Fire board OKs doubling fee

Voters decide in November

By JP CRUMRINE
NEWS EDITOR

Idyllwild voters will have the opportunity to decide whether to raise the parcel fees for standby emergency medical services this fall.

At their July 26 meeting, commissioners for the Idyllwild Fire Protection District, in the absence of Larry Donahoo, unanimously approved a resolution to double the current $65 per-parcel unit fee to a $130 fee for all parcels.

"$130 is the new base rate and compares to the current rate of $65 and the finance committee's recommendation of $156," Fire Chief Patrick Reitz said to the commission about his recommendation. "It will also be indexed to a [consumer price index]."

The added revenues will be an important component of efforts to build a reserve fund, he added. IFPD estimates that after eight years, its reserves will be slightly more than $450,000 or about 20 percent of its current operating budget.

The current parcel assessment raised $200,000 this year, according to the financial report. If voters approve the proposal, projected annual revenue will be about $450,000.

This proposal does change how the fee is imposed, which is why the total is more than double the existing collections. The original 1981 "parcel fee" had a maximum level of $65. However, the actual fee depended upon whether the parcel had structures and the square footage of those structures. For example, undeveloped lots only paid half the fee. And lots with structures greater than 7,000 square feet were assessed twice the approved fee and it grew to four times for parcels with structures greater than 38,000 square feet.

Power outage on Hill

By JP CRUMRINE
NEWS EDITOR

About 9 a.m., Wednesday, July 27, two Southern California Edison power lines touched inappropriately.

A 33-kilovolt line and 12-kilovolt came into contact and caused a substantial outage from the Hill to San Jacinto. The cause was unknown, but possibilities could be wind or lines sagging from the heat.

Full power was restored shortly after 10:30 a.m.

The northern boundary was Esplanade Avenue. The southern boundary extended to Double View Drive in Idyllwild. The western boundary was Lyon Avenue and power was lost as far east as Tahquitz View Drive in Idyllwild, according to Mary Ann Milboure of Edison.

JP Crumrine can be reached at jp@towncrier.com.

On Wednesday morning, July 27, crews were working on multiple poles on South Circle Dr, closing the street at Fern Valley Road. This resulted in some residents in Fern Valley losing power, which was unrelated to the major outage affecting the Hill and San Jacinto Valley. (See story above.) PHOTO BY JENNY KIRCHNER

Fatal motorcycle crash, one DUI arrest on Hill roads

By MARSHALL SMITH
STAFF REPORTER

A fatal motorcycle crash and an arrest for driving under the influence took place on Hill roads over the last week.

At 7:34 p.m. Wednesday, July 27, an unidentified male motorcyclist, aged 57, of San Jacinto, was riding his 2012 black Harley Davidson eastbound on Highway 74, 3/10 of a mile west of Bee Canyon Truck Trail when he failed to execute a slight left curve in the highway, hit the right shoulder and went over a steep embankment. The rider was thrown from his motorcycle and, although wearing a helmet, was pronounced dead at the scene by fire-department responders.

At 12:20 a.m. Sunday, July 31, David Miller, 52, of Idyllwild, was driving his 2015 blue Chevy Silverado westbound on Overlook Drive just west of Highway 243 when he allowed his vehicle to drift off the roadway and into a drainage culvert. Miller was arrested for a DUI and incarcerated at the Larry D. Smith Correctional Facility in Banning. Miller was not injured and his vehicle was only minimally damaged.

Supervisors and district attorney at odds over budget level

DA threatens layoffs, supervisors urge patience

By JP CRUMRINE
NEWS EDITOR

Although Riverside County Executive Jay Orr added $6 million to the 2016-17 budget for the District Attorney's office, DA Mike Hestrin, told the Board of Supervisors that was not enough funding. While he recommended another $12 million, half of that—$6 million—would enable him to avoid service reductions and staff layoffs.

He argued that he has limited options to meet the budget restrictions being set for his office. Consequently, the longer he waits to initiate layoffs, the more money will be needed to still meet his budget limits.

Except for 3rd District Supervisor Chuck Washington, Hestrin encountered little sympathy from the dais. And several supervisors urged him to be more patient before laying off any staff.

County Finance Director Paul McDonnell told the board he thought the shortfall might be addressed over time with little or no layoffs, and less than the $12 million Hestrin was requesting.

Affecting the discussion with the DA's office has been the issue of how public-safety funding has fared compared to other county-program funding during the past several years.

This year, both Orr and the board were less supportive of public-safety program increases. Orr stressed that since the recession started, general government programs had incurred funding reductions of 17.5 percent and health and human service programs have been reduced 39.4 percent. During the same period, public-safety programs have grown 30 percent.

"It's time for everyone to pull together," Orr said.

Hestrin argued that his budget problems began with how his predecessor handled the budget. "The issue of the DA's budget is ... I inherited a structural deficit of $18.7 million. I can't remedy it by belt tightening or other discretionary spending cuts." Further, Hestrin told the board that salary costs were growing because of its decisions on retirement costs versus salaries.

Since he was elected DA in 2014, Hestrin has reduced the office's staffing from more than 800 to 705, including a 27-position decrease last year.

"With no additional funding and not beginning layoffs is a position [that is] untenable and unsustainable," he stated.

Both Chair John Benoit (4th District) and Supv. John Tavaglione (2nd District) questioned Hestrin's hiring staff this spring if he knew potential layoffs were on the horizon.

"I don't believe there is support on the board at this time," Benoit advised the DA, who replied, "If you don't find additional money, we bust our appropriations."

Washington urged his colleagues to specifically address Hestrin's request for an answer rather than delaying it until the options were limited and harsher. While Supv. Marion Ashley (5th District) also urged a rapid resolution, he stressed that "... we're not going into reserves for anyone."

Eventually, the officials agreed to have a meeting with Orr, Benoit and Hestrin before Labor Day.

Tavaglione was more direct about the specific issue and its relationship to the overall financial situation. "Public safety has not been getting what it has gotten in the past. ... That's unfortunate, but damn it, we've been really good to public safety for 22 years. Unfortunately, we can't do it this time.

"It is time for people to tighten the belt," he emphasized. "The sheriff thankfully has done that. Mr. Hestrin, it is time for you to do that. I will not support more than the $6 million we've given you."

Tuesday's board meeting ended with the board approving the budget recommendations from Orr and agreeing to future meetings with the DA and his staff. However, the issue was not put to rest.

On Wednesday, Hestrin notified local police agencies that his office would no longer review search-warrant requests after hours.

On Thursday, the county issued a press release in which Benoit said, "It is not an unexpected move from a first-term DA who hasn't managed through financial adversity before and had to look for efficiencies. I hope he will take a breath, and that this challenge helps him become a strong manager."

Later, he described Hestrin's actions as similar to the National Park Service threatening to close the Washington Monument.

