Bighorn sheep population improving

By JP Crumrine NEWS EDITOR

Southern California's bighorn sheep population is flourishing. The census of bighorn sheep was conducted in November. This was one of the largest counts in recent years, according to Kevin Brennan, wildlife biologist with the California Department of Fish and Wildlife.

The survey was conducted over several days. Helicopters flew over the bighorn sheep's habitat from the northern edge of the San Jacinto Mountains to the Mexican border. Biologists, on board, take photos of the sheep from the air.

This year, the *flights record*ed 588 bighorn sheep. Since the flights cannot find the entire sheep population, the estimated total sheep population is 794.

The recovery population goal is 950, according to Brennan.

"The count went really well. It was one of the most in the peninsular range ever," Brennan said. "Any time we see more than 500 is rare."

The range is divided into nine sectors, including the San Jacinto Mountains and Northern, Central and Southern Santa Rosa mountains. Fifty-four sheep, including 21 ewes, were spotted in the San Jacinto region.

Another positive observation is that the number of ewes is high in all sectors, according to Brennan. The goal is at least 25 ewes in each sector. Four sectors were shy of the goal; one was the San Jacinto Mountains, where 21 were spotted, but the population estimate is still greater than 25.

The greatest number of spotted sheep was 126 in the Central Santa Rosa Mountains sector.

Of the 588 spotted sheep, 92 of 149 marked or collared sheep were identified.

Bighorn sheep are a protected species, but are improving in the peninsular range, Brennan stated. One of the major ly in northern Riverside agement of the sheep pop- com.

A sampling of new state laws in effect since Jan. 1

During 2016, the state Legislature passed and Gov. Jerry Brown signed hundreds of new laws. While some were effective immediately and some will not go into effect until 2018 or 2019, most were effective Jan. 1, 2017.

Below is a small sampling of the new laws and rules with which we have to comply.

Minimum wage

For businesses with more than 25 employees, the minimum wage increased to $10.50 per hour from $10 on Jan. 1. Businesses with fewer than 26 employees can wait one year, until Jan. 1, 2018, before raising their employee wages. At that paying $11 per hour.

Use of cell phones

while driving While driving, California law already prohibits using a cell phone to write, or send or read a text-based message. Phones that allow for voice operation are exempt. Beginning Jan. 1, a new law prohibits any person from driving a motor vehicle while holding and operating a handheld wireless telephone or a wireless electronic communication device unless the device is mounted or fixed on the vehicle in the same manner as a portable Global Positioning System, and only a single swipe or tap of the driver's finger is necessary to activate it.

time, larger employers will be Children's car seats

In October 2015, the Legislature passed Assembly Bill 53, which requires children up to 2 years old to remain in rear-facing car seats. Currently, children are required to ride rear-facing only until age 1. The bill does not apply to children who weigh more than 40 pounds or are 40 inches tall or taller.

Breathalyzers

Following a pilot program, the state may now require installing an "ignition interlock device" in cars of individuals convicted of driving under the influence. The device will prevent the car from starting if the driver's blood alcohol content is above the legal limit.

The new law extends the pilot program for another two years in Los Angeles, Alameda, Sacramento and Tulare counties. Starting Jan. 1, 2019, the pilot expands statewide.

The device costs between $60 and $80 per month and installation costs between $70 and $150.

Motorcycle lane splitting

The California Highway Patrol has been authorized to develop educational guidelines relating to lane splitting in a manner that would ensure the safety of the motorcyclists, drivers and passengers. Current law defines "lane splitting" as driving a motorcycle between rows of stopped or moving vehicles in the same lane.

2017 brings more rain, and more expected

By JP Crumrine News Editor

The mini-El Niño continued into its third week with the Hill receiving nearly 2 inches of rain since New Year's weekend. More rain and possibly some snow is forecast for the rest of the week.

However, it was Northern California that was awash from rain and snow from an "atmospheric river." These massive storms historically occur about once every 10 years. The last one was in 2006-07.

For the third consecutive weekend, rain fell on the Hill. The amounts were not as much as the Christmas or New Year's weekends; yet, total rain accumulation is much more than in the past several years.

Since Jan. 2, Pine Cove has received 1.2 inches of rain. The result is more than 16 inches of rain since July 1. Historically, the total rainfall from July through the end of January is 14.2 inches.

The U.S. Forest Service's Keenwild Ranger Station also has had 1.2 inches of rain since Jan. 2. Its total rainfall since July 1 has been 11.7 inches.

During Monday's precipitation, the Idyllwild Fire Station recorded about two-thirds of an inch of rain and has recorded nearly 2 inches since 2017 began.

