Big band blasts Fourth

BY MARSHALL SMITH
CORRESPONDENT

Ken Dahleen opens the 14th season of Idyllwild's Summer Concerts, the first on the Fourth of July, with his Big Band Staff.

Dahleen and his board of directors have been providing free summer concerts since 2000, when Pete Capparelli and Vic Sirkin donated what is now the Village Centre shopping mall property for the first concert season. "We started with four concerts that year," said Dahleen. "For our first concert we had about 200 people and over that summer the number of attendees grew. We knew then people were interested."

Over 13 seasons, at Village Centre, the State Park and now at the Idyllwild Community Center site, interest and attendance has continued to grow, with some of the concerts over the last two seasons drawing as many as 1,200 people.

'Grammy' is leaving the Hill

BY MARSHALL SMITH
CORRESPONDENT

Longtime community volunteer Bonnie Doshier, known as "Grammy" to the many children at the Idyllwild Library's story-time sessions, is leaving the Hill in mid-July.

Doshier, who has lived full-time in Fern Valley since 1995, epitomizes the volunteer spirit that supports so many services to the community. In addition to her work for the Friends of the Idyllwild Library, for 15 years as a reader for the children as well as serving during various periods as Friends hospitality and volunteer coordinator, Doshier has been active in the Idyllwild Area Historical Society, the Philanthropic Educational Organization ("the nutty ladies"), Mountain Quilters of Idyllwild and the Community Presbyterian Church where she taught Sunday school.

Doshier was part of the Friends committee that visited new libraries throughout the county as designs for the recently completed new Idyllwild Library were being made and revised by HMC Architects of Ontario. As a result

Bill Sanborn leaves school district board

By J.P. CRUMRINE

Tuesday, June 18, was Bill Sanborn's last Hemet Unified School District board meeting representing Idyllwild for 22 years. His colleagues praised and thanked him for his work on the board and held a reception for him.

"I'll miss it and these people and being part of something," said Sanborn. "It really matters."

In April, Sanborn announced his intention to resign his school board post effective July 1.

Sanborn and his wife, Andrea, have their home on the market and plan to return to Minnesota.

Alex, their youngest son, graduated from Hemet High School in May, and will matriculate to Northwestern College in St. Paul, Minn. and play football. His parents will follow him. Their new abode is about two hours from the football stadium.

Alex, Ben, Emily and Kelsey, their children, all attended HUSD schools, including Idyllwild.

Butterflies of Idyllwild ...

Their life cycle is truly magnificent, from tiny egg, to larva, to caterpillar, to silk cocoon and finally they metamorphosize into butterflies. Butterflies: The word itself has a magical sound. In their relatively short time as adults, they feed and mate and the whole process starts over again.

I enjoy taking photos of beautiful wildflowers and I enjoy it even more when a butterfly decides to land on said flowers. It is one thing to get a great shot of one or the other but my favorite photographs are the ones that capture both together.

When an orange Mylitta Crescent butterfly lands on a blue woolly Eriastrum flower and stays long enough for me to get a shot, knows what a swallowtail looks like: a large butterfly with yellow and black markings, blue dots on the lower wings and, of course, tail extensions that give the swallowtail its name.

The Western tiger swallowtail is easy to spot because it is the biggest — up to 5.5 inches — and has the brightest yellow coloration of any butterfly on the Hill. The close relatives are the anise — smaller and more black — and the pale swallowtail — smaller with wingspans at about 4 inches and paler yellow in color.

Other things to know about the tiger swallowtail is that it flies from spring to fall and that it hosts (lays its eggs) on sycamore, willow and cottonwood trees. Females are larger than males. The butterflies feed on the nectar of many different flowers. The males usually patrol a territory looking for receptive females, which explains why they seem to fly around in circles and chase after any other swallowtail that comes into their flight path.

Of course, you can find out all this by buying a butterfly guidebook or going online, but for telling the differences between the sexes and seeing the color patterns on both the top and bottom of the wings, the best place to look for information on local butterflies is the Nature Center. The Nature Center has a display that shows the local butterflies mounted in three cases.

The display is laid out by family and usually shows the butterflies from the top and bottom, as well as male and female. This makes identifying each species much easier. Be sure to ask to see the key as the butterflies are listed by number.

The patience part of the equation is something I don't have much trouble with as I am out shooting wildflowers anyway, so if a butterfly happens to come by, it's like frosting on the cake. However sometimes the butterflies are just not into landing at all, or if they do touch down they take off again before you can get close enough to take their picture, which brings us to the luck factor.

Knowing everything about a species and its habits will only take you so far in your quest for the perfect butterfly photo op. To be continued.

Sanborn

during his years as a trustee are some of the benefits of the job, Sanborn said. "When it's good and you respect each other, it's great. While we haven't always agreed, it was OK to disagree. It's a democracy."

He modestly accepted the board's praise, stressing that he was always a member of the team and the team's mission was to support the children.

Respect for the public and its views stands out as Sanborn talks about his work on the board and with the district. For example, when asked about specific accomplishments, he immediately discussed HUSD's new board room. The room seats several hundred people, with the board dais in the front and modern audio-visual technology.