Hestrin responded, "The news release issued on July 28, 2016, by the county once again highlights the lack of communication between the Executive Office and the Board of Supervisors, as well as a misunderstanding of what our office does."

With projected costs exceeding his budget allocation, Hestrin defended his action. "To contain overtime costs which will help stave off layoffs, the District Attorney's office restricted search-warrant reviews to office hours ... These cuts are projected to save more than $500,000. When we are looking at not being able to make payroll, we cannot justify providing courtesy prosecution services. Search-warrant reviews are not legally mandated and are not provided by all county DA's offices."

"It appears he prefers political pressure but I hope he will reconsider his announcement and work with the county to find more appropriate, long-term savings that won't harm his mission or the community," Benoit said in the press release.

Saturday's rain breaks oppressive heat

By JP CRUMRINE
NEWS EDITOR

Above-normal temperatures ravished the mountain climate last week. Temperatures stalled above 60 degrees, approaching 70 degrees, for several consecutive nights. Finally, on Saturday and Sunday nights, July 30 and 31, the temperature dropped to 58 degrees.

Saturday afternoon, a small cloud burst—the first rain of the 2016-17 rain year—may have aided this "cooling" trend. Pine Cove recorded 0.55 inches and 0.2 inches were recorded in Idyllwild. The U.S. Forest Service's Keenwild Ranger Station in Mountain Center did not report any rain Saturday.

Historically, the July rainfall has been 0.7 inches. In 2015, several storms passed over the Hill in July depositing more than 3 inches of rain.

Fortunately, for possible drought relief, the National Weather Service lowered its projection of the formation this fall or winter of a possible "La Niña" weather pattern, from 75 percent to 55 to 60 percent. Typically, La Niña weather patterns produce less rainfall than normal.

For the next three months, NWS does not forecast any significant rain or below-average rain, either.

OUT LOUD

When you run a complex business with very little staffing, a week where you lose three employees to various leaves — vacation, sick and maternity — will definitely set you back a pace or two.

But on top of it, Jack and I previously agreed to dog-sit two of our granddogs for 10 days. I say previously because since the time back then when we agreed, we acquired a large, strong, untrained 2-year-old alpha dog who's like a bull in a China shop.

In the middle of the week, the two granddogs arrived. So over a two-week period, we were down three people at various times, up two dogs and awaiting a call at anytime that our daughter (and operations manager) was in labor.

By the time the family returned to get their dogs, two of the people on leave were back. An hour after they returned, our daughter went into labor.

By the time they returned, my body was covered in bruises from being knocked down more than once just simply trying to open the back door to let in three overactive dogs, Riley the bull in the lead.

Yet we got through that two weeks and last Friday, a new baby granddaughter was born with a full head of beautiful black hair and a middle name honoring her great-grandmother and long-time Idyllwild resident Inie Wilson.

I took up residence over the weekend in a hotel near Desert Regional Medical Center. Various family members visited or stayed over. Two of my grandchildren, who rarely get the chance to swim, practiced in the pool everyday, acquiring more and more confidence in the water.

I played with grandchildren and relaxed, and those bruises are almost healed. It was a happy ending to those two frenzied weeks.

Faulty water meter?

EDITOR:

I've been watching with interest recently all the issues surrounding IWD, but it finally hit home last month when I received my water bill for $433 after my usual bill of $40 to $60. This bill was the highest IWD bill I've ever received in three years and more than double my next highest bill.

I immediately called IWD and explained my concern regarding my bill, and was assured they would send someone out to do a "re-read" of my meter. Later that afternoon, I received a call back from an IWD representative and was told my bill was correct and I must have a leak.

The following weekend, I made a trip to my Idyllwild home to take a look at the meter myself as I'd never looked inside the meter box in the three years I've owned my home. I was a little shocked to find that my meter was below 6 inches of compacted dirt, which obviously had never been looked at by anyone.

The following Monday, I called IWD and asked what the process was when someone asked to have their meter reread. I was told that instead of scanning the sensor, they do a physical reading of the meter.

I explained to the representative that obviously, no one physically re-read the meter and that with a $400-plus water bill, I deserved a little more care and interest from my water provider.

I was put on hold for a few minutes and then told someone would go out "right away" and read the meter. An hour later, I was called back and told the meter was correct and my bill was trending to be the same this month. Hmm.

In good faith, I paid my bill, but IWD, through its own behavior and lack of concern for its customers, has created a situation of doubt and uncertainty.

The recent article regarding faulty water meters has only contributed to my doubts as to how they're managing their affairs.

I still find it hard to believe my monthly water bill went from $60 to $433 in one month (and yes, we've done a complete check of our system).

My question to IWD is: Where do I go now, whom do I trust to know my readings are accurate and what happens in the coming months when my bills return to their historical average? How will IWD explain that?

Volunteering

EDITOR:

For seven summers, Don and I have been coming up the mountain from the desert. Besides enjoying the beauty, hiking and music, we have made many friends.

People ask us how we got acquainted with so many people when we aren't full-timers? The answer is, we volunteered.

We started volunteering at the Nature Center, which we still do. Then when the new library came about, we started helping there, too. Don looks forward to passing the donation bucket at the summer concerts. It's not a lot of volunteering, but enough for us to make friends and feel part of the community.

Idyllwild used to be known as having 3,000 residents and 9,000 volunteers. Over the past few years, we have seen this change. Most of the organizations are volunteer-deprived.

These are worthy organizations that help everyone with educational and recreational programs, and serve people in need. Without volunteers, these wonderful organizations will not survive.

A person needs only to find the local group that fits his/her interests and give just a few hours a week or month of volunteer time.

The realtors in town tell me houses are selling. I urge you full-time or part-time, old and new residents, to volunteer in this amazing community. A volunteer is never without friends and is rewarded by helping others.

IDYLLWILD BOTANY

By DAVE STITH

A Premonition Come True ...

On Tuesday July 26, Tom Chester and friends conducted a survey in the small section of the Mountain Fire burn area now open to hikers from Humber Park. The results mark concerns about the spread of invasive weeds in the wilderness.

Here is an excerpt of his report:

“Now the bad news. We observed new, non-native species in Tahquitz Valley:

• Sonchus, which is sow thistle, is a new, non-native weed here — five plants, which I removed from the highest elevation, except for a single voucher from Hidden Lake at 8,700 feet and Garner Valley at 4,700 feet.

• One plant of the lactuca serriola, commonly known as prickly lettuce, I also removed. But it looked like it had already dispersed its seed at the 4,400 feet.

• We found one plant of Taraxacum officinale, common dandelion, growing in a habitat and location where it had not been seen before. We had seen this previously only in the riparian areas; this area was a flat area above Skunk Cabbage Meadow.”

These three non-native invasive weed species they encountered are wind-borne. All three prosper in Idyllwild.

