Mayor Max in good health

By JENNY KIRCHNER
REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

Mayor Max will be back to his mayoral duties beginning Wednesday, March 4. The canine mayor was on bed rest after a health scare sent him to the emergency veterinary hospital on Feb. 16.

At first, it was a mystery as to what was ailing Max, but after time, and trial and error, the conclusion was that he had kennel cough. Once the diagnosis was made, Max was quarantined at home.

According to the American Kennel Club, kennel cough (also known as canine infectious tracheobronchitis) is a highly contagious respiratory disease. Dogs commonly contract kennel cough at places where large numbers of canines congregate and can produce the following symptoms: strong cough, runny nose, sneezing, lethargy, loss of appetite and low fever.

While being quarantined at home, Max had many human visitors contributing to keeping his spirits up.

“Max has had at least 50 people visit him since he’s been home,” Chief of Staff Phyllis Mueller said. However, no canine visitors came to visit as they didn’t

Steele ties for 4th at The Honda

By JACK CLARK
PRO GOLF CORRESPONDENT

Brendan Steele was in it to the end at The Honda Classic in Florida last week. In a thrilling race to the wire, the Idyllwild native tied for fourth — his second top-5 finish of this season.

He posted a 3-under-par 68-67-71-71 — 277 on the champion course at the PGA National, one of the toughest courses on the PGA Tour.

The thrill-shot of the tournament for Brendan fans had to be on the par-3 15th hole Saturday when his 179-yard tee shot hit a few feet in front of the pin, caught the right side of the hole and rode the rim some 200-plus degrees before flipping out back toward him for a tap-in birdie.

Now with 477 FedExCup points, Brendan has moved up 13 spots on the all-important FedExCup list to 36th place. At the start of the season, Brendan needed to finish in the top 125 to earn his playing card on the PGA Tour for next year. He’s now assured of doing that. He has already amassed more FedExCup points this season than did any eventual 125th-place finisher in the previous nine years that Brendan has been on the tour. So now, let’s concentrate on a fourth win!

Brendan will be swinging again this week in the $7-million Arnold Palmer Invitational at the Bay Hill Club and Lodge in Orlando, Florida. This will be the eighth season he has played this tournament. Last year, he tied for 17th place.

Brendan will tee off Thursday at 9:33 a.m. and Friday at 4:33 a.m., playing with Charles Howell III and Jim Hermans both days. Follow him shot-for-shot at pgatour.com or with the PGA Tour app. The tournament will be telecast on the Golf Channel (Thursday and Friday) and on NBC on the weekend.

IWD may get a general manager soon

By MELISSA DIAZ HERNANDEZ
EDITOR

Another special meeting was held by the directors of the Idyllwild Water District (IWD) Feb. 26 to approve the hiring of Leo Havener for general manager, but some issues arose regarding the board’s negotiation of the contract and another special meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, March 4.

Board President Dr. Charles Schelly seemed quite frustrated with Board Vice President Peter Szabadi. According to Schelly, he had been negotiating the contract with Havener, who was not present at the meeting, and kept coming back to find changes made to the contract by Szabadi without Schelly’s knowledge that were not previously negotiated.

“Some changes, by me, but they were not incorporated,” Szabadi said.

Havener will be the second general manager to be hired by IWD since it terminated Michael Creighton Sept. 25, 2019 and as of the Feb. 26 meeting will be paid $117,000 annually because, according to the board, he has declined medical coverage with the district.

Havener has been a consultant since the summer of 2016, according to his LinkedIn account, when he was released from his contract at Lake Arrowhead Community Services District (LACSD) where he served as its general manager. Finance manager Catherine Cerri stepped into the position on Aug. 23, 2016 and still serves as the district’s general manager.

Havener and Cerri were both named in a wrongful termination lawsuit brought forward by former LACSD employee Darlene Butler who alleged that both “subjected Butler to unjustified criticism, discipline and ongoing negative, derogatory and demeaning

Dear Idyllwild Community,

The spread of the coronavirus (COVID 19) is of great concern as communities around the world work to contain the spread of the virus. The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and the World Health Organization (WHO) have issued regular updates to increase public awareness and lower the potential risk of spreading the virus.

At this time, the U.S. Department of State - Bureau of Consular Affairs has issued a Level 4 Travel Advisory for China, advising against all travel to China, and the CDC has issued a Level 3 Travel Advisory, advising against non-essential travel to South Korea, Italy, and Iran. Out of an abundance of caution, Idyllwild Arts is advising against students and employees traveling to the aforementioned countries until the restrictions have been lifted by the CDC. Additionally, visitors who have traveled to a country classified as Level 3 or 4 Travel Advisory are prohibited from visiting campus. We recognize that information may change and, if so, we are prepared to lift these restrictions.

Additionally, we will continue our time-honored tradition of offering student performances free and open to the public. To ensure that we are able to contact visitors in the event of a health concern we are now requiring that all visitors have tickets, free of charge, when attending events on campus. To secure a ticket, a name, address, and phone number will be required. Tickets may be obtained at events. An online option will be available shortly.

The health and safety of every member of our mountain community are our highest priorities. We appreciate the concern that many Idyllwild residents have expressed. As countries and communities around the world work to contain the spread of COVID 19, we will continue to work closely with our Health Center Director and health agencies as more information becomes available. We are grateful to everyone for their ongoing support and will continue to make Idyllwild residents aware of any relevant changes that may occur on our campus.

As always, please feel free to contact my office if you have questions or concerns.

With gratitude,

Pamela Jordan

Pine Cove broadcast burn postponed

By MELISSA DIAZ HERNANDEZ
EDITOR

The San Bernardino National Forest (SBNF) is postponing the broadcast burn in Pine Cove, just north of Idyllwild, due to Sunday’s storm. The agency originally intended to begin the project this week.

The 189-acre project aims to maintain the Pine Cove Fuel Break, according to the agency’s press release.

“Broadcast burns are controlled applications of fire to fuels, under specified environmental conditions that allow fire to be confined to a predetermined area, and produces the fire behavior and fire characteristics required to attain planned fire treatment and resource management objectives,” according to the agency’s website.