Covered California deadline in 2017 nears

Affordable health care is available for uninsured Californians in 2017.

The deadline for Covered California's open enrollment ends on Tuesday, Jan. 31. Those who enroll by Sunday, Jan. 15, will have their coverage begin on Wednesday, Feb. 1. Those signing up between Monday, Jan. 16, and Jan. 31, will have coverage starting March 1.

Covered Cal recognizes that rising rates are a real concern for many residents. However, according to its press release, members who are renewing coverage are finding savings by shopping around within their health plan's metal tier. (Plans are available in four metal tiers, also known as coverage levels.)

Covered Cal found that renewing members who have switched their plan, but remain within the same metal tier, have saved an average of $38 per month or $456 per year.

Also, more than half of all Covered Cal consumers, 59 percent, are eligible to choose a Bronze plan for less than $10 per month. Bronze plans offer three visits to a primary care physician or specialist that are not subject to a

Taxing work

If you are receiving Social Security and have extra income, you may wind up having to pay taxes on a portion of your benefits, according to the Association of Mature American Citizens. AMAC says that you can work with your tax preparer to determine the exact amount of taxes you must pay using your Social Security Benefit Statement (Form SSA-1099/1042S). The Social Security Administration automatically sends that statement out to all benefit recipients each year.

A letter from Chad Schelly

What's up everybody!!

Life is still rolling along in San Juan Argentina. I thought I would love my year without winter but I think I might have beenmistaken. We're finishing up spring rn (text speak for right now) and we're headed into summer. And San Juan is HOT!! Before the mission I hated cold showers with a passion. This past week I have definitely become a convert of cold showers. After walking around in the hot sun all day and then coming home to an apartment that doesn't have air conditioning, a cold shower is basically heaven sent. Besides the heat, life here is great!!

One of my favorite things as a missionary is teaching people to pray. Prayer is a vital part of missionary work because everybody has to receive their own confirmation through the Holy Ghost that our message is true. A couple of 19-year-old kids that don't even know how to fold their own clothes are pretty much hopeless in helping people find the answers to the profound questions of their soul. People HAVE to receive their own answers from heaven through prayer. The majority of the people we meet have never offered a verbal prayer their whole lives. It's so awesome when we help people say their lirst prayer and teach them th way they can communicate with their loving father in heaven. It's such a spiritual experience.

I hope all is well in the life back in the states!!

With love,

Elder Chad Schelly (chad.schelly@myldsmail.net)

I wrote this almost 10 years ago and it still applies: The advantages of snail mail are becoming apparent in the new age of technology.

Don't get me wrong, I love e-mail for several reasons. Columns and letters to the editor don't have to be retyped. And there is an ease and speed of communicating through e-mail versus postal mail and phone calls.

But this convenience has changed the way we do business — and not all of it is positive. We have become sloppy, and it's not pretty.

First, formal and business communication styles went out the window with the typewriter. E-mail communication is so much more informal in business practice that it essentially is more like in-house memo writing — but poorly handled.

In a former world, if you sent a letter, it was carefully typed in business style and proofed by someone other than you before it was mailed. Not likely in the e-mail world, unfortunately.

People have become so lax at communicating through e-mail that they often push the "send" button before rereading what they wrote or sharing it with another office

I often get e-mail I can't make sense of because words $are \ left \ out \ or \ used \ incorrectly.$

I'm guilty of the same. I've received responses to my e-mails and re-read my original message with embarrassment. I'm an editor, for Pete's sake. It truly does reflect poorly on a company or person when they can't put a sentence together well.

And we forget how easy it is to share e-mail — how easy someone might forward your message when you only intended it for "To:" Ow.

If you have trouble with grammar or spelling — and you care about making a good impression — I suggest you type important business e-mail in a Word program or some other that allows you to run a spelling and grammar check, then copy and paste the message into your

CDC recommends fewer shots

The Center for Disease Control now recommends that 11- to 12-year-olds receive two doses of human papillomavirus vaccine at least six months apart rather than the previously recommended three doses to protect against cancers caused by HPV infections. Teens and young adults who start the series later, at ages 15 to 26, will continue to need three doses of HPV vaccine.

CDC Director Tom Frieden said, "This recommendation will make it simpler for parents to get their children protected in time."

Generally, preteens receive HPV vaccine at the same time as whooping cough and meningitis vaccines. Adolescents ages 13 to 14 also are able to receive an HPV vaccination on the new two-dose schedule.

Workshops for caregivers

Good news for family and friends who are caring for older adults with Alzheimer's and other chronic conditions: support is on the way.

