Idyllwild-Pine Cove has two confirmed COVID-19 cases

By Melissa Diaz Hernandez

The Idyllwild-Pine Cove area had one confirmed COVID-19 case as of the 1 p.m. April 3 Riverside University Health System-Public Health website update. On April 6, that number increased to two.

The county also held a press conference on April 3 to let people know the four things that need to happen to flatten the curve and prevent or significantly decrease the expected surge: test, cover your face with a bandanna or scarf when you leave your house, the closure of all non-essential businesses and places of gathering and enforcement.

"In addition to staying home and washing our hands, we believe there are four more things that we can do to help slow down the spread of COVID-19," said Dr. Geoff Leung. "They include covering the face, testing, closure of non-essential businesses and places of gathering and enforcement. With regard to covering the face, our Public Health Officer Dr. Cameron Kaiser recommended on March 31 that all individuals in Riverside County wear a cover over the face whenever leaving the home. This newest recommendation is to help protect those around us and to decrease the spread of infection, especially now that we know that COVID-19 can be spread by asymptomatic individuals."

If those four things are not done, the county expects that by the beginning of May there will be 1,000 deaths and more than 11,000 people hospitalized, which is three to four times that of the current hospital capacity, Leung said during the press conference.

Local market deliveries delayed

By Jenny Kirchner REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

We've all noticed the long lines in front of our local markets in recent weeks in order to adhere to social distancing. In addition, employees are wearing masks

Many only know that they are having to wait in line and have no idea what's happening behind the scenes. While people wait patiently, essential workers are rushing to fill the shelves with produce, paper goods and dairy products, doing their best to provide customers with all of their needs.

The problem? The markets aren't getting all of their orders and deliveries are running days behind schedule.

Multiple earthquakes shake the mountain

By Melissa Diaz Hernandez

A series of quakes shook the mountain Friday evening and continued throughout the weekend. The first in the series, a magnitude 4.9 east-southeast of Anza at 10.6 km depth, occurred at 6:53 p.m.

That first quake was followed by four more: 3.6 magnitude at 6:54 p.m., a 2.9 and 3.0 magnitude quakes at 6:55 p.m. and a 2.6 magnitude at 6:56 p.m.

Additional quakes occurred within an hour of each other on Sunday afternoon, a 2.7 magnitude and 2.6 magnitude.

Dr. Lucy Jones (The Earthquake Lady)

tweeted out "Tonight's (Friday 4/3) M4.9 quake SE of Anza is near (maybe on) the San Jacinto Fault. The San Jacinto near Anza has had many M~5 quakes over the last few decades."

When it comes to aftershocks, Jones tweeted: "Typical aftershocks cover a wide range. The time decay and the relative number of large to small quakes are pretty standard. But the overall productivity can vary by a thousand times. The Anza aftershocks are very normal — but on the high side of average. There was some concern raised by her Twitter followers if we should be nervous with the quake being less than 100 miles of the San Andreas Fault.

Jones responded: "Do not worry about the San Andreas. A M4.9 can only affect an area a few miles across. But the San Jacinto Fault itself is capable of a major equal or greater than a magnitude 7 quakes and the chance of a quake on the San Jacinto is now increased. The chance of a quake of equal or greater than a magnitude 6 is less than 1%."

Town Crier surveys local hospital resources

By Melissa Diaz Hernandez EDITOR

The Town Crier reached out to local hospitals to gather information about current resources, staffing and intake procedures. Desert Regional Medical Center (JFK Memorial Hospital) and Hemet Global Medical Center (HGMC) responded.

HGMC responded to all the questions submitted.

Question: What is the hospital's personal protection equipment (ppe) supply?

HGMC: The health and safety of our physicians, nurses and staff is of paramount importance to our ability to care for the community and successfully overcome this unprecedented public health challenge. We currently have an adequate supply of personal protective equipment and ventilators for use in all appropriate situations in accordance with Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) guidelines at each of KPC Health's hospitals, including HGMC.

