Memorial Day honors American war dead

By MARSHALL SMITH
ASSISTANT EDITOR

Memorial Day, formerly known as Decoration Day, honors men and women who died while serving in the United States Armed Forces. At 11 a.m. Monday, May 27, American Legion Post 800 holds its annual honor guard ceremony, the emotional centerpiece of the Memorial Day weekend.

The tradition of a solemn spring ceremony began after the American Civil War as a way to honor both Union and Confederate soldiers who died in a war that exacted the greatest toll of any war in which American soldiers served, over 650,000 killed (estimates vary from 628,000 to 750,000). In many American communities, it is common on Memorial Day to visit the graves of relatives, tidy up the gravesites, lay flowers, and if any had served in the Armed Forces, place an American flag on the grave — hence Decoration Day.

Memorial Day traditionally marks the beginning of the summer season that Labor Day concludes.

The Legion also is hosting a barbecue from 3 to 7 p.m. on Saturday, May 25. Tickets are $10 for adults and $7 for children.

In Idyllwild, Memorial Day weekend also has its own tradition — yard sales. The growing popularity of this treasure hunt brings participants from off the Hill throughout the weekend. See the map on page 24 in this week's edition for the times and locations of yard sales. And with Idyllwild Memorial Day Yard sales, the earlier you arrive the more likely you are to find that one thing you could not do without.

On your mark: June 1 race day

By MARSHALL SMITH
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The first Saturday in June is race day, Idyllwild's annual celebration of fitness, family, fun and financial contribution to Idyllwild School's physical education program.

For more than 30 years, the Idyllwild 5K and 10K Run and Fitness Walk has energized entrants from age 7 to 70-plus in a spectacular mountain setting blessed with sweetly scented alpine air. For committed runners, the race is highly competitive. For many others, it is an opportunity to stroll with children, friends, family and dogs and to raise money for a good cause.

Over the years the Idyllwild Race Committee has contributed more than $60,000 to the local school's physical education program, funding among other things, a climbing wall, gymnasium scoreboard, grass for top field, athletic uniforms, a VCR and video camera for instructional feedback and PE equipment. Long-time organizer and former Idyllwild physical education teacher Holly Guntermann noted the importance of the race to the school's athletic programs. "The run is very important," she said. "It gives the physical education program 95 percent of its

Idyllwild Fire to contract for financial help

By J.P. CRUMRINE
EDITOR

Resolution of double payment of health benefits was not announced at the May 14 meeting of the Idyllwild Fire Protection Commission meeting.

However the commission unanimously approved a motion authorizing Commissioner Jerry Buchanan and Fire Chief Patrick Reitz to prepare a request for a proposal soliciting a firm to manage the agency's financial responsibilities including budget reporting and payroll.

"We need to get CPA help. With our accounting and governmental accounting becoming more complex than normal day-to-day, we need a different type of accounting help," Buchanan told his colleagues, explaining the purpose of the proposed Request for proposal. "A CPA firm can keep our bookkeeping and then it will be easier to go into audits."

The estimated cost of the contract is between

Climber dies from fall on Lily Rock

By J.P. CRUMRINE
EDITOR

While climbing Lily Rock, Lucas Dunn, 21, of Idyllwild fell approximately 150 feet. He was pronounced dead at the scene.

He was climbing with his friend Greg Davis.

Near noon, Friday, May 17, deputies from the Hemet Sheriff's Station responded to a call about an injured rock climber at Humber Park in Idyllwild. CAL FIRE medical personnel hiked to Lily Rock and located the climber, but he had already succumbed to his injuries and was pronounced deceased by CAL FIRE medical personnel on scene.

Riverside County Sheriff's Emergency Response Team was notified and with the Riverside Mountain Rescue Unit they managed the recovery of the victim.

Sheriff's Aviation Unit's helicopter recovered the victim and transported him to the Keenwild Helitack, where he was released to the Coroner's Office personnel.

J.P. Crumrine can be reached at jp@towncrier.com.

Greg Davis is comforted by friends as he reaches the trail head in Humber Park after his friend and climbing partner, Lucas Dunn, was fatally injured Friday morning.

What next?

EDITOR:

I was saddened to hear of the dissolution of the Idyllwild Chamber of Commerce.

I understand the reasons and am appalled. I understand that they must rid themselves of all assets to finalize this action. What a sad event for our community.

The Chamber of Commerce, one of our most valuable volunteer organizations, has been struggling for years, what with one problem or another. This organization is the chief source of information for our commercial community.

Since this area is a destination for so many tourists who wish to enjoy our climate, activities, shops and inns, it is indeed a tragedy for an organization so involved with tourism to end like this.

Every time I pass the dis-Harmony Monument I am reminded of the greed, duplicity, hubris and cowardice of those involved. When I drive down Highway 243 and see the workplace of the author of this perfidy, I can easily understand why the Chamber would want to remove dis-Harmony from our midst.

I hope they can sell it to recoup some of the expenses demanded by the law suit that has been dismissed "with prejudice." The "with prejudice" label means that the suit cannot be brought again due to the lack of merit.

Please rid us of this symbol of greed, not of harmony.

And then there is the IFPD. Don't tell me that some of the firefighters didn't notice their paychecks had gone up mysteriously $450 to $750 dollars. Especially after they had so publicly and "nobly" taken a pay cut to stay within the budget.

I know they are very conscious about money since the first question they asked a patient on May 8 was not "What can we do for you?" or "What is your name?" but "How are you going to pay for this call?"