"It's as big as it is because the old board room was about a quarter of the size and people would have to stand outside of it," he said. It is used almost daily for meetings, training and other sessions. Sanborn served on many board committees, but it was his contributions as a member of the Facilities Committee that he describes.

"I'm not an educator or attorney," Sanborn, an engineer, explained. "One thing I do know is building and engineering, so I can add my 2 cents there." A manifestation of his Midwest heritage is noticeable when he adds, "I'd rather do it right the first time than change it in five years."

Reminiscing on his tenure, Sanborn admitted that he won't miss the drama. He felt some disagreements became too personal, but he accepted the public's right to vent beyond the substance of the issue. He also acknowledged occasionally the board's closed sessions would highlight people's capability of doing "really silly things sometimes," but he didn't supply any examples.

Over the two decades, Sanborn worked with six different superintendents and admired all of them. "Each superintendent had their own strengths and each was different."

Former Superintendent Dr. Phil Pendley was a true team builder, according to Sanborn. And Dr. Steve Lowder, who followed Pendley, focused the district on curriculum in his brief tenure.

"He got us on track with the Common Core [State Standards] and we're about a year ahead of other districts," Sanborn said proudly.

But all the work, all the meetings, all the relationships would not have been possible without the help of Andrea, Sanborn emphasized. "The unsung heroes of the school board are the spouses," he said to his colleagues after accepting their accolades. "She really sacrificed to allow me to do all of this."

Sanborn was appointed to the school board in September 1991 to replace Dwight "Buzz" Holmes, who resigned to take a position with Idyllwild School. Sanborn was one of six candidates for the vacancy. During his more than 20 years as a trustee, he has served as HUSD president five times. His last term as president ended in December 2012.

Hemet school district optimistic about future

By J.P. CRUMRINE
EDITOR

At its June 18 meeting, the Hemet Unified School District board approved a $182.5-million budget for fiscal year 2013-14, which begins July 1. This is an increase of $6.5 million from the current year's budget. However, revenues are not expected to equal expenses, thus the district will need $6.7 million of reserves next year.

However, Assistant Superintendent for Business Services Vince Christakos was very optimistic about future budgets. Last November's approval of Proposition 30 and the recently approved state budget for 2013-14 have substantially changed the funding trajectory for the state's school districts. Proposition 30 increased revenues for education programs.

"We have a bright future, a new dawn, a new age," Christakos told the board.

Even with the projected deficit, next year HUSD will return to a 180-day school year and will eliminate teacher furloughs altogether (which started in 2010). This will cost the district $4.7 million and another $2.5 million for increased health and welfare benefits. This money is for the full cost of health insurance for eight-hour classified employees who previously opted out of the district's health plans, but had no other coverage, and potential costs related to implementing the Affordable Care Act.

Financial Services Director Pam Buckhout expects that beginning in fiscal year 2014-15, the newly approved Local Control Funding Formula will provide $6 to $7 million annually and perhaps $80 million cumulatively by 2019-20. The LCFF replaces the current state funding and most state categorical programs, Buckhout explained. The LCFF funding will include supplemental and concentration grants that are based on the demographics of the state's school district — for instance, the number of English learners, students eligible for free or reduced-price meals, and foster children.

The California legislature has passed the state budget for 2013-14, which includes additional educational funding and the new LCFF. But the governor has yet to sign the bills, Christakos said.

Based on preliminary funding estimates, Christakos told the board that it may be possible by 2015-16 to hire another 30 teachers to lower class sizes.

Despite this future funding rainbow, several trustees were concerned about the current year deficit and the district's ability to provide supplies and textbooks to students now.

"As trustee, I want to deliver books to the classroom now," said Paul Bakkom. "But we're returning to deficit spending next year and future years." After the governor signs the legislation, HUSD can revise its future year estimates, Christakos said.

"I'm just frustrated. We're saving for a disaster when the disaster happens. We don't spend it all because we'll need it for the next disaster," he responded.

The board unanimously approved the proposed budget. Trustee Lisa DeForest was absent. A revised budget will be available in August or September, according to Christakos.

The board also honored Idyllwild Trustee Bill Sanborn who attended his last meeting. Sanborn's resignation is effective July 1.

"We'll miss you," said HUSD President Marilyn Forst.

Free ride on the Palm Springs Tram

On Sunday morning, July 14, a group of 25 hikers will take a ride on the Palm Springs Tram, and hike 2.5 miles to Round Valley with researchers from the San Diego Natural History Museum. The researchers are studying species there, replicating an original study of 1908.

This group will backpack species-collection gear (cameras, bird nets, etc.) in medium-sized loads to their campsite in Round Valley.

Hikers who go along would then be free to explore the San Jacinto Wilderness area, and/or return to the tram after unloading packs.

To volunteer as one of the hikers, contact Ron Korman at kormanhaus@verizon.net or (951) 659-0332.

of the committee's efforts, the Strawberry Plaza library incorporates many suggestions that have made the new library as practical and inviting as it is. As the Friends had envisioned, the library has become a community center, used by Hill residents of all age groups. "I'm very happy how the library turned out," said Doshier, in an interview at the new library.