Given the international shortage of equipment and expected increase in demand, we will still be in need of additional resources as demand increases. All KPC Health hospitals have instituted rolling inventory assessments and are in regular communication with our local, state, and federal partners and suppliers to ensure we take every available measure to communicate our needs and maintain an adequate supply. As an integrated healthcare system consisting of seven hospitals across Southern California, we also have the benefit of being able to coordinate and share resources and information amongst our sister facilities. In addition, we are encouraging local businesses who have N95 or surgical masks, or other resources and equipment, to consider donating them to our facilities. We are very grateful for the outpouring of support we have already seen from our communities.

COVID-19 patients?

Desert Regional Medical Center: We now have 114 beds in our negative pressure units and rooms, up from 11. Sixty of these beds are capable of handling critical care patients. So the coronavirus. A total of 19 were positive for COVID-19, not all of whom required admission to the hospital. Several were treated on home quarantine. If there is a surge in COVID-19 cases in our community, we have a detailed contingency plan to help address it. The plan includes expanding our current intensive care unit (ICU) capacity to as many as 75 beds and shifting some equipment such as patient monitors, telemetry boxes and anesthesia machines from other areas in the system to help care for COVID-19 patients. If needed, we have the ability to convert unused space into patient care areas by adding up to 47 medical-surgical beds in selected areas. Additionally, our emergency plan includes erecting up to 16 decontamination and surge tents and installing 230 treatment stations for patients. Surge plans are also in place for our other locations, TFK Memorial Hospital and Hi-Desert Medical Center.

HGMC: We currently have a sufficient number of available beds to safely treat suspected or confirmed COVID-19 patients in accordance with CDC guidelines. We are also in the process of identifying unused areas for additional bed capacity and the isolated treatment of COVID-19 patients. In addition, we are taking steps to deploy portable quarantine and HVAC systems that will enable us to create additional negative pressure suites and corridors. This will increase capacity, optimize unused spaces in the facility, and help safeguard staff and the general patient population against any possible airborne trans-

Question: How are staffing levels?

HGMC: At this time, staffing levels are sufficient. In addition, HGMC has already taken steps to expand capacity by activating the Hospital Incident Command System (HICS), which includes a Corporate Unified Incident Command and Incident Command for each hospital to manage the deploy-Question: How many beds does the hospital have to treat ment of all assets, such as surge tents and the initiation of labor pools as needed and where appropriate.

Question: How many ventilators does the hospital have? Do you anticipate receiving more?

HGMC: The health and safety of our physicians, nurses far in the month of March, we have cared for 138 suspected and staff is of paramount importance to our ability to care for COVID-19 patients, 100 of whom ultimately tested negative for the community and successfully overcome this unprecedented public health challenge. We currently have an adequate supply of personal protective equipment and ventilators for use in all appropriate situations in accordance with CDC guidelines at each of KPC Health's hospitals, including HGMC.

Question: What is the intake process for people exhibiting COVID-19 symptoms?

Desert Regional Medical Center: We are following guidelines issued by the CDC and the Riverside County Public Health Officer, to identify, isolate and treat any potential COVID-19 cases that may present at our hospital. We have created three dedicated units specifically for treating COVID-19 patients (plus a fourth unit coming online soon). For example, we have followed the CDC's recommendations and modified the air pressure in additional treatment rooms for aerosol-producing procedures so we can care for suspected or confirmed COVID-19 patients while making sure any viruses are expelled.

Question: What is the intake process for those who need to be treated for something other than COVID-19?

HGMC: All patients are required to go through a rigorous pre-screening process outside of the emergency room and prior to ever entering the facility. CDC guidelines related to the diagnosis and treatment of potential or confirmed COVID-19 cases are strictly adhered to throughout intake and post-admission. Question: What is the visitor policy?

HGMC: To protect the health and safety of our patients, their families, staff, and the community as we work to mitigate the spread of the COVID-19, and in accordance with CDC guidelines, HGMC has temporarily modified its visitor policies to restrict most visitations until further notice.

