Caltrans to keep Highway 74 open longer during weekends

By JP CRUMRINE NEWS EDITOR

Caltrans and other public officials told the Idyllwild community Thursday night, June 13, that though repair of Highway 74 will continue for months, road officials are hoping it can be opened 24 hours a day with flagging control by Labor Day.

Until then, at the suggestion of Riverside County 3rd District Supervisor Chuck Washington, Caltrans announced that the weekend hours (with escorts) would be expanded to from 4 a.m. to midnight Saturday and Sunday. This began this past weekend.

The longer hours also will be available during the Fourth of July holiday period. For the four days, from Thursday, July 4, through Sunday, July 7, Highway 74 will be open to traffic, with escorts, from 4 a.m. to midnight, 20 hours each day.

No announcement was made on the progress on Highway 243. That will take much longer.

After Mike Feyder, president of Mountain saster Preparedness, who sponsored the meeting, introduced public officials, the presentations began with California Highway Patrol Capt. Mike Alvarez showing a video of the reconstruction's progress.

"This video shows a lot has been done. There's great progress thanks to Ames [Construction, the contractor] and Caltrans," he said.

Caltrans showed a second video of the work being done on both state routes.

These roadways were initially closed on Feb. 14. The next day, an emergency contract was initiated between Caltrans and Ames Construction. They have been working hard to restore these corridors, but residents' frustrations have built during the nearly four months of waiting.

Caltrans staff explained that the amount of work has been more than estimated and is taking longer for several reasons. First, the initial estimate of locations that needed repair, either new culverts or restoring embankments, was 43. Since February, the number of repair sites has grown to nearly 100, according to Shane Massoud, a Caltrans public information officer.

Ames is continuing to repair the slopes along the roads, install new and larger culverts, and repair erosion under the highways and on embankments below road levels

IFPD suspends open burning during fire season

Idyllwild parks are affected, too

By JP CRUMRINE News Editor

On June 1, Idyllwild Fire Chief Mark LaMont imposed restrictions on open fires with the Idyllwild Fire Protection District.

"Open burning, use of campfires, fire permits and other uses of open fire of any kind within the geographic jurisdiction of the Idyllwild Fire Protection District are hereby suspended as of the

The campfire restriction even applies to visitors and campers at the Idyllwild County Park and Mt. San Jacinto State Park campgrounds within Idyllwild.

A grill is fine to use but requires a permit from the Idyllwild Fire Station. "This permit is free of charge and is an educational opportunity," wrote LaMont. "Grilling on the 4th is not only acceptable but is encouraged and is an Independence Day tradition. A BBQ as described in our BBQ permit is not considered an 'open fire'."

In the fire restriction notice, LaMont noted that the abundant rainfall this winter and spring will result in a plentiful crop of grass, which when it dies and dries, is quite flammable and could contribute to wildfire.

Any questions can be emailed at the district's website, www. idyllwildfire.com, or called in to 951-659-2153.

Agencies ready for fire season

Road closures will not limit access in an emergency

By JP Crumrine NEWS EDITOR

The Mountain Area Safety Taskforce met Wednesday, June 12 with attendance remaining slightly less than normal, due to the current road closures from Hemet and Banning. MAST meets about quarterly.

Fire officials — federal, state and local — described their winter projects and preparation for the summer and fall 2019 fire season.

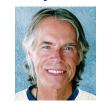

The U.S. Forest Service's fire assets are slightly hobbled with the highway closures. Although there are six fully staffed engines, according to acting Fire Chief Salvador Reyes, for the San Jacinto Ranger District, two are on the other side of the closure. Cranston (Station 54) is in Valle Vista west of the Highway 74 work, and the Vista Grande and VG Hot Shots (Station 51) are north of the two washouts on Highway Reves also announced that Alandale, Engine 57, is currently closed, and he did not have an estimate of when that station would reopen. The helicopter, which is based at Keenwild, has returned to the district.

Despite these problems, none of the fire officials felt they would pose any problem if an emergency did occur. District Ranger Julie Hall felt comfortable with the available resources.

"We have USFS E56 Keenwild, Keenwild Helitack, E52 Kenworthy, E353 Anza all on this side and BDF Cranston E54 will be able to come through on the highway for an emergency event," Idyllwild Fire Protection District Chief Mark LaMont said reassuringly. "It is also important to note that these USFS engines each carry a five-person crew. We also have Cal Fire E23 Pine Cove, E53 Garner Vallev.

inclement weather exacerbated the work done and created new problems, he added. And Caltrans Engineer Amgard Benjamin said the heavy fog during May delayed the capability to haul dirt to the repair

"May was four times as wet as any average May," said Alex Tardy of the National Weather Service.