I was at Café Aroma May 4, when there was a medical emergency. One of the people at my table bet that CAL FIRE Station 23 in Pine Cove would arrive there before IFPD. She was right.

Maybe IFPD got the address wrong since they are so bad with numbers. If we can't trust the IFPD with our money, how can we trust them with our homes and our lives?

Banking SNAFU?

EDITOR:

Last year, in January, my elderly mother lost her check book. When we contacted the bank, they quickly closed her account and opened another one for her.

At that point, something went wrong. Instead of moving her money over to the new account, the BBVA administration changed her money into a "loan" and began charging her interest and withdrawing $15 to $20 per month in addition to interest at 21 percent for her money. They called this "overdraft protection."

When my mother noticed this in April 2012 and called the bank, they explained it away. And she accepted their explanation. She is 87 and does not like to deal with little inconveniences, so she does not bother to balance her account and look at all of the charges usually.

When I became aware of the situation last month and took my mother to the bank to clarify things, they explained that there had been a mistake made not at that bank, but by administration, somewhere in the clouds, but the fact is that the bank had sent a notice of this arrangement to my mother maybe more than once.

So according to the nice ladies at our local bank, since she had been notified that the bank had taken her money and then charged her to get it back with interest, there was nothing anyone could do about it.

At that time, we paid off the bank for the "loan" of my mother's money to my mother in the amount of $388. So now she will not be charged for her "loan" to herself, or the interest, which of course did not go to her, but to the bank.

My calculations are that the mistake made by the bank has cost my mother $832, because someone did not just freeze her incoming checks on a closed account, but created an overdraft "loan."

IFPD's admin captain's history

EDITOR:

I don't always agree with J.P.'s criticisms of IFPD, but his most recent opinion is one that has been ignored for years.

The administrative captain promotion was approved by the board in 2013 after over three years of internal debate, possible legal action against the department and too much of (the public's) IFPD's limited legal counsel dollars.

The promotion was discovered in a letter that only the person that filled the position had a copy of.

The promotion was made without board knowledge or authorization, by a fire chief, in a curiously worded letter, dated days before his retirement. No one else at the department was notified or allowed to apply for the new captain's position, even those with more tenure and experience.

The next fire chief wrote a second letter referencing the first letter stating that it had now been approved by the career firefighters, once again without board direction or approval. Where was the authorization for a fourth captain?

Even more curious is that the position would cease to exist if he was promoted from admin[istrative] captain to a full fire captain and that no opening was created for his vacated engineer's position.

The administrative captain has also become: career negotiating committee lead, payroll officer, budget committee lead, training officer, hiring committee lead, volunteer company liaison, and directs who is called first for fire assignments and overtime. Is it any wonder the admin[istrative] captain is the highest paid member of IFPD?

If you want to be hired, retired, promoted or go on fire assignments, all permis-

So why did the board approve it in 2013? Just like the bureaucrats do in D.C., it was packaged into something that the board really wanted; a revised contract with cuts and concessions

SCIENCE & REALITY TODAY

HECTOR TRUJILLO, SAN DIEGO

Why it may not be a good thing to boldly go ...

First off, with all the news coverage this issue has received recently, I think now would be a good time to come out of the closet and announce myself to the world: I am a Trekkie and proud of it! Phew, that was a load off my shoulders, but I digress.

After enjoying the movie "Star Trek Into Darkness" over the weekend, my head was left spinning not just because of the great special effects and awesome villain (yes, it was Khan, after all, thank goodness) but also because Hollywood makes it seem so, so easy for humans to run into extraterrestrial beings in the not so distant future.

Warp drive, which is supposed to be faster than the speed of light allows the U.S.S. Enterprise to travel great distances in a short period of time (I know it's fiction but let me dream).

So, allow me to provide some context: Humans and chimps share approximately 98.4 percent DNA. Just that one and a half percent difference accounts for all the great discoveries and achievements, which we have enjoyed since we stood up on two legs. It accounts for Einstein, Darwin and Newton, but also for Hitler, Stalin and Mussolini.

Not to say chimps aren't bright in their own way and in their own environment, especially the fat one at the San Diego Zoo who gives me the finger and throws poop at you when you try to take his picture (we will meet again, Bobby).

If we were fortunate, or unfortunate, enough to run into a civilization that is merely one and a half percent different genetically to us in the direction we are to the Bobby, then we would be, as Kansas City Royals fans say every year, royally screwed.

We would be lucky if that civilization would see us worthy enough to be kept as their pets. Our most brilliant scientists would be like their pot-smoking 30-year-old high school dropouts who live in their parents' basement.

As astrophysicist and director of the Hayden Planetarium Neil deGrasse Tyson says, "To think we are just going to walk up to them and just start a conversation? We would be a bunch of drooling idiots in their presence."

The only peace of mind I would have if that situation ever arose is that I doubt they would be bellicose or war-like. If they are advanced, that means they were able to get over any differences or grievances with which they had to deal during their history. This is an optimistic thought shared by some in the scientific community such as theoretical physicist and author Michio Kaku.

Besides, when it's all said and done, we may not need to visit planet Klingon or Romulus to find extraterrestrial beings. After NASA's Mars Rover is done analyzing and taking pictures of our nearest neighbor, we may discover that we are all martians. And our ancestors, in the form bacteria, hitched a ride billions of years ago when the two planets were exchanging material through a process called panspermia.