Question: How many test kits does the hospital have and how many do you anticipate receiving?

HGMC: Beginning last Tuesday, HGMC started conducting limited drive-thru testing for COVID-19. Patients must call HGMC's COVID-19 hotline at 951-765-4757 Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 3 p.m. to schedule a drive-thru test. Only those who (1) have a valid physician's order or (2) are displaying COVID-19 symptoms such as fever, cough, fatigue and difficulty breathing should seek out a test.

Dear Idyllwild Community,

As the COVID-19 pandemic develops across the United States, we are continuing to evaluate the best and most effective way to deliver Idyllwild Arts programs. This week, Idyllwild Arts Academy students started their online classes for the remainder of the semester. Modern technology is allowing us to teach them as well as keep our school community connected through weekly all-school assemblies, faculty meetings, and more.

With a plan for our Academy students underway, we now turn our attention to the hundreds of students and adults we welcome each summer.

First and foremost, the health and safety of our school community remain our highest priorities. As we await guidance from State and local authorities as to the duration of the Stay at Home order issued by Governor Gavin Newsom on March 19, 2020, we have made the difficult decision to cancel our on-campus Summer Program. We know that many Idyllwild residents attend the Idyllwild Arts summer and year-round programs. Here are a few things you may need to know.

If I signed up for a class that is canceled, will I receive a refund?

If Idyllwild Arts cancels a class prior to the first day, all tuition paid will be refunded. Given the current situation, Idyllwild Arts will also return the $50 non-refundable application fee, or give students the option of donating the fee to support the Summer Program. Students or parents may opt to apply funds as a credit toward another class offered throughout the year or during the 2021 Summer Program. We will be contacting enrolled students whose classes have been canceled to find out their preferences. We will begin crediting refunds on April 20, 2020.

Does Idyllwild Arts plan to offer online classes this summer?

We are exploring several options. Some workshops may be postponed until the fall, winter, or spring. Other classes may be offered online. We will notify registered students with any updates. If travel restrictions are lifted, we may offer selected workshops at off-site facilities, such as in the Palm Springs area, where student support and medical services are more readily available.

Will Idyllwild Arts resume its Spring Auxiliary Programs for children?

Theatre and Dance classes originally offered on campus through the end of May have been moved online. Instructor Dimyana Pelev has developed an online version of her Theatre Workshop. Dance instructor Ellen Rosa-Taylor will offer video lessons for enrolled Dance students. No decisions have been made for music lessons. Parents will receive information this week about their options.

Will Idyllwild Arts offer adult classes, the Native American Arts Festival, or Teens & Kids workshops later in the summer?

We currently do not anticipate offering any classes on campus until fall at the earliest. The Native American Arts Festival will take place, likely as a hybrid of online and live events after the summer. We are currently working to determine online or hybrid options for Teens & Kids and Adult workshops.

I will continue to provide weekly updates to keep Idyllwild residents informed of the school's activities.

On behalf of the students, faculty, staff, and Board of Trustees of Idyllwild Arts, we wish you continued health and wellness in the days and weeks ahead.

In partnership,

Pamela Jordan President and Head of School

IWD board adopts policy prior to GM start date

By Melissa Diaz Hernandez

Just as the Stay-at-Home order went into effect, the Idyllwild Water District board had a meeting.

The board unanimously adopted a policy and procedures for billing operations and depositing checks, cash and credit card transactions before Leo Havener, the newly hired general manager, started. Havener began March 26. Included in the policy are the following:

 All the billing clerks, administrative assistants and supervisors report directly to the chief financial officer [Hosny Shouman].

 Adjustments to bills must be approved by the chief financial officer or general manager.

• Billing clerks, administrative assistants and/or supervisors must deposit check and credit card payments daily. The billing must be processed and mailed by the fifth day of every month.

 Files of customer account information must be maintained and kept up to date.