A new series of the Riverside County Office on Aging's Care Pathways program begins in October in Murrieta, Hemet, Corona, and multiple locations throughout the Coachella Valley.

The series of 12 weekly workshops offers information and support to family caregivers who face challenges managing their care giving responsibilities for a family member, 60 years of age or older. Classes are offered in both English and Spanish.

Workshops cover Living with Dementia, Preventing Caregiver Burnout, Managing Medications, Talking to the Doctor, Understanding Legal Issues, Stress Prevention, Communicating in Challenging Situations and more.

To register for the free workshops, call the office at 951-867-3800 or 800-510-2020.

Home care can be arranged for the care recipient; request respite assistance at the time of registration.

Gen turned to Madge over lunch and said, "Madge, you look beautiful. I love the color of your hair." Madge, in fact, looked dreadful. The color of her hair was freakish.

Later, Jessie, when asked about her tennis bracelet replied, "Jim gave it to me. It was very expensive and I am almost embarrassed to wear it." I looked at the bracelet. It was the same piece I had seen on clearance display at Target earlier in the week. Well, doggone.

June had a new puppy in the family. When asked if June knew the breed she replied, "It's a Fontius Andorran, a rare breed originally bred by the Zoots." The Fontius Andorran breed does not exist. Nor do the Zoots.

Couldn't any of us tell the truth here? Had we never familiarized ourselves with the 7th Commandment? Or maybe it's the 12th Commandment. Gotta' be there somewhere ... an admonishment, to tell the truth.

At home, I found it between the covers of my old and dear King James version. "Thou shalt lie and fabricate only so much as it serves thee." There it was! Lie through your teeth as along as it serves thy purpose. We were all doing it, from government leaders to my best friends. Including me. Indeed, I am the past master.

I told Sue she looked like she had lost weight. She hadn't. She was a tub. From my own lips our accountant heard that our business had suffered enormous losses through bad debt. I told him we had paid all our estimated tax. I had. With silly money from my son's Fischer-Price cash register.

My husband heard me say that the meat was fresh. Actually, it was wearing a sweater. I told the landlord that the check was in the mail.

Thusly, my circle of friends and admirers grew, and it was soon suggested that I enroll in divinity school, or better yet, law school. I chose the seminary.

Soon, on a carpet of outlandish lies, gossip and ignorance, I rose to the papal throne. When asked if I were really a man, one had to be a man to be the pope, I threw back my tonsured head and bellowed in holy rage, "Of course I am a man! How could I be so smart if I were a woman?"

That silenced the bishops and I rode into the Vatican in my Popemobile dressed in a tutu and satin slippers. Surely it was a blessed and wonderful event.

Obituary Patricia Anne Kane Morris Hair 1928-2016

It is with deepest sadness our Mother Patricia Anne Kane Morris Hair passed away in Hemet on Saturday, Dec. 23, 2016.

She had just celebrated her 88th birthday. Her health had been declining over the past few months. Mom's pain is no more.

Born on Dec. 3, 1928, in Long Beach, only child of Bill and Kathleen Kane (predeceased).

Predeceased by husband Gib Morris (married 1946-1964). Predeceased by husband Lowell Hair (married 1966-1988).

Survived by her half-brother Tim Kane of Seattle, Washington; children Daniel Morris of Jacksonville, Florida, Lynne (Derril) Lorensen of Kamloops, BC Canada, Kathy (Jim) Peronto of Summerfield, Florida, John Morris of San Bernardino and Margaret (Charles) Culp of Costa Mesa; three stepchildren, Kassandra Bentley of New Mexico, Jim Hair of Drain, Oregon and Judy Hartman of Oakland, Oregon.

Patricia had 11 grandchildren, eight living, and three predeceased; 18 great-grandchildren; two great-great grandsons; six step-grandchildren; and one great-step-grandson.

Pat lived most of her life in Idyllwild and Hemet. She excelled in swimming and became a life guard and swim instructor at age 16. For many years, she instructed swim lessons and summer life guarding in Idyllwild.

She graduated from Hemet Valley High and loved cheerleading. She was an avid reader and donated so many books through the years.

She loved volunteering through the years: school PTA president, fire commissioner in Idyllwild, volunteer at Hemet Valley Hospital and Auxiliary president. Also, she volunteered on the Elvis Presley filming of "Kid Galahad" in 1961 on the catering crew.

At age 60, she rode the Colorado rapids and at age 75, went on her dream trip to Ireland to reconnect with her family heritage and have a Guinness. Mom went on many cruises and just had fun in life always being involved with her family,

Mom had many kind and loyal friends through many years whom we are so thankful for.