SBNF has been quite busy since the winter season began, having completed over 1,000 acres of fuel reduction in the San Bernardino National Forest.

For updates on prescribed burns, visit <https://twitter.com/SanBernardinoNF> or <https://www.fs.usda.gov/alerts/sbnf/alerts-notice>.

Spotlight on Leadership series returns

By THE ASSOCIATES OF THE IDYLLWILD ARTS FOUNDATION
CONTRIBUTED

After a winter hiatus, the Associates of the Idyllwild Arts Foundation are announcing the return of the Spotlight on Leadership series. The Spotlight series allows the Associates and members of the community to meet the leaders of the Idyllwild Arts Academy and Summer Program.

This monthly series is in the Fireside Room in the Nelson Dining Hall on the Idyllwild Arts Academy campus. The series begins at 10 a.m. on the second Monday of the month. There is never a charge for this series and all members, guests and community members are invited to learn more about the leadership and students of Idyllwild Arts Academy.

Upcoming Spotlight speakers

- Monday, March 9: Shelly Short, film and digital media chair, will present “A Team Approach to Creating a Culture of Innovation.”
- Monday, April 13: Rose Colella, manager of special events for the president’s office, will present “Jazz in the Pines 2020.”
- Monday, May 11: Justin Barrett, vice president of student operations, will present “Student Life at Idyllwild Arts.”

For additional information, please contact Michael Slocum at associatespres@idyllwildarts.org.

Shelly Short will be the first speaker in the Spotlight on Leadership series after a winter hiatus.

comments,” according to the July 29, 2016 story in The Alpenhorn News.

The Town Crier contacted Cerri for comment about the lawsuit and to ask why Havener was released from his contract but was transferred to her assistant to leave a voicemail. The newspaper did not hear back by deadline. According to court documents, the lawsuit was eventually dismissed.

The newspaper also contacted the Mountain News, which reported that Cerri was taking over the general manager position to ask if they knew why Havener had been released from LACSD. Staff at that newspaper was unable to find the answer.

IWD’s Acting General Manager Mitch Freeman pushed for the district to find a general manager after expressing that he did not have an interest in taking the general manager position permanently.

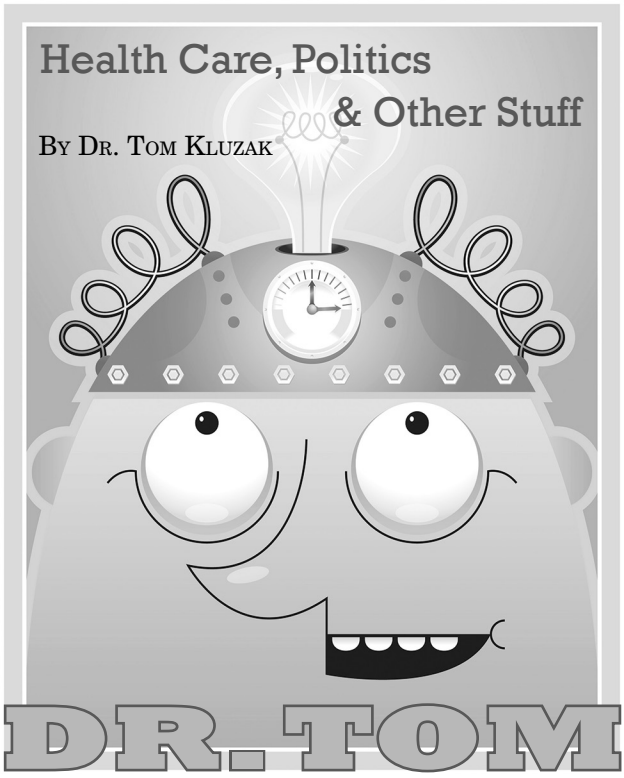

“I feel more comfortable in my old job [field supervisor],” Freeman said. “I don’t have that level of administrative experience. There is a special skill set that general managers require. I do not want to bring any liability to the district.”

Freeman became acting general manager after Darren Milner abruptly resigned Nov. 17, a Sunday evening, citing “experiencing an unhealthy culture and difficult work environment at the district due to poor communication,” as one of his reasons. Milner served as general manager for one month. He was hired after the district’s board voted to terminate Creighton, Milner’s predecessor.

Staff

Staff at IWD is slimmer these days. Amy Miller-Hawley, office assistant, is no longer with the district as of Feb. 19 and Jeannine Copelin, administrative assistant, is temporarily out of the office. When asked about the staffing immediately following the Feb. 26 meeting as a follow up to an email sent by the newspaper earlier that day, Freeman responded that he was waiting for legal to get back to him before he could respond.

When Freeman responded by email a couple of days later, he wrote: “Current office staff is as follows: Acting General Manager is Mitch Freeman. Hosny Shouman is presently Chief Financial Officer. An administrative assistant is presently temporarily out of the office and temporary part-time help is assisting in her absence.” The district will not comment on Miller-Hawley. The newspaper requested her resignation letter, but the district stated in a response to a public records request that it is not in possession of one.

Paying for health care reform

With all of the misinformation about health care financing spreading throughout social media and the news media, I thought it would be a good time to devote a column to the topic. While I was contemplating this, an article was published in The Lancet.

For those of you who aren't familiar with The Lancet, it is the world's foremost medical journal. Academic physicians pine their whole lives away hoping to publish an article. So, the three scientists were undoubtedly thrilled to publish "Improving the prognosis of health care in the USA" in the journal under the heading of Health Policy.

Through a careful financial analysis, they conclude that enactment of the Medicare for All Act would lead to a savings of 13% and, more importantly, would save 68,000 lives per year.

Here is a recap.

The authors begin by pointing out the fact that 37 million Americans do not have health care insurance and 41 million more have inadequate access to care, in spite of the fact that we pay a higher percentage of our Gross Domestic Product for healthcare than any other country.

Through a careful financial analysis, they conclude that the enactment of the Medicare for All Act would lead to a savings of 13% and, more importantly, would save 68,000 lives per year. Most of the article is devoted to the budgetary projections that lead to this conclusion.