Cash drawer must be balanced daily against cash

Meter readings and associated billing must be run

 Access level for the billing system can only be altered with approval of the chief financial officer.

• The front desk workers must process and complete all service orders, correcting any accounts, on a daily basis.

 The front desk workers should answer the phone and answer any questions regarding customer accounts. Any unusual account questions should be passed to the next level of supervision.

 The front desk workers must check the night drops and post office mailbox at least once a day.

 The front desk workers must maintain excellent customer service.

 The front desk workers should update customer accounts with payments daily. Payments may be received through walk-in, mail, electronic ACH or through the website by credit card.

 The front desk workers must prepare the ACH to be ready for the chief financial officer to send electronically by the 25th of each month.

 The front desk workers are responsible to print the end-of-day journal daily (two copies) one for the front desk and one for the chief financial officer.

 The front desk workers should notify customers of past-due bills and make efforts to collect the past-due bills.

Equifax data breach settlement:

What you should know

In September of 2017, Equifax announced a data breach that exposed the personal information of 147 million people. Under a settlement filed today, Equifax agreed to spend up to $425 million to help people affected by the data breach. If you were affected by the Equifax breach, you can't file a claim just yet. That's coming. But you can sign up for FTC email alerts about the settlement at ftc.gov/Equifax. Not sure that you were affected? The breach claims site will have a tool to let you check. Deliveries

Village Market owner Reem Barakat said, "We are handling the situation and we will try to always have the necessities for our community. We don't know why the deliveries are delayed.'

Fairway Market employee Geri Peterson said, "Our contact at C&S isn't giving us any information at all, but our driver says the drivers are actually going home because they don't have the products to fill to put on a truck to drive, so it's affecting the drivers as well."

If that is the case, it may mean the warehouses are short workers that are either not willing to come to work out of fear of becoming sick or are sick themselves.

"There really hasn't been any confirmed reason as to why this is happening, but we are pretty much at C&S's mercy," Peterson said. "What they give us is what we got. We aren't their only store either. They deal with Kroger and Whole Foods just to name a couple. We kind of feel like we are being rationed."

C&S was contacted for comment but did not respond by press time.

Fairway's deliveries are now cut by more than half. "We would be getting 36 pallets on a normal delivery and now we are getting 15," Peterson said. "That's frozen, grocery, deli, dairy and pet food. Deli and dairy are coming back and doing better. I see a big improvement in that department." Peterson expressed her appreciation to the community for continuing to shop locally while keeping in mind that employees are doing their very best to provide the community with as much as they can.

"Without the public, we don't have jobs," said Peterson. "I hope people keep shopping. Just be patient — we are doing the best we can.

"Today I got everything I ordered with milk and eggs, which is showing some improvement," Peterson explained. "I took the signs down and people can now buy what they need without limits. We are keeping an eye on it, and if we get another surge, I'll have to put the signs back up."

Fairway had placed limits on the amount of eggs and milk customers could purchase when their stock was low. But for now, that has been lifted.

With all of the changes, Peterson explained how the reality of the situation is impacting her personally: "I found myself a little emotional. This town has been through so much. Seeing businesses close, it gets more real. I've been here 24 years and I've never seen anything like this.

The town is amazing and we will prevail through this, too," Peterson said at the close of the interview. "We've been through a flood. We've been through a fire and we've been through road closures." With a hint of humor and a laugh she added, "The only thing we haven't had hit is an earthquake. That would just about do it." Wīthin a matter of hours a 4.9 earthquake 17 kilometers east-southeast of Anza shook the mountain with aftershocks lasting into the night.

aren't being graded. Even though I am not in school, I am still learning about the government and how messed up it is because it seems to be backwards.

I think the people who are elected to work for the people should think about others more. It seems like every time they talk, they talk about themselves. Think about the average people who has a family and will not be able to afford their home soon. They need to pay rent and buy food.

This is what I am learning.