However it comes out, if anyone can teach me the Vulcan nerve pinch that Mr. Spock does maybe I can try it on Bobby the next time he gives me the finger.

SPEAKING FOR THE ANIMALS

SHELA BOYNTON, IDYLLWILD

Heartworm 101 ...

Heartworm is a parasitic roundworm that is transmitted to certain animals (dogs, cats, ferrets and coyotes, for example) only through the bite of an infected mosquito. An uninfected mosquito can bite an already-infected animal and then spread it to other animals it subsequently bites.

It takes seven months from the bite for the heartworm to reach the adult stage in its victim. It lodges in the heart, lungs and respiratory blood vessels where it reproduces. It can grow up to 12 inches and live for five to seven years in your dog.

There are no symptoms of infestation in the early stages. As the heartworm grows and reproduces, the dog may cough and be short of breath. Weight loss becomes evident. If left untreated, an unpleasant death will occur.

On his website, www.avlanimalhospital.com, Hemet veterinarian Clay Johnson calls Idyllwild a "hotbed" of heartworm disease. While the incidence in Riverside County is not considered severe, you do take a risk if you leave your dog unprotected.

In the last three years, ARF and Sadie's Clinic have been aware of several Idyllwild dogs testing positive and requiring the harsh but life-saving treatment.

A simple blood test can tell in 10 minutes if your dog is infected. That test costs about $35 and determines the presence of adult heartworms. However, there is a separate test that checks for the larvae or microfilariae.

Treatment for positive test results involves an arsenic-based drug which requires the animal to be kept quiet during and for a few months after the series of injections. As they die off, the heartworms break into pieces that can block pulmonary vessels and cause death. It's a costly procedure, as much as $1,000, and dangerous for your pet.

For prevention, a monthly dose of the drug Ivermectin kills the heartworm larvae before they grow and reproduce. The dose depends on the weight of the dog and can begin as early as six weeks. The cost at Sadie's Clinic is from $18 to $28 for a six-month supply.

Some Collies and other related breeds have a gene which makes them sensitive to Ivermectin. These dogs can safely take Interceptor, a brand of heartworm prevention that does not use Ivermectin.

If you decide not to follow a preventative regimen, it is recommended that you have your dog tested every six months.

Many Idyllwild residents give heartworm prevention every month, even during the winter when supposedly there are no mosquitoes present.

But there are folks who think it's best to give their animals a break from the medication. Some holistically minded vets support this stance, saying that you're safe giving the preventive every six weeks or even every other month.

One website I checked, www.dogs4dogs.com, said it was okay to skip doses after the temperature has remained below 57 degrees for 35 to 45 days.

If you're meticulous about keeping such important health information on your calendar, it seems safe to give the drug at regular intervals other than monthly. But it doesn't seem probable that many of us are going to chart daily outside temperatures during the winter months.

The usual recommendation to give a consistent dose monthly is more likely to be remembered by most people. It's all about routine and what's best for your dog's welfare.

Do the research before you make a decision. Discuss it with your vet. And consider the risks to your family pets.

More helpful information can be found at www.heartwormsociety.org.

Contaminants continue to diminish

Sampling at Chevron begins

BY J.P. CRUMRINE
EDITOR

Recently released data from the quarterly sampling of monitoring wells near the Village Food and Fuel Shell Station continue to detect smaller amounts of hydrocarbons in the soil at the station and nearby.

Last month, additional sampling also began near the Chevron station. "We previously approved a work plan for eight monitoring wells at the Chevron, four of which were installed in April," said Sharon Boltinghouse, public health professional geologist for the Riverside County Department of Environmental Health. "Due to limited cleanup fund budget for this site, only half of the wells were able to be installed. The remaining wells will be installed as soon as the fund increases the budget for this site."

The March sampling at the monitoring wells at and near the Shell station (Village Food and Fuel) detected small amounts of hydrocarbons. The level from monitoring well 1 was 1.22 micrograms per liter (µ/L) the lowest volume since 2011.

While detectable amounts of benzene, ethylbenzene and xylems were recorded from the onsite monitoring well MW-4, these were also low and none were detected in the off-site monitoring wells.

While concentrations of methyl-tertiary-butyl ethane (MTBE) are significantly lower than the maximum recorded, this was still levels detected during this sampling event in onsite well MW-4 (3.66 ug/L), down-gradient wells MW-5 (16.0 ug/L), MW-10 (2,990 ug/L) and MW-12 (28.1), cross-gradient wells MW-6 (8.29 ug/L) and MW-13 (3 12 ug/L), and up-gradient well MW-15 (4,670 ug/L). MTBE was not detected in onsite wells MW-1 through MW-3.

Robert Manning, the engineering geologist conducting the monitoring, concluded, "It is our opinion the detected MTBE in on-site well MW-4 and off-site wells MW-5, MW-6, MW-10, MW-12, MW-13 and MW-15 is derived from the Idyllwild Chevron located approximately 160 feet north (up gradient) of the site.

"If the investigation of the Chevron station indicates the contaminate source of MWs 5, 6, 10, 12, 13 and is the Chevron site, the subject site [Village Food and Fuel] should be considered for closure," Manning recommended.

Fire Safe Council has funds to help abate

BY J.P. CRUMRINE
EDITOR

The Mountain Communities Fire Safe Council still has money available to help local property owners abate the land around structures, according to Executive Director Edwina Scott.

The grant funds will disappear on July 1 unless Scott can obtain approval to extend the grant beyond the end of the fiscal year (June 30).