The same updrafts that keep the gliders soaring above the village can waft their seeds from Idyllwild to the higher elevations of the wilderness. No length or depth of forest closure can prevent this.

In my time in Idyllwild, I have advocated for weed control. I have given talks at the Lemon Lily Festival about the weeds found locally, written about the harm they inflict on native and rare species, sent out email alerts of weeds I have spotted in Idyllwild whenever they are in season thorized and funded litigation with IFPD and San Jacinto pitted against the Cal Fire firefighters' union.

They're insults to the employees and an affront to every voter and homeowner on this mountain, not just because of the wasted tax dollars spent on expensive, repeating, disturbing, fact-revealing, frivolous, ego-driven litigation, but because of these institutions' failures, as demonstrated by continued neglect to have in place qualified management, objective commissioners and adequate district policies.

Wake up, Idyllwild. Stop mixing the Kool-Aid at the concerts, Fourth of July parade and tree lighting with professional work/service expectations from IWD and IFPD. That medical emergency-deploying untrustworthy paramedics, referred to within grand jury reports, and litigation or low-flow, single-barrel fire hydrants serviced by districts with under-funded, unqualified/unlicensed management/employees fed by surface water from a dry creek and lake with limited usable storage are wholly unacceptable on this mountain.

Don't get caught up in the smoke and mirrors of drought or egos. For your own protection, learn the facts as it relates to your property, your home, your street and your family.

If you do ask, perhaps you shouldn't ask the ones who so artfully serve the Kool-Aid. And, if you are so fortunate to have proper resources and staffing provided to your home and family, perhaps you could advocate for those not so fortunate.

Remember, not all water quality, fire hydrants, paramedics, board members, water storage and managers are created equal. It's time to throw out the garbage.

Tom and I have removed the weeds we have encountered in our surveys both in the wilderness and in Idyllwild. Sadly, most of our meager efforts have been conducted alone with a trash bag in hand or at the ready in my car, but the fight is too big for just one person.

There is no quick fix, but it is not too late to make an impact. You can start on your own properties by identifying weeds and removing them. You can inquire about Forest Service volunteer projects and join them when they occur. Or you can mobilize your own organization to enlist someone with knowledge of non-native plants to help seek them out and remove them.

Many non-natives in the wilderness will first appear next to established and used trails where they have been inadvertently carried by hikers and climbers. A prompt and intense eradication effort by the Forest Service that includes a long-term monitoring component can help to minimize their impact.

However, the battle must be fought at the source. The wilderness is too vast and remote for even the most aggressive eradication effort to prevail. We in Idyllwild have the good fortune of living next to an unsullied wilderness. Let's not be part of a problem that despoils it, but instead, a solution to help keep it pristine.

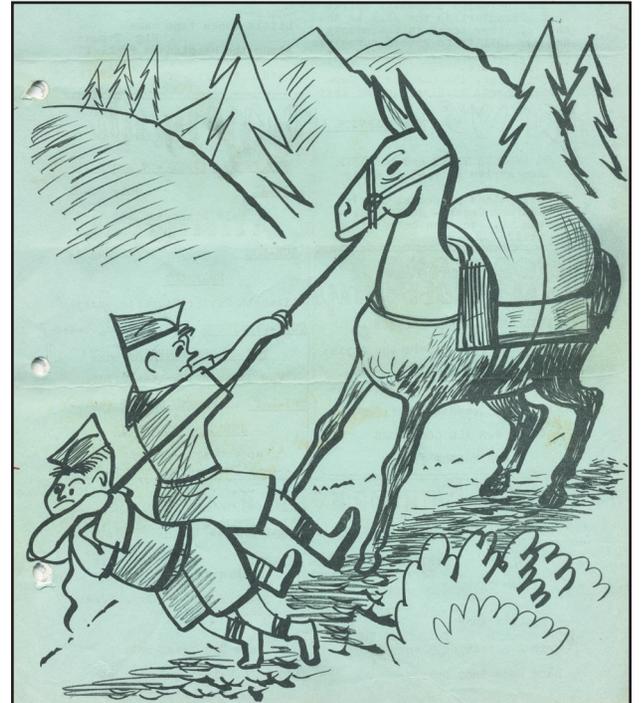

Radio club seeks help from town

The Mile High Radio Club is trying to improve WNKI 1610 AM station, Idyllwild emergency radio station, in the near future. WNKI has received some grant funding and MHRC has raised a fair amount of funds recently, too.

A condition of the grants is that MHRC record and document any form of improvements. It is asking for help from the community to tune into 1610 AM in and around the Idyllwild area.

Of most interest is the capability of WNKI to be heard on car radios north of Pine Cove, and east and west of Mountain Center. Providing field reports would be the best by describing the signal quality, time of day or night, and, more specifically, the locations, street and cross street as to when the signal was lost.

The FoodKeeper app

The birth date of a family member may stick in your mind, but are you able to remember when you bought all the items in your refrigerator?

Every year, billions of pounds of food go to waste in the U.S. because consumers are not sure of its quality or safety. Last year, the U.S. Department of Agriculture launched the FoodKeeper app to help combat this cause of waste. The FoodKeeper is available for Apple and Android devices and allows users to set up automatic notifications when foods and beverages are nearing the end of their recommended storage date.

By helping users understand how items should be stored in the refrigerator, freezer and pantry, the app empowers consumers to choose storage methods that extend the shelf life of their items.

It offers advice about more than 400 food and beverage items, including various types of baby food, dairy products, eggs, meat, poultry, produce, seafood and more.

Cooking advice also is offered to ensure users prepare products in ways that eliminate food-borne bacteria.

Supervisors approve budget

Internal skirmish between Tavaglione and Jeffries

By JP CRUMRINE
NEWS EDITOR

After a very difficult and, at times, personal discussion, the Riverside County Board of Supervisors approved a budget for 2016-17. The overall budget is nearly $5.4 billion, but only the discretionary general funds, which amount to $814 million, was subject to intense scrutiny. A board that usually achieves consensus was faced with fractious comments last week.

County Executive Jay Orr warned the board in February the current-year budget would present difficult decisions and bring long-term ramifications. Simply funding all departmental requests would have reduced the county's reserves to less than $100 million.

But the supervisors were adamant that $150 million must be the lowest level for reserves and this budget achieves that goal. However, it limits the growth of public-safety programs and maintains tight limits on other departments.

A hiring freeze has been imposed on all county programs. This budget is the first step in a journey toward fiscal sustainability, Orr believes.

"In the short term, we can expect discomfort as a result of holding spending down," Orr said in his July 20 memorandum to the board. "Our long-term solution is to achieve operational savings as a result of the KPMG-led re-alignment effort." The county has hired a consultant to review all its programs, with emphasis on the public-safety programs.

But the crux of its success is the board's willingness to continue tough budgeting, which Orr stated in his memo means "substantial restraint to maintain overall discretionary spending flat over the next five years while still delivering mission-critical county services."