During the interview, children began gathering in the sun-filled children's room for story time. Looking at the children and their mothers, Doshier said, "The children's program was my passion. There are now so many young mothers bringing their children and forming friendships. I've enjoyed the parents so much."

Doshier, who had brought previous experience in childhood education to her work with the Friends, helped recruit readers for the Idyllwild Library children's program. She is confident the program will continue unabated under new librarian Shannon Ng. "We have such a good working relationship with Shannon," said Doshier. "I can't say enough about how helpful she is."

Doshier noted that current readers include Mary Zimmerman, Rachel Torrey, Tawney Harrington, Virginia Lumb and Heidi Tiso, and that the program remains strong.

Doshier is self-effacing about her community service, preferring to acknowledge how many others contribute to the common good. "I've always admired how the people of Idyllwild work together," said Doshier.

Doshier will be moving to Calimesa. Her son will live with her and nephews will be on hand to offer support. "One of the things that gives me peace," she said, "is that I'll be returning to Idyllwild at least once a month — to go to church and to keep my connection with PEO, and, of course Idyllwild. There is such a spirit about this place."

It is a spirit that Doshier exemplifies.

WITH GRACE

Not goodbye ...

This is my last paper as publisher of the Town Crier. Since November 2009 I have seen the good, the bad and the ugly. I have also learned invaluable lessons and have made wonderful friendships.

In life and especially small towns, reality sometimes becomes blurred and myths become reality. We've all heard the Mark Twain expression that a lie can travel halfway around the world, while the truth is putting on its shoe. That's the reason I decided to write, because I've had numerous people come to me concerned about the Town Crier and its employees.

As some of you know, the Town Crier is a privately owned paper. I have been resisting outsourcing and cutting production jobs for the last two years.

A few months ago, the Town Crier's parent company owner, Sir Ray Tindle, received an offer to sell the Town Crier. Sir Ray wanted to know if our editor, JP Crumrine, and I wanted to buy the paper before he would entertain an outside offer.

For various reasons, JP and I decided not to buy the paper. The party who was interested has purchased other small community papers, kept one or two employees and has outsourced production overseas.

That business model does not support local reporting; the news mostly comes from aggregating stories from other sources. In other words, we would no longer be a local community paper.

I understand that this is a cost-effective business model because you have fewer full-time employees in the U.S. This means you are not paying as much in employee taxes, not to mention health-care benefits. This model gives the business an advantage over the small business that tries to do the right thing for their employees and again you lose the local coverage.

After Sir Ray's overture, I called Becky Clark and asked if she would be interested in buying the paper. If she was, she should get in touch with Tindle. I'm happy to say that the Clarks and Tindle came to an agreement and the community will continue to have a local newspaper. The Clarks are saving local jobs and will continue to pay for benefits for their employees, which is very admirable.

I appreciate the opportunity to continue to work for the paper and will be contacting you for an ad soon!

We'll be having a grand opening celebration on the Fourth of July with live music. Please stop by and see the new location.

We will be open seven days a week as a Visitors Center as well as your local paper.

Again, thank you for your support and stay tuned for new and exciting changes at the Town Crier.

Don't take freedoms lightly

EDITOR:

Next week we will celebrate America.

We'll "mmm" as we chow down on hotdogs; we'll "ooh" as we gaze up at fireworks.

We'll sing "The Star-Spangled Banner," hum "God Bless America," and whistle Sousa tunes.

We'll salute our flag, wave our flag, and pin it to the chests of our red, white and blue shirts.

Come evening, we'll let designated drivers take the wheel when we find we've been overly enthusiastic in celebrating the spacious skies, purple mountains, fruited plains, hop fields, and vineyards that are the land we call home, sweet home.

Nothing wrong with any of that.

But let's not imagine we have enjoyed a nutritious meal of high-protein patriotism when, in fact, what we've enjoyed is more like a glut of cotton candy patriotism.

Perhaps, this Fourth would be a good time for all of us to bring out (browse to?) a copy of our Constitution; a good time for us to refresh our memories; a good time for us to reflect.

Perhaps we could take time to discuss what our Bill of Rights means to us and why it's important.

Perhaps we could ponder the one and only thing we can rightfully ask men and women in our military to put their lives on the line for. If you've forgotten what that one thing is, try Googling "U.S. military oath of office." Hint: It has nothing to do with "protecting American interests," and it has little to do with keeping Americans safe from terrorists.

Perhaps we could also take time to discuss the ways the PATRIOT Act and the 2012 National Defense Authorization Act, despite their lofty names, are being used to undermine our Constitution and our freedoms.

Unfortunately, such discussions might be unsettling. Worse yet, they might

Fortunately, there's a happier, simpler alternative:

God bless America.

SPEAKING FOR THE ANIMALS

By SHELA BOYNTON, IDYLLWILD

"Hot dog alert" ...

With temperatures climbing, it's time to leave your dogs at home when you run into the post office or the market "for just a couple of minutes."

Every summer, news programs carry at least one sad story of a dog dying from heatstroke while locked in a car. The thought of what these poor animals suffer in the process is more than most of us can bear.

Even with windows left open a few inches, your dog is in danger. And it only takes minutes. At a moderate 78 degrees, the inside of a car can reach between 100 and 120 degrees within 15 minutes. On a 90-degree day, your car becomes a 160-degree inferno in just 10 minutes. If you doubt what that can do to your dog, try it out on yourself.