Although it has been a very dry year, the cold winter and intermittent precipitation has discouraged homeowners from seeking the FSC's assistance, Scott said. Consequently, about $70,000 is still available to aid local abatement.

Vacant parcels need, and are also required, to be abated. As long as the work is within 100 feet of a structure it qualifies for the grant money, Scott advised. The grant will pay 65 percent of the cost and the balance, 35 percent is the property owner's share.

A recent U.S. Forest Service report, "Wildfire, Wildlands, and People: Understanding and Preparing for Wildfire in the Wildland-Urban Interface," urges residents to proactively abate property in communities adjacent to forests.

Research has demonstrated the success of abatement and creation of "defensible space" in reducing the threat of wild fires and diminishing their intensity if they start.

"Communities with robust wildfire prevention programs are likely to have fewer human-caused wildfires. In addition, fire intensity is dramatically reduced in areas where restoration work has occurred," U.S. Forest Service Chief Tom Tidwell said.

According to Forest Service research, "Some of the greatest barriers to action include the lack of time, money, assistance and technical knowledge," all of which the local FSC can provide to help the property owner, which subsequently benefits the entire community, Scott stressed.

J.P. Crumrine can be reached at jp@towncrier.com.

Memorial Day

Memorial Day weekend always features entertainment and events. This weekend there are two events of note. The Art Alliance of Idyllwild presents a two-day Judged Members Show and Working Artist Tour at the Nature Center and at galleries throughout town. From 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, May 25, the exhibition of AAI member artists is at the Nature Center. Grab a map at the exhibition and from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. tour local galleries to see artists at work. The exhibition at the Nature Center remains open from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sunday, May 26. At noon, AAI presents a wine and appetizer reception at which artist awards are announced.

Artist Gerry High's three dimensional wildlife exhibit will also be previewed indoors at the Nature Center with final completion scheduled for end of June.

Also at the Nature Center from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday through Monday, May 25 through 27, is the annual Wildflower and Art Exhibit, with guest speaker Michael Hamilton, director of the Blue Oaks Ranch Reserve. Learn about native wildflowers from a visual representation, eco gardening techniques and how to manage non-native invasive plants. Fees are $3 for adults, $2 for children and $1 for dogs.

Fern Valley water board accepts pipeline bid

BY MARSHALL SMITH
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The board of the Fern Valley Water District voted to accept an $845,440 bid from T.A. Rivard Inc. of Riverside for the district's pipeline replacement project. The project will replace pipelines on Fern Valley, Howland and Encino Roads and is expected to be completed in the middle of September. Total cost of the project is nearly $1.1 million of which the Rivard bid is part and project supervision and contingency costs make up the rest.

Rivard submitted the lowest responsible bid, $30,000 less than the nearest competitor, El-Co Contractors, with whom the district has long done business. Director Robert Krieger recommended accepting the bid because it was the lowest responsible bid, conformed to guideline requirements, and that Rivard is a long-established business. Albert A. Webb Associates, the civil engineering and planning firm that has long worked with the district to perform project studies and create drawings, plans and permits, drew up the Fern Valley pipeline replacement specifications and recommended the district award the bid to Rivard as the lowest responsible bidder. General Manager Steve Erler recommended Webb also be contracted to provide construction administration and inspection since district staff is limited at this time. The proposed Webb contract would total $87,750. At the suggestion of director Krieger, the board authorized Erler to negotiate with Webb to see what functions district staff might still be able to perform in cooperation with Webb that could lessen the contract amount. In his general manager report, Erler said staff installed 36 new ventilation caps on tank 11, which has been the target of numerous water taste and odor complaints. Erler said the caps would provide more uniform ventilation than the single center vent they replaced. The tank, currently offline, has been cleaned and is being filled, according to Erler. Once the tank is near 30 percent of maximum capacity, and after water samples test appropriately, the tank will be placed back in service. Erler said staff would cycle the water in the tank as frequently as possible and slowly increase tank water levels as water demand increases in the district. Erler noted district water production is up 19.5 percent from the same time period last year and that water sales are up 51.3 percent. The board reviewed a draft budget for fiscal 2013-14 that shows $1.1 million in total projected income and $1.7 million in total expenses for a net loss of more than $635,000. The expenses are higher next year to cover the cost of the pipeline replacement contract. District reserves, which currently stand at $1.46 million, would be used to balance the budget, leaving district reserves at end of fiscal 2013-14 at $785,000 if all taxes come in as projected, according to office manager Jessica Priefer. $1,200 and $1,500 monthly, according to Buchanan, or about $14,000 to $18,000 annually. They hope to issue the request for proposal within weeks and review responses in June so that a contract can be issued in July. Part of the cost will be offset by ending the current agreement with Nancy Layton, who provides some of these financial reports and accounts payable work. Although the commission did not have any further news on the effect of the recently discovered health insurance payment problem nor financial reports for April, they did authorize the chief to draft a letter requesting the county advance them a portion of the December 2013 property tax payments. "The request of funds from Riverside County should be less $400,000," Buchanan recommended. "The amount should be determined by staff." In September 2011, IFPD requested a $450,000 advance of tax revenue and in August 2012, it requested $425,000. "You don't have a budget for [fiscal year] 2013-14," said local real estate broker Marge Muir. "Do you need all that before the county decides on an advance?" "We have to make projections and go forward with those," replied Commissioner Dr. Charles "Chip" Schelly. Action and discussion on possible increases to the district's ambulance fees was postponed until the next meeting, scheduled for May 28. "I don't have that proposal in my packet," explained Chief Reitz, "it's drafted and ready to go. We'll put it on next agenda." Earlier in the meeting, Buchanan recommended to his colleagues that they consider establishing a budget and audit committee, which would review the details of these issues before regular commission meetings. Members of the public would be involved and transparency of financial issues improved, Buchanan urged. They hope to have a draft of the 2013-14 budget available at the next meeting or the first one in June. The commission also agreed to send a letter to the Board of Supervisors requesting and recommending that full title for Squad 621 be transferred to IFPD from the county. This vehicle was purchased through the volunteers when they were associated with Riverside County Fire Station 53 in Garner Valley. When the unit associated with IFPD, the vehicle's title was not transferred. "It's necessary for us to clarify ownership of the vehicle," explained Chief Reitz. "We have the pink slip and because we are no longer involved with them, they're not responsible for it. IFPD should be," explained Dan Messina, president of the Idyllwild Volunteer Company 621. J.P. Crumrine can be reached at jp@towncrier.com.