By enacting Medicare for All (not to be confused with Medicare for All Who Want It, but actually the same as Improved Medicare for All with the elimination of deductibles and copays and the addition of dental care and other services), reimbursement rates for hospitals would decrease by 5.5%. They project reduced payments to physicians of 7.4%.

This may sound unacceptable to some, and I hope to address some of these issues in future columns. However, remember that the cost of billing to hospitals and physicians — and the hassle associated with billing hundreds of insurance companies — all disappear with a single-payer system.

Other savings would come from negotiating lower prices for drugs, a practice now prohibited for Medicare. Improved fraud detection would save 4%.

Interestingly, everyone knows about Medicare fraud, which is now thought to be a serious problem. But do you know about fraudulent billing of private health care insurance? No, because the insurance companies don't track that, or if they do, they do not release the numbers. It is easier for them to just pay.

Remember, if their costs go up, everybody benefits except the patient. So, there is reason to believe that a single-payer system would result in better fraud detection.

Think of the savings that would result from the fact that everyone will be covered. No more right offs for uninsured patients. Everyone will pay and no one will be excluded.

Finally, how will this be financed? Through taxes, estimated by the authors to be composed of a 10% payroll tax and a 5% income tax. This is much less than most people pay for insurance and it frees employers from being insurance agents.

Because of space limitations, this is only a synopsis. Remember, Medicare for All could save thousands of lives and decrease costs. It is worth thinking about!

- The deadline is 10 a.m. Monday.

I got to discover how utterly helpless I still am in an area of adulthood this weekend. At 32 years old, I am still lacking in the ability to get around using public transportation.

I realized the harsh truth that if I ever move to a large metropolitan area I will have to live, work and play within a one-mile radius. Well, I say one mile but that's a long walk if I'm carrying anything — so, strike that — I will have to keep it within a city block.

Our son turned six on Sunday and all he wanted to do was go to the tide pools and ride a train. I assumed that I could make this birthday wish easily happen, but the trouble began when I tried to book the tickets for the train online. I like to think I am fairly intelligent, but the schedule on the site reduced me to the equivalent of the cartoon kid in the dunce cap. I just couldn't get it.

It doesn't matter, I thought. Surely, we can just get there and "wing it." Dear friends, do not ever participate in anything involving public transportation with a "wing it" attitude.

It just doesn't work and you will end up at a kiosk buying tickets to the wrong train at the wrong time. As we confidently handed our tickets to the employee, he took one look and sternly said, "These don't work for this train. These are for the Coaster. This isn't the Coaster."

Cool man, what is a Coaster and why is the self-check kiosk so confusing?

Our boys were crushed. They were certain of two things: A train ride was not in their future and "The Polar Express" guy isn't as friendly in real life.

But this mama doesn't just quit — I would make this right for the little boy that just wanted to see what the choo choo could do. We started walking around the station looking for answers and suddenly things started looking up.

We spotted a real live person at a real live ticket counter! Hooray! Surely, she will be the saving grace of this day! And she was, for an additional $50 and 75 minutes of waiting for the right train.

Both boys lit up like the Fourth of July as we boarded the train and found our seats — everything was magical and exciting! For about 15 minutes, it was the coolest thing they have ever done. And then, "Mom, how long does this take?"

Rep. Ruiz calls out Trump's EPA budget cuts

Cuts would hurt enforcement and monitoring of air and water quality

BY THE OFFICE OF REP. RAUL RUIZ, M.D. CONTRIBUTED

On Feb. 27, Rep. Raul Ruiz, M.D., CA-36, fought against budget cuts for critical programs that address environmental injustices, including airborne hazards, in the Eastern Coachella Valley. In a hearing with the Energy and Commerce Subcommittee on the Environment and Climate Change, Ruiz pushed back against Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Administrator Andrew Wheeler regarding the Trump administration's proposed budget for the EPA, which calls for deep cuts to programs that monitor air and water quality.

"Under this budget, the chances of my constituents drinking arsenic-laden water and breathing hazardous air increases drastically. This is why I'm so disappointed in this administration's budget." — Rep. Raul Ruiz, M.D.

After Ruiz highlighted drastic proposed cuts to tribal environmental programs, Wheeler said he would work with Ruiz to support tribal nations seeking to build capacity for their environmental and air quality programs.

"Under this budget, the chances of my constituents drinking arsenic-laden water and breathing hazardous air increases drastically," Ruiz said. "This is why I'm so disappointed in this administration's budget."

In closing, Ruiz asked, "Will you commit to working to honor the government's trust responsibility and ensure that tribes are fully supported in their efforts to establish and grow tribal environmental programs with me?"

"Yes, I'd be happy to work with you on that," Wheeler replied.

Background

The Trump administration's proposed cuts would bring the EPA to its lowest funding level in 40 years. Specifically, the White House budget proposed cutting:

- $38 million from the water system supervision program, which is a 40% funding reduction from last year.
- $15 million from civil and criminal enforcement division for environmental programs such as clean water and clean air.
- $6 million from compliance monitoring programs.
- $23 million from EPA's enforcement of waste and recycling regulations.

The administration also requested a more than 30% reduction in funding for the Tribal General Assistance Program and the Tribal Air Quality program. Both programs assist tribes in California's 36th congressional district with monitoring and improving air quality.

EPA air and water quality programs played an essential role in addressing environmental injustices the East Valley faced in 2019, including the arsenic-contaminated water in the Oasis Mobile Home Park and mulch fires in Thermal.

Some safety tips from Cal Fire:

1. Don't mow or trim dry grass on windy days.
2. Never pull your vehicle over in dry grass.
3. Target shoot only in approved areas, use lead ammunition only, and never shoot at metal objects.
4. Check and obey burn bans.
5. Ensure campfires are allowed, and if so, be sure to extinguish them completely.
6. Report any suspicious activities to prevent arson.
7. If you see something — say something.

