all my other attempts at bird photography.

Next year, I'll fill my yard with birdfeeders and birdbaths and add a nice comfortable chair to watch the action.

When you start photographing flowers, sooner or later you also will be including butterflies and bees as they are feeding and gathering pollen. It took about half the summer before I got my first decent photo of insects but it was well worth the effort.

Finally, I would like to thank Miss Wyoming for being my partner on all my photography excursions. Miss Wyoming has now returned to Gillette but we had a summer of fond memories with the highlights being our walks around Lake Fulmor.

Chamber directors face lawsuit alleging fraud

By Marshall Smith
Staff Reporter

Directors of the Idyllwild Chamber of Commerce face a suit in Superior Court that charges them with fraud. The complaint, filed Aug. 6, charges directors with fraud and alleges that directors "had actually embezzled the majority of the Chamber's Monument Preservation Fund."

The complaint, filed "Pro Per" (Latin for "propria persona," "for onself") ostensibly by "Harmony" carver David Roy, continues, "[Chamber directors] absconded with it [monument preservation fund], misappropriated the money, and engaged in a cover-up in the face of donor inquiries as to the use of the donations held in trust by the Chamber and its Board members."

When Roy was asked if he drafted the complaint or filed this suit he said, "Actually Ken [Carlson] is suing the Chamber." Roy said Carlson would be representing him in court to recover $1,500 due him for labor and materials, which Roy expended preparing the "Harmony" monument for its dedication last month.

When asked if he agreed with the embezzlement charges contained in the complaint, Roy said he wasn't specifically aware of them but said he had only received $4,000 in payments from the Chambers former President Nick Todd, not the $6,000 shown in Chamber records of checks issued to Roy.

Carlson was asked in a telephone inquiry if he drafted or filed the complaint. He said, "My name's not on it." When asked if he would be representing Roy in court, Carlson said he could not comment on his relationship with Roy.

The complaint acknowledges there was no formal contract to pay Roy; but it claims the Chamber hired Roy to apply a protective coating to "Harmony." No "labor price was specifically identified." The agreed price for a service rendered is considered an essential part of an enforceable contract. The complaint therefore seeks the $1,500 for the reasonable value of services rendered and materials supplied.

Chamber Director David Jerome denied the complaint's allegation that he "made the specific representation to Roy that he would be paid for the … work."

The complaint was filed in Superior Court, not small claims court, because it also seeks punitive damages against all named directors (David Jerome, Chris Titus, Lanny Hardy, Gary Taylor, Peter Buhl and Mike Lackey) and others yet to be named, because of "the fraudulent nature of their misconduct." The complaint alleges that Chamber directors acted together to defraud Roy of funds due him and conspired to cover up funds missing from the monument account.

Chamber directors cannot now comment on advice of counsel, according to Titus. A case management conference is scheduled for Jan. 24 before Commissioner Kathleen Jacobs.

Strange but true

It's well-known that there were shortages of many items during World War II — and caffeine was one. It was such a problem, in fact, that the chemists at Coca-Cola tried to find a substitute, even experimenting with a derivative of bat guano. The idea was nixed by an executive who was afraid of the public backlash if the truth ever came out.

Town Jazz brackets festival

By Marshall Smith
Staff Reporter

The Second Annual Town Jazz served up breakfast, cocktail and dinner jazz as a complement to Jazz in the Pines. Impresario and local jazz icon Marshall Hawkins summoned his jazz family and long time collaborators for the three-day event. They came, they played and they provided not just bookends to the more established festival on the Idyllwild Arts campus, but some truly exquisite jazz.

There was a little something for each musical taste, with a cast spanning generations of players. Bob Boss and Graham Dechter joined legendary guitarist Mundell Lowe. Billed as "Three Guitars" the group played at the Creek House and Jo'An's Restaurant, two of the five-featured Town Jazz venues this year. Lowe, like Hawkins, has played with many of the great names in jazz, including Billie Holiday, Charlie Parker, Charles Mingus, Stan Getz, Sarah Vaughan and many others.

Another Town Jazz coup, according to Jared Dillon at Idyll Awhile Wine Bistro, was jazz harpist Lori Andrews. "She brought in a lot of people both days," he said. "We were packed. People loved it."