Supervisor Kevin Jeffries (1st District), who recognized this vital component months ago, and questioned the board's willingness to forego increases after one year, was charged with panicking and frightening county staff during last week's session approving the budget.

"[T]he current budget process is the worst ... I've seen or worked with in 22 years on the board," said Supervisor John Tavaglione (2nd District), who then devoted several minutes criticizing a member of the board, on his right, without using Jeffries' name.

Eventually, Tavaglione described Jeffries contributions: "Some of your ideas are good, but some are crazy — $35,000 art projects ..." He then chastised Jeffries for recommending cutting or reducing projects "in every district but yours" and the diminished quality of "stupid ideas coming out of a certain board member."

Tavaglione is comfortable with Orr's budget strategy and was concerned about the frequent references to layoffs. "We can do it without harming our own employees. Why shock them? They are nervous by comments we make in these hearings."

Jeffries was surprised with Tavaglione's charges and replied, "I didn't know my ideas were revolutionary. I feel very sorry for my colleague, to know that suggestions to look at different ways to find efficiencies, to engage in dialogue with department heads, is such an upsetting suggestion that it would require a personal insult, one after another. I've experienced that in Sacramento ... it hurts and was painful. Not one of my suggestions was to encourage layoffs."

The board adopted the 2016-17 budget on a 4-1 vote with Jeffries opposed. Chair John Benoit (4th District) agreed to meet with District Attorney Mike Hestrin and Orr in the next few weeks.

Gov. Brown makes some temporary state water limits permanent

Cites likelihood that drought will continue

By MARSHALL SMITH
STAFF REPORTER

Citing California's five-year drought, Gov. Jerry Brown issued an executive order making some of the state's temporary water restrictions permanent.

Permanently banned are wasteful practices such as hosing off driveways and washing cars with hoses that lack shut-off nozzles.

The governor credited Californians with having accomplished significant water conservation, saving 1.3-million-acre-feet of water from June 2015 to March 2016 with statewide cumulative savings in the same period of 23.9 percent compared to the same period in 2013. Nevertheless, the governor concluded water savings must continue statewide.

What the new regulations do not continue are across-the-board mandates to users of urban water to reduce consumption by 25 percent. Adopted on May 15 instead are localized "stress test" approaches. Urban water suppliers must act now to ensure at least a three-year supply of water to their customers under drought conditions.

Assuming they would face another three more dry years, agencies must act to maintain a three-year supply in reserve. If suppliers project for instance, a 10-percent shortfall, then their mandatory conservation standard would be 10 percent.

"Drought conditions are far from over, but have improved enough that we can step back from our unprecedented top-down target setting," said State Water Board Chair Felicia Marcus. "We've moved to a 'show us the water' approach that allows local agencies to demonstrate that they are prepared for three more lousy water years."

The governor's order directs the State Water Resources Control Board to adjust emergency cutbacks through January 2017 that had been previously ordered. That flexibility means areas still facing water shortages could be directed to maintain 25-percent cutbacks while areas like the Northern California coast that saw major rainfall last winter might not be issued any further cutbacks at all.

"This is not a time to start using water like it's 1999," said Marcus. "While El Niño didn't save us, it did help us. We got a reprieve. We need to use this moment wisely."

"Permanent" prohibitions in addition to those mentioned above include: applying potable water to outdoor landscapes in a way that causes runoff; applying potable water to driveways and sidewalks; using potable water in a fountain or decorative water feature unless there is a recirculation feature; serving water other than on request in eating or drinking establishments; and using potable water for landscapes outside of newly constructed homes and buildings if inconsistent with California Building Standards Commission or Department of Housing and Community Development regulations.

Fern Valley Water to purchase two diesel trucks

By JP CRUMRINE
NEWS EDITOR

In a special meeting Thursday, July 28, Fern Valley Water District directors approved the purchase of two new diesel-powered vehicles. The board approved acquiring the trucks and authorized $150,000 for the purchase.

General Manager Victor Jimenez had made the recommendation at the board's regular meeting on July 15. However, Director Richard Schnetzer notified the staff in an email that he objected to diesel-powered vehicles and preferred gas-powered.

Directors Trisha Clark and Charlie Wix were present at the meeting and Robert Krieger joined via telephone. Neither Schnetzer nor President James Rees were available.

"The issue, which [Schnetzer] is opposed to [diesel trucks], received considerable discussion at the [July 22] board meeting and even more at the planning committee meeting," Krieger stated.

Wix also expressed his support of Jimenez's report on the difference between the diesel and gas vehicles.

In his report, Jimenez acknowledged an article favoring gas vehicles, which Schnetzer had forwarded to him. However, Jimenez noted, "This article didn't focus on aspects of our operation, which shouldn't be overlooked. These aspects are the extensive amount of climbing that the district vehicles perform on a daily basis and the amount of weight that the district's trucks haul..."

He concluded that the gas vehicles were more efficient and better suited for highway speeds and in a flat terrain, whereas the opposite conditions, found on the Hill, favor diesel vehicles.

After some discussion, a motion was passed 3-0 in favor.

Proposition 54, the Legislature Transparency Act, faces no opposition

By MARSHALL SMITH
STAFF REPORTER

Proposition 54, the Legislature Transparency Act, is an initiative constitutional amendment and statute that currently has broad support and little apparent opposition.

It proposes to amend the California constitution to require any prospective bill be in print and made available to legislators, and posted on the Internet, for at least 72 hours before the Legislature could vote to pass it. In an emergency, such as a natural disaster, the Legislature could pass emergency legislation faster.

Additionally, the Legislature would have to ensure that all its public meetings are recorded and make videos of those meetings available on the Internet within 24 hours following the end of the meeting. Videoed meetings would have to be available to the public and downloadable from the Internet for at least 20 years. These requirements would take effect beginning Jan. 1, 2018.

Also, members of the public who attend meetings would be allowed to record and broadcast (audio and/or video) any part of a public legislative meeting. Prop 54, if passed, would also change the existing statute so that any member of the public could use videos of open legislative meetings for any legitimate purpose without paying a fee to the state for their use.

The intent of the initiative is to ensure that both the public and the Legislature have sufficient opportunity to read pending legislation before it comes up for a vote. Said section 2 a. of the initiative, "It is essential to the maintenance of a democratic society that public business be performed in an open and public manner, and highly desirable that citizens be given the opportunity to fully review every bill and express their views regarding the bill's merits to their elected representatives, before it is passed."

The costs of implementing the measure would, according to the California Legislative Analyst, entail "one time" expenditures of $1 to $2 million to buy cameras and other recording equipment, and annual costs of about $1 million for more staff and online storage for the videos.

These costs, said the analyst, would be less than 1 percent of the Legislature's budget for its own operations.