After Caltrans staff described the situation and progress to date, Washington came forward. He described the county's efforts to ensure that the public knows that access to Idyllwild is available.

Caltrans also is working with an outdoor advertising firm to get more digital billboards along Interstate 15 to remind motorists about Idyllwild.

"We all love Idyllwild and want to see opportunity to come up here," he said. "They are literally re-building the highway in both directions."

He stressed that county and state officials understand that the limited access affects the local businesses and their staff. He then asked if the attendees would prefer the hours for access (even with an escort car) be expanded or simply focus on road construction as quickly as possible.

The consequence of increasing access hours would mean that road repairs would take longer. Caltrans estimated extra time would likely be one month, depending upon weather this summer, especially the number and intensity of rains.

the audience urged that to better standards. the emphasis be on completion, the majority favored longer access hours and were happy to hear Caltrans' and Ames' willingness to do this.

After Labor Day, Terri Kasinga, the Caltrans chief of public and media affairs, said that access on Highway 74 would likely be expanded to 24 hours per day with flagging and not slowed by escorts. In order to achieve this goal, Caltrans will have to ensure that guardrails have been replaced and signage, such as speed limits, installed.

"There are no other environmental issues in the way of [work on Highway] 74. We want to restore the road and get you on it as quickly as possible," she

One person asked if it were possible to drive to Lake Fulmor, park their car and walk to the other side of the road repair to be picked up and driven to Banning or Beaumont. All replied, "No!"

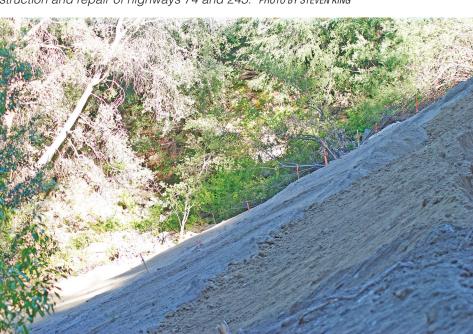

Attendance was estimated to be nearly 400 people, slightly less than the March meeting. Some attributed the lower attendance to better awareness that the session was being 243, officials were not able broadcast and the summer weather.

Fire agencies still prepared for evacuation if necessary despite highway closures

By JP Crumrine News Editor

During the Mountain Preparedness Disaster community meeting with Caltrans on highway repair, one person asked about how the road closures would possibly affect evacuation if it were needed because of wildfires or other emergen-

Emergency response agencies, including fire and law enforcement, have been preparing for this possibility almost since February, according to Idyllwild Fire Chief Mark LaMont.

"The plans are solid to get you off the mountain if scale evacuation," he said.

Most importantly, he and others stressed that the Mountain Fire and last year's Cranston Fire have significantly reduced dangerous and flammable vegetation along highways 74 and 243 to Mountain Center, and east and west of it.

Access to Mountain Center should not be limited and Highway 74 through Garner Valley should not be a problem.

What was emphasized Thursday night and at the Wednesday Mountain Area Safety Taskforce meeting was that residents should not resort to trying to use

Life Tribute Martin Andrew "Marty" Scoggins 1953-2019

Martin Andrew "Marty" Scoggins, 66, of Columbus, Texas, succumbed to an 11-month battle with esophageal cancer on Wednesday, June 12, 2019.

Bright-Holland Funeral Home has scheduled a memorial service with military honors for 2 p.m. Saturday, June 29, at the First Baptist Church of Pecan Gap with the Rev. Ken Cannon officiating. The family will receive friends at the church one hour prior to service time. Martin was born April 1, 1953, in Waxahachie, Texas, to Johnny Martin Scoggins and Earline Parrish Scoggins. He was a graduate of Bland High School, where his father was the superintendent.

His attendance at East Texas State University in Commerce was interrupted by his entry into the United States Air Force, where he proudly served for the next three years prior to his honorable discharge.

He was a manager for 10 of his 30-year employment with Thousand Trails Corporation. Marty loved traveling and all kinds of outdoor activities. He was of the Christian faith and Baptist by choice.

He was preceded in death by his grandparents and his father.

Survivors include his mother, Earline Parrish Scoggins of Paris, Texas; one brother, Jeff Scoggins and wife Linda of Paris, Texas; a niece, Kaylynn Dwiggins and fiancé Zac Hiner of Bakersfield; one great-niece, Hayden Dwiggins; one great-nephew, Johnny Dwiggins; along with many dear friends and co-workers.

The family extends deepest appreciation to Dr. Prakash and the staff at Texas Oncology as well as the wonderful caregivers at Heritage House of Paris. In lieu of usual floral memorials, the family requests memorials be made in Marty's memory to the American Cancer Society or to someone's church.