Of the effort to assemble the musicians and field them to five venues, Hawkins said, "I think it was worth the journey. For me, the opportunity to listen to other people play was a gift.

Hawkins said that Sunday was the biggest success of the three-day Town Jazz event. "I designed it that way, knowing that Sunday at Jazz in the Pines was often slower. But primarily this was for the town people." Many townspeople showed up for the Three Divas (Yves Evans, Melissa Morgan and Sherry Williams) at Jo'An's on Sunday night. Casey Abrams, who had played at Café Aroma Saturday, was a featured guest with the Divas. "We would have enjoyed more from the three ladies," said Annamarie Padula, noting that the three started later than originally scheduled.

Aroma's Frank Ferro said weekend business was great but for him the best part was more personal and also generational. Said Ferro, "It was seeing the old guard, Marshall, Mundell Lowe, Yves Evans hanging out with Casey, Graham, and Melissa Morgan on my deck before the Idyllwild Arts alumni group started playing. Kind of what the story of jazz is — passing it from one generation to the next."

Nam Park, Mile High Café owner, said that they were very busy when the Town Jazz musicians were playing at her business. "We were very happy." Lanny Hardy, Creek House owner, said he and Lorraine had a special moment to listen to the rehearsal of the Three Guitars on Saturday afternoon. "We both sat down with a glass of wine and drank in the music. It was incredible," said Hardy.

Hawkins mentioned the highlight of the event, produced by the Idyllwild Chamber of Commerce, was a moment at the Creek House with Mundell Lowe, 20 years Hawkins' senior and a guitar trailblazer. "He leaned over after we had played through all we had rehearsed and said, 'O.K. Chief, is that it?' He called me 'Chief.'" Hawkins was overcome with the tip of the hat from this esteemed jazz veteran. And then the group launched into the ballad "I Should Care," on which Hawkins played a long and sweet bow solo on the bass. "It is the story line for me, about jazz, about this event and about that moment," said Hawkins. The last line of the song, which Hawkins quoted for this interview, is "I should care, and I do."

"I'm a lifetime member of the associates that produce Jazz in the Pines," said Hawkins. "That is a very short list and I'm proud to be on it. I've always been in support of Jazz in the Pines and I always will. It's just about the music and the kids."

Cats, dogs, and rattlesnakes beckon visitors to Nature Center

By Sally Hedberg

For a family-fun Labor Day weekend starring cats, dogs and reptiles of all kinds, take a trip to the Idyllwild Nature Center. Join volunteers from ARF (Animal Rescue Friends of Idyllwild), Living Free Animal Sanctuary and Hope to Home for Cats as they introduce many of their adoptable friends to the public.

The special animal day is from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 1. The Nature Center is located at 25225 Highway 243.

ARF has been in the Idyllwild community since 1994. Its mission is to educate people about responsible pet ownership. Besides being spayed or neutered, all ARF animals receive necessary shots and other veterinary care as needed before adoption.

The Living Free Animal Sanctuary in Mountain Center was founded in 1980. Emily Jo Beard purchased the land for a sanctuary to save cats and dogs from imminent shelter euthanasia.

All the animals at Living Free go through intensive training and observation to make sure they get along with kids and other pets. The staff matches the animal's personality and needs with the adoptive person or family. Edgar Santiago, Living Free Dog Trainer, will be on hand to demonstrate and give tips on training dogs.

Hope to Home for Cats, also a nonprofit, finds permanent and loving homes for cats that have been tested for and are free from feline leukemia and feline AIDS. They are vaccinated, parasite free, spayed or neutered. The adoption fee is $85, which is a tax-deductible donation. The staff knows the kittens and cats well and can recommend the right pet for your family.

Even if you aren't adopting, these groups will gladly take tax-deductible donations that go toward saving the animals.

Dr. Bill Hayes, Professor of Biology at Loma Linda University, will be speaking the next day. His presentation, from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., Sunday, Sept. 2, is titled, "Roam the Realm of the Regal, Reclusive, Recoiling Reptiles."

Hayes's focus will be on the behavior, ecology and conservation of venomous animals, including rattlesnakes, scorpions, spiders and centipedes.