Pet owners who think it's safe to leave their dogs in a car left running with the air-conditioner turned on should be aware that in some cars, the a/c will shut down if the engine overheats.

Since dogs can cool themselves only through their paw pads and by panting, they will experience dangerous symptoms within 15 minutes. These symptoms include restlessness, thick saliva, heavy panting, lethargy, dark tongue, vomiting and lack of coordination. Brain damage and death are the consequences of our thoughtless behavior.

What should you do if you see a dog in distress and the car is locked? Try to locate the owner immediately. If that fails, Idyllwild Fire Department will respond and, if necessary, either force open the car door or take out a window to save an animal. That number is 659-2153.

If it is unable to respond immediately, and you feel the situation calls for it, get a witness to confirm your observations and take whatever action is necessary to get the dog out of the car. Don't leave the scene until the situation has been resolved.

Once the animal has been rescued, take him or her into an air-conditioned area, offer water, and apply cool (not icy) compresses to the groin, stomach, chest and paws. If possible, immerse the dog in cool (not icy) water for two minutes or douse with a hose. Transport to a vet in an air-conditioned car as soon as possible.

Other heat-related dangers to your dogs include burned pads from walking on hot cement or asphalt. These surfaces, when heated by the sun, can reach 150 degrees.

Do you really need to take your dog to the Fourth of July parade? Most of them actually look pretty miserable. The metal in truck beds gets hot enough to burn paws, too.

Although a dog's paw pads are thicker than the skin on our feet, they will burn. If it's too hot for your feet, it's too hot for theirs.

Some dogs are left tied outside for hours in their guardian's absence. Please be sure all your pets have access not only to shade, but also to enough clean, cool water that can't be tipped over by their activity. If you see animals without these minimal considerations, document and call Animal Control to report the abuse. That number is 1-888-636-7387. Or leave a note. Take water. Do something about it because they can't.

Questions for the animals can be sent to Shela Boynton at shelab@greencafe.com.

State prisoners strain county jails

By J.P. CRUMRINE
EDITOR

Riverside County Sheriff Stan Sniff visited Idyllwild last week and talked about how he and the Board of Supervisors are responding to the raft of public safety issues. The ramifications of reducing state prison populations has the broadest impact and has created a high-priority issue for most California county sheriff offices as well as implementing the state's realignment legislation — Assembly Bill 109.

Riverside County Sheriff Stan Sniff. PHOTO BY J.P. CRUMRINE

Adequate staffing to respond to local crime and managing a burgeoning jail population is now a constant concern for Sniff.

Thursday, only a day before a three-judge federal panel ordered Gov. Jerry Brown to release sufficient prisoners (estimated to be more than 10,000) to limit the state prison population to 137.5 percent of the design capacity by Dec. 31, 2013, Sniff forewarned this possibility and the difficulty it will impose on Brown and, potentially, the counties.

While Brown announced he will appeal the order, Sniff expects the state to shift some prison population to facilities outside California.

The problems reducing the state prison population are exacerbated in Riverside County. While the County's population has grown substantially in the last decade, the number of county jail beds has not kept pace. Sniff stressed, "Jail capacity is our number-one priority."

The state awarded a $100-million grant to Riverside County to expand the Indio jail, but that will add only a few hundred beds. The county needs thousands more beds, according to Sniff.

The entire issue is complicated by a myriad of unintended consequences, which offer minimal flexibility. For example, jails and prisons are designed for different prisoner populations. Most of a jail's inmates are awaiting trial and have not been convicted of any current crime. Prisons are for inmates serving multi-year sentences. They have more room and services, which jails do not provide for their essentially transient populations, Sniff explained.

Normally, Riverside County books more than 60,000 individuals annually. Now, more than 20 percent of its prisoners are serving sentences of more than three years.

So the sheriff had to release nearly 7,000 prisoners early last year and he predicted the early releases would

Fern Valley Water plans $1 million pipeline replacement

By J.P. CRUMRINE

Directors of the Fern Valley Water District approved a $1.7 million budget for 2013-14 and welcomed the return of former director Ron Korman.

Next year's budget (fiscal year 2013-14, beginning July 1) includes a $1.1 million capital improvements program to continue pipeline replacement on Fern Valley Road. Consequently, the district will use about $625,000 of its reserves to balance the 2013-14 budget. The reserve balance falls to about $922,000.

Operating expenses are projected to decrease about $10,000 from the 2012-13 level of $652,000, which is $80,000 less than the budgeted amount. Most of the change is reduction in engineering expenses as the construction work actually began this month.

Revenue projections grow about $60,000 to $1.1 million. Nearly 85 percent of the additional revenue is projected growth in water sales. The district has projected an increase of $15,000 (3 percent) in property tax revenue.

The directors also had to make decisions to make regarding representation on the board. The first was appointing someone to replace former Director Diana Johnson who resigned last month. Secondly, they had to address a prospective vacancy on the board in December.

Former Director Korman was the only applicant to fill retired Johnson's term, which expires in December 2015, and was chosen unanimously. He originally joined the FVWD board in 1998 and retired as president in December 2011.