I know it is not what fourth graders learn but at least I am learning something. I am getting to be as smart as an adult. But lastly, this Stay-at-Home order makes me sad because I am a kid who loves learning and school.

I remember I was sick for three days and then came back to school for two days, then it was shut down at the end of the third. We found out after lunch on the third day that we would not be back until after spring break.

Now, we will not be back to school until next school year. So basically, my life is waking up, eating breakfast, doing chores (I have become a master dishwasher), then learning about government, reading, playing music (I am learning how to play Für Elise and Moonlight Sonata), doing arts and crafts and playing Prodigy and Zearn. Then, we have dinner and I go to sleep.

I do get to FaceTime with family and that makes me happy. I miss getting to see my extended family. I love them!

I am not learning what a fourth grader should learn. I miss learning in my classroom and my teacher Mr. Dillon.

Editor's note: Hava Diaz is my daughter. She wanted to give her perspective so other kids felt like they could give theirs.

but that is not what we are seeing in Riverside County," said Leung during the April 3 press conference. "In Riverside County, our cases continue to rise exponentially and we have very little time to turn this around and prevent an impending surge. Despite all of our best efforts, we are still on track to have as many as 65,000 cases, over 11,000 hosbeginning of May. One thousand deaths is a lot of people." This is in Riverside County alone.

OVID-19 in Riverside County and 39 are in ICU. As of 1 p.m. on April 7, the county had 1,016 confirmed cases, 28 deaths with 67 individuals having recovered. When the Town Crier went to press on Tuesand 30 individuals had recovered. More than 9,000 people have been tested for COVID-19 in Riverside County. The age range with the most confirmed cases in the county is still those between the ages of 40 and 64.

Enforcement

Two press releases were sent out April 4. The first stated that individuals could be fined and/or arrested for not wearing a face covering and/or congregating in groups of any size other than at those of essential busisame day removing the portion about being fined and arrested, and instead reads, "law enforcement agencies throughout the county have the authority to enforce through April 30."

When the Town Crier asked county public health, the Riverside County Sheriff's Department and the Hemet Police Department how this new order would be enforced, we only heard back from public health and the sheriff's media information bureau by press time.

"It goes into effect tomorrow [April 5]," wrote Riverside University Health System – Public Health Public the care they require. Information Officer Brooke Federico in an email asking when the order would go into effect. "We are explaining that face coverings are required, not masks, because people should use bandanas, scarves, neck gaiters or make coverings out of existing material in the home. This is to leave N95 or surgical masks for the healthcare ly impacted. community and first responders. If law enforcement sees groups of people who are gathering in public, they will explain the orders and request their compliance." The media information bureau for the sheriff's department returned a phone call on April 5 and stated that they did not know how it would be enforced and that they did not think it was important enough to ask the sheriff himself at that time. We were told that there would be something out on social media the next day from Sheriff Chad Bianco.

"Recently, the Riverside County Health Officer ispitalizations and over 1,000 deaths from COVID-19 by the sued an order expanding on the Stay-at-Home order given by Gov. Gavin Newsom," stated Bianco in a message on social media on April 6. "Among other things, As of April 6, 126 people have been hospitalized for this new order prohibits public and private gatherings of any size and requires all persons to wear coverings over their faces.

"This is a valid order and enforceable by fine, imprisonment or both. However, I need to make it perfectly day, March 31 there were 371 confirmed cases, 13 deaths clear to all residents of Riverside County. We will not be setting up any type of police state and this is not a declaration of martial law in Riverside County. Riverside County Sheriff's deputies will not be stopping vehicles or setting checkpoints for motorists. We will not be stopping you while on a walk with your kids or while you're out running or hiking.

"You will not be stopped and ticketed simply because you're not wearing a mask. The purpose of this order and the doctor's intent is to stop or slow the spread of the COVID-19 virus. This virus is extremely contagious nesses. A revised press release was later sent out the and is being spread by otherwise healthy people. Many infected individuals who are testing positive exhibit no signs of infection or illness.