Report traffic violators to CHP The San Gorgonio Pass California Highway Patrol is starting a new traffic safety campaign that uses community members to assist in identifying unsafe roadways and drivers.

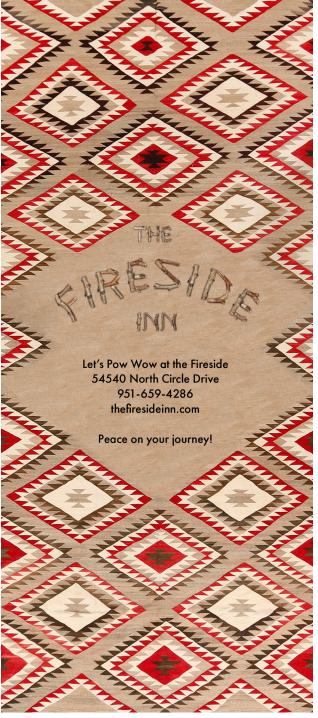

Report unsafe and/or illegal driving or problem roads by emailing (SanGorgonioPass@chp.ca.gov) the date, time, location and vehicle license plate (or a passenger's or dash cam's photo). Using the license plate, Capt. Mike Alvarez will contact the registered owner by mail, and issue the registered owner a courtesy warning letter. You get to remain anonymous during the CHP's contact. The warning letter is then kept on file at the San Gorgonio Pass CHP office for future reference.

If you are reporting a problem roadway with a high number of traffic safety concerns, CHP will log it and focus enforcement efforts there, using data to track the locations via hot-spot mapping so CHP can deploy resources in high-violation areas.

"This innovative campaign is designed to show our community we are listening, and even if we can't be in all places at once, we are still committed to public safety. Help us make our roadways safer," the Facebook post stated.

As of July 1, my title will change from Editor/Co-publisher to just Co-publisher. We have hired Melissa Diaz Hernandez to take over the editor's desk.

Jack and I will continue managing the business but not necessarily showing our faces every day at the office. We hope to do some traveling and home projects we haven't been able to get to in these six years since we bought the Town

We have a highly competent staff with Halie, Mandy, Lisa and JP, and now with Melissa.

To the question, "Is the Town Crier still for sale?" Yes, it is still listed with Bob Hughes. But with the highway closures, we don't expect much action for some time.

And speaking of highway closures, when have you heard of more freaky happenings on our public roads?

First, we have the Valentine's Day rains that literallywiped out major portions of two of our important accesses to and from the Hill for an indefinite period of time. That in itself is truly bizarre.

I moved here in 1978 and never saw anything so ineffable happen to these highways. We've had a portion of one highway wiped out from flooding but nothing this severe in my Second, on a Friday night a few months ago, a large truck blocked our one access when it tipped over, spilling diesel all over Highway 243 south of Idyllwild — creating a hazmat situation that continued through the next day, a Saturday.

Third, Monday morning, a motorhome traveling south on Highway 74 south of Highway 243 also tipped over onto the southbound lane creating a one-lane situation for hours on our one access road.

At least with the second incident, people could take Saunders Meadow Road to get to and from Idyllwild.

Unbelievable. As one of my employees at the TC likes to say, "What next? Locusts?"

We have to be grateful that no major injuries or fatalities have occurred because of these incidents.

But as one whose healthcare providers are on the wrong side of the mountain (Fontana and San Bernardino), I greatly sympathize with anyone resident with health conditions requiring visits to anywhere but the desert, Anza or Temec-

I canceled my annual physical exam this month because of additional hour required to get to Fontana.

Already, the distance had become a burden so we were seriously planning to move our healthcare to Beaumont since we live north of Pine Cove and also had a very good experience at the hospital there. Of course, that's now out of the question with no estimate for when 243 will reopen north of

So, should we move our healthcare to the desert? To Temecula? Or should I just bite the bullet and drive to Fontana until the highway opens?

I see why people move off the Hill as they age. It's mostly because of access to healthcare.

But these highway closures push the issue even further. Who wants to leave the Hill early in the morning to get to Hemet when they're ill only to have to wait until 6 p.m. to come back home or drive an extra hour around? It's no wonder I keep hearing of more and more elderly people selling and moving off the Hill.

What is Idyllwild Western Steampunk Symposium & Festival?

On Friday, June14, we drove into Idyllwild and were surprised to see a festival set up in downtown Idyllwild, no street banner or signage, just closed streets.

Due to the festival set up around Idypark, two public streets were closed, Park Lane and Village Center Drive. Consequently, the only driving access to Strawberry Creek shopping area was the narrow alley off Ridgeview.

Residents of Idyllwild and visitors require safe access to the post office, library, pharmacy, Fairway Market and other businesses all located within the Strawberry Creek shopping center.