Thank you to the very loving and caring staff at Wendell Home Care where Mom resided these past six years. In loving memory of our mother: "What we once enjoyed and deeply loved, we can never lose, for all that we love deeply becomes part of us."

Hidden Lake bluecurls prove their vigor and endurance

By JP CRUMRINE News Editor

The Hidden Lake bluecurls have proven their resilience and perseverance. Last week, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife published a notice and requested comments on its proposal to remove the San Jacinto Mountain native flower from the endangered and threatened list.

The local plant, whose official name is Trichostema austromontanum ssp. compactum, was identified as a threatened species in September 1998.

Since then, multiple agencies, including the California Department of Parks and Recreation that manages the land where Hidden Lake, home to the bluecurls, is located, and the Rancho Santa Ana Botanic Garden, have monitored and studied the species.

Hidden Lake is a small montane vernal pool (fresh water marsh) within the San Jacinto Mountain State Park wilderness area, the only known habitat for the native bluecurls.

Last week, the published rulemaking stated, "Having considered the individual and cumulative impact of threats on this subspecies, we find that Trichostema austromontanum ssp. compactum is not in danger of extinction throughout all of its range, nor is it likely to become so in the foreseeable future."

The Center for Biological Diversity, which had an office in Idyllwild, also praised the decision and success story. "The Endangered Species Act has saved yet another species from extinction," Ileene Anderson, a senior scientist with the center wrote in a press release. "Thanks to this highly effective law, the beautiful Hidden Lake bluecurls will now be around for generations to come."

The watershed area where the flower grows is now managed as a natural preserve to protect rare plants and wildlife. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the California Department of Parks and Recreation have developed a long-term monitoring and management plan to ensure the flower is safe into the future, the CBD added.

The 1998 decision was influenced by two major threats to the Hidden Lake bluecurls and the significance of both have been diminished or refuted in the past decade.

Hikers and equestrians were trampling the flowers. As a consequence, CDPR, which manages the lake and land surrounding it, has placed fences and moved a trail, considerably reducing the damage from this threat.

The latest review found that "trampling by humans has been minimized and no visible impacts to [the plant] have been observed from trampling by horses since 2000 because of CDPR's management."

"Southern California is home to numerous plants found nowhere else in the world," Paul Souza, regional director for the FWS' Pacific Southwest Region, wrote in the press release announcing the proposed delisting. "We appreciate the efforts of our partners to conserve the bluecurls and numerous other rare and endangered plants that maintain functioning ecosystems."

Researchers also have learned that a small population is not an indicator of prevalent danger. The flowers produce seeds, but most seeds do not germinate in the next growing season. They are not pollinated by insects, but remain dormant, thus protecting the plants throughout environmental and climatic change.

For example, the bluecurl population size fluctuates greatly. It has grown from as few as 75 plants in 2000, to more than 240,000 in 2012 and nearly 60,000 plants in 2015. The scientists studying the plant concluded, "Despite these annual changes in size, the population is best characterized as stable because the variations are natural and tied primarily to the summer level of the lake."

FWS, along with its partners, have determined that the state's management of the San Jacinto wilderness area, and especially the Hidden Lake Preserve, has been very effective, the threat from stochastic events is much less than previously believed and an external seed bank also has been created.

A public hearing on the proposal will be scheduled. But comments on the delisting may be submitted to FWS on or before Monday, March 6.

ballot. Brown signed Assembly Bill 1494 in September allowing California voters to take ballot selfies and post them on social media.

Granny flats AB 2299 encourages the development of accessory dwelling units, also known as second units or "granny flats," as a way to increase the housing supply. Authored by Assemblyman Richard Bloom (D-Santa Monica), the new law requires local governments to adopt accessory dwelling unit ordinances. ADUs are a creative, affordable housing option often used by college students, elderly parents or disabled individuals who need to live close to their fami-

Fire arms — loaned and reported thefts

California law now limits a firearm owner's ability to loan the weapon to a spouse or registered domestic partner, or to a parent, child, sibling, grandparent or grandchild, related as specified.

Existing law generally requires the loan of a firearm to be conducted through a licensed firearms dealer. A violation of this provision is a crime. A current exemption exists for friends. If the loan is between persons who are personally known to each other, and if the loan is infrequent and does not exceed 30 days in duration, it was permitted and is now also limited.

The new law requires a handgun loaned pursuant to these provisions to be registered to the person loaning the handgun. Another new law related to firearms is that it is a misdemeanor to make a false report to a peace officer or a law enforcement employee that a firearm has been lost or stolen, while knowing the report to be false.

The bill would also make it a misdemeanor for a person convicted of violating this provision to own a firearm within 10 years of the conviction.