"However, those individuals are spreading the disthese orders as they deem necessary. This order runs ease to others who could develop mild to severe symptoms extreme enough to cause death. Right now, you could be a carrier of this virus spreading it to your family and friends.

"The next two to three weeks are going to be very trying times for your first responders and our medical personnel. Your doctors and nurses are coming to work every day to make sure those who are sick are being given

Your deputies, police officers, dispatchers, fire and EMS personnel are here around the clock ensuring your safety and protection during this trying time. If we must respond to violations of this order, our ability to respond to emergencies and critical calls for service will be great-pleading to you, my fellow Riverside County residents for your cooperation and voluntary compliance with the orders given by our governor and county health officer.

While this order does have potential criminal and civil consequences, that is the last thing I want to happen while we deal with this crisis. During this time of uncertainty, anxiety and stress, we must all remain calm, show amazing acts of kindness and compassion, and exercise some good old-fashioned common sense.

'Cover your faces, stay at home unless absolutely necessary and help out your neighbors as much as possible. If you don't do it for yourself, do it for me. Do it for my family. Do it for your family. Stay home, stay safe and together we will get through this," Bianco conclud-

In addition, the county is trying to crack down on non-essential businesses still open to the public. Michelle DeArmond, chief of staff to Third District Riverside County Supervisor Chuck Washington, said that county counsel is "working to prioritize complaints based on those that pose the greatest health and safety threat to the public, so the timeline varies depending on the type of business in question. For example, private schools and churches that have continued to operate have been targeted first as they attract large gatherings of people far exceeding the social distancing limitations.

Complaints should be made to DOCLiaisonOfficer@ rivco.org or 951-351-6866.

"The fastest way for people to get attention to their complaint is to go through that website and/or phone number," said DeArmond. "They need to be prepared to provide detailed information on the location."

COVID-19 testing

Residents may still call 800-945-6171 to make an appointment over the phone for testing at the Coachella Valley and new Harvest Christian Fellowship church in Riverside. Those seeking tests at the Lake Elsinore location are encouraged to use the website https://www.projectbaseline.com/study/covid-19/ for appointments but may use the above-mentioned phone number. You must have symptoms and an appointment to show up to the drive-up test sites. Some of the symptoms include fever, sore throat, cough, runny nose or congestion. Those who have risk of exposure may also be tested, which means exposure to a confirmed case. The newspaper reached out to county health to find out how far out appointments were being made. Several people contacted the newspaper saying it was taking two weeks to get tested. We did story on the front page.) not hear back by press time.

Two vehicles overturn on mountain highways

REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

Two vehicles overturned on mountain highways last week, according to California Highway Patrol Officer

Matt Napier. On March 28 at 2 a.m. Juan Pablo Quintana, 38 of Indio, was driving a silver 1999 Nissan Pathfinder westbound on Highway 74 just east of Tool Box Springs Road at an unknown speed and hit the dirt shoulder causing him to overturn. His vehicle was towed by Valley Auto in Anza. He was transported by American Medical Response to Inland Valley Medical Center with major injuries. According to Napier, Quintana was arrested for driving under the influence of drugs and alcohol and was in possession of methamphetamine. On March 31 at 4 p.m. Jose Luis Cardenas, 30 of San Jacinto, was driving his red 2015 Chevrolet Camaro northbound on Highway 243 near Franklin Drive between 40 and 50 mph. He was attempting to negotiate a sharp turn when he collided with the mountainside. When he tried to regain control, he overturned. The vehicle was towed to Idyllwild Garage. No one was injured. According to California Highway Patrol Officer Mike Murawski, Jose Luis Cardenas, 30 of San Jacinto, was driving his red 2015 Chevrolet Camaro at about 4 p.m. on March 31 north on Highway 243 when he lost control on dead man's curve and overturned. No one was injured. Idyllwild Garage towed the vehicle.