The board also recommended that the county's Board of Supervisors appoint Director James Rees to the third directorship up for election this year. The terms of Rees, President Charles Wix and Director Robert Krieger all expire this December. All filed for re-election; however, Rees's paperwork did not arrive at the Registrar's Office by the stipulated deadline. So while Wix and Krieger qualified for the ballot, Rees did not but no other candidates applied.

The Riverside County Registrar of Voters informed the FVWD board that a letter of recommendation for the third director's seat would be the basis of the Board of Supervisor's appointment to fill the third seat.

In water business, General Manager Steve Erler reported that groundwater well levels have been dropping this month. "Well levels are 1 to 9 feet lower compared to the same time as last year," he told the board.

Consistent with the lack of rainfall, district wells supplied more than half of the water in May compared to 20 percent in April and 5.5 percent in May 2012.

Troubled Tank 11 is back in service, Erler announced. "It is currently at half capacity [1.5 million gallons]" he said. "No complaints yet."

Idyllwild Water adopts 2013-14 budget

By J.P. CRUMRINE
EDITOR

For the fiscal year 2013-14 (beginning July 1), Idyllwild Water District directors unanimously approved a $1.8 million budget, nearly $300,000 more than the fiscal year 2012-13 budget.

While water revenue and property taxes will slightly exceed operating costs, the district will need about $440,000 from reserves to carry out the capital improvement program. At the end of 2013-14, Chief Financial Officer Hosny Shouman estimates IWD's water fund cash reserves will be about $1.06 million. The sales forecast includes the recently approved 12-percent rate increase.

This year, Shouman expects the operating budget for the water programs will yield a $35,000 surplus.

While some work will be done on well no. 5, nearly $500,000 of the construction program is targeted to expand the district's water storage capacity. The 100,000-gallon Golden Rod tank has already been razed and will be replaced with a new 200,000-gallon tank. The second tank, with a 300,000-gallon capacity, will be constructed to serve the Toll Gate zone.

The largest operating cost increase is a one-time expense for training and salary for a general manager to replace Terry Lyons, who plans to retire next year. Legal expenses are projected to grow $95,000.

The sewer fund operating expenses will be about $500,000 with another $260,000 for capital improvement. Even with property taxes, sewer operations will have about a $35,000 deficit at the end of fiscal year 2013-14.

"Sewer is not covering its cost and we need a rate increase," Shouman told the board. Even the 12-percent rate increase does not offset the sewer operations deficit.

"I'm pleased we're starting to bring the net losses in water down and now we're looking at sewer for the next couple of years," responded Director John Cook, who is on the Finance Committee.

The sewer capital budget is about evenly divided between pipeline replacement and the proposed recycled-water project.

IWD is applying for state funds to construct the recycled water project. Last month, Lyons and engineering consultant Anders Wisstrom met with the California Rural Water Association. In discussing the state's decision that IWD does not qualify as a disadvantaged community, the CRWA offered to survey IWD customers to compare to the census data for the entire 92549 zip code zone. The board favored proceeding with the survey as long as the district's expenses were very limited.

"I'm interested in the project as a potential to re-charge the water table," said Cook. "... Do what is necessary to get qualified as a disadvantaged community."

Supporting his colleague, Director Jim Billman added, "As long as we're not expending money on research, going forward is only going to enhance our request."

Qualifying as a disadvantaged community would result in substantial monetary benefits — grants rather than loans — for constructing the plant.

In water business, Lyons reported that Strawberry Creek currently has little or no flow. In May, IWD

Public art project extended to Pine Cove

By MARSHALL SMITH
CORRESPONDENT

The Art Alliance of Idyllwild's ambitious project to install public art in Idyllwild and Pine Cove moved from page to reality when 22 nearly life-size aluminum deer arrived at Forest Lumber Wednesday, June 12.

Twenty-three mostly local artists and representatives of the Idyllwild School smARTS program began picking up deer assigned to their creative care as part of a three-month process for artists to paint the deer in themes connected to Idyllwild life, history or culture.

The project, "Idyllwild Deer Sightings," imagines the herd dispatched to 12 locations, including the village's central business core, Fern Valley Corners, the Nature Center on Highway 243, and the Pine Cove Market and Station property. Volunteer project coordinator Shanna Robb said Shane Stewart, owner of the Pine Cove site, is building a special garden location for the buck and two does that will permanently reside there. The installation will be lit at night. It's the last site to be added and Robb expressed satisfaction that the installations now extend to both Hill communities.

The herd's composition is eight bucks and seven does standing, five fawns grazing and two recumbent fawns.

Twenty-two donors who share AAI's vision of Idyllwild as not just an art town, but a public art town graced by permanent art installations designed to be touched, discussed and yes, held and caressed, are the sponsors.

"We're building friendships here," said Robb, referring to budding nascent friendships among some of the participants. "And," said Robb, "we will be building friendships among townspeople and tourists drawn together by these works of art."

Gerdes, Jan Bruner, Jan Jaspers-Fayer, Betty Anderson, Ron Singleton, Pat Hughes and Erin Murray.