We are active members of several Idyllwild community organizations and were unaware of a festival scheduled for three days. Just how did this festival obtain a

Realtor Talk

Hello from the Idyllwild Association of Realtors[®]! This year marks our 40th year as an association, and what better way to celebrate it than by recognizing someone who has been part of IAOR since its birth, back in 1979 — someone who has just been honored Emeritus Status for "forty or more cumulative years of membership in the National Association of Realtors®, and in recognition of valuable and lasting contribution to the real estate profession in the Community." Ladies and gentlemen, it is my honor to present to you one of IAOR's first board presidents: Mr. Jim Palmer.

"I'm more of a face-toface kind of guy" is what Palmer replied when I asked if I could do a phone interview with him. I have had the pleasure of serving on the board with him for the past four years, and what a delight he has been to work with. It is my pleasure to share with you some Jim Palmer on Monday with of the highlights from my interview with Jim Palmer,

licensed real estate agent since 1977.

Wilson: In terms of doing real estate on the Hill dyllwild], what has changed in the past 42 years?

Palmer: More paperwork. There was no such thing as a lockbox back then. We had to pick up keys at the listing office [in order to show property.] And of course, computers made a major impact.

Wilson: What has remained the same?

Palmer: Well, certainly not my age! [he laughs] The type of people that come up and buy property are the same — they want to get out of the city. The community of Idyllwild has stayed the same, and that's important to Wilson: What kind of advice would you give new agents who wish to do business on the Hill?

Palmer: It takes time, energy, ethics and professionalism. If you don't have that, you're not going to make it. And everybody has to have fun in the process.

He then told me about a time when the economy was in shambles and real estate sales were at an all-time low. He remembers staring out of his office window, looking up at the pine trees and bright blue sky, then thought to himself: "Well, if I'm going to go broke, I've got a beautiful place to do it in! It's all about attitude."

Palmer continues to serve on the IAOR board as a director. His countless contributions to IAOR and his community are both priceless and timeless. Thank you, Jim Palmer, for your 42 years of continued services -— and congratulations on achieving Emeritus Status from the National Association of Realtors®. We are all so very proud of you!

Acrylic pouring with Jen Hajj

Jen Hajj will show how to make art outside the box with acrylic pouring from 10:30 a.m. to noon Wednesday, July 3, at the Idyllwild Library.

This form of abstract art uses acrylics to create paintings by letting the pigment run amok. This art form allows you to learn a great deal about materials and is great for experimenting with color and technique. All ages are invited to the free

Got California veterans' photos?

Over the past five years, community newspapers from across the country have joined the Vietnam Veterans Memorial Fund's Faces Project.

VVMF is the organization that built and maintains the Vietnam Veterans Wall in Washington D.C. Several years ago, the VVFM started a project known as the "Faces Project." VVFM is attempting to obtain a photo of every service member killed in action and listed on the Wall.

Today, 175 photos are missing from California. You can help find these photos by viewing www.vvmf.org/Wall-of-Faces/.

ATTENTION LOCAL BUSINESS OWNERS

DID YOU KNOW?

 You are required to file a DBA (Doing Business As), also called an FBN (Fictitious Business Name), statement with the county when you start a business.

> Your DBA expires after 5 years, and you need to refile.

The Town Crier can file your DBA for you, saving you from the paperwork hassle and the time and gas it would take to go to the County Recorder's Office.

Call Mandy at (951) 659-2145 or stop by the Town Crier, 54405 North Circle Dr. We're Open Monday-Thursday from 9am to 5pm. Friday from 10am to 5pm.

Studies indicate that areas in the Coachella Valley have only one full-time equivalent physician per 9,000 residents, compared to the Health Resources and Services Administration's recommended ratio of one physician to 2,000 people. The shortage has many root causes, including an aging physician population and the tendency of medical residents

Kellner pleads guilty to burglary

Sentenced to jail By JP Crumrine

On June 10, Riverside County Superior Court Judge Jerome Brock sentenced Michael McRae Kellner to two years in county jail for his guilty plea of burglary. The judge then suspended one year of the sentence. Kellner was arrested on May 29. He was charged with multiple burglaries, narcotic possession, receiving stolen property and other crimes. The District Attorney's Office filed three charges — the burglary felony and two misdemeanors, including the drug possession.

At the June 10 hearing, he pleaded guilty to the burglary charge and the two misdemeanors were dropped. The judge also imposed mandatory supervision of one year after release from custody. JP Crumrine can be reached at jp@towncrier.com.