Many individuals from The Idyllwild Mountain Quilters (IMQ) have taken to their sewing machines, creating dozens of masks to help those in our community stay safe.

Owner of the Idyllwild Quilt Shop and IMQ member Chris Finney said, "People are saying they weren't able to find masks, so it was a need and needed to be done. We have the skill and machines and thought we would jump in to help."

Diana Orr, co-owner of Wax Apothecary said, "I've used my extra time to start making fabric face masks to help to provide where there are medical shortages. Almost every version of manufactured masks, from everyday surgical masks to N95 respirators, appear to confer at least some level of protection against disease transmission. Study after study has confirmed that, in hospitals as well as in daily life interactions.

"My efforts may be miniscule in comparison to what we are all facing globally, but if each one of us does their part, we can help protect ourselves and our community together."

No matter how many or few masks people are making, the commonality is people are wanting to help each other. Together, the community will pull through safer, stronger and more connected.

Some safety tips from Cal Fire:

Don't mow or trim dry grass on windy days.

Never pull your vehicle over in dry grass. 3. Target shoot only in approved areas, use lead ammunition only, and never shoot at metal objects. Check and obey burn bans.

5. Ensure campfires are allowed, and if so, be sure to extinguish them completely.

6. Report any suspicious activities to prevent arson. 7. If you see something — say something.

Medicare does not give out DNA kits

The FTC is getting reports that callers claiming to be from Medicare are asking people for their Medicare numbers, Social Security numbers, and other personal information in exchange for DNA testing kits. The callers might say the test is a free way to get early diagnoses for diseases like cancer, or just that it's a free test, so why not take it? But the truth is, Medicare does not market DNA testing kits to the general public. This is yet another government imposter scam.

Idyllwild restaurants struggling

By JENNY KIRCHNER REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

With the COVID-19 Stay-at-Home order in place for an unknown amount of time, Idyllwild restaurant owners are trying to keep their businesses afloat.

Our restaurants are hanging on by a thread and are holding onto positivity the best they can but they need the community support.

Jennifer Fey, owner of Atomic Cow Creamery, has felt the hit in business saying, "We had to close our dining room and we made one of our windows a take-out window. It's working OK but business is way down." While business has been slow for obvious reasons,

"The locals have been very supportive. I have been trying to come up with good food that people can take home to their family." — Jennifer Fey, owner of Atomic Cow Creamery

Fey appreciates the community for venturing out to buy

"The locals have been very supportive," said Fey. "I have been trying to come up with good food that people can take home to their family."

Idyllwild has been through fires, floods, road closures, earthquakes and now a pandemic. The challenges our community have faced have been enormous.

Robert Garcia, owner of La Casita and Café Aroma, is doing his best to stay positive during this time. Garcia has been here since 1994 and has never seen times quite like these.

While Garcia has made the choice to close Café Aroma until late April or early May depending on the circumstances, La Casita is operating seven days a week from 11 a.m.-7 p.m. for to-go orders only.

He expressed his gratitude to the locals that are supporting him.

"I honestly stayed open because of the feedback I was getting. A lot of locals didn't want us to close," said Garcia. "Business has been a little slower, but if it wasn't for our locals, we wouldn't be there."

There is hope for a busy summer.
"We'll get through this," Garcia said. "We have to focus on taking care of our health and everyone else's. I

"We'll get through this. We have to focus on taking care of our health and everyone else's. I think we're going to have a busy summer. All the businesses will be hopping. We just have to hang in there." – Robert Garcia, think we're going to have a busy summer. All the businesses will be hopping. We just have to hang in there."

While we navigate this unfamiliar territory, it's important to recognize how fragile we are as a human race, and how much we have to be grateful for. We all take things for granted at times, but collectively, it's important to remember that much of what we consider normal can be taken away with no warning. With that, we have a choice in how we react and whether we come together as a community or not. "I appreciate the whole town for being supportive," said Garcia. "Idyllwild wouldn't be Idyllwild if it wasn't for our community."