Metal sculptor Dore Capitani will design the stand for the dedicatory plaque that explains the exhibit. It, along with a buck, doe and fawn, are to be placed in the gazebo area of Village Centre. Each artist has been assigned a theme, some of which are the Cahuilla Native American tribe, hiking and climbing, the legend of Tahquitz and quilting.

diverted about one-third of its April diversion, which was less than half of the April 2012 diversion.

The level of Foster Lake dropped to 6 feet in May from 9.5 feet in April. "It is currently at 5.5 feet," Lyons said. "As temperatures increase, I expect a loss of 2 feet per month. By the end of summer, we'll have a dry lake."

The groundwater level of the wells down stream from Foster Lake was 14 feet, down a foot from April, according to Lyons.

"When they get to 20 feet, we'll need to consider conservation Stage 2," Lyons advised the board. The downtown wells are only 2 feet from their trigger level of 22 feet, he added.

While water supplies are dwindling, IWD's production grew 25 percent in May. Since January, water production is 8.1 million gallons ahead of the 2012 usage for the same period.

The meeting started with a moment of silence for recently deceased President

Allan Morphet. District residents interested in filling the remainder of his term, through December 2015, should submit biographical information to the district's office. Vice President Warren Monroe is the new IWD president.

by the enthusiasm of the artists, location owners, sponsors and community," said Robb. "If ever in doubt of what can be accomplished by a small village, this is another example of what can be created by a grass-roots approach that celebrates the uniqueness, history and colors of Idyllwild."

Each deer will be affixed to a permanent base with plaques listing the sponsor's and artist's names. In addition to Village Centre and Pine Cove Market, locations at which more than one deer will reside include the Idyllwild Area Historical Society, La Casita Mexican Restaurant, BBVA Compass Bank, and the Nature Center.

On Sept. 15, the entire herd of fully finished artist creations will be assembled for public viewing from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. at Forest Lumber. Afterward, the herd migrates to its respective permanent installation sites.

HELP Center and Thrift Store Newsletter

Greetings from the Idyllwild HELP Center. We want to thank everyone who was a part of our recent Fashion Show for their generous help and participation. The Fashion Show was a huge success. Everyone had a great time and our depleting resources got replenished. Thank you to John and the beautiful Rainbow Inn. Thank you to all of our financial sponsors, donors of items for the silent and live auctions, the set up and break down crews, our volunteer models and the food servers. Thank you to Vic and his crew for the delicious food, Larry, for his runway direction and dressing of the models and to Nanci, Deanna and Karen, our Fashion Show Committee.

And we cannot forget all the wonderful people who paid admission to support us and join in the fun. Oops, almost forgot Conor and Frank, the dynamic duo MC's and Willy B, John King and Sandii Castleberry, our talented musicians.

Obviously it takes a lot of people to create a great event. Hubert Halkin and the Idyllwild Herald and Jim Crandall's poster art helped promote the festivities. Apologies if anyone was left out, so thank you, thank you to one and all.

Of course, the HC and TS have been their usual hive of activity and we continue to stay busy 7 days per week. Donations are active and merchandise flows in and out by the hour. Thank you to our staff and Help Center volunteers who make each day work run so smoothly.

Although it's only the start of the summer, we at the HC are starting to think about the beginning of the new school year which begins in August. We're always thinking about the kids and their parents as well as our seniors and those physically and otherwise challenged. There's just not enough days in the week. So look forward to a mailing piece from us shortly after July 4th and we'll be seeing you soon.

Sincere thanks,

Big band

For his concert on the Fourth, Dahleen plans a big-band patriotic salute with such staples of concert band fare as "Stars and Stripes Forever" and other John Phillip Sousa favorites, a special arrangement of "God Bless the U.S.A.," and a patriotic medley. In addition, Dahleen will focus on New York with an arrangement written for BBS, "A Broadway Century," as well as George Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue," with Dahleen, a clarinetist, beginning the piece with the famous clarinet intro. The band then moves on to Hollywood with a Maynard Ferguson arrangement of John William's "Superman" and, just for fun, "Salt Peanuts" from Super Sax.

The band then segues to Ole Blue Eyes, with some Frank Sinatra favorites such as "Come Fly With Me," "The Lady is a Tramp," "Fly Me to the Moon" and "One For My Baby," all featuring the smooth vocals of desert crooner Troy Clarke. Clarke said this will be his first

BY JACK CLARK
PROFESSIONAL GOLF CORRESPONDENT

When Brendan Steele missed the cut in the U.S. Open two weeks ago, it marked his sixth consecutive missed cut. But the Idyllwild native turned it around last week on the TPC River Highlands course in the Travelers Championship in Cromwell, Conn.

Steele carded a 6-under-par 68-68-72-66 — 274 to tie for 13th place and earn $111,020 in official prize money and 56.4 FedEx Cup points.

It appears from the stats that Steele's turnaround was due to sharp iron play — his average proximity to the hole for most of the tournament was in the excellent mid-20-foot range and his putter was able to capitalize. During one stretch on Sunday, he birdied five out of performance in Idyllwild, although he and Dahleen have worked together in the past. "It's always great performing with Ken's band," said Clarkem, who will also be featured in the patriotic medley.