Pet rescues

Existing law authorizes a peace officer, humane officer or animal control officer to take all steps reasonably necessary to remove an animal from a motor vehicle because the animal's safety appears to be in immediate danger of specified harm.

This bill expands the authorization and requirements to include a firefighter or other emergency responder. A person also may be required to pay for charges for the maintenance, care, medical treatment or impoundment of the animal removed from the vehicle. And, the bill also exempts a person from criminal liability for actions taken reasonably and in good faith to remove an animal from a vehicle under dire circumstances if the person satisfies specific conditions, including immediately turning the animal over to law enforcement, animal control or other emergency responder who responds to the scene.

The bill would exempt a person from civil liability for property damage or trespass to a motor vehicle if the property damage or trespass occurred while the person was rescuing an animal pursuant to these provisions.

Alcohol and beauty salons or barber shops

These establishments may now serve beer or wine without a license as part of a beauty salon or barber shop service if no extra charge or fee for the beer or wine is required.

State fabric Denim is now the state's official fabric in recognition of its role in California history.

According to AB 501, the history of denim jeans parallels the history of California. Denim jeans were invented in San Francisco during the Gold Rush Era. In May 1873, the United States Patent and Trademark Office approved patent number 139,121 for the invention of jeans. jeans were designed At first, as practical working clothes. They eventually became a symbol of American culture. Today, California is responsible for about 75 percent of the premium denim jeans sold throughout the world. JP Crumrine can be reached at checking their credit report. But my kids don't have a credit card, house or car.

Why should I check their credit report? Because somebody else could be using your child's personal information. Once a child's — or anyone's Social Security number is stolen, it can be used by identity thieves. Checking to see if your child has a credit history, and then thoroughly reviewing it when they turn 16, can help you spot signs of identity theft. If you find false or inaccurate information, you'll have time to correct it before your child applies for a job, a loan for college or a car, or tries to get a credit card or a place to live. Generally, children won't have credit reports unless someone is using their information for fraud.

What if my child has a credit report with incorrect or false information? Visit IdentityTheft.gov/child to report the problem and follow the steps outlined to resolve it.

Mosquito problems for travelers California Department of Public Health Director and State Public Health Officer Dr. Karen Smith is urging Californians to protect themselves against mosquito bites if traveling to Mexico or Latin America, where there have been increased reports of the mosquito-borne diseases chikungunya and dengue. Travelers should also be aware that there is currently transmission of dengue on the Big Island in Hawaii, and precautions against mosquito bites are advised; there are no reports of dengue transmission on the other Hawaiian islands. Chikungunya is a viral disease characterized by acute onset of fever and severe joint pain. Dengue, another viral disease, is characterized by high fever, severe headache, muscle and joint pain, rash, and in severe cases bleeding manifestations. For both, treatment is supportive, the disease is not contagious person to person, and there is no vaccine. CDPH recommends that travelers prevent exposure to mosquito bites by wearing protective clothing and applying insect repellent containing DEET, picaridin, oil of lemon eucalyptus, or IR3535 according to label instructions. DEET can be used safely on infants and children 2 months of age and older.

For questions about Public Notices call the Town Crier (951) 659-2145 or Email: mandy@towncrier.com

Every day throughout the United States, newspapers publish thousands of public notices about events, conditions or actions that affect countless individuals, families, neighborhoods and businesses. Public notices cover many topics, including business matters, liquor licensing, public auctions and sales, estates, zoning, public meetings, bids to sell goods and services to the government, local government finances and state and local elections. Public notice is a fundamental component of our system of representative democracy, which depends upon the participation of educated, responsible citizens.

Academy Award nominee Anne Archer in Saturday Q&A

By Marshall Smith STAFF REPORTER

One of the highlights of the Idyllwild International Festival of Cinema's second weekend is an hour-long Q&A with Acad-Award-nominated emy actress Anne Archer. Archer received her Academy Award nomination as Best Supporting Actress for her role as Beth Gallagher in Adrian Lyne's 1987 thriller "Fatal Attraction."

Hosted by IIFC Founder and Director Stephen Savage, the 11:30 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 14, discussion with Archer will be one film fans will want to attend. Archer will discuss her impressive and varied career, her approach to acting for stage, screen and television, her working relationship with some of Hollywood's greatest directors, and the leading men with whom she has acted.

Archer, daughter of actors John Archer and Marjorie Lord, is known for her sultry voice, red hair and nuanced acting. Born into a show business family, Archer went from college at the Claremont Colleges to television roles in prestigious series such as "Men at Law," "Hawaii Five-O," "The F.B.I," "Mod Squad," "Ironside," "Alias Smith and Jones," "Bob & Carol & Ted & Alice" and "Mannix."