The Red Kettle is also still open for to-go orders and has felt the strain. Wanting to give back to the community, they have continued to stay open. Manager Annie Weaver said, "We've lost about 90% of our usual business, but we are grateful for the 10% we have left. We aren't making enough money to pay to be open, but we really wanted to provide some continuity to the community. We only have two people at a time working on a rotating basis and the other 16 are staying home."

There is something to be said about a business that is staying open just for the community. It shows how much community means.

"The first week was very slow and discouraging," Weaver said. "The second week picked up a bit, and the third week a little more. What I'm seeing is more people that are working in essential businesses are coming by and grabbing food. You see a familiar face and you realize it's good you're doing this and doing a good service."

On a more somber note, there is the reality that this is the worst of the worst so far.

To give the community an idea of this economic hit Weaver explained: "When the fire happened, we lost business for a few weeks. When the flood happened, we were down 70% and gradually got better. This is a 90-95% drop depending on the day. It's devastating. I hope and pray we get the help we need or we will lose everything up here. I've never seen anything like this.'

So that begs the question, what can we do as a community to help each other? Weaver said gift cards are a good way to help get the money the businesses need now while planning to dine when the Stay-at-Home order is lifted.

"If the public wants to help their local restaurants or businesses, they need to start buying gift cards if they can afford it, so they can use it when things normalize, Weaver said. "That helps the businesses stay open and getting the money now, when they need it. They can buy them from our website, so they don't even have to leave their house."

The Red Kettle is offering 15% off gift cards until the end of the Stay-at-Home order, which can be purchased at http://perrysredkettle.com/.

While the community does what they can to help, bigger steps have also been taken. "We applied for Emergency Disaster Relief and for the Paycheck Protection Program," Weaver said. "No word yet if we have been approved or not."

In closing, be kind, helpful, respectful and realize everyone is feeling the stress of this pandemic. Essential workers are out there to help you. Also help them and show them that they matter to you.

March 21 – April 19

A problem in getting a workplace project up and moving might upset the Lamb, who likes things done on time. But be patient. The delay could turn out to be a blessing in disguise.

Your instincts are usually on the mark, so if you feel uneasy about being asked for advice on a certain matter, it's probably a good idea that you opt not to comply with the request.

May 21 – June 21

You might have two minds about a proposed change (which often happens with the Twins), but once all the facts are in, you'll be able to make a definitive decision. Good luck.

you might be reluctant to pay for technical repairs, the time you save in getting things

July 23 – August 22 While you Leos and Leonas continue to concentrate on doing well in your workrelated ventures this week, consider reserving the weekend for sharing good times with family and friends.

August 23 – September 22 This is a good week to take stock of the important personal, professional or familial relationships in your life and see where you might need to do some intense shoring up.

September 23 – October 22

Your sense of justice makes you the likely person to help deal with a work- or familyrelated grievance. But you need to have any doubts about anyone's true agenda resolved

The Scorpio passion for getting things done right and on time might rankle some folks. Never mind them. Others will be impressed, and they're the ones you want in your corner.

November 22 – December 21 Finances could be a mite tight this week.

And, while things will ease up soon enough, you savvy Sagittarians will want to keep a prudent eye on your expenses at this time. December 22 – January 19 up and running, you could use the time to recheck your operation and make changes where necessary. January 20 – February 18 You might find it difficult to resist making a snap judgment about a colleague's behavior.

Although a technical malfunction could cause a temporary delay in getting things

But stick with your usual way of assessing situations and wait for the facts to come out.

February 19 – March 20 Asking for help with a family situation might be the wisest course to take right now. Just be sure you turn to someone you can trust to do and say the right thing for the right reasons.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS

California Business and Professions Code 7071.13 reads: "Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor."

This is a contractor's responsibility, not a newspaper's, and we are not responsible for it. However, as a courtesy, we will remove references to a bond in contractors' advertising, if we notice it.