Participants can touch a live rattlesnake (whose head is in a tube.) Bill's presentation, which includes a slide show and maybe a live Gila Monster, is kid-friendly and funny.

The only costs for the events are the nominal Riverside County Parks day use fees. For more information call (951) 659-3850.

The beginning of a legend

By J.P. Crumrine
Editor

For the 2012 Jazz in the Pines, Ray Goren, jazz guitarist, returned with his own group.

Yes, a 12-year-old prodigy guitarist heads up his own jazz quartet. And they love him.

"When he's playing, he's great," exclaimed bass Jamie Silverstein. "I don't think of him as a 12-year-old."

In 2011, Goren played a few songs with Deacon Jones, but this year he led his own group and sang as well.

His father, David, said the desire to sing was one of the reasons Ray wanted to branch out. He was not satisfied just being called to sit in and play a few songs, then step off the stage.

When asked about his long-term goals, Ray said, "I want to make it." Then what more could he want than his own group. "I'm not as big as I want to be," he replied.

"How big is that?" he was asked. "Huge!" he said with determination. And Bubba Jackson has said Ray told him, "I'm going to change the face of the blues." To achieve these milestones, Ray acknowledged that much hard work and practice would be necessary.

He began his musical career playing the piano, but shifted to the guitar only two years ago. He practices two to fours a day. On school days, it is less because of homework assignments, said the seventh grader.

"Every time I see him, he's better," Silverstein said. "It's incredible to see him grow in front of you."

The drummer, Lamont Syndor, who plays with the Jacksons, met Ray at an event for Jaime Foxx. "I was floored," Syndor said.

"His talent is limitless," he said. "In the last three months, so much feeling and growth in his playing."

Snydor wasn't exaggerating. He lost a night's sleep to get here to play with Ray.

After his Saturday night gig in Reno, he drove to San Francisco, flew to Los Angeles and then rented a car to drive to Idyllwild.

according to Lytle. She plans to repeat it next year, but ensure that it is advertised earlier so people are more aware of it. Cardiff buses, the company providing the festival vehicles, is supporting of continuing it, she added.

But one major change will unfortunately occur. Ted Cummings, long time chair of the festival's logistics, has decided 2012 was his last year. Cummings, known for his thorough planning and preparation, will still be involved in other Idyllwild events. Typical of his mien, he has spoken to some people about trying to fill his shoes next year.

The festival attracts both new jazz fans and returning fans. Howard and Danielle Cook were at the head of Saturday's line to attend their first Jazz Fest.

"I've been to Idyllwild and Danielle wanted to visit," he said. "So I looked up the Jazz Fest and said she'd love it."

Jazz musicians were unanimous in their praise for the event. Local jazz players Barnaby Finch and Paul Carman both expressed their pleasure performing in front of hundreds of ardent jazz aficionados.

While both men play in town frequently throughout the year, they separately described the festival's audience as special and people who truly want to listen to great jazz. "Great listeners," was Finch's description.

Appearing for the first time in Idyllwild, Sweet Baby J'ai was totally captivated by the audience. During her performance, she walked among the audience and challenged them to sing with her. Then baptized them the Idyllwild Jazz Gospel Choir, which brought loud cheers and applause.

IMAGINE THIS!

It's 9:00 in the morning and you're listening to the radio as you're washing the breakfast dishes. Suddenly the radio blares out the EMERGENCY WARNING that a large earthquake has hit the Salton Sea area. Seconds later you feel a tremendous vibration up through your feet and then everything starts SHAKING, and ROLLING, and ALL YOUR DISHES START FLYING OUT OF THE CUPBOARDS.

You're thrown to the floor where things continue hitting you as they are thrown about. The noise is deafening and you realize you're screaming. Your baby is in his crib - you hope! - and he's screaming. Your other children are in school and you wonder if the school is safe. Your husband works off the Hill and you're absolutely terrified for him, your children, and yourself.

Suddenly the shaking stops and there's a minute of eerie silence.

You try to stand up and find your leg is twisted and may be broken.

WHAT DO YOU DO NOW?