Sherry Edwards joins IFPD

Idyllwild Fire Chief Patrick Reitz has selected Sherry Edwards, to be his administrative assistant. At the May 14 Idyllwild Fire Commission meeting, On Monday, May 19, he announced Edwards as his choice and she will be starting Tuesday, May 21. She also is very active in the community. She and her husband Bob are involved members of the Mountain Disaster Preparedness group, CERT, Mountain Community Patrol, and the Pine Cove Property Owners Association. Edwards is replacing Rhonda Andrewson, who has been with the Department nearly three years. She has resigned to run for a Commission seat.

Goldspotted oak borer inspections continue

11 trees positively identified; more possible

BY MARSHALL SMITH
ASSISTANT EDITOR

The current count of Goldspotted oak borer infested trees stands at 11, with the majority of those in Idyllwild. On Friday, May 18, crews removed a large infested oak in Pine Cove in the 23000 block of Pine Needles Lane. Because of the size of the oak and proximity to a residence, a crane had to be used as part of the removal process.

The present CAL FIRE GSOB program pays for 100 percent removal of diseased GSOB trees. Funds are federal dollars, called a State Fire Assistance grant, and are awarded to Riverside County for hazardous fuel reduction, according to CAL FIRE Forester Chief Gregg Bratcher. There are two caveats important to local property owners: if CAL FIRE removes the trees using designated grant money, all wood must be taken away from the site. No firewood would be left for landowner. Also, grant funds, unless re-authorized, end in September, after which, landowners would be responsible for cost of infested oak removal. Removal costs, depending on tree size, location and necessary equipment can range from $1,500 to $3,000.

As local oaks begin growing new leaves, Mountain Community Fire Safe Council Goldspotted oak borer inspection teams have another element to check on their inspection forms — canopy health. Comparative leafiness of an oak's crown, thin and spotty compared to other oaks in the same area with more robust canopies, is one indicator of an ailing tree. FSC Teams have already inspected 212 oaks on 44 area properties.

Last week, Pat Boss and Don Patterson inspected two black oaks on Hemstreet Place. The older and larger of the two, showed sufficient markers, including thinning canopy and at least five D-shaped exit holes, that the team marked it for subsequent CAL FIRE inspection. The tree was old, around 200 years thought Patterson, already hollowing out on one side and showing signs of overall general weakness. The smaller tree, although adjacent, showed no obvious signs of Goldspotted oak borer infestation. Boss estimated the candidate tree is less than a mile from the oak across from the American Legion that was removed, and is arguably part of that same micro zone of infestation.

But Boss noted Goldspotted oak borer beetles are not known to fly long distances or move too far from a tree that is still productively hosting them. So how this tree became infected, whether from firewood brought in, or from nearby beetles is unknown.

What is known is that older, larger black oaks, already in a weakened state, are strong candidates for Goldspotted oak borer occupation. Local property owners with black oaks should check tree canopies, a more obvious indicia of tree decline, than others used by FSC inspection teams. If your tree canopy looks thin and is not fully filled out, contact the GSOB hotline to arrange an inspection.

Forest Service Entomologist and lead GSOB researcher Tom Coleman advises concerned property owners who want to learn about current science in combatting Goldspotted oak borer should consult "Pest Notes" at www.gsob.org. At a recent Idyllwild GSOB education session, the "take home" message on one of the featured slides was: "read the GSOB Pest Note; there is no silver bullet for managing GSOB; ground surveys can be very effective for detecting GSOB; current insecticide research has been effective in the lab (but not yet in the field); grinding or tarping firewood can eliminate GSOB populations (if the tarping is secure and won't develop holes); leave wood on site for two years before moving it (two years is the length of time GSOB can survive in firewood) and bio-control research is ongoing."

University of California Riverside's Mark Hoddle, who works with Coleman on Goldspotted oak borer research, was asked about bio-control and whether there are current native California enemies effective against the beetle. Goldspotted oak borer predators found in Arizona ("parasitoids") that attack the beetle's eggs and larvae and seem to hold it in check are not effective in California, according to Hoddle, in stemming the advance of Goldspotted oak borer.

"Parasitism levels appear to be low in Arizona, based on the limited surveys we have done. This low level of attack is unlikely to be sufficient to effectively control GSOB in California," Hoddle believes. "Native [California] oaks have not co-evolved with a wood boring beetle like GSOB [as oaks have in Arizona] and they [California oaks] might therefore be very sensitive to this kind of attack. So a combination of low levels of parasitoid and predator activity and host plant resistance [in Arizona] in combination may be what holds GSOB at low levels."