Supporters include California Common Cause, California League of Women Voters, First Amendment Coalition, California NAACP, California Business Roundtable, California Chamber of Commerce, Howard Jarvis Taxpayers Association, Latin Business Association, and both the Los Angeles and San Francisco chambers of commerce.

Peter Scheer, executive director of First Amendment Coalition, said, "The First Amendment Coalition has long opposed the California Legislature's practice of voting on bills submitted or materially amended at the last minute, before members have had a chance to read and understand them and without any opportunity for the press or public to weigh in. Proposition 54 would curb these abuses."

The San Francisco Chronicle editorial board noted, "It's important to know that several earnest legislators, Democrats and Republicans alike, have been trying to push a 72-hour rule for years — and those ideas went nowhere. The politicians had their chance. The good news is that the legislative transparency initiative had enough certified signatures to qualify for the November ballot."

Besos de Coco, coconut kisses, comes to Jazz in the Pines

BY MARSHALL SMITH
STAFF REPORTER

BY VIC SIRKIN, RESIDENT FOODIE

So many of us living in California came from other states or regions — in many cases from other countries. Most of us have special memories of foods we ate as a child that only our grandmothers could prepare, or perhaps our parents could prepare. When times changed and many homes had two working breadwinners, we began to dine out more often or eat frozen foods such as TV dinners. Things were taking a gastronomic turn for the worse.

While those more senior may remember amazing homemade pies and cakes, younger folks may think fondly of favorite foods only available at a retail location. I loved when my dad would take us to White Castle for those delectable little burgers in the Midwest. Now, gourmet restaurants serve all manner of “sliders.”

The folk from Philly brag about Philly cheesesteak sandwiches. Chicago lays claim to Vienna-brand, hot-dog stands and Italian beef sandwiches (which are amazing). New Yorkers think their pizza is the best, Chicagoans know their deep-dish pizza is the best and Detroit is rising up as a serious contender.

Everyone in California has a favorite Mexican restaurant or sushi bar they think is the best in the world. I’ve yet to try fried chicken and waffles, but I bet it is sublime. Not sure if that would kill me, or my wife would kill me first for even thinking about eating it.

A lobster roll on the East Coast is a thing of beauty. A poutine in Canada is a matter of national pride. Look that one up on the web for a description and prepare to drool.

I do enjoy a well-prepared piece of fresh halibut from Alaska, yet I also enjoy a nice greasy order of fish and chips. I could go on and on.

Here in Idyllwild, our population comes from the four corners of the globe. It would be interesting to publish some family recipes from Town Crier readers that they have enjoyed since childhood and are willing to share. The only rule would be to avoid leaving anything out, and to be certain it is unique and not a reprint of someone else’s recipe.

Every family has a meatloaf maker in residence. It would be fun to see a few family meatloaf recipes come in, with a story about them. Soups, stews and anything else would be welcome. The older the recipe the better, as far as I’m concerned. It seems that the current move toward more complicated and artistic endeavors can sometimes lose the “comfort food” factor.

I have run into a number of locals who say they have something that would be great in this column. This is their moment in the sun. I know the possibilities are awesome as Idyllwild is probably the potluck capital of the Inland Empire.

If you don’t have a special dish but know someone who does and may be reluctant for a chance at gourmet fame, give ‘em a shove. I can’t keep doing all the heavy lifting.

Vic Sirkin can be reached at vicsirkin@yahoo.com.

As John Newman and Idyllwild Arts continue to add spice to the Jazz in the Pines menu, one of the most unusual and eclectic of first-time festival acts is Besos de Coco. Arguably the act with the most interesting name (translation from Spanish, “coconut kisses”) Besos also has perhaps the most unusual instrumentation and genre mix.

Three women, with internationally diverse backgrounds, push the boundaries of musical collaboration and genres. Filipina-American Lorraine Castellanos plays classical guitar and sings, riffing on Andres Segovia and Sarah Vaughan; Evona Wascinski, born in Poland, plays double bass and sometimes treats it as a conga drum; and Mexican-American Claudia Gomez Vorce is the group’s percussionist, using her feet to provide the varied musical genre rhythms of flamenco, classical, jazz, Charleston swing, Latin and American pop.

Said Castellanos (who is married to Jazz in the Pines veteran trumpeter Gilbert Castellanos), “What we have is fun. We play a broad mix from tango and romantic boleros to Elvis Presley and Charleston-era swing. Last year, we played for the patrons concert but this is the first time we’re in the actual festival. Marshall [Hawkins] invited us and we’re very happy to be playing in Stephens [Recital Hall].”

Castellanos said the group’s arrangements are collaborative and are key components of Besos’ appeal. “We are always trying new things and innovative approaches.”

Reviewed in the San Diego Reader as, “Thick, buttery sound ... astonishing footwork ... the purity of a songbird ... three strong women, an inspired choice,” Besos de Coco creates a musical travelogue serving up the romance of the Mediterranean, Latin America and American jazz. And just as irresistible as the Caribbean macaroon dessert for which they’re named, Besos de Coco will keep festival audiences wanting more — because of their tasty arrangements and intriguing flavors.

They appear at 3:15 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 21.

Jazz in the Pines tickets can now be bought in town at the Idyllwild Arts boutique on North Circle.

Marshall Smith can be reached at marshall@towncrier.com.

Besos de Coco (coconut kisses), in addition to having the most unusual name of any act scheduled for Jazz in the Pines 2016, also brings the most unusual instrumentation — classical guitar and voice, double bass sometimes played as a conga, and percussion from the feet of an accomplished tap and Latin dancer. Besos plays Stephens Recital Hall on Sunday, the last day of the festival. Ken Dahleen and his Big Band Staff bring back the '40s

And it's all about dancing

BY MARSHALL SMITH
STAFF REPORTER

The big-band era that had its heyday from the early 1930s to the 1950s helped to lift the spirits of a country recovering from a Great Depression and facing a devastating war on two fronts.

Ken Dahleen and his Big Band Staff, next up at the Idyllwild Summer Concert Series, plan to lift the spirits and the feet of attendees at the Thursday, Aug. 11, concert on Butterfield Commons. And Dahleen is dedicating this concert to Idyllwild's dancers. BBS will be playing many of the familiar tunes that transformed popular music and the country's mood over three decades.

The sound of the big bands — Benny Goodman, Glenn Miller, Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey, Artie Shaw and Count Basie — gave our country hope in bleak and challenging times. The music was positive and uplifting, and boy could it swing. Dance floors and ballrooms in cities large and small were crowded with people who needed to hope, needed to smile, needed to laugh and, most of all, needed to dance.

Ken Dahleen will take us back to the Big Band Era with a program of familiar big band standards dedicated to dancing at 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 11, at Butterfield Commons on Strawberry Creek.

So, at a time when many people are not confident about their future, when the national dialogue is caustic and combative, and the mood is again pessimistic, big-band swing seems a good medium for shaking off the shadows.