Pine Cove Water approves standby fees, new budget

Water production is down

By JP Crumrine News Editor

Despite the absence of President Robert Hewitt, the Pine Cove Water District directors had an efficient meet-

The board unanimously approved the standby assessment and the budget for fiscal year 2019-20, which

"Any discussion?" asked Vice President Diana Luther. In absence of any member of the public, Resolution 542 setting the standby rates at $30 per acre per year for each acre or portion was approved unanimously. These standby fees have been unchanged for many years and generate about $26,500 annually for the district.

In the new budget, total revenues are projected to be $1.05 million, about $75,000 greater than this year.

"The income is a conservative 7.7 percent increase from last year," General Manager Jerry Holldber told the directors.

The revenue growth is primarily $55,000 more from expected water sales and a $10,000 increase from property tax revenue assigned to the district. The estimated expenses are $1.01 million, about $60,000 more than this year. The result should be a $40,000 positive balance next June 30. Salaries and benefits are the largest expense account.

"Salaries are up 2.5 percent," Holldber told the board. The largest budget increase, $34,000, is for capital improvements, principally for main line replacement. Holldber plans to purchase about 3,400 feet of pipe, both 6- and 8-inch diameters.

Pipe costs have been increasing dramatically. This much pipe will be sufficient for at least two years of projects. "Better to buy pipe now than wait," he added.

The board also reapproved its rebate program, with no changes, for next year and a new agreement with Charter Communications, which rents space at the district's Rocky Point communications site.

In May, PCWD water production was 2.1 million gallons, nearly 25 percent less than the 2.8 million produced in May 2018. This was the lowest water production in more than 15 years.

Holldber attributed the low demand to the recent weather. "We had 4 inches of moisture in May and never that much before," he said.

For the first five months of 2019, production was 13 million gallons, compared with 12.4 million for the same period in 2018.

The water level of the monitoring well rose 6 feet in May. Currently, the water level is 118 feet below ground level. "I wouldn't be surprised if gets into double digits,"

Also, water loss for May was 1 percent. Holldber said he and staff double checked the data and the billings to be sure that was correct.

The next PCWD Board of Directors meeting will be

Aug. 14. The July board meeting has been canceled. JP Crumrine can be reached at jp@towncrier.com.

Supervisors preparing new budget Large increases loom in future years

By JP Crumrine News Editor

The Riverside County Board of Supervisors held hearings for the fiscal year 2019-20 budget last week. The hearing was left open in order for the board to make some adjustments that would require only a majority approval rather than fourfifths if a preliminary budget had been approved.

The overall budget is about $6.1 billion, but this includes grants and specially earmarked revenues. The supervisors basically have control and discretion over only $840 million. Funds dependent upon the board's approval are designated Net County Costs.

For example, public protection, including the Sheriff's Department, is 29 percent of the total county budget. And the sheriff's share of this total will approach or exceed $700 million. However, of the NCC portion of the budget, the sheriff's total is $300.6 million, which alone is 35 percent of the NCC total.

On Monday evening, June 10, before discussing the budgets for specific departments, the board listened to an overview from George Johnson, county executive officer, and Chief Financial Officer Don Kent.

Johnson emphasized that the proposed budget was financially responsible, which "... means just like at home, we have to live within our means and not spend more than the revenue we have coming in."

Both he and Kent told the board that revenue growth is about 5 percent, but costs in various areas grow faster and sometimes unexpectedly. For example, the county's general assistance costs at the beginning of this fiscal year were budgeted for \$2 million. Since July, these have grown \$12.2 million. For the new fiscal year, the beginning total is estimated to be \$20 million, an \$18 million jump in $12\,\mathrm{months}.$

"Demand for services significantly outweighs our modest revenue growth," Johnson noted.

Other areas rapidly increasing are the in-home support caseload, inmate health care (both mental and total health), election equipment, the immigration surge in Blythe, the anticipation of staffing the John J. Benoit Detention Center later this year, the new medical building in Moreno Valley and adding new health clinics.

Besides the costs to provide these new or growing service demands, the county is facing significant increases in the cost of pensions for staff — both public safety and non-safety.

The board has been aware of the increasing pension liability for several years. But the two new board members — Karen Spiegel (District 2) and Jeff Hewitt (District 5) — felt the county needs to address the issue and perhaps dramatically take action against CalPERS.

Third District Supervisor Chuck Washington pointed out that the pension issue was not the county's fault, but due to the economy and CalPERS funding.

At Hewitt's insistence, the board voted to create an ad hoc committee to examine its options, but Hewitt would not defer to Washington's interest in serving on the committee. So Hewitt and Spiegel are the committee members.

One of the proposed budget cuts was the cooperative extension program with the University of California. The Executive Office proposed a $1 million reduction, not elimination. These funds go toward youth agricultural programs, such as the 4H program.