Regarding if and when Goldspotted oak borer enemies from Arizona could be introduced into California, Hoddle said, "No natural enemies will be introduced from Arizona to California until we have run safety tests on bio-control agents that we think have the potential to be useful. These studies will take years to complete in quarantine if we start them."

Tree removal is the most effective way to currently stop spread to additional trees. Some insecticide sprays have shown effectiveness in laboratory tests. And firewood from a diseased tree must be tarped and sealed in such a way that beetles cannot emerge for a two year period. During that time, firewood should not be moved.

For a GSOB inspection, call (951) 659-8328.

After reports of a transfer station overflowing with boxes blowing in the wind and trash overflowing bins this past weekend, Monday showed a different story — a dump, full but cleaned. The problem according to a transfer station worker was that a major piece of equipment used to move and load recycables and trash had broken. That equipment should be repaired by Wednesday, May 22. Other equipment was brought in the interim.

In response to May 16 letter

EDITOR:

Thank our great Constitution, because only prior litigation, licensing documents, state enforcement records and provable facts are used before grand juries in the United States. Undocumented character assassination and personal attacks upon one's family have no place in grand juries.

The election of politicians and the administration of politics, on the other hand, are inherently and exclusively social acts. Politicians' public and private conduct and how they administer their elected affairs are a matter of concern to the electorate.

To make a point here, one beloved businessman may have had an affair with his secretary and then fired her pursuant to public court records within Riverside County.

Yet we continue to put him in charge of [public functions]. I guess its recreation, but not the sort I want my children to model.

Another respected official was disciplined by his professional board for inappropriately touching the breasts of his clients.

These incidents potentially control our impressions of them as to whether they should have the right to hold office. Neither has publicly or privately admitted to this conduct.

The net result was that the electorate was denied this information in making a decision as to whether or not they should hold office. Hindsight has no place as to whether it would make no difference since they did a good job. I want my politicians to reflect my values. They cheated the electorate so to speak in an exclusively social context.

Blair, I on the other hand am a private citizen who chooses not to subject my family to the rigors of elected office, I forgive you for not understanding the difference here.

As for your public solicitation of prayer for my tormented soul, I'll pass on this one. I for one would never do this out of respect and a healthy fear of God.

The difference between you, the others who hide behind this fabric, and me is that I don't pretend to live in a civil society when its fabric has a cornerstone of abusive or oppressive conduct.

It reminds me of the severed head hung in the center of town by a beloved and unnamed self-appointed Catholic religious leader and merchants a few years back with the name "JSmith" attached to it just after a highly successful effort to protect precious public mountain resources.

My faith is driven by mission. Yours appears to be driven by a misguided rally cry, friendship and politics, certainly not genuine faith in our community.

Reyna Grande recounts her immigration odyssey at author series

'What we gained and what we lost'

By Marshall Smith
Assistant Editor

After a well-attended successful launch of his third annual Idyllwild Author Series, Eduardo Santiago next presents Reyna Grande, author of "The Distance Between Us" (Atria Books, 2012).

Grande recounts in her memoir how, when she was two, her family life was devastated by the departure of first her father, then her mother, as undocumented immigrants from Mexico to the U.S. The family had lived in Iguala in the state of Guerrero in southern Mexico. An economic downturn caused massive unemployment and prompted her father's departure in search of work. Two years later her mother followed, leaving Grande and her two older siblings with their uncaring paternal grandmother.

Grande related it was nearly eight years before her father returned for them, eight years of largely fending for themselves, given her grandmother's detachment and cruelty. "I had not seen my dad in eight years," she remembered. "We had all changed."

During the interview, she talked of crossing the border. "We travelled three days on the bus to Tijuana," she remembered. "My father hired a smuggler. On our first attempt we got caught and agents returned us to Tijuana. We tried again the next day and were caught again. The third time we left at night, and this time we made it."

Reyna said they moved into their father's one-bedroom apartment in Highland Park. The transition, she said, was very hard. "My parents had split up after my mother arrived in the U.S. My dad was difficult, very stern. I had spent eight years in Mexico dreaming of my father and even after we arrived in the U.S. part of me pretended that a real dad, a different dad, would come for me."

Nevertheless, Grande credits her father with instilling in her a work ethic and commitment to becoming educated. "My dad did not let us get away with being lazy. He threatened to send us back to Mexico and our grandmother unless we did well in school. I guess for me education was the best way to get ahead."

Isis presents 'Love, Loss and What I Wore'

Isis Theatre Company will reprise its March production of "Love, Loss and What I Wore." The Ephron sisters — well known Nora and Delia — wrote a series of monologues based on Ilene Beckerman's 1995 book of the same title.

The subjects range from relationships to wardrobes and women's clothing serves as a time capsule of Beckerman's life.

Nora Ephron wrote the introduction to Beckerman's book and felt attached from the moment she read it. Eventually she and her sister contacted more than 100 friends and asked questions that were woven into the monologues.

Prom dresses, mini skirts, sweaters, purses and dressing rooms are all part of the backdrop for an evening of humor and poignant thoughts about today's society from the female perspective.

The cast of five characters will be Suzanne Avalon, Ann DeWolfe, Jeri Greene, Emily Heebner and Christina Lee Nordella.