So, come on out, join your neighbors, eat, drink and dance — and get "In the Mood."

As they do each year, Dahleen and the Idyllwild

Summer Concert Series board plan the series and sign contracts with acts before having sufficient funds to break even. Your help is needed to fund a series that is presented especially for locals.

Bring your beverages of choice, picnic baskets, chairs and cash. Fill the donation jars that volunteers pass before the concert begins.

To date, $21,720 has been raised out of a total budget of $32,420. Three concerts remain to meet budget or help provide a financial cushion for next year. BBS takes the stage at 7 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 11. There is no opening act. Sponsors and donors can contact Dahleen directly at 951-659-2229 or send checks to P.O. Box 1542, Idyllwild, CA 92549. Marshall Smith can be reached at marshall@towncrier.com.

Obituary Elaine Jane 'E.J.' Weiler 1929-2016

Elaine Jane "E.J." Weiler, a long-time resident of Idyllwild, passed away peacefully at home in her sleep on Monday, July 4, 2016.

Elaine was born in Aurora, Illinois, on Aug. 19, 1929, to Andrew Hayden and Catherine Thill-Hayden. She graduated from Madonna High School in Aurora in 1947.

Elaine married Cyril F. Weiler (Cy), also of Aurora, on June 16, 1951. After he graduated from Notre Dame University, Cy's civil engineering positions took the couple to many cities over the next decades, including Juneau, Alaska, and Daly City, Palo Alto, Monterey and, finally, Escondido. During this time, Elaine and Cy became the proud parents of three children, Michael, Catherine (deceased, 2010) and Karen.

While living in Escondido, the Weiler family belonged to the St. Mary's Catholic Parish and were active supporters of parish activities, especially the Boy and Girl scouts troops and Explorer Post. Under the leadership and guidance of Cy and Elaine, the scouting troops were dedicated to public service.

One of the organizations supported by the Boy Scouts and Explorers was the Idyllwild Institute Fiesta. The frequent summer trips made to Idyllwild to perform maintenance projects at the fiesta introduced Idyllwild to Elaine, and she fell in love with the community and the surrounding mountains.

After Cy died in 1972, Elaine was employed at the San Diego North County Courts in Vista where she was a deputy county clerk and chief arbitration clerk for 15 years. Upon retirement, she made the decision to move to her beloved Idyllwild permanently, and made her home on Scenic Drive where she could "sleep late, shovel snow and walk her dog" for the next 29 years until her passing.

Elaine was a member of the Red Hat Society, and a volunteer at the Nature Center and Idyllwild Area Historical Society and Museum. She was a member of Forest Folk Inc., a nonprofit organization to involve, enrich and empower seniors 50 and over.

She loved all animals, and frequent trips "down the mountain" to Hemet were required to maintain her supply of raw peanuts that she used to stock feeders on her back deck to the enjoyment of the local squirrels and raccoons. Her front yard contained many suet baskets, bird feeders and hummingbird feeders.

Elaine was a staunch supporter of dog rescue and her house became a "home" to many orphaned dogs, cats and rabbits. Her final housemates were her beloved dogs Beau, Cassie, Girlfriend and Gary's dog Otis. She spent time volunteering at Sadie's Clinic and Animal Rescue Friends (ARF).

Elaine was also a very artistic "crafter" with talents ranging from tole painting to knitting and needlework. Elaine loved making gifts for family and friends over the years. She also was part of a local knitting group and was just learning to spin her own yarn for her knitting projects.

Elaine is survived by her son Michael Weiler (Margaret) of Morgan Hill, her daughter Karen Weiler of McAlester, Oklahoma; her son-in-law Gary Vail of Idyllwild (husband of Cathy); grandson Anthony (Dr. Jill Laureano-Surber) Surber, great-grandchildren Julian, Annika, Simon and Thea of Watertown, New York; grandson Mathias (Alexandria) Grabau and great-granddaughter Anastacia of Colorado Springs, Colorado; grandson Nicholas Grabau of Stillwater, Oklahoma; and grandson Joshua McDermott of Vancouver, Washington.

Elaine donated her body to Science Care, a company supporting medical research.

Dorothy Brooks used exercise to restore health after a stroke

Runs Fit After 50 program

BY MARSHALL SMITH
STAFF REPORTER

After suffering a debilitating stroke in 2014, retired registered nurse Dorothy Brooks had to choose. Unable to walk and severely challenged with balance issues, visual distortions, memory loss and speech impairment, Brooks decided she had to find her own way out of her disabilities.

She chose adult coloring books. "I went home to color," she recalled, "and my brain began to rewire."

Citing Dr. Rich Hanson's research in "Hardwiring Happiness: How to Reshape Your Brain and Your Life" (Crown Publishing, 2013), Brooks used her positive experiences with and reactions to coloring to gradually transform her neural structures — healing them with contentment, love and mindfulness. After three months, she began to notice significant improvement. "The brain reacts to positive stimuli," said Brooks. Hanson's work stresses the healing properties of mindful presence, the power of intention and experiencing empathy.

As soon as she could, Brooks began to volunteer in Thermal, mentoring children in a "Read With Me" program that acted to improve her own visual acuity and cognitive ability. And it was not just the specific requirements of the reading program that helped her, it was the experience of volunteering, of giving to others, that sent positive and loving messages to the brain — creating healing.

In Idyllwild, continuing her recovery while still using her cane, Brooks began using the Fit After 50 exercise regimen, developed at Cal State Fullerton. It is an evidence-based exercise program with emphasis on preventing falls, and improving core strength, balance and mobility. Eventually Brooks took over the Idyllwild program. She encouraged her students, many recovering from injuries with balance and mobility issues, that exercise can heal, when done mindfully. "I'd say, 'I had this injury,' you can do this, too," Brooks related. "You can heal yourself from an injury and you can heal conditions before you get sick," said Brooks. "Pay attention to your body. It will tell you."

Brooks, who had a stressful career as a nurse, both in working with law enforcement and later as an organ-transplant coordinator, cited the importance of finding balance in one's life. "Kindness — that's what I'm practicing now," she said. "I just feel whole now. I'm a happy person."

And as evidence of that balance and happiness, Brooks in her interview, was positive, enthusiastic and vibrantly youthful.

Brooks offers the free Fit After 50 program, sponsored by the Riverside County Office on Aging, at St. Hugh's Episcopal Church on Tuesdays from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m. in the meeting room adjoining the sanctuary. Thursday sessions are added in the winter.

Brooks believes that exercise and a healthy diet, supplemented with sufficient daily water intake, lead to happiness and a deeper sense of well being. She cites the benefits of exercise, as noted in the Fit After 50 brochure, as increased muscle strength, endurance and bone density, increased balance and flexibility, decreased blood pressure, reduced body fat, reduced tension, anxiety and fatigue, reduced pain, improved sleep, and the camaraderie of shared beneficial activity.