Equifax data breach settlement:

What you should know

In September of 2017, Equifax announced a data breach that exposed the personal information of 147 million people. Under a settlement filed today, Equifax agreed to spend up to $425 million to help people affected by the data breach. If you were affected by the Equifax breach, you can't file a claim just yet. That's coming. But you can sign up for FTC email alerts about the settlement at ftc.gov/Equifax. Not sure that you were affected? The breach claims site will have a tool to let you check. HUSD board votes to close ASPIRE

Two of the seven voted against the closure

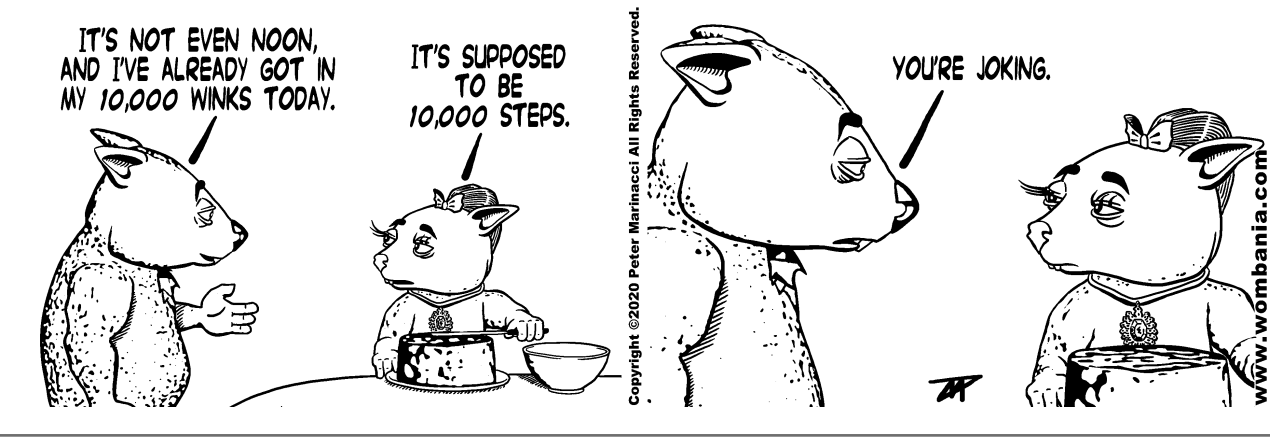

BY MELISSA DIAZ HERNANDEZ EDITOR

In a 5-2 vote, the Hemet Unified School District (HUSD) board recently decided to close ASPIRE Community Day School, one of the district’s alternative schools, at the end of this school year. The two board members who voted to keep ASPIRE open were Gene Hikel and Horacio Valenzuela.

ASPIRE is located on San Jacinto Street between Stetson and Johnston avenues in Hemet and is one of many community day schools in the state that serves to educate students that have been expelled from schools or have had attendance or behavior issues.

A segment from the principal’s message on the school’s website reads: “We teach our students how to prepare

KID TALK

Last week, the Town Crier asked some kinders at Idyllwild School if they think adults are smarter than kids.

By Jenny Kirchner

Jase Lehr Response: “No, because we’re younger and we are in school.”

Lily Davila Response: “Yes, because they know everything.”

Bliss Ortiz Response: “Yes, because they tell you what you can and what you can’t do.”

Ruben Chavez Response: “Yes, because they’re smarter than everybody.”

HUSD expands career exploration

BY HEMET UNIFIED SCHOOL DISTRICT CONTRIBUTED

Hemet Unified School District (HUSD) was awarded more than half a million dollars from K12 Strong Workforce to expand its career explorations classes for middle school students, the district announced March 2.

The program is currently at Rancho Viejo Middle School and Dartmouth Middle School, and beginning in the 2020/21 school year, it will be at Diamond Valley Middle School and Acacia Middle School.

“Nereyda Gonzalez, director of secondary education, is looking for a way to provide these offerings to our K8s,” wrote Alexandra Sponheim, HUSD public information officer in an email when asked if the program would be expanding to Idyllwild School. “She is currently looking for ways to make this happen.”

Over the last few years, HUSD has been working diligently to provide an increase in the number of offerings for its career-focused classes. At the high school level, the district offers Career Technical Education (CTE) pathways.

CTE pathways allow students to take a class that provides in-depth knowledge and hands-on experience in a particular career field. At the beginning of a CTE pathway, students learn about the field and its many intricacies. Next, students are able to utilize what they have learned and work on hands-on activities to further their comprehension. Finally, students are partnered with a local business in the field where they intern, gaining real-world experience in the industry.

This school year, HUSD expanded its career focus by adding career exploration labs to Rancho Viejo and Dartmouth. Career explorations allow students to spend three-week modules learning about various career fields and completing hands-on projects based on their learnings of each field. At the end of each module, students are able to research the type of schooling needed for that career and they can begin to plan for life after high school.

“It’s better than other classes because you can find out what you want to do and if you actually like what you are working on you can see what colleges there are for you to go to,” said Jasmin Cadena, career explorations student.

The Secondary Education Department and College and Career Department identified that the expansion of CTE in middle school would be highly beneficial to the students. By expanding to middle school, students are now thinking about their future and different career paths they would like to pursue. They are then able to enter into high school with a better idea of what classes they should add to their schedule.

A lot of thought and work went into expanding CTE in HUSD. Staff wanted to make sure they were adding pathways that met the needs of local workforce demands and provide living wages.

In addition, they wanted to make sure that pathways were aligned from middle school through the community college level. This means that students will be able to attend one of the local community colleges and pursue a certificate in the career field they are interested in and be a worthy candidate for businesses looking to hire.

HUSD is working to ensure students are prepared for life after their K-12 education. Whether a student is focused on furthering their education or entering immediately into the workforce, the district wants them to have the skills necessary to be successful and earn a living wage.

for life’s challenges, teach them to believe in themselves, to never quit, and to never give up hope on their dreams ... At ASPIRE Community Day School, success will not be given to you ... YOU will have to earn it through hard work and dedication! Bring us your will to succeed, your determination to NEVER QUIT and we will get you there! The journey will not be easy, but the experience will be well worth it!” The school’s principal is Andrew Silva.

“Yes, the board voted to close ASPIRE at the end of the school year,” Alexandra Sponheim, public information officer with HUSD, wrote in an email. “These decisions are never easy and come after a lot of analysis, discussion and reflection. The district recognizes that ASPIRE is seen as a second chance for students and we know that we have students that flourish in this environment.