The performances will be 7:30 p.m. Saturday, June 1, at the Rainbow Inn in Idyllwild. A reception will precede the performance.

Tickets are $15 for general admission. Tickets may be purchased at the door, or online at www.isistheatre-company.com.

There is also a Dinner Theatre Package available for $45, which includes a three course meal at the Gastrognome Restaurant and a ticket to the play with preferred seating.

For information call (951) 692-9553, or log onto the website at www.isistheatre-company.com.

IDYLLWILD BOTANY

STORY AND PHOTOS BY DAVE STITH

Idyllwild County Park flora update ...

On Friday, May 10, Tom Chester, Keir Morse, Adrienne Balway and I conducted a botany survey of Forest Service roads 5s06, 5s10, and a bit of 5s09 between and including Idyllwild and Pine Cove.

I advertised this as a four-mile one way hike. Since we added no additional participants from my invitation, we were free to roam around at will. Our four-mile hike turned out to be more like six miles, but it was well worth the extra effort.

This area has recently been heavily thinned as part of a fuel reduction project. Botanically speaking, the big winners are Scarlet bugler (Penstemon centranthifolius) and Chaparral whitethorn (Ceanothus leucodermis) which are now thriving as a result of the open canopy.

In my humble opinion Chaparral whitethorn is just as beautiful as Lilac, and we reveled in their fragrance wafted on the breeze.

Residents of Idyllwild will recognize

Pink bracted manzanita (Arctostaphylos pringlei ssp. drupacea) which is in its prime right now.

Few-leaved checkerbloom (Sidalcea sparsiflora) is frequently encountered in the open grassy spaces.

Less conspicuous is Oak violet (Viola purpurea ssp. quercetorum).

One of our off-road excursions was to look for Giant chain fern (Woodwardia fimbriata) at a location where I had seen them previously. As the name implies this is the largest fern found in the San Jacintos with leaves up to 9 feet long.

Following that we diverted from the main route to walk the road through Alvin Meadow. The meadow turned out to be a veritable garden of non-native weeds.

One of Keir's goals was to locate Galium californicum ssp. primum a rare plant that is very difficult to distinguish from other members of its genus. It makes its home in this area and is sometimes called Alvin Meadow Bedstraw. He collected lots of photos in order to study it.

Botany

one can see Indian milkweed (Asclepias eriocarpa), but at the lower elevations you may be lucky to spot its showier cousin California milkweed (Asclepias californica). Tom caught this amazing image of its flowers.

Beyond the meadow the road climbs through a steep section of south-facing chaparral. Here the plant community changes dramatically. Some characteristics plants include with this instead of the pink non-native Perennial sweet pea.

Another of Keir's goals was to photograph Long-flowered threadplant (Nemacladus longiflorus var. longiflorus). He had seen it before but had no photographs.

We looked for it recently in Garner Valley with no success. I pointed out a place where I had seen it in a past year, and voila! There it was. As the three of us continued along the road he lagged behind to photograph the tiny plants and received a scare from a dead rattlesnake.

At the top of the climb, the road once again enters the pine forest.

The biggest surprise for me came late in the day in a lush roadside bank just below my house in Pine Cove. The usual suspects were there including Baby blue eyes (Nemophila menziesii var. menziesii). They range in color from deep blue to white.

Tom was

Bush poppy (Dendromecon rigida).

Another is Canyon sweet pea (Lathyrus vestitus var. vestitus). If you can find this at a native plant nursery I highly recommend you landscape ssp. insignis). While not an uncommon taxon, it has not been recorded in Idyllwild since 1927, and this spot is the highest elevation occurrence in the San Jacintos.

Adding to the enjoyment of the day was the fact that this was the first time Adrienne had botanized the San Jacintos, so everything here was new and exciting to her especially the Snow plants (Sarcodes sanguinea).

All together we recorded just short of 200 plant taxa.

Lemon Lily status

After the May 15, Lemon Lily Festival Steering Committee meeting, I visited Lily Creek near the Idyllwild amazed at the number of Woodland stars (Lithophragma affine).

Then I spotted something I had never seen there before. Both Tom and Keir recognized it right away as Long-spurred plectritis (Plectritis ciliosa Nature Center and checked on the state of the lilies there. On that day, some water was still in the creek.

I was happy to see a number of lilies of various ages and stages of growth. Two lilies, which we planted, are looking exceptionally good with whorled leaves. They appear as though they could bloom this year.

This was the only location on the Creek which I checked.

It seems to be a slow and laborious task, but we are on the right track. If we can maintain the effort, I am confident that a real difference in bringing the lilies back to Idyllwild will be accomplished.

Golf

Jim Crandall, Palms to Pines Golf Association handicap chair, provided this report about the Friday, May 17, golf tournament at the Palm Desert Resort Country Club.

Palms to Pines golfer Gary Brown continues his hot streak. During last month's tourney at Diamond Valley Golf Course, Brown shot the club's first hole-in-one on the par 3 17th hole.

At this month's tourney, Brown (course handicap 14) shot a net 67 to win the tourney by three strokes. He also won three of the four closest-to-the-pin contests. The fourth par 3 remained unscathed.

Pete Capparelli (24) and Bill Sanborn (26) tied for second with net 70s, John LoGiudice (22) was alone in fourth with a net 74, and Jim Crandall (12) took fifth with a net 76.

Here are the current point standings for the 2012-2013 season.