She made her big screen debut in 1973 opposite Jon Voight in "The All American Boy," and won accolades for her leading role in "Lifeguard" in 1976 with Sam Elliott. In 1993, Archer won a Golden Globe as part of the ensemble cast of Robert Altman's "Short Cuts."

Her work on stage was also noteworthy — in the world premiere of "The Poison Tree" at the Mark Taper Forum in 2000, as Mrs. Robinson in London's West End 2001 production of "The Graduate," for which she received rave reviews, and in a starring role in "The Trial of Jane Fonda" at the Edinburgh Festival Fringe in

In one of those special Idyllwild connections, Archer played the leading role of Ramona at the Ramona Pageant in 1969. Savage joined the Ramona staff in 2014 as executive creative director.

Mirroring her show business parents, Archer has been married to producer, actor, writer and director Terry Jastrow for 37 years. "It's hard to have a balanced life if you marshall@towncrier.com.

don't get the family thing right," said Archer.

Also of note is the Idyllwild Arts production, "Standpoint," written and Erik Hirschhorn and starring former IAA stu-Dakota dent Bailey, Idyllwild resident musician Analia Lenchantin and IAA dance faculty mem-Jonathan ber Sharp. Screening next at 3:45 p.m. Thursday. Jan. 12, at Silver Pines Lodge, at 3:05 p.m. Friday, Jan. 13, at the Rustic and at 4:45 p.m. Saturday, Jan. 14, at the Rustic, 'Standpoint" is the story of Aliza, a young Jewish dancer in

Nazi-occupied Poland who, in order to save her family, must travel to Prague for a ballet audition.

Student artist memberships

The Art Alliance of Idyllwild has 10 student artist memberships available for local Idyllwild students or children of registered AAI artists or gallery owners. Eligible youth must be between the ages of 11 and 18.

The standard $20 membership fee has been waived because of the generosity of several community members.

The membership allows eligible youth to participate as an active AAI artist for one year. In addition to receiving a customized AAI online gallery page to showcase their artwork, students may compete and sell their creations in AAI-sponsored art shows.

A great opportunity for the next generation of artists, youth who meet the criteria are encouraged to submit an email of interest to artinidyllwild@gmail.com. Include name, age, mailing address and school. Visit www.artinidyllwild.org for more information about the Art Alliance of Idyllwild.

Historical society mounts exhibit of Hill history as film location

By Marshall Smith STAFF REPORTER

Lynnda Hart and Suzy Bowman of the Idyllwild Area Historical Society have mounted an impressive exhibit of the Hill's history as a location for feature films, short films, videos and television

The exhibit will run as a complement to the Idyllwild International Festival of Cinema that runs through Sunday, Jan. 15, and will continue indefinitely during regular museum days and hours after the festival closes.

During IIFC, the museum is open every day from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. "What I wanted to do with the film festival was to coordinate Idyllwild's history as a film location," said Hart. "We wanted to let visitors and the town know that we have a varied history, and one that includes having movies made on the Hill for many years."

book detailing the more than 100 movies written and/or filmed wholly or partially in the Idyllwild area beginning in 1914 when Cecil B. DeMille filmed cattle on the "open range" at the H.J. Ranch between Keen Camp and Garner Valley for his silent film, "The Squaw Man.'

A number of Westerns have been filmed at Garner Ranch in Garner Valley, including "Guns and Guitars" (1936), "Heading for the Range" (1936), "Springtime in the Rockies" (1937), "Brothers in the Saddle" (1949), "Riders of the Range" (1949) and "Storm Over Wyoming" (1950). Garner Ranch also stood in for exteriors of the hit TV show "Bonanza" starring Lorne Greene.

Idyllwild was used for the biker funeral scene from the 1966 film "The Wild Angels" and featured the exterior marshall@towncrier.com.

The Idyllwild Area Historical Society is currently featuring an exhibit chronicling the Idyllwild area's history as a film, television and video location site. As part of the exhibit, old movie equipment is on display, loaned by Frazier Drake and Don Zeigler.

Also noted in the exhibit are the As part of the exhibit, there is a many writers and film luminaries who have had homes here, including Charles Laughton and Elsa Lanchester, Raymond Chandler, Lucille Ball, Doris Day, Marjorie Main and Dinah Shore.

There is a large photo spread of Elvis Presley (yes, Elvis is in the house), since his 1962 musical "Kid Galahad" was filmed on location here and used locals

There is a visual nod to Herb Jeffries, longtime and much-loved Idyllwild celebrity, and his movies, including "The Bronze Buckaroo."