“However, as a district, we have an obligation to continually evaluate the system holistically and take action to allocate resources in a manner that best serves our student body and the communities that HUSD serves. In 2015, ASPIRE was a program that was created and included in the district's Local Control Accountability Plan (LCAP) at the onset of the State's new funding and accountability model. Every program and resource funded through the LCAP is monitored for its effectiveness as mandated by the state. Through this ongoing monitoring and evaluation, the decision was made to close ASPIRE and resources currently allocated to this program will be redistributed to meet the diverse needs of HUSD's students.

"Although ASPIRE will close at the end of the current school year, the district is committed to continuing to educate and support all students, including those that have been served most recently at ASPIRE. The goal of ASPIRE and the district is to provide students with the skills that are necessary to be successful in school and post-graduation," concluded Sponheim.

"It's never an easy decision to close a school because of the impact it has on students, teachers, and staff throughout the whole district," wrote Board Member Vic Scavarda, who represents the Idyllwild area, in an email. "For my part, it took a lot of thought and reflection because I wanted to be sure in my mind that the closure would be best for all the kids in the district. We opened ASPIRE in 2015, and have celebrated the success stories over the years. Undeniably, there have been some dramatic results. However, considering the information we get from the state comparing ASPIRE to other similar schools throughout California, it became evident to me that we need to try something different in order to be more effective. Regrettably, I came to the conclusion that the time had come to take a different path."

"The students, parents and teachers that spoke to our board assisted in my decision to vote in favor of not closing ASPIRE School," wrote Valenzuela in an email. Both Hikel and Valenzuela were contacted for comment.

What will happen with the students attending ASPIRE?

"Administration and ASPIRE staff are working with current ASPIRE students to meet their re-entry requirements so they can be transferred back to their home school," wrote Sponheim. "If students do not meet their re-entry requirements students will be able to attend Riverside County Office of Education's Community Day School Betty Gibbel or their family can enroll them in a private or charter school ... They would no longer be considered an HUSD student. However, once the student meets the re-entry requirements, they can be re-enrolled in HUSD."

want to spread the illness.

Deputy mayors Mikey and Mitzy have also been separated from the canine mayor while at home to make sure they didn't catch kennel cough. So far, they have stayed healthy.

While it's been a little over two weeks since the initial scare, Mueller kept Mayor Max home longer than the average recovery time. His cough had previously subsided but reappeared last week.

Steps for earthquake safety

The Earthquake Country Alliance has prepared seven steps for people to take before, during and after an earthquake.

Before:
Step 1: Secure your space by identifying hazards and securing movable items.

Step 2: Plan to be safe by creating a disaster plan and deciding how you will communicate in an emergency.

Step 3: Organize disaster supplies in convenient locations.

Step 4: Minimize financial hardship by organizing important documents, strengthening your property and considering insurance.

During:
Step 5: Drop, cover and hold on when the earth shakes.

Step 6: Improve safety after earthquakes by evacuating if necessary, helping the injured and preventing further injuries

After antibiotics and rest, Max has made a full recovery.

"A week was the longest time frame we heard from vets and other boarding facilities to keep him quarantined," Mueller said. "While Max has stopped coughing, we wanted to play it safe and wait until Wednesday to bring him back into town."

While the deputy mayors have been out greeting the public, everyone wants to see the mayor. Max, according to Mueller, has missed meeting and greeting in town and will be back in front of Wooley's at 4 p.m. on March 4.

After:
Step 7: Restore daily life by reconnecting with others, repairing damage and rebuilding community.

Lake Hemet substation to reopen in summer

By RIVERSIDE COUNTY SHERIFF’S DEPARTMENT
CONTRIBUTED

Sheriff Chad Bianco is pleased to announce the future planned reopening and restaffing of the Lake Hemet/Mountain Substation located in the San Jacinto Mountains. This substation serves several communities including Idyllwild, Anza, Pine Cove and Mountain Center.

Deputies have not been specifically assigned to the Lake Hemet/Mountain Substation for several years. This closure resulted in delayed response times for emergency situations, routine calls for service and law enforcement back-up requests since deputies had to respond from the Hemet Station located in Valle Vista. Adverse mountain terrain, severe weather conditions and narrow mountain roads also delayed deputies from responding from the valley in a timely and effective manner.

Bianco has made it a priority to focus on community-oriented policing strategies to improve the quality of life concerns for all residents. Beginning this summer, deputies and a community services officer will be assigned to the Lake Hemet/Mountain Substation allowing deputies to work hand-in-hand with the community. The community services officer will be assigned to the substation to take reports and answer questions to further our goal of engaging the community.

“Since my election, over the past year the department has been able to aggressively recruit, hire and train hundreds of deputy sheriffs and correctional deputies,” said Bianco. “This increase of needed personnel is the first step in finally allowing us to better serve all our unincorporated communities throughout the county. This particular substation reopening allows the deputies to be deployed directly in those mountain communities to respond quicker to calls for service and quality-of-life issues, and for those communities to know their assigned deputies.”

Bianco is grateful for Supervisor Chuck Washington’s continued support for increasing deputy staffing levels in our mountain communities.

“Our mountain communities deserve the kind of attention and service that Sheriff Bianco is committed to providing, and I’m so appreciative that he’s taking this important step,” said Washington, whose district includes the mountain areas. “I want the residents of those unincorporated communities to know that the sheriff and I take their safety and quality of life seriously and we are pleased to be able to reopen and restaff this valuable station.”

Sheriff’s Captain Leonard Purvis will be guest speaker at the Pine Cove Property Owners Association meeting this Saturday, March 7th.

Capt. Purvis will discuss Crime Issues/Trends in mountain communities and take questions. All are welcome.

PCPOA meets the first Saturday of each month, upstairs at Fire Station 23 in Pine Cove.

Why should businesses advertise in the Town Crier?

By JACK CLARK
CO-PUBLISHER AND GENERAL COUNSEL

First, the Town Crier is membership supported. More than 750 avid members are receiving the Town Crier in their mailboxes weekly, in addition to the hundreds of readers who purchase their papers weekly at locations around the Hill.