Come to either:
DAS-C (St. Hugh's Episcopal Church at S. Circle & Taqhuitz Dr. or
DAS-B (Mountain Resource Center on Franklin Dr. off Hwy 143)
at 9:00, Saturday, Sept 8th to learn more.

be crossed. On the east side, between San Jacinto Peak and Wellman's Divide, there are none. Most of the streams on the west side originate from springs, while many of the streams on the east side originate, or at least condense, from meadows or cienegas.

One of the reasons for doing these high elevation hikes is to compile a list of plants found above 10,000 feet elevation in the San Jacintos. So far the list contains just 26 species, but 10,000 feet is an arbitrary limit. During our Deer Springs and Poacher's Camp surveys, we found an additional dozen species that reach their upper limit within 100 feet of 10,000.

Of interest to me is whether or not there are onions just below the gravelly surface that will reveal themselves in the spring. Not only would it add one more species to the list above 10,000 feet, but their habit of growing in great profusion would contribute significantly to the known biomass of the area. They (Burlew's onion) have been vouchered as high as 10,062 feet in the San Gabriel Mountains. So it seems feasible considering the large amount of habitat found along the 10,000 foot ridge line in the San Jacintos.

If you have any additional comments, observations, or explanations related to the state of the lilies, contact Dave Stith at dradrph@aol.com.

Just below the Jean Peak summit, one can see where they deviated from the cairns and wandered around in the rocks and almost aborted their attempt. Town Hall Adult Softball Town Hall Sports Coordinator Jeremy Teeguarden reported on Town Hall Adult softball for Championship Week of Aug. 20.

Ajax upset regular season champions and defending champs, Creekstone Inn, to win the 2012 Town Hall Adult Softball championship.

In a tight, 14-10 victory in the final game of the series, Ajax again claims the championship — its sixth trophy since 2006. Creekstone ended the Ajax run of five consecutive softball championship last year, but couldn't start a streak of its own.

Hitting superlatively, Jenny Espinosa drove in the first run of the game in the top of the first inning. She continued to scorch the ball throughout the game.

Ajax jumped to an early five-run lead. But Creekstone Inn started chipping away at the lead immediately. Josh White drove in a run with a deep sacrifice fly as Creekstone scored two runs in the bottom of the first.

An Ajax scoring situation was lost when Creekstone's Brennan Priefer turned a double play in the top of the second. And Creekstone stranded another runner on third in their half of the inning.

In the bottom of the third inning, Creekstone claimed the lead with five runs. The key hit was White's three-run homerun.

Ajax, behind Raymond Marcus's two-run homer in the top of the fourth tied the score at 7 runs each.

Creekstone re-took the lead in its half of the fourth with one run.

In the top of the next inning, Ajax recaptured the lead for good with four runs. Charlie Clayton got the go ahead hit When the fifth inning ended, Ajax still had the lead 11-10.

They scored two in the sixth with Art Torrez's homerun and another in the top of the seventh while holding Creekstone scoreless in both innings to claim the championship, two games to one.

Creekstone had won the first game of the series (10-3) and Ajax won the second (16-14) to setup Thursday night's season ending championship game.

Golf

Jim Crandall, Palms to Pines Golf Association handicap chair, provided this report on the Friday, Aug. 17, golf tournament played at The Country Club at Soboba Springs.

The day was very hot and muggy, but the course was in excellent shape.

Playoffs

In the first round of the match-play playoffs, John McAndrews (course handicap 37) beat Crandall (9) four holes up with three to play. Gary Leong (14) bested John Brower (8) one up after 18 holes. Bob Stearns (19) and Robert Priefer (23) battled it out toe to toe all day and finally wound up with a tie, so they'll play another round before the next tourney to determine the winner. As will Chuck Alkire (13) and Bill Ragland (13), since they could not play their match.

In an unfortunate turn of events, after the tournament the Palms to Pines Golf Associations discovered that the Southern California Golf Association will not allow any player with a handicap of more than 24.4 to play in the Tournament of Club Champions. Therefore, McAndrews, with a handicap of 37, won't be able to continue in the playoffs, which will affect the semi-final round of the local association's playoffs.

Instead of playing McAndrews, the winner of the Alkire and Ragland match will get a bye in September.