And finally, there is a hat-tip to Stephen Savage, who has used Idyllwild as a location for a number of his feature films including "Vertical," "Cosmic Radio" and "Legacy," and created IIFC to further promote his hometown.

Grants for groups visiting Friends of the San Jacinto Mountain County Parks are presenting a mini-grant field program.

Eligible educational groups will receive grants to help offset the costs of visiting the Idyllwild Nature Center.

Formal and non-formal educators, schools, youth organizations, adult continuing education programs, scout groups and community outreach groups are eligible.

For more information and to apply, contact Park Interpreter Amanda Allen at AmaAllen@rivcoparks.org or 951-659-3850.

Youth Explorers Programs

The first event in a series for Young Explorers Programs on the Santa Rosa and San Jacinto Mountains National Monument was held Sunday, Nov. 6. Three children attended the new "Story Hour" with their parents, and seven children participated in the new "Map and Compass Workshop" with their parents.

Young Explorers programs are held from 1 to 2 p.m. the Sundays of Feb. 5, March 5 and April 9.

To sign up for these programs, call 760-862-9984. RSVPs are required as space is limited.

Essay contest submissions open

Students enrolled in grades nine to 12 within the U.S. at public, private and home schools are eligible to submit 300- to 500-word essays on the following topic: "Why is it important for a democratic society to have women involved in professional media and legal roles? What can be done to reverse the dearth of females in these professions?"

The contest is sponsored by the Society of Professional Journalists. If you know a great high school student, let them know that entries must be postmarked by Feb. 23. Check out the rules and regulations at http://www. spj.org/a-hs.asp.

First place receives a $1,000 scholarship, second place a $500 scholarship and third place a $300 scholarship.

Last week's photo was pretty easy — especially for me. It was of the double front doors of the Community Presbyterian Church on North Circle Drive across from the Town Crier. Other churches have double doors, and some folk entered a different church. But the rock work around these doors should have identified this particular church.

I received 13 correct entries from Walt Bonneau Jr., Maurie Bousquet, Dave Hunt, Marsha Kennedy, Kris Kirschbaum, Shirley Kribs, Jim and Colleen Mettler, Chris Morse, Rue Pine, Peggy Roberts, Bob Schelly, Roger Wade and Emily White. Thirteen names went in the hat. Mandy Johnson stirred them around and pulled out Chris Morse's, so he wins the $25 Visa gift card, available through the courtesy of June Rockwell and Jo'An's Restaurant and Bar in the center of town. Please come to the Town Crier within 30 days to claim your prize, Chris. Now, this week's photo is a bit different. Two new contest rules: You must: 1) Pick up your prize within 30 days of the date on the Town Crier issue that announces your win, and 2) bring with you that Town Crier issue that shows you won. OK? This really is not something we want to have to try to keep track of beyond that.

One entry per household. Contest deadline: Monday noon. Not a race — correct entries go into a hat for a drawing. Full contest rules and guidelines available at the Town Crier office.

Art Alliance's new president is Zack Steinhaus

Board seeking two more directors

By JP CRUMRINE News Editor

The Art Alliance of Idyllwild has announced its new slate of officers for 2017. Zack Steinhaus is the new president of the Board of Directors.

Shanna Robb, president for the past 19 months, stepped down as president to help train the new leadership team and assist with the transition. She will be-

"It is very lucky for us that Shanna is acting as a mentor to all of us, since most of us are new to this board," said Steinhaus.

The remaining officers and directors include Judy Hoyt, secretary; Jacque Swerdfeger and Martha Lumia, co-chairs of the membership committee; Rob Padilla, cochair of the Gallery and Art Hot Spot committee; and Peter Szabadi.

Steinhuas said the 2017 calendar of events is nearly completed. "We will be posting the events that we will be holding for the first six months on our web site on Monday evening," he wrote in an email to the Town Crier.

Jerry Baccaire withdrew as a director prior to being seated for health reasons. He plans to remain an active artist member.

The AAI bylaws allow the seven board members to proceed with business, but they will actively seek two more qualified candidates to fill the vacant openings on the board.

Interested members may submit their names at artinidyllwild@gmail.com.

"Instead of assigning the new Board members to a position, they will fill the two positions that we have open, on the Board in general. The members will then take on event chairs, of events that they are interested in," Steinhaus added. He is looking forward to Robb helping the new members lead the AAI.

During the 2016 calendar year, the 501(c)(3) nonprofit welcomed more than 80 new members and donated more than $22,000 to other local art-focused organiza-

JP Crumrine can be reached at jp@towncrier.com.