A Celebration of Life Service will be held at 11 a.m. Wednesday, Aug. 10, at American Legion Post 800, 54360 Marian View Drive, Idyllwild. Pastor Wally Boer will officiate.

There will be a potluck and refreshments in Elaine's honor following the service.

In lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to Forest Folk Inc. P.O. Box 260, Idyllwild, CA 92549 or Sadie's Clinic at ARF, P.O. Box 719, Idyllwild, CA 92549.

Cooldown

Many people consider volcanoes hot and fiery, and while that is true, they can also help to cool things down. Take the eruption of Mount Tambora in Indonesia in the spring of 1815. The weather cooled off a lot in the weeks afterward, resulting in a very cold summer.

Many other volcanoes had erupted in the area that year in addition to Mount Tambora. This created a lot of volcanic dust in the air, which kept the sun's rays from reaching the earth. Temperatures dropped throughout Europe and the northeastern United States, and snow fell in many places, killing crops and causing food shortages.

While volcanic eruptions can heat things up, they can also cool things down. Scientists are studying them further to see how they may affect global warming.

Dozens of grownups and children (many with their dogs) came to the Nature Center on Saturday, July 29, to meet and hear about three wolves on display. Wolves, dogs and everyone else were well entertained.

Steele cut at PGA; plays in Travelers this week

BY JACK CLARK
PRO GOLF CORRESPONDENT

Brendan Steele posted a 4-over-par 71-73 — 144 at the PGA Championship at the Baltusrol Golf Club in New Jersey last week. From his stats, it appears that driving accuracy was a bit of a problem (he hit 13 of 29 fairways), he lost most of a stroke to the field with approach irons, and his putter wasn't working particularly well, either — he lost 2.679 strokes to the field putting, needing 1.958 putts per green.

In his four most recent major-tournament appearances, the Idyllwild native finished 12th in last year's PGA, 15th in this year's U.S. Open, and missed the cut at this year's The (British) Open and PGA.

B tees it up Thursday in the Travelers Championship on the TPC River Highlands course in Cromwell, Connecticut. His Thursday tee time is 9:25 a.m. PDT and his Friday time is 4:10 a.m. PDT.

Attendees of the monthly Science Lunch, held at 11:30 Monday, Aug. 1, at the Mile High Café, enjoyed a meal and an interesting talk by Tom Pierce (center, in hat) about his work at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory. Leading a team to eliminate electromagnetic interference, Pierce's most enjoyable project was the Mars rover. With expertise in many areas of science, the group asked insightful questions and then discussed some other hot topics in science. Anyone with an interest in science is welcome to attend on the first Monday of every month.

Novelist Dete Meserve discusses her recently published "Perfectly Good Crime" with Eduardo Santiago at the Authors Series meeting at Café Aroma on Sunday, July 31. This is her second in a series about a fictional TV journalist who investigates non-violent crimes, discovering interesting things about herself and humanity in general. The first, "Good Sam," is an Amazon bestseller and is being made into a movie.

CLUBS

The Idyllwild Area Historical Society's annual membership meeting is at 4 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 6, in the Idyllwild Library Meeting Room 2.

Afterwards, members and guests are invited back to the museum for refreshments and a tour of the Archive Building...

Adults are invited to the Presidential Book Club's fourth meeting about U.S. presidents from 2 to 3 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 24, at the Idyllwild Library. The group meets every other month.

Become inspired this election year. Each meeting uncovers the history of our presidents through their biographies. James Madison, our fourth president, will be the topic this month.

The free club provides a selection of biographies — some long, some short — for you to read. You may even watch a movie or documentary instead.

Idyllwild Rotary Club President Marc Kassouf (right) presents the Rotarian of the Month award to Chuck Weisbart, who is the Rotary's immediate past president. Not only has Weisbart served in an exemplary fashion but also, along with his wife Susan, guided the club through the logistical nightmare of the yearly 4th of July Parade.

CREATURE CORNER

BY JANICE MURASKO

Last week in "The Days of Our Nine Lives," kittens were causing a ruckus amongst the more mature felines.

Leia: Easy come, easy go.

Mr. Gray: You talkin' about the kittens?

Leia: Yep. All four adopted this past weekend. That was a short visit for those little girls.

Bobbie: Yippee! Good news for us adult cats. Now maybe we'll get some attention!

Bill: But did you hear about the new dog?

Bobbie: Dog? Did you say dog?

Bill: I did. Her name is Checkers, and her forever dad just passed away.

Bobby: That's sad. What kind of dog is she?

Bill: She's a Border Collie-mix.

Leia: Is that her?

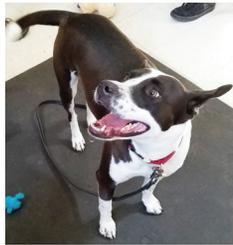

Checkers: (entering the cattery) Are you referring to me? Yes, I'm Checkers.

Bill: Hello, Checkers, and welcome to ARF. Are you happy in your foster home?

Checkers: Really happy. They take me for walks (I love walks!) and throw the ball for me. It's wonderful.

Bobbie

Checkers

Bill

Bobbie: How old are you?

Checkers: I'm almost 4.

Bill: I'm sorry you lost your forever human, but you're so personable and sweet, I bet you'll find a new family in no time.

Checkers: I hope so. My foster parents are so good to me, but there's nothing like a permanent home.

Bobbie: You're right. We're all waiting to find our forever families.

Checkers: I can't believe you're all waiting here. If these humans up here on this mountain would take a few minutes to get to know you, you'd be gone tomorrow.

Bobbie: Couldn't agree more.

Checkers: Well, when I'm out on my walks, I'll do my best to get everyone to stop in and meet all of you.

Will Checkers be able to help herd some humans into the ARF Cattery? Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "The Days of our Nine Lives" each week.

And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Hwy. 243, on Saturdays 10-4 and Sundays 10-2, or by appointment M-F by calling 951-659-1122.

Creature Corner is sponsored by Coyote Red's and Chena.

Town Hall is local Cool Center

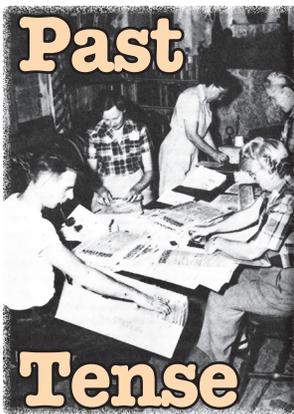

A Heat Warning is being issued for all of Riverside County as temperatures are predicted to climb to well above 100 degrees in some locations over the next few days.

People with the following symptoms should try to remain in a cool place and drink fluids to prevent dehydration: headache, dizziness, weakness or muscle pains, nausea and vomiting.

Residents are welcome to use any of the 56 Cool Centers that will be open to the public throughout the county.