Dahleen brings a passion for big bands to the Idyllwild Summer Concert Series. He has played clarinet since age 5, graduating through a series of ensembles headed by an early mentor, Cal Caugherty, until leaving high school for a stint in the Marine Corps as a professional musician.

In Idyllwild since 1982, Dahleen had played in many bands throughout the area — concert, big-band and jazz ensembles.

Each year, he recounted, beginning in March and April, he and other members of BBS began getting calls to play six straight holes.

This was Steele's second top-25 performance of the year. He now has $497,243 in official money winnings this season, and 357 FedEx Cup points. He stands 109th on the money list and 99th on the FedEx Cup points list.

Steele needs to place in the top 125 on either list in order to assure his player ticket for the new 2013-14 season that will begin this fall.

Last year a little under $646,000 was required to place 125th on the official money list while 362 points — just five more than Steele has now — were needed for 125th place on the FedEx Cup point list.

Steele tees it up again this week in the $6.5 million AT&T National on the Congressional Country Club course in Bethesda, Md. The winner's share is more than $1.1 million.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Don't be Sheepish about asking questions and demanding answers. You not only gain needed information, but also respect for your steadfast search for the truth.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A money problem that shows up early in the week is expeditiously resolved by savvy Bovines who know how to turn a momentary financial lapse into a monetary gain.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) It's a good time to shed negative energy-draining forces and develop a positive approach to handling current, as well as upcoming, personal and/or professional situations.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your urge to do your best on a current task is commendable. But don't let it become all-consuming. Spend some spiritually restorative time with those who love you.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) This could be a good time for all you Leos and Leonas to take your bows for your recent achievements and then go off to enjoy some fun times with your prides and joys.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A negative response to a well-intentioned suggestion could communicate a sense of distrust you might later find hard to refute. Think carefully before reacting.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your loving attention comforts a family member who is feeling a bit out of sorts. But be careful to prioritize your time so you don't neglect your work duties.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Your curiosity might be resented by some. But those who know you will support your penchant for never settling for less than the truth. So stay with it.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A pesky situation from the past recurs, albeit in an altered form. Deal with it promptly before it can go from merely irksome to decidedly troublesome.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Don't wait too long to submit your proposals after giving them a last look-over. If necessary, you should be able to defend any portion called into question.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A bid to use your workplace dispute-settling skills in another situation is tempting. But be careful: You might not have all the facts you'll need if you agree to do it.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) That sense of self-doubt is so untypical of you, you should have no qualms in shaking it off. Remind yourself of all you've done and can do, and then do it again.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your ability to charm others without sacrificing sincerity is what makes people want to follow your leadership.

SPORTS

Golf

Jim Crandall, Palms to Pines Golf Association handicap chair, provided this report about the Friday, June 21, golf tournament at Golden Era Golf Course in San Jacinto to benefit the Grandfathers for Golf youth program.

The Grandfathers program, a free program dedicated to teaching at-risk kids how to play golf, is based at Golden Era. Tony Viola, former Idyllwild and now president of Grandfathers for Golf, arranged the benefit tourney, and supplied a continental breakfast and a steak-and-baked-potato lunch for the club.

Some members lightheartedly complained that Crandall (course handicap 11) had an unfair advantage in the tourney, since he is a Grandfathers volunteer and plays the course regularly. But Crandall didn't seem to mind the grumbling as he fired a gross 78, net 67 to win the tourney by 3 strokes.

Pete Capparelli (22) and Ken Garelick (22) shot net 70s to tie for second place; Dan Slattery (26) shot a net 71 to take fourth; and Jerry Gabel (20) rounded out the top five with a net 72.

The three closest-to-the-pin contests were won by three different golfers. Mike Feyder was the closest to the pin on hole 3. Garelick had the closest-to-the-pin on hole 7 and Les Widerynski won on hole 16.

This was the second-to-last regular tourney before the playoffs in August, when the top eight finishers go into single-elimination, match-play playoffs for the title of Club Champion. Club champ then goes on to play in the Southern California Golf Association Tournament of Club Champions in December. So the next tourney will be very competitive, as players vie for the top eight spots.

Here are current point standings for the 2012-2013 season.

Place	Golfer	Points
1	Bill Sanborn	29.08
2	Les Widerynski	25
3	John LoGiudice	19.5
4	Pete Capparelli	18.33
5	Mike Feyder	17.08
6	Gary Brown	17
7	Dan Slattery	16
8	Jim Crandall	14.75
9	John Brower	14
10	Robert Priefer	12.5
11	Bruce Marley	9.5
12	Bob Stearns	8.5
13	Gary Leong	5.75
14	Lee Lanfried	5.5
15	Chris Kramer	5
16	Ken Garelick	4.5

17	George Kretsinger	4.5
18	Bill Ragland	4.5
19	Scott Schroeder	4.5
20	John McAndrews	4
21	Chuck Alkire	3.5
22	Dale Calderon	3
23	Jerry Gabel	2.5
24	Ron Krull	1
25	Bill Mitchell	0.5

Points are awarded at each tournament as follows: first place, 6 points; second place, 4 points; third place, 3 points; fourth place, 2 points; fifth place, 1 point. In addition, one-half point is awarded to everyone who participates.