From 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 4, visitors to Idyllwild will be treated to local art that is all priced under $100. Hosted by the Art Alliance of Idyllwild, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit, the fourth-annual Under $100 Art Fair will feature 18 individual artist booths. Galleries and Art Hot Spots throughout town will also feature under-$100 sections in their businesses.

The art fair aims to erase the stress and cost that often accompanies Valentine's Day. In addition to meeting the artists behind the creations being showcased, no one has to break their budget. Art mediums will include jewelry, paintings, photography, wood, carved eggs and much more.

Martha Lumia, event chair of the art fair, shared that the event "offers buyers direct access to local art at an affordable cost." Held at the Idyllwild Community Presbyterian Church, it is walking distance to art galleries, inns, restaurants and locally owned retail establishments. Admission to the art fair is free.

In addition to Idyllwild being an art destination, Idyllwild has been named one of the "17 Coziest American Mountain Towns" by Expedia. Nestled among the pine trees and a short drive from the desert floor, visitors will instantly feel the charm of Idyllwild. The Deer Sightings project, an AAI public art installation of painted deer throughout the village, also is a must see.

AAI is a volunteer-based, nonprofit organization that features art events throughout the year.

Quail help needed in Idyllwild The James Reserve is conducting a research project in Idyllwild that is focused on quail. If you are interested in contributing to this project, the James is searching for assistance from town residents.

"The main contribution we hope to get from Idyllwilders is access to your private property to trap, band and release quail," said James Director Dr. Jennifer Gee. "Your help is especially valuable if you are already feeding birds/quail and if you see banded quail in your yard already. If you'd like to be a citizen scientist, we also appreciate if you could record your observations of banded quail."

Participants will be provided with bird seed and if you wish to be involved further, data collection sheets. Participation by children is welcome.

Call 951-827-6835 or email Team Quail at dmzonana@gmail.com.

March 21 - April 19 Cool it, Aries. You've said far too much as it is. Some people have to learn the hard way. The chase for a collector's item begins. Go, go, go!

April 20 – May 20

Ask and you shall receive, Taurus. It is that simple this week. There are many yearning to help. A news report points you in a new direction.

May 21 – June 21

Watch it, Gemini. A young one's intentions are not clear. Proceed with caution. A memo sets forth a series of challenges. Preparation is key.

June 22 – July 22

The struggle continues at home. Perhaps it's time you turned to an outsider for help, Cancer. Some things are better left unsaid at the office.

July 23 – August 22

Eager beaver you may be, Leo, but that doesn't mean everyone else is. Listen to what others have to say and take their reservations seriously.

August 23 – September 22

Alas, Virgo, you are not alone. Others are feeling just as apprehensive as you are. Find out why and see if you can't come up with some sort of compromise.

September 23 – October 22

The pace is picking up, Libra. Time to clear your schedule and get down to business. A frank discussion turns you on to a brand-new hobby.

Rats, Scorpio. Friends you were counting on bail, leaving you in a lurch. Fortunately, someone you least expect will come to your rescue.

November 22 – December 21

October 23 – November 21

Sweet Sagittarius. You rarely say no, and too many people know that fact and take advantage of it. You come first this week. Say no and mean it!

December 22 – January 19

Financial matters persist, but luckily for you, a mentor is there with a word of advice. Listen carefully, Capricorn. They've been there, done that.

January 20 – February 18 There is plenty to go around. Stop being so greedy, Aquarius. A challenge is presented. Go for it, if you dare. A friend makes a rare appearance. February 19 – March 20

Some risks are worth taking, even in your personal life, Pisces. Cast aside your fears and take a leap of faith. It will

Steele T6 at Kapalua

PRO GOLF CORRESPONDENT

Brendan Steele posted a 15-under-par 72-67-67-71 — 277 at the SBS Tournament of Champions in Kapalua, Maui, last week to earn a tie for sixth place in an exclusive 32-player field composed of PGA Tour winners during the past year.

The native Idyllwilder posted only 6 bogeys against 19 birdies and an eagle.

He found almost 60 percent of fairways with drives averaging 288 yards, the longest being a whopping 398-yard drive on the par-4 7th hole Sunday, and he hit more than 77 percent of the greens in regulation. He gained a heavy 3.421 strokes against the field in the approach-tothe-green category and managed to gain 1.317 strokes putting while still needing 1.8 putts per green.

Brendan will pass on this week's Sony Open in Hawaii, but will play next week in the $5.8 million Careerbuilder Challenge in La Quinta. Why not plan to go down and follow him around the course one day while he's in our backyard?