Individuals susceptible to heat, such as the elderly, disabled and families with young children, are encouraged to visit a Cool Center during the next few days. Cool Centers will provide water and snacks, in addition to activities and resource information.

In Idyllwild the Cool Center is Town Hall from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday to Friday.

HOROSCOPES
August 2016 — Week 1

March 21 – April 19

A youngster makes an interesting proposal. Take some time to reflect upon the terms before you respond, Aries. A sweet treat boosts spirits at the office.

April 20 – May 20

Impromptu outings make for a fun week, Taurus. Enjoy each and every moment with friends and family. More serious matters will soon warrant your attention.

May 21 – June 21

Uh-uh, Gemini. You can't force the issue. You're going to have to leave it be and let your pal come to their own conclusion. A proposal is risky.

June 22 – July 22

Could it be, Cancer? Could a senior be stepping up to the plate and taking charge of their life? They could be, and with some encouragement, they will.

July 23 – August 22

Flowers brighten the mood at home, and progress moves forward on a project. Hooray, Leo. A hobby is revisited, bringing joy to a youngster.

August 23 – September 22

Concerns mount, as a loved one proceeds with their decision. You know there's going to be trouble, but there is nothing you can do about it. Forget about it, Virgo.

September 23 – October 22

You can't put your finger on it, but something is not quite right about a situation. Keep looking, Libra, and have a backup plan. A package arrives.

October 23 – November 21

Lost for words, Scorpio? You are not alone. Take comfort in that fact and know that when the time is right, the words will come. A message is received.

November 22 – December 21

Too little, too late, Sagittarius. You had your chance, and you lost it. An heirloom gets a facelift just in time for a big to-do. Be grateful.

December 22 – January 19

Eek, Capricorn. Summer is nearly over, and your to-do list is nowhere near completion. There is a way, but it's going to require you to relinquish some control.

January 20 – February 18

Stay cool, Aquarius. Things are going to move a little too fast for your taste, but what can you do? It's not your life. Offer your support and leave it be.

February 19 – March 20

Travel is on the horizon. Cast aside your reservations and go, Pisces. You'll enjoy the change of scenery and return with a fresh perspective on an old problem.

Pet owners beware

Every pet owner will tell you about the benefits of bonding with a dog or a cat, says the Association of Mature American Citizens. It's good for the heart and for the soul.

But the Centers for Disease Control reports that there's a downside to pet ownership. A CDC study indicates that tens of thousands of Americans wind up in the emergency room each year with injuries resulting from trip and fall accidents involving dogs and cats.

CONTEST JUDGE

Well, I sure thought I'd be flooded with entries to last week's photo, but not so. Only three entrants, Marsha Kennedy, Chris Morse and Josh and Emily White all correctly identified the welcoming bear carving near the entrance to La Casita Mexican restaurant on North Circle Drive. So three names in the hat, and Katy Kirkpatrick pulled out Chris' name — again this week! (Well, it's a random drawing so, yes, that happens.) So, Chris, please come to the Town Crier office to get your $25 VISA card generously supplied on behalf of JoAn's Restaurant by June Rockwell. Thanks, June! OK, now have a shot at this week's photo.

One entry per household. Contest deadline: Monday noon. Not a race — correct entries go into a hat for a drawing. Full contest rules and guidelines available at the Town Crier office.

Fee

The original fee assessment was $32.50 and did not reach the $65 maximum level until 1993 and again in 2006 until now.

The proposal to be put to IFPD voters would apply the $130 to all parcels, independent of development or size of structures. Commissioner Rhonda Andrewson was dubious about the effect of lowering the fee for some properties. Of the more than 1,600 parcels in the district, four currently are assessed the $260 rate.

If this "universal parcel fee" were the current method, IFPD would have received another $28,000 annually, according to Battalion Chief Mark LaMont.

Board President Jerry Buchanan and Reitz will submit the arguments in favor of the resolution to the county's Registrar of Voters office this week.

The existing fee ordinance will not be abolished unless the new fee proposal is approved by two-thirds of IFPD voters, which would require about 1,079 votes based on the registration for the June Primary.

In the current financial report, based on preliminary figures, IFPD had net negative income of $18,000 for the fiscal year (2015-16), which just ended. Actual revenues exceeded projection by about $80,000. The largest contributing reason was a greater reimbursement (about $250,000) for participating in federal and state firefighting.

Total expenses for the year were about $1.95 million, almost $100,000 greater than the estimate. Legal expenses (the actual cost was $119,000) were more than double the initial estimate of $50,000. Cal PERS costs were about $45,000 greater than originally thought.

register, as is common nationally. California legislation in 2015 banned exemptions for vaccinations based on both religious and personal beliefs, which become effective with the 2016 academic year. An exemption to the requirement can only be obtained through showing a doctor's certificate detailing the medical grounds for an exemption, which vaccines are exempted and whether the exemption is permanent or temporary. Medical grounds include physician-certified allergies or immune-system deficiencies.

Beginning with the fall 2016 school year, the new California law could affect up to 80,000 California students who annually claim personal-belief exemptions.

Idyllwild School welcomes two new teachers, Diana Kirkham, who will teach a kindergarten-first grade combo and Lindsay Crater who will teach fourth grade. Kirkham replaces Barbara Longbrook who retired. The fourth-grade position is a staff addition because of increased elementary-age population at the school.

Kraemer touted a new addition to the school library, a reading intervention program conducted by Nancy Friend.

School-day lengths vary depending on grade levels. Check with the school office 951-659-0750 for confirmation.

IFPD, San Jacinto prepare for possible additions to fire authority

By JP CRUMRINE
NEWS EDITOR

The Idyllwild-San Jacinto Regional Fire Authority held its second meeting last week. The purpose was to modify their respective resolutions, which created the Joint Powers Authority.

The modification would improve the efficiency of adding new members in the future. At this time, the JPA did not have any other organizations seeking to join. Since interest has been expressed, the board wanted to be prepared if any applications were received.

A new section establishing a process for approving new members was added to the separate resolutions of the two existing members. Both Idyllwild and San Jacinto would have to approve a new member. In the future, all current members would have to approve the addition of any other members.

"The overall goal is that an agency isn't stuck with a deal that wasn't the deal which they signed up for," said San Jacinto Assistant City Attorney Mike Maurer.

The package of changes also addressed several procedural issues, such as the size of the board and initial costs.

The current JPA board is composed of the five San Jacinto City Council members and the five Idyllwild Fire Protection District commissioners. If the agency were to expand, the board size would not continue to expand by five. For example, if there were a third agency member, the JPA's board would have nine members, three directors from each agency, not 15.

Also, new members may be responsible for a payment that might be attributable to a share of the initial start-up costs, which the city or IFPD may have incurred.

Separately, the city council members and the IFPD commissioners each approved the amendment for their respective resolutions.

The board did have a closed session regarding potential litigation and decided to provide some funding in its anticipation.