But nearly two dozen speakers came to the meeting opposing the reduction and convinced Johnson and the board to find an alternative to the reduction.

"The message is received. We'll identify ways to move cooperative staff from leased space to county owned and ways to share support staff," Johnson said and the supervisors unanimously agreed.

New Sheriff Chad Bianco told the board his current budget would end the year with a surplus and he would not need to increase the proposed NCC allocation for FY 2019-

"For 2019-20 we are balanced. I have no additional funds requested. We are living within the budget, staffing level and the opening of the new jail," he said.

His staff has looked for many ways to save money and work more efficiently, he stated.

The John J. Benoit Detention Center is now expected to be completed at the end of August. Bianco told the board the next 30 days would be a testing and preparing for the inmates to occupy it. Then it will take 60 days to transfer all of the in-

DA Mike Hestrin argued that his office did need another $4.7 million.

"When I took office, the department's deficit was $18.6 million; today it is zero," he told the board. "My obligation is to lay out the risk we face and the challenges if we don't get what we need."

Of the added funding request, Hestrin said about $1.4 would be for salaries for current staff, and $3.3 for restructuring and integrating technical advances into operations. The DA's office has reduced staff and shifted more work to paralegals from attorneys, he said.

Hestrin also told the board he has added a fourth regional office. The Mid-County office in Banning will handle cases from Hemet, San Jacinto, Banning and Beaumont areas. This office was created as the courts have changed their jurisdictional coverage.

Both the Animal Services Department, and Code and Planning made arguments to support more funding.

These issues will be reviewed in the next week before the board approves a budget at the June 25 meeting.

Idyllwild parade and laser show to provide July 4th festivities

By Jack Clark CO-PUBLISHER

The Rotary Club's Idyllwild 53rd-annual parade will kick off festivities in town on the morning of Thursday, the Fourth of July. Cathy Lopez, organizer of the parade activities, along with Nacho Garcia, relates that the parade will begin at Four Corners in Fern Valley at its usual 10 a.m. starting time.

The parade will include floats and entries from the Idyllwild Garden Club, the Idyllwild Community Center, Mayor Max and deputies, Idyllwild Fire Department (which will feature a 1954 Packard ambulance), and 10 to 20 bicyclists from the Bike Route.

Fourth of July evening also provides a festivity. Fireworks are not allowed anywhere on our Hill ever, but two Hill residents are aiming to provide brilliant skies in Idyllwild that night anyway.

Gary Kuscher and Chic Fojtik have arranged with Daystar Lasers International to provide Hill residents with a family- and dog-friendly, safe and colorful laser-light show in the center of town with their inaugural Idyllwild Laser-light Show, which they hope will become an annual event. Fojtik and Kuscher related that Daystar has obtained all the permits necessary for the production, including those needed from the Federal Aviation Administration.

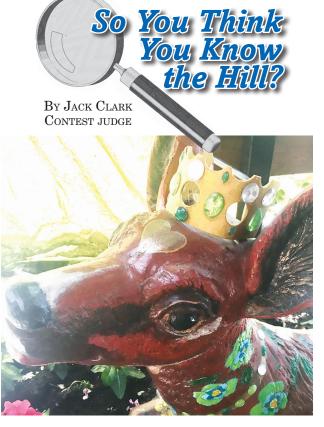

Road closures are expected to be only Park Lane and the section of Village Center Drive between North Circle Drive and Ridgeview. It was originally anticipated that these two blocks would be closed all day from the parade onward, but Kuscher informs the Town Crier that traffic will be allowed through, with those two blocks being actually closed only from about 7 p.m. They anticipate that Ridgeview itself will remain open.

The show will include laser-lighted skies in addition to an approximate 20-foot-by-30-foot screen accompanied by choreographed and patriotic music provided by audio engineer Chris Mitchell. The elevated, "backshoot" screen will be set up on Park Lane and will be viewed from Village Center Drive and thereabouts beginning at about 9 p.m. Kuscher and Fojtik anticipate the show lasting a half-hour to 45 minutes, so that it will be concluded before the noise curfew at 10 p.m.

Fojtik and Kuscher emphasize that they are not advertising this event off the Hill since is not designed with tourists in mind. The show is being created for, and they hope supported by, the residents of the community. It is their hope that, as a substitute for dangerous fireworks, the laser show will discourage the illegal use of fireworks by anybody on the Hill.

The show is "sponsored" by the Idyllwild Fire Department in the sense that all proceeds will go to the Idyllwild Volunteer Fire Company. These proceeds will come from Hill residents who make contributions from "$1 on up," and a table will be set up at the Idyllwild Post Office to collect donations. They say they are not relying on business sponsorship because the road closures have hit Hill businesses so hard. Donations also can be made directly to the Idyllwild Volunteer Fire Company, P.O. Box 53, Mountain Center, CA 92561.