The other September semi-final match will pair Leong against the winner of the Priefer and Stearns match.

Regular 2012-13 Tournament

In the first regular tourney of the 2012-13 season, Pete Capparelli (22), Mike Feyder (22), and Bill Sanborn (26) tied for first place with net 65s. Priefer was alone in fourth with a net 70, and Gary Brown (15) and John LoGiudice (22) tied for fifth with net 71s.

The four closest-to-the-pin contests were won by Priefer, Ragland, Feyder and Scott Schroeder.

After the new season's first tournament, here are the point standings:

Place	Golfer	Points
Tied for 1	Capparelli	4.83
	Feyder	4.83
	Sanborn	4.83
4	Priefer	2.5
Tied for 5	Brown	1
	LoGiudice	1
Tied for 7	Brower	.5
	Crandall	.5
	Chris Kramer	.5
	Leong	.5
	McAndrews	.5
	Ragland	.5
	Schroeder	.5
	Dan Slattery	.5
	Stearns	.5
	Les Widerynski	.5

Points are awarded at each tournament as follows: first place, 6 points; second place, 4 points; third place, 3 points; fourth place, 2 points; fifth place, 1 point. In addition, one-half point is awarded to everyone who participates.

The club is a member of the Southern California Golf Association and is sanctioned to establish SCGA handicaps for members.

If you are interested in joining the club or playing as a guest, please contact Jim Crandall at jim.crandall@verizon.net or (951) 265-5732, or Pete Capparelli at pete@capparelli.

Triathlete Whitman competes in nationals

By J.P. Crumrine
Editor

Idyllwild resident Bill Whitman competed in the 2012 USA Triathlon Age Group National Championships on Aug. 19. He did very well.

Whitman finished sixth against 70 men in his division and 73rd out of a total of 1,024 competitors.

In the Sprint division, he swam 750 meters, rode a bike for 20 kilometers and then ran 5 kilometers. His overall time was one hour, five minutes and 19 seconds.

"By far the most competitive race I've been in all year," Whitman wrote in an email to the Town Crier. "Only 14 seconds separated fourth through ninth place."

The event was in Burlington, Vt.

Whitman has long been a member of Team USA. But he maintains his racing form each year. In June, he finished first in his age group at the Ventura Breath of Life Sprint, in which he was also ninth overall.

A month later, in July, he finished third in his age group and 30th overall (out of more than 1,000 competitors).

J.P. Crumrine can be reached at jp@towncrier.com.

Quote of the Week

"Rules of living: Don't worry, eat three square meals a day, say your prayers, be courteous to your creditors, keep your digestion good, steer clear of biliousness, exercise, go slow and go easy. Maybe there are other things that your special case requires to make you happy, but, my friend, these, I reckon, will give you a good life."

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Your loving reassurance helped revive a once-moribund relationship. But be wary of someone who might try to do something negative to reverse this positive turn of events.

PUBLIC NOTICE
ORDINANCE NO. 61
AN ORDINANCE OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE IDYLLWILD WATER DISTRICT, COUNTY OF RIVERSIDE, STATE OF CALIFORNIA
DECLARATION OF MANDATORY RECYCLED WATER USE

WHEREAS, the people of the State of California have a primary interest in the development of facilities to recycle water containing waste to supplement existing surface and underground water supplies and to assist in meeting the future water requirements of the state (California Water Code, Section 13510).

WHEREAS, conservation of all available water resources requires the maximum reuse of recycled water for beneficial uses of water (California Water Code, Section 461).

WHEREAS, continued use of potable water for agricultural irrigation, construction use, landscape irrigation, landscape and/or recreation impoundments and certain other non-domestic water uses may be an unreasonable use of such water where recycled water is available (California Water Code, Section 13550).