All these readers are focused on Idyllwild, so your Town Crier ads are focused on them, whether your business is on the Hill or in one of the Hill's supporting communities of Banning-Beaumont, Hemet, Temecula or the Coachella Valley.

Second, your ad in a daily newspaper gets tossed out the next day. However, Town Crier readers keep their newspapers and read them for a whole week until the next paper comes out. So, for the price of one ad in the Town Crier, readers see your advertising for an entire week.

Third, whether your business is on or off the Hill, your Town Crier ads help to keep a real newspaper serving our Hill community and our readers appreciate that. We openly ask them to patronize our advertisers so they will keep advertising in support of the Town Crier.

Join us, please, for one of our weekly, open-to-the-public news meetings where we discuss potential stories for upcoming papers. We meet at the Idyllwild Library at 8:30 a.m. on Wednesday mornings, unless Monday is a Town Crier work holiday then we meet there Thursday at the same time.

Our sincere thanks to all our members, readers and advertisers for their support and congratulations to you all for keeping a real newspaper serving our Hill community.

Soap shop open in Mile High Plaza

By JENNY KIRCHNER
REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

A new shop, Crzy K's Uneek Natural Soap Shop, came to town Sept. 1, 2019. Its owner, Kathy Gonzalez, creates an assortment of products, soaps being the main one.

It takes about six weeks to make a batch of soap, according to Gonzalez, which depending on the size of the batch, creates about 100 bars.

Ingredients include palm oil, olive oil, coconut oil, sunflower oil and shea butter. The only thing that isn't natural is the lye.

Gonzalez spoke with the Town Crier over the weekend about the purpose of creating her products.

"We want people to start using healthy products on their skin and I like to provide them with those products," said Gonzalez, who lives in San Jacinto and commutes to Idyllwild every weekend. Growing up in the Coachella Valley and surrounding communities, she has been coming to Idyllwild since she was five years old.

Enjoying the community for all these years, Gonzalez is grateful to be able to bring her business to the town.

"There weren't that many stores or houses when I was small," said Gonzalez. "There probably wasn't more than 300 people back then. It's been interesting to see the community grow."

Other products that

Gonzalez makes and carries are body butters, natural deodorants, aromatherapy oils, essential oils, pain relief products, face creams, hand creams, beard oils, beard soap and CBD oils.

"I'm hoping we're going to do good here for a couple of years," said Gonzalez. "We are very content with what we have and it's a lot of fun doing it. We hope to expand, eventually."

Crzy K's Uneek Natural Soap is open from 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Friday through Sunday at 54385 N. Circle Dr., unit 106.

After-school care through ICC

Idyllwild Community Center (ICC) is offering affordable afternoon programs Monday through Friday for kids ages 4 to 12 years old. The program normally takes place at Town Hall, but has been temporarily relocated to the Village Centre Plaza at 54245 N. Circle Dr. in unit C7. Session 1 is from noon-3 p.m. and session 2 is from 3-5:30 p.m. Kids can attend either or both sessions. Drop-off and pick-up times are flexible. Transportation from Idyllwild School to the Village Centre is included. Once the renovation of Town Hall is complete, the program will move back to that location. The programs offer fun and educational activities, including access to ABC-mouse and Reading IQ. ICC is a certified Inspire vendor.

Idyllwild Library warming center

The warming center is available whenever the weather is below freezing or it is rainy/snowy. Warming center hours are Mondays and Wednesdays from 10 a.m.-6 p.m., Tuesdays from noon-8 p.m., Thursdays and Fridays from noon-5 p.m., Saturdays from 10a.m.-4p.m. The warming center is closed on Sundays. The Idyllwild Library is located at 54401 Village Center Dr.

Confidential teen crisis line

A California Youth Crisis Line is available toll-free 24/7 to assist youth, teens and their families in crisis or in a time of need. Calls are confidential and trained staff can provide appropriate referrals to assist with issues such as family problems, relationship violence, runaway, homelessness, depression, teen pregnancy, substance abuse, suicide and more. The crisis line is 1-800-843-5200.

The Idyllwild Community Garden & Education Center was established to offer the young people of Idyllwild opportunities to gain horticultural skills that can be applied to professional careers.

Idyllwild Community Garden launches new programs

By IDYLLWILD COMMUNITY GARDEN & EDUCATION CENTER
CONTRIBUTED

A comprehensive new schedule of programs and classes for 2020 has been announced by the Idyllwild Community Garden & Education Center (ICG), formerly known as the Idyllwild Demonstration Garden, a 501c3 nonprofit project of Young Idyllwild Inc.

Thanks to the support of a number of Idyllwild volunteers under the direction of educator and community garden development expert Bob Greenamy and landscape designer April Palmer, the garden infrastructure is now fully realized with raised vegetable beds, an orchard of fruit trees, a greenhouse, compost bin, irrigation system and storage shed.

Last year, a number of programs were conducted for individuals and families interested in learning how to grow edible gardens successfully in our challenging mountain environment.

Idyllwild Community Garden & Education Center has expanded the number of free garden classes (donations are welcome to cover costs) plus a series of classes beginning with a seven-class family gardening program.

ICG created an 8-week course for the local Girl Scout troop #533 and a weekly class for youngsters ages 4 to 7 for Town Hall's afterschool program.

Julia Goldfarb Sousa was brought on board as an intern to help develop and oversee the garden programs, joining other key volunteers Julie Koppel, Julie Roy and Reba Coulter. The creation of Young Idyllwild and its youth activities came about through the vision and efforts of Kathy Wilson.

Helen Hixon, a former educator and owner of Mountain Pottery, has been another essential contributor to the development of the garden. This past year, she worked with Susan Righetti, library associate at the Idyllwild Library, to bring the children to the garden for story time where they read books about fall plants and then used fallen leaves to make pictures.

For 2020, ICG has expanded the number of free garden classes (donations are welcome to cover costs)

Piano concert review

By Art Connor
Contributed

All sorts of things were being preprocessed in anticipation of Feb. 18 scheduled “PianoFest” performances, both on the ground and in the skies.