Desert artist features Keystone Species mosaics at the library

By Sally Hedberg Contributor

On Wednesday, June 26 at 10:30 a.m. at the Idyllwild Library, artist Mary Cuda will present seven of her Keystone Species mosaics. She will demonstrate how she creates her mosaics by working on her eighth species, the salmon. When asked, "What is meant by Keystone Species," Mary replied, "They are the species on which our ecosystem depends and if removed would drastically change our planet."

Cuda has studied art and was a painter for many years. Then one day she read an article about mosaics in an art magazine. She already had a foundation in art so she began researching how to create mosaics.

First, she did the traditional straight-line tiles but then decided to experiment and incorporated glass as well as 24k gold tiles. Her large pieces have consisted mainly of animals, so it was a natural transition to creating the Keystone Species. Again, Cuda discovered the importance of the Keystone Species after reading an article and decided through her art she wanted to bring awareness to others. Cuda emphatically states, "Climate change is happening at an exponential rate, and it is dramatically important we are all aware of this.'

An example is her Krill mosaic. This tiny animal is found in all the world's oceans and is considered a Keystone Species because it feeds many of the larger animals. With the warming of the oceans and the melting of the glaciers many key animals are in danger. Cuda hopes to be an ambassador for climate change through her art.

This free event is part of the Idyllwild Library STEAM programs and is appropriate for all ages. Each participant will have the opportunity to make a paper mosaic.

Native American Arts Festival takes center stage

#InsteadofRedface

- performance: Examining indigenous America's contributions to theater

From Sunday, June 23, to Friday, June 28, the Idyllwild Arts Summer Program will write another chapter in its history of engagement with Native American Arts by hosting the Native American Arts Festival. The history is as American experience. old as the Summer Program itself, which dates to 1950.

This year, indigenous theater is explored through performances ranging through song and dance.

Events remain free and open to the public at the festival, about which Heather Companiott, long-time director of the Summer Program's Adult Arts Center of the Native American Program and Festival, and Native American Arts Coordinator Shaliyah Ben (Navajo), could talk for hours.

Companiott is proudest of the festival's "unique emphasis on education," while Ben expresses excitement and hope that the week's dialogues will produce new works by these leading artists, as well as long-lasting friendships.

This summer, theater professionals highlight the festival's honor roll of artist/educators.

The week will begin with a welcoming at 6:30 p.m. Sunday, in the IAF Theatre by Chuna McIntyre, Yup'ik cultural advisor, artist and performer, and Director of Nunamta (Of Our Land) Yup'ik Eskimo Brother Sun, Sister Moon, the moving story of how the Sun and moon were positioned in the Yup'ik cosmos.

At 7 p.m. Monday in Parks Exhibition Center, the exhibition "Stages of Engagement: Indigenous Bodies in Colonial Theatre Tradition" opens, and Idyllwild welcomes back Asa Benally (Navajo), an Idyllwild Arts Academy graduate who went on to Yale Drama School's M.F.A. program. Today, Benally lives and works in New York, designing costumes for theatrical productions and dreaming of designing for Wagner's Ring Cycle: "Four operas telling the tale of the rise and fall of the Gods.'

Library, audiences can enjoy the Michael Kabotie Lecture Series. Each lecture looks at a different facet of Indigenous involvement in theater. On Tuesday, Dr. Bethany Hughes (Choctaw) of the University of Michigan speaks on "Indigenous Theater: Context and Content," examining how aesthetic and legal performances of Native American identity shape the Native

Wednesday's lecture features Larissa Fasthorse (Sicangu Lakota). In "Beyond Decolonizing: Indigenizing American," Fasthorse will share her work as a playwright and choreographer to create spaces that embrace a wider and more culturally diverse audience.

Award-winning director, writer and actor Madeline Sayet (Mohegan), recipient of the White House Champion of Change Award for Native America, lectures on "Indigenous Shakespeare" on Thursday. Like Asa Benally, Sayet is fascinated by opera. Her 2015 direction of Mozart's The Magic Flute won praise as "effortlessly transparent and almost weightless" by The New York Times and "enchanting" by The Wall Street Journal.

Another can't-miss event takes place on the festival's last evening at 7 p.m. Friday, June 28, in the IAF Theatre, with a staged reading of playwright Mary Kathryn Nagle's Fairly Traceable by the Autry Museum of the American West's Native Voices theater company. As the country's only Equity company devoted exclusively to producing new work by Native American, Alaska Native and First Nations playwrights, Native Voices at the Autry Museum's mission is as distinctive as that of the Idyllwild Arts Native American Arts Festival.