The top eight-point finishers of the year go into match-play playoffs for the club championship in August, September and October. A member has to compete in at least five regular-season tournaments and have a handicap no greater than 24.4 in order to qualify for the playoffs.

The club is a member of the Southern California Golf Association and is sanctioned to establish SCGA handicaps for members.

If interested in joining the club or playing as a guest, contact Crandall at jim.crandall@verizon.net or (951) 265-5732, or Pete Capparelli at pete@capparelli.com or (951) 452-5552.

County revenues expected to grow

By J.P. CRUMRINE
EDITOR

The Riverside County Board of Supervisors approved a $4.7 billion budget for fiscal year 2013-14, which begins July 1. However, only $630 million represents funds which the board had discretion to allocate.

This year, County Executive Jay Orr projects discretionary county revenue will grow by $17 million, to $586 million, the first revenue boost since fiscal 2007-08 six years ago. The county anticipates property tax revenue will increase $7 million as a result of a 3.5-percent growth in assessed valuation. Sales tax revenue is expected to rise nearly 40 percent next year.

Still, expenses exceed the revenue forecast. The projected deficit will be filled with $30 million unexpended this fiscal year and available next year, and an additional $14 million from reserves.

"The county has survived the 'Great Recession,'" Orr wrote to the board. But he cautioned the board about assuming that the fiscal problems were eliminated. The county has to address, both this year and in the future, issues such as implementing the Affordable Care Act, prison realignment and public safety initiatives. Orr promised a five-year plan to explain how these issues could be addressed as well as beginning to re-build county reserves.

The financial problems confronting the Riverside County Regional Medical Center will be deferred until Orr has received and reviewed a consultant's report.

The Sheriff's Department, Fire and District Attorney's offices will receive about $330 million of the county's discretionary funds. Each agency absorbed the pay raises for staff, which were negotiated last year to help reduce future pension costs.

The final 2013-14 budget will be submitted to the board for adoption in September, according to Orr.

Jails

exceed 9,000 inmates this year. "We're hemorrhaging early releases," he said.

In Sniff's opinion, the early-release program, including the federal panel's recent order, is creating a false economy. "These efforts should have been tested in stages and then in a few counties before statewide implementation," Sniff declared. "They have not been thought through and many unintended consequences are now occurring."

Nevertheless, with patience, he is optimistic the county will eventually build a new 4,000-bed facility. That project was mothballed a year ago planning for the "mid-county jail" facility. But that site or another location is still part of the county's budget deliberations.

New jail capacity costs more than construction. Long-term operational costs are in the millions and continue as long as the facility harbors inmates.

But Sniff is positive about the Board of Supervisors' decision to hire more deputies, to restore the former ratio of 1 deputy per 1,000 residents. Last year, as crime statistics began growing, the ratio had dropped to .75 deputies per 1,000.

"Almost every community is feeling this now," he noted. "The metrics are growing nationwide, driven by the West and California."

Hiring deputy sheriffs, even during a recession, is not easy. "We had more than 31,000 applicants, reviewed and investigated them to find 100 eligible to begin training," Sniff stated. "Of those, about 50 percent graduate. The investment to put a deputy in a patrol car is about five years and $750,000."

The sheriff's office has already graduated two classes of deputies and two more are scheduled this summer. By spring 2014, Sniff expects to return to the 1.0 ratio in the unincorporated areas of Riverside County.

CREATURE CORNER

By MIMI AND HOOTCH

Where does a dog go who has escaped out of his yard? Why, the lumber yard of course. And that's just what Charlie Brown the Anatolian shepherd mix did. He just sat down behind the counter and decided he had had enough of the strolling around, after only a couple of hours. Glad you are home.

Now Sophie, the Belgian Malinois, had a much different idea. After escaping from her boarding facility in Idyllwild, she decided to stay on the run for almost two weeks. She finally gave it up and is safe and home.

Adopted this week and on his way to the beach is our Charlie, the Jack Russell mix. Paws up to you, good boy.

Ladybug, Bulldozer and

Bruce were found at the transfer station. So we are recycling them back into the community. Ladybug is a German shepherd/husky-mix who loves to be near her companion. Bulldozer, a young lab-mix needs a fast-paced, energetic home; great on hikes and rock climbing, and an absolute water lover. And little Bruce, the Chihuahua, is good with other dogs and cats, and is just an all around good boy. They don't know why they were left, but they are happy to be at ARF.

Tippycanoe, Tyler II, Tutti Frutti, Teddy Bear and T. Rex.

Come in to ARF and get your kitty love, three males and two females. They will be ready for their new adventure into your home this week. Hurry, these bundles of fur won't last long. They are all 8 weeks old and properly trained by a very good mama who has been adopted.

Boomer, the male orange tabby kitten, is still waiting for his forever home. He is the last of Sunkist's litter.

Seiger, the purebred German shepherd, is currently doing well after surgery. For info and updates, please log on to our website, www.arfidyllwild.weebly.com, and click on the Facebook link for updates and donation links. Thank you.

ARF has many cats and dogs available for adoption or fostering. Go to www.arfidyllwild.weebly.com and click on Petfinder. All pets are spayed, neutered and current on shots. ARF is open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sundays.