WHEREAS, the state policies described above are in the best interest of the Idyllwild Water District (the "District" or "IWD"). The District is dependent on surface water and groundwater for domestic and non-domestic uses. The supply and the reliability of these supplies can vary. By developing and utilizing recycled water, the impact on surface water and groundwater can be reduced. In light of these circumstances, certain uses of potable water in the District's service area may be considered unreasonable or to constitute a nuisance where recycled water is available. Reference is made to uses as set forth in paragraph 3 above.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE IDYLLWILD WATER DISTRICT DOES HEREBY ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

1. The Recitals set forth above are incorporated herein and made an operative part of this Ordinance.

2. Section 35423 of the California Water Code empowers the District to establish, print and distribute equitable rules and regulations for the sale and distribution of water, inclusive of recycled water.

3. The Board of Directors of IWD, pursuant to the authority set forth in the Recitals, desires to establish a specific policy and procedures for the mandatory use of recycled water within its service area as well as certain other related uses.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE IDYLLWILD WATER DISTRICT DOES HEREBY ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. Findings

Findings set forth above are incorporated herein as findings of the Board of Directors of IWD.

Section 2. Policy

It is the policy of the District to provide reliable and energy-efficient water services in a customer-oriented and environmentally responsible manner. In light of this policy, it is the intent of the District that recycled water shall be used within its service area wherever such use is economically justified, financially and technically feasible and is not detrimental to public health, safety, and welfare, and the environment. The District will offer recycled water that is surplus, to the needs of the recycled water customers within the District's service area for such uses outside the service area of the District by agreement with the retail water purveyor.

Section 3. Recycled Water Use

a. Mandatory Use: The following types of uses shall generally require recycled water: agricultural irrigation, construction use, landscape irrigation, landscape and/or recreation impoundments, and wildlife habitat, these being called "mandatory" types of use. Use of potable water for mandatory recycled water uses shall be prohibited where recycled water is available and offered by the District to the property and the use of recycled water for the mandatory use is economically feasible.

In order for the District to provide District-wide recycled water service in an efficient and economical manner, the District must identify and convert to recycled water service as much of the suitable uses within the District as possible. Where recycled water service is available and economically feasible, the District may require existing customers to convert to recycled water for mandatory types of uses being served potable water by the District. The District will require applicants for new water service to provide for separate recycled systems for mandatory types of uses associated with future development that would otherwise be served potable water, where recycled water service is currently available to the property or planned for the near future. The only exceptions to the use of recycled water shall be based upon a finding by the District that conversion to, and use of, recycled water would not be economically feasible or that use of recycled water presents a special public health or safety concern.

b. Exceptions: The only exceptions to use recycled water under these conditions shall be based on the judgment of the District in light of special public health concerns or established through the adopted appeals process set forth in Section 6 below whereby a waiver for recycled water service is obtained by the prospective user.

c. Authorized Use: The user may apply for recycled water service for the following types of uses, where such use does not create an unacceptable risk to public health and safety: commercial use for toilet and urinal flushing, fire suppression and irrigation (including nurseries), and for appropriate industrial process, these being called "authorized" types of use. The District encourages but does not mandate use of recycled water for authorized uses.

d. Permitting: Regardless of the type of condition or use, all prospective users shall successfully complete the use permit application process detailed within the regulations of the District governing the use of recycled water, prior to receiving recycled water.

Section 4. Funding Requirements

Funding requirements for the various offsite and onsite recycled water facilities require capital and operating expenditures. The District shall seek the most advantageous financing for offsite facilities construction and, at its discretion, develop fiscally responsible programs to assist users with their financing efforts for requisite onsite facilities construction or conversion. The District shall seek the most economical operation and maintenance of the offsite facilities and encourage users in conservative operating practices.

Section 5. Recycled Water System Implementation

a. General: The Recycled Water system will be implemented through several actions, including those listed below.

b. Rules and Regulations: The District shall maintain regulations governing the distribution and use of recycled water, including specifications for the construction of on-site recycled water facilities.

c. Standard Specifications: The District shall maintain the Standard Specifications for the construction of off-site facilities. These shall include narrative and drawings that may be referenced for incorporation by project-specific construction documents.

d. Public Awareness Program: The District shall maintain a comprehensive water reclamation public awareness program.

e. Coordination Among Agencies: The District shall continue to examine the potential for a coordinated effort between the District and other neighboring agencies and to share in utilization of recycled water.