When considered as a whole — the dry and cold air present that evening, plus the morning’s occultation of Mars by the Moon (and other portentous events) — the situation presented itself as ominous, given Idyllwild’s preoccupation with fire and water (not to mention cold), and thus could have accounted for the sparseness of the attending audience.

Nevertheless, the devotees of the scheduled keyboard practitioners all crowded, for the most part, on the left-hand side of Lowman Hall, were treated to a display worthy of a new constellation, courtesy of the collective aegis of faculty members Jeanette Louise Yaryan and Douglas Ashcraft.

It was perhaps fortuitous that the centripetal piece on the program was the opening movement of Gustav Holst’s “The Planets” in the composer’s two-piano scoring (prior to the orchestral version). However, the lead-in selections, as well as what followed, were more than an adequate panorama of keyboard sonorities, somewhat enhanced by the added resonance that a less-than-full hall provided.

Thus, Xuerong Sharon Wang’s essaying of J. S. Bach’s “Toccatina in E Minor” and Xinyi Selena Sun’s playing of the opening movement of Mozart’s “Sonata in D, K. 311” both proved the performers’ technical abilities as well as a standard of programming introductions.

tion and performance economy, as were the two Beethoven sonata movements cleanly played by Tong Daisy Su and Michael Stroud from the F-Sharp and the G-Major sonatas, Opus 78 and 49, respectively.

A shift in performance quality was evidenced in the next two repertory excerpts: Chopin’s “A Major (Military) Polonaise” had the requisite martial character (perhaps as an unintentional preview of the Holst) and Debussy’s “Homage a Rameau” took to task the French Baroque master with impressionistic whole-tone moistening of the environment and its assembled auditors. The performers — Yichen Jane Wang and Michael Dunaevsky, respectively — took their parts quite seriously and were rewarded in those efforts.

The aforementioned “Mars” movement from “The Planets” was then presented. Both Myungchan Andrew Kim and Saveliy Sotnikov’s rendition brought forth the starkness of the piece, from the drumming 5/4-time rhythm to the clarion calls of the upper voices, even more so than the orchestral arrangement.

The following “Ballade in A-Flat, Opus 47” of Chopin (perhaps representing the Moon in the constellation’s traversal) proved a blessed relief in Feinila Kaysaier’s blissful rendition. Proceeding in sequence, the concert finished on two high notes, with Messrs. Kim and Sotnikov providing more than perfunctory performances of Beethoven’s early sonata movement (A Major, Op.2 No.2) and Bartók’s 5-part “Romanian Folk Dances,” respectively. Polite applause was provided and a general satisfactory overview of the evening — as well as future prospects — was effected by all present.

Medicare does not give out DNA kits

The FTC is getting reports that callers claiming to be from Medicare are asking people for their Medicare numbers, Social Security numbers, and other personal information in exchange for DNA testing kits.

The callers might say the test is a free way to get early diagnoses for diseases like cancer, or just that it’s a free test, so why not take it? But the truth is, Medicare does not market DNA testing kits to the general public. This is yet another government imposter scam.

At right and above right: Idyllwild Community Center’s Co-Ed Youth Basketball league was on the court Friday night. The Bulls (red) and the Lakers (purple), as well as the Warriors (yellow) and the Clippers (blue), competed at Idyllwild School. PHOTOS BY JENNY KIRCHNER

HOROSCOPES

March 2020 — Week 1

March 21 – April 19
Change is still dominant for Rams and Ewes, both in the workplace and their private lives. This is also a good time to look at a possible relocation if that has been one of your goals.

April 20 – May 20
Doing things for others is what you do well. But don't forget that Bovines thrive on the arts, so make some time for yourself to indulge your passion for music and artistic expressions.

May 21 – June 21
While the Romantic Twin considers where to go for his or her upcoming vacation, the Practical Twin will start making travel plans now to take advantage of some great bargains.

June 22 – July 22
Your sensitive nature helps you deal with a difficult emotional situation. Be patient and continue to show your sincere support wherever (and for whomever) it is needed.

July 23 – August 22
You're making progress as you move through some unfamiliar territory. And while there might be a misstep or two along the way, overall you're heading in the right direction. Good luck.

August 23 – September 22
Some good news arrives -- and just in time to remind you that you're making progress. Perhaps things aren't moving as quickly as you'd prefer, but they're moving nevertheless.

September 23 – October 22
This is a good week to step back and assess the facts that have recently emerged to see where they can be used to your advantage. Also, don't hesitate to make changes where necessary.

October 23 – November 21
You should begin to experience some support from those who now agree with your point of view. This should help counter the remaining objections from die-hard skeptics.

November 22 – December 21
Don't let your aim be deflected by trivial matters as you try to resolve a confusing situation. Take time to find and thoroughly assess the facts before making any decision.

December 22 – January 19
The possibility of moving to another location has come up. But before you dismiss it as unworkable, it's worth checking out just in case it does have some merit after all.

January 20 – February 18
New relationships -- personal or work-related -- show mixed signals. Best to assume nothing. Let things play themselves out until you have something substantive to work with.

February 19 – March 20
Your ability to make needed changes without causing too much, if any, negative ripple effect comes in handy when dealing with a sensitive matter either on the job or in the family.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS

California Business and Professions Code 7071.13 reads: "Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor."

This is a contractor's responsibility, not a newspaper's, and we are not responsible for it. However, as a courtesy, we will remove references to a bond in contractors' advertising, if we notice it.

70 years ago - 1950
Ernie Maxwell and Ralph Accardi, conducting the snow survey, got lost near Hidden Lake. But Maxwell declared, "Each year, we get a little less lost."

65 years ago - 1955
Under a franchise granted to W.E. Huffman, Star Route mail carrier between Hemet and Idyllwild, passengers were to be carried via mail truck. One-way fare was $1.

60 years ago - 1960
An experiment by the U.S. Forest Service to attack beetle-infested pines by spraying insecticide from a helicopter was conducted at Chimney Flat.

55 years ago - 1965
The County Board of Supervisors upheld the "No Shooting" ordinance. It became illegal to discharge a firearm within 300 yards of a public road, highway or trail or within 1 mile of city limits.

50 years ago - 1970
More than 125 Idyllwild residents joined in the World Day of Prayer on March 6. An all-day prayer vigil was held at the Community Church. Queen of Angels Catholic Church held a special mass. A program and potluck was held at Town Hall.