Points are awarded at each tournament. The top eight point finishers of the year go into match-play playoffs for the club championship in August, September and October. A member has to compete in at least five regular season tournaments and have a handicap no greater than 24.4 in order to qualify for the playoffs. The club is a member of the Southern California Golf Association and is sanctioned to establish SCGA handicaps for members. If you are interested in joining the club or playing as a guest, contact Crandall at jim.crandall@verizon.net or (951) 265-5732, or Pete Capparelli at pete@capparelli.com or (951) 452-5552.

Race

funding. What's fun is that some of the adults now running it ran it years ago as students, and now their kids are running it, too."

Guntermann remembers the first year there were 25 participants. In 2009, a record 411 runners and fitness walkers registered.

Race Committee spokesman Bill Whitman, lawyer, physical therapist and triathlete, said the race was his first introduction to Idyllwild. "I came up in 1992 with the Desert Cities Track Club to run in the race. I was so impressed with Idyllwild that I started coming back. And I think that's what happens with others. They come up for the race, they love it and the town, and they come back."

Whitman tipped his hat to the many locals who volunteer to staff the race as well as those who participate. "The locals make such a difference by supporting this race, whether walkers, racers or local high school kids fresh from CIF."

Whitman said the course for the 5K and 10K should not be underestimated. "It's a challenging course what with the hills and the altitude. It's not your average flatland race." Whitman also credits the small town conviviality and camaraderie that each year help make the race a positive and friendly experience. Add to that the familiar race emceeing of Chip Schelly, and you have the right mix for a great event.

Part of the fun is a kids' run at Town Hall and a post-race pancake breakfast and awards ceremony. Tickets for the breakfast can be purchased on race day or at the registration and packet pick up on Friday night before the race. Proceeds benefit the Idyllwild School PTA program.

Registration for the race itself is either online, or from 5 to 6:30 p.m. on Friday, May 31, or on race day from 6:15 to 7 a.m. Online registration is at www.active.com/running/

The 5K race and fitness walk begins at 7:15 a.m. at the Village Center Drive starting line. The 10K race begins at 8 a.m. and the 1/2-mile kids' run for children 7 and under is at 9:15 a.m. at Town Hall.

HOROSCOPE

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) An apparent act of injustice might turn out to be either an error in judgment or just plain stupidity. So calm down and cool off, and let the explanations roll out.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) It's upsetting when someone you trusted might have failed you. But with new opportunities ahead, you'll soon be too busy to feel even a wee bit sorry for yourself.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A sense of uncertainty could be a good reason to change your position on an important matter. Someone close might try to talk you out of it, but it's your decision to make.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Being too zealous in pursuing your goal could create some resistance. Try to be more mindful of what you ask people to do, and they'll be more likely to do it.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Things change as you go from being ignored to being Lionized once again. This is a good time to reintroduce those previously rejected ideas to a more receptive audience.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Someone new in your life creates both anticipation as well as anxiety. Avoid the potential for misunderstandings by watching what you say and how you say it.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Watch your budget so that you don't overspend now and have less to invest when the time is right later on. Arrange to share your weekend with someone special.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) The temptation to involve yourself in a friend's or family member's personal problems is laudable. But get the facts before you make a firm commitment.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You might be upset by some of your critics. But most of your associates continue to keep the faith in your ability to get the job done, and done well.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You've reached an important point in your ongoing pursuit of your goals. You might now want to consider letting someone you trust join you on your journey.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) You've been going through a spate of uncertainty involving people you care for. But it might be time to take a stand on a position you feel sure you can defend.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Treading water keeps you busy, but it won't get you where you need to go. Time to stop making excuses and to start moving ahead toward your goals.

BORN THIS WEEK: You see life as both creative and pragmatic. You would not only be a fine artist, but also a successful one.

CREATURE CORNER

By MIMI AND HOOTCH

Yay for Riley, our Lab mix. You are officially in your forever and ever home with the best mom and dad. We will always hold an extra special place in our hearts for you at ARF and with the many volunteers who know and love you. Paws up to you, and keep up the good work. Also adopted this week is Sunkist. She is the orange tabby who was left on the ARF porch, and surprised us all with a litter of four kittens. She patiently raised her babies, and is now in a new forever home just for her.

Reunited this week were Nugget, Jack, Penny and Lily. We are so glad these canines are back home and safe.

Boomer the male orange tabby, and Willow the female tortie are the two kittens still available for adoption from momma Sunkist's litter. They are three months old. Willow is a bit shy, unlike Boomer, who is always the first to investigate. Both love to play, take a nap, climb the cat tree, have a kitty snack, and play again.

The name says it all, Jezabelle, the diva of the cattery. The eyes will draw you in. She's a bit shy, until she warms up to you. She will allow you to look and touch, but this diva lives to have her own space to show her beauty. She absolutely loves a perch to view the great outdoors.

Oreo and Sandy love the morning sun. Both are about two years old and get along just fine with most other four-leggeds, cats included. Oreo is a male black Chihuahua-Boston terrier mix. He is currently in training school, and has only earned A's. Good boy Oreo. Sandy is a female tan Chihuahua-Jack Russel mix. She will greet you each and every day with her favorite toy in her mouth, ready for play and love. Both are available for adoption to a home with plenty of sunshine and love.

ARF has many cats and dogs available for adoption or fostering. Go to www.arfidyllwild.weebly.com and click on Petfinder. All pets are spayed, neutered, and current on shots. ARF is open 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturdays and 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sundays. Call (951) 659-1122 or email info@idyllwildarf.org for appointment on any other day.