Section 6. Procedures for Determining Mandatory and Authorized Recycled Water Service

a. Customers with Existing Potable Water Service: The District shall make a preliminary determination, based on existing and planned extensions of the recycled water distribution system, as to which existing IWD potable water customers it is economically feasible to convert to the use of recycled water. The District shall provide notice to the existing customers regarding that determination, and provide information on the cost of conversion and expected savings to the customer from replacing potable water uses with recycled water. The District shall review any customer objections to the proposed conversion to recycled water service; entertain appeals, and provide a waiver if circumstances warrant. The District shall assist customers to complete the application process where waivers have not been granted in accordance with this Ordinance.

b. New Water Service Application: All applicants for new water service from the Idyllwild Water District shall provide the District, at the time of requesting a new water service installation, all necessary information requested by the District concerning the uses of water through the proposed connection, to enable the District to make a determination whether the proposed development will qualify for mandatory recycled water service. The District shall provide notice to the applicant regarding that determination and provide information on the cost.

The District shall review any customer objections to the proposed recycled water service, entertain appeals, and provide a waiver if circumstances warrant. The District shall assist customers to complete the application process where waivers have not been granted in accordance with this Ordinance.

c. Customers with Alternative Water Supply: The District may approach or be approached by prospective user(s) within the District's regular service area who currently utilize an alternative to the District's recycled or potable water supply and who desire recycled water service. The District shall then make a preliminary determination whether the existing service(s) can be converted to the use of recycled water and shall provide notice regarding that determination along with a request for a letter of intent from the prospective user(s). The District shall assist customers to complete the application process.

d. Customers Outside Regular Service Area: Although IWD customers will always be considered first, the District may approach or be approached by prospective user(s) outside the District's regular service area who currently utilize an alternative to the District's water supply and who desire recycled water service. The District shall then make a preliminary determination whether the existing service(s) can be converted to the use of recycled water and whether any legally conflicting service arrangements, express or implied, exist, and shall provide notice regarding that determination along with a request for a letter of intent from the prospective user(s). The District shall assist customers in completing the application process.

e. Notice: Whenever the District has made a preliminary determination that use of recycled water is mandatory or authorized; the District shall provide written notice to the prospective user(s), of the District's preliminary determination. Such notice shall include, as a minimum: descriptive information about the planned recycled water system, user responsibilities under the rules and regulations governing the use of recycled water, current recycled water pricing, and an explanation of the customer's right to request reconsideration or a waiver.

f. Reconsideration and Waiver Process: Within thirty (30) days from the date of a notice of determination by the District that a customer will be required to convert to recycled water service, the customer may request reconsideration of the determination or waiver of the requirement. The request for reconsideration or waiver must be in writing and specify the reasons for the objection. A request for reconsideration or waiver must be based upon facts indicating that the conversion to recycled water would not be economically feasible, or would present an undue risk to health and safety, or that under the particular circumstances; the requirement of use of recycled water would impose an unreasonable hardship or burden upon the customer.

Unless a request for reconsideration or waiver is submitted in a timely manner, the preliminary determination shall be final. District staff shall review the request for reconsideration and shall confirm, modify or abandon the preliminary determination. Upon issuance of a final determination by District staff, the prospective user(s) may appeal the determination to the General Manager of the District. The District shall issue a waiver to the prospective user(s) where its objection or appeal is successful.

g. Recycled Water Use Permit Process: Upon a final determination by the District that a property shall be served with recycled water, the prospective user(s), owner or applicant shall obtain a recycled water use permit in accordance with the application process detailed in these regulations.

h. Temporary Use of Potable Water: At the discretion of the District, potable water may be made available on a temporary basis until recycled water is available.

Before the applicant receives temporary potable water, a recycled water use permit as required in Section 6, must be obtained for the onsite recycled water distribution facilities. Prior to commencement of recycled water service, an inspection of the onsite facilities will be conducted to verify that the facilities have been maintained and are in compliance with the recycled water use permit and current requirements for service. Upon verification of compliance, recycled water shall be served to the parcel for the intended use. If the facilities are not in compliance, the applicant shall be notified of the corrective actions necessary and shall have thirty (30) days to take such actions prior to initiation of enforcement proceedings.