Jon Lawrence Rivera directs Fairly Traceable. Set in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina, the play follows a young Ponca man and Chitimacha woman as they balance personal and career ambitions with advocacy for the environment and care for loved ones. Nagle's romantic comedy reveals the culpability of big oil, corporate polluters and climate change deniers in environmental di-Companiott has been building and maintaining the Tuesday through Thursday at noon in the Krone festival's unique identity for almost 30 years. She doesn't expect to continue for another 30. Yet after working with the program for that long, she can still call it "exciting" because of the importance of this ongoing dialogue about Native American culture and its contested place within the wider American culture.

Come to the Native American Arts Festival and join the conversation.

June 2019 — Week 3

March 21 - April 19 Get your facts together and become familiar with them before you have to face up to that interview. The better prepared you are, the easier it will be to make that important impression. April 20 - May 20 New information might warrant changing your mind about a recently made decision. Never mind the temporary confusion it might cause. Acting on the truth is always preferable.

May 21 – June 21 Creating a loving atmosphere for those you care for could pay off in many ways. Expect to hear some unexpected but very welcome news that can make a big difference in your life. June 22 – July 22 look at the situation and perhaps work out a new method of dealing with it.

July 23 – August 22 You're still in a favorable goal-setting mode. However, you might need to be a little more realistic about some of your aims. Best to reach for what is currently doable. The rest will follow. August 23 – September 22

A setback is never easy to deal with. But it could be a boon in disguise. Recheck your proposal and strengthen the weak spots. Seek advice from someone who has "been there and done that."

a tedious job-regulated chore could lead to more than just a congratulatory memo once the word reaches the "right people." October 23 – November 21

What you might call determination, someone else might regard as stubbornness. Look for ways to reach a compromise that won't require a major shift of views on your part. November 22 – December 21 You're still in a vulnerable mode visa-vis "offers" that sound too good to be true. So continue to be skeptical about anything that can't be backed up with provable facts.

December 22 – January 19 Thrift is still dominant this week. What you don't spend on what you don't need will be available for you to draw on should a possible (albeit temporary) money crunch hit.

Staying close to home early in the week allows for some introspection about your social life. Sort out your feelings before rejoining your fun-time fellows on the weekend.

February 19 – March 20

It can be a bit daunting as well as exciting to find yourself finally taking action on a long-delayed move for a change. It helps to stay with it when others rally to support you.

News meeting at library

The Idyllwild Town Crier meets at 8:30 a.m. every Wednesday (unless Monday is a major holiday or if weather is a factor) at the Idyllwild Library.

The news meeting plans the next week's edition of the newspaper. The public is invited to attend.

Barbara Rayliss was the emcee for the Hilltop Comedy Night. The event was a fundraiser for the Idyllwild Soroptimists. Friday evening, three comedians performed at the Rustic Theater. PHOTO BY STEVEN KING

Conor O'Farrell, film and television actor, took the stage for "An Actor's Life for Me" at the Idyllwild Library Tuesday, June 11. He described his successful career amid the turmoil and chaos that make up such a life. Filled with many eye-opening and amusing anecdotes, the soliloquy was very entertaining for the overflow crowd.

CREATURE CORNER

By Janice Murasko

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," the ARF cats discussed their shyness when first meeting new people.

Indie: Last weekend was a

Pepper

Zeus

George

Heavenly

Whiskers

Heavenly Whiskers: What can we do to encourage possible cat guardians to stop by?

Sadie: Hmmm, let's think about this.

Heavenly Whiskers: Maybe we need to reiterate just what great companionship we

Mr. Gray: Especially for seniors or someone who lives Pepper: How great to come home to a loving four-legged! George: I know I would meet my human at the Mr. Gray door, wind in and out of his legs, and purr with love. Zeus: I'd do the same! I would give back 10 times the amount of love she gives me.

Mr. Gray: I'd give back 100 times amount!

Bear

Indie: All right, you two. Any one of us would give so much Thomas love and affection. Pepper: I'd also listen to their problems and how their day went, and I'd never talk back or complain. Heavenly Whiskers: I'd do the same.

And then when they settled in for the evening, I'd be nearby for them to pet. Petting a cat is very therapeutic, you know. Thomas: Scientists have proven that the act of petting a cat releases oxytocin, the bonding hormone or "cuddle chemical," which can make a human feel less stressed. Pepper: Wow! I didn't know we were that good.

George: Even if a human doesn't factor in the physical benefits of us felines, just having another intelligent living being in the house is a wonderful thing. Sadie: Especially a very intelligent being like me!

Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "Days of Our Nine Lives" each week. And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Hwy. 243 on Saturdays 10-4 and Sundays 10-2, or by appointment M-F by calling 951-659-1122.