45 years ago - 1975
It was announced that the Pacific Crest Trail, which was two-thirds built, would pass through the San Jacinto and Santa Rosa mountains. The trail, which would be the nation's longest, was scheduled for completion in 1980.

40 years ago - 1980
It was raining again to the dismay of Leonard Hale, general manager of the Lake Hemet Municipal Water District. Recent storms had badly eroded the granite below the auxiliary dam at Lake Hemet, threatening to cause a loss of an estimated 2.6 billion gallons of water.

35 years ago - 1985
A public hearing was held by the Riverside County Planning Department on a request to expand the Eleanor Park fast-food facility into a family-type restaurant. The applicant, Bill Hunt of Idyllwild, was the operator of the Woodpecker's Hut Git-N-Go Kitchen on the site.

30 years ago - 1990
Five hundred students from Idyllwild Elementary School planted 1,500 trees on the grounds of the Living Free Animal Sanctuary.

25 years ago - 1995
A team of Idyllwild School students were the first-place winners in The Science Olympiads regional contests. It was the first time Idyllwild School students had participated in the event, which was attended by more than 200 students representing 15 participating schools.

20 years ago - 2000
The Women's Guild of the Idyllwild Community Presbyterian Church gave a tribute to Grace Moore, who had recently retired after 15 years of running the church's Thrift Shop. Funny thing though, Grace seems to have forgotten that and can still be found running around the Thrift Shop.

15 years ago - 2005
Idyllwild's favorite poet, Stefi Chase, died at the age of 91. She had owned Idyllwild's first bookstore, The Bookend. Her poetry was published by Strawberry Valley Press, then a Town Crier publishing company, and by Idyllwild's Stonehill Books.

10 years ago - 2010
Idyllwild resident actor Conor O'Farrell was featured in the 10-part miniseries, "The Pacific," which aired on HBO.

5 years ago - 2015
Caltrans was to begin construction on April 15 of a $2.5-million project to replace a 1930s-era bridge over Hurkey Creek on Highway 74 in Garner Valley.

1 year ago - 2019
Nearly three weeks after heavy rains and snow that caused road closures, residents and businesses were struggling to regain footing in the aftermath.

Garden

plus a series of classes beginning with a seven-class family gardening program taught by noted permaculture expert Peter Kindfield for a fee of $25 per family. This series will include creating a worm composting bin, bean sprouting, transplanting seedlings and making teepee beam climbing supports. Space is limited, so RSVP.

For further information and a complete schedule of classes for April and to sign up on the mailing list, go to www.idyllwildgarden.org. You can also follow ICG activities on Facebook.

The Idyllwild Community Garden & Education Center was established to offer the young people of Idyllwild opportunities to gain horticultural skills that can be applied to professional careers. The garden site was donated by local realtor Dora Dillman. It is located on the corner of North Circle Drive and Alderwood Street.

★ STUDENTS OF THE WEEK ★

Sixth grader Angie Bahena and seventh grader Lacy Greene have been chosen as Idyllwild School's students of the week by Megan Gaudreault, middle school instructional aide, for always being friendly, respectful and fun to work with every day. The Lil Critters Child Care and its families toured the Idyllwild Fire Protection District Feb. 21. The youngsters learned about fire safety and participated in plenty of activities like learning how to use a fire hose. The group gathered in front of the fire truck for a photo. PHOTO BY BOB LEWIS

CREATURE CORNER

By JANICE MURASKO

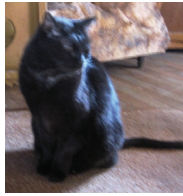

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," ARF cats discussed fosters and marketing their population.

Sparky: So what the heck was that?

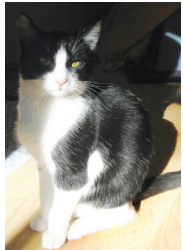

Bear: What was what?

Sparky: There were puppies here, then there weren't! Bear: Oh yeah, the German shepherd puppies! ARF took them in and they were adopted immediately.

Sparky: Do puppies usually go that fast?

Bear

Pepper

Sadie: Puppies and kittens do not last long around here. The mainstays are the adult cats.

Whiskers: I guess those cute little baby faces really get to people.

Sadie: But they need to realize that the puppy or kitten behavior comes right along with the cute face.

Pepper: But those cute faces, baby or not, will work to win the Pets of the Year contest.

Sadie: Oh yeah, that contest ends this Friday at 9 p.m.

Whiskers: So it is a dollar per vote, correct?

Pepper: And every single penny goes right back into our community to pay for necessary veterinary care.

Zeus: That's great. So the ARF people aren't raising money for ARF's needs, right?

Pepper: Nope! All the funds raised are given back to families who really need assistance.

Zeus: So if someone adopted me and then couldn't afford, let's say my dental, ARF would use these funds to help?

Sparky: That is right. ARF is doing this to help the pets of our mountain communities.

Whiskers: That's good to know.

Sparky: Then I guess it is safe to say there are very few reasons for not adopting one of us beautiful adult cats.

Bear: No kidding. Because if an unaffordable veterinary expense arises, ARF is here to help.

Sparky: If humans understand this, they might flock to us!

Zeus: And we would find our forever families!

Whiskers: Wouldn't that be wonderful?

Sparky: That it would.

Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "Days of Our Nine Lives" each week. Please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Highway 243 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturdays and from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on Sundays, or by appointment Monday-Friday by calling 951-659-1122.

So You Think You Know the Hill?

By JACK CLARK
CONTEST JUDGE

Oops! Looks like last week's photo was too hard. No entries that I know of. So, I'm backing up the camera this week to show you quite a bit more of the surroundings of that unique analogue wall clock in last week's photo.

So, with the two photos together, take another look around our Hill to see if you can spot it this time.

And please thank Red Kettle restaurant and Higher Grounds Coffee House for their continuing sponsorship of this column.

One entry per household. Contest deadline: Monday noon. Not a race — correct entries go into a hat for a drawing. Full contest rules and guidelines available at the Town Crier office. Email entries to jack@towncrier.com.