Section 7. Costs of Conversion to Recycled Water

a. Customers with Existing Potable Water Service: A potable water customer, with an existing connection to the District's potable water system, who is required by the District to use recycled water for mandatory uses, shall bear the cost for those modified or additional facilities on the customer's property which are necessary to convert such uses from potable to recycled water.

b. New Water Service Application: Applicants for new water connections, regardless of whether the property was previously developed or is newly developed, will be required to bear the entire cost of those facilities required to accommodate recycled water for all mandatory uses, and, if desired, any authorized uses.

c. Customers with Alternative Water Supply: For an existing water use site, the cost for those modified or additional facilities not necessitated by conversion from potable to recycled water shall be borne entirely by the potential user(s).

Section 8. Enforcement

a. Enforcement Methods: The District may implement all enforcement methods and penalties otherwise provided in these regulations to any violator of the terms of this Ordinance.

b. Water Service: Water service will not be provided to new applicants for water service from the District unless and until they have complied with the requirements for installation of a recycled water system for mandatory uses and complied with all requirements of the Districts Rules and Regulations.

c. Recycled Water Conversion: Where recycled water is available in offsite facilities, if after one hundred and eighty (180) calendar days from the date of the District's final determination under Section 6, the prospective user has not completed required onsite conversion work, then, in addition to those penalties set forth in subsection (a) above, the District shall impose a surcharge of its potable water rate in effect at the time of violation, such surcharge to be included in the customer's monthly billing.

Section 9. Validity

If any provision of this Ordinance or the application thereof to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the remainder of the Ordinance and the application of such provisions to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

Section 10. Severability

If any portion of this Ordinance is for any reason held invalid or unconstitutional by any court of competent jurisdiction, such portion shall be deemed separate, distinct and independent provision and such holding shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions hereof.

Section 11. Publication

This Ordinance shall be certified by the Secretary of IWD and the Secretary is hereby ordered and directed to publish said Ordinance as set forth within one week for publication two weeks in the Idyllwild Town Crier, a newspaper of general circulation published in Riverside County, California, pursuant to the provisions of Section 35424 of the California Water Code.

Creature corner

By Mimi and Hootch

Reunited this week were canines Sage, Reno, Jack and Oscar. Hurray and paws up for making it back home.

It's the new kids on the block! Introducing Bo Peep, a black and white, long-haired female; Pearl, a calico female; and Vincent, a long-haired, gray and white male.

New to the ARF house, but up to old tricks, they are learning basic motor skills such as climbing the kitty tree, hanging on with one claw, and flying across the room onto someone's shoulder. Hide and seek is a favorite, as is the famous wrestling move of one paw take down. Napping and eating are always favorites, as is being held and petted.

Each have their own personalities already. Bo Peep clearly needs room to run, and Vincent likes an equal playmate. Pearl, our calico, is up for a little cat and mouse play, but for the most part, she has already learned the enjoyment of window watching. They are 8 weeks old and ready for you.

Calypso is a female calico and almost 4 months old. She has learned to trust and is welcome to the human hand. She is still up for some playtime, but welcomes her quiet moments in the cat tree simply bird watching. What a great forever cat she will be. Her colors are unique.

Gremlin is a playful 9-week-old male kitty. He is friendly with all the kittens in the nursery, litter box trained, and not a meower. His gray color is astonishing, and he already knows the beauty of window watching. Gremlin is ready for a forever home.

Betty Boop is a young chug, pug/Chihuahua mix. She comes with her own faux fur wardrobe and a pink crate. Yep, it's pink. Small enough for your arm or a purse, she wants to be near you thru your daily ventures and sleep close in the nite. An absolute dream on the leash, potty trained, and not vocal. If you seem to be missing that special someone, Betty could be it. She is good with other dogs, not the feline crowd.

ARF has many cats and dogs available for adoption or fostering. Go to www.arfidyllwild.weebly.com and click on Petfinder. All pets are spayed, neutered, and current on shots. ARF is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sundays. Call (951) 659-1122 or email info@idyllwildarf.org for appointment on any other day.

Creature corner is sponsored this week by Roxi du Dog, who has found her forever home. To sponsor the column, call Shane Fender at the Town Crier, 659-2145.
