COVID-19 UPDATE

Idyllwild-Pine Cove area still has 3 confirmed cases

By MELISSA DIAZ HERNANDEZ
EDITOR

With Riverside University Health System (RUHS) reporting three confirmed COVID-19 cases for Idyllwild-Pine Cove, residents continue to express concern about visitors bringing the virus to town.

As of April 14 at 1 p.m., Riverside County has 1,961 confirmed COVID-19 cases. Fifty people have died and 376 people have recovered.

As of April 7 at 1 p.m., the county had 1,016 confirmed cases, 28 deaths with 67 individuals having recovered.

When the Town Crier went to press on Tuesday, March 31 there were 371 confirmed cases, 13 deaths and 30 individuals had recovered.

To date, more than 29,000 people have been tested for COVID-19 in Riverside County, according to Riverside County Public Health Officer Dr. Cameron Kaiser. The age range with the most confirmed cases in the county is still those between the ages of 40 and 64.

During the April 14 RUHS press conference, Riverside County Emergency Management Director Bruce Barton gave the following update on hospital capacity: In the 17 acute care hospitals in Riverside County, 60% of the beds are currently occupied. There are 218 ventilators in use and 274 available. There are 255 isolation beds in use and 124 available. There are 252 patients in ICU with 109 beds available. There are 249 negative pressure rooms in use and 386 available.

According to a press release issued April 14 by the county, "Specialized teams designed to educate and equip employees at licensed care facilities throughout Riverside County will start

'Tokens of Gratitude'

Donations go to public-facing essential workers

By STEPHANIE YOST AND MARY RIDER
CONTRIBUTED

Three weeks ago, we had side-by-side articles in the Town Crier addressing different ways our mountain communities can cope with the COVID-19 pandemic. Yost's article offered suggestions for how members of the community can support local businesses through the purchase of gift cards and Rider's was about the mental and physical benefits of walking in the woods.

Rider's musings during her own daily walk in the woods inspired "Tokens of Gratitude," an idea intended to help local businesses while simultaneously providing a mechanism to thank the daily public-facing essential workers who regularly put their health on the line at work while interfacing with the community in these uncertain times.

Rider saw Yost's article and reached out to see if Idyllwild Community Center (ICC) could work with her to make her idea a reality.

Through our combined efforts "Tokens of Gratitude," which are $25 gift certificates, are being given to 100-plus daily public-facing essential workers this week to be spent at the local business of their choice.

This is truly a "win-win" scenario, as it allows the Rotary makes donations

The Idyllwild Rotary held a virtual board meeting last week to donate funds to local organizations that will help the community during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The board voted to grant $900 to the Idyllwild Community Center (ICC) to cover costs of the Feeding America project.

ARF will be receiving $500 from Rotary to assist in funding the repair of an old deck.

The Idyllwild HELP Center received $1,000.

"The people of Idyllwild have a lot of needs now and we might want to give more later," wrote Rotary President Tom Kluzak in an email with the updates regarding the donation made to the HELP Center.

A $1,000 donation was made to ICC to help fund gift certificates to essential workers who are in contact with the public on a daily basis. The donation will cover about half of the amount needed. (See story above.)

"The idea for this project came from Mary Rider of the Nature Center," wrote Kluzak. "She proposed giving gift certificates to those working in the grocery stores, post office, etc. who are putting themselves at visiting the locations today.

“The four SOS (Skilled Nursing Facilities Outreach Support) teams consist of workers from American Medical Response and other healthcare partners who could be involved in patient care,” said Kim Saruwatari, director of public health. “The teams will target specific regions — Northwest, Southwest, Central and Eastern—in the county and work with staff members at each facility to demonstrate proper safety techniques, provide proper safety gear and educate them about COVID-19 to dispel rumors and correct erroneous information.

“There has been so much incorrect information that has spread that many employees in these facilities are scared to show up for work,” said Saruwatari. “Information is power and by providing these employees with accurate information about how COVID-19 is and is not spread, they will be confident when they report to work.”

The press release also reveals: “80 patients, including 34 who had earlier tested positive for COVID-19, were evacuated from the Magnolia Rehabilitation and Nursing Center and transferred to different locations throughout the county.”

The county allowed drive-in church services to occur over the Easter weekend.

Enforcement

An order was issued by Kaiser stating that people could be fined or arrested for congregating of any size in public and not wearing a face covering. This order runs through April 30.

“This is a valid order and enforceable by fine, imprisonment or both,” said Sheriff Chad Bianco in a message he posted on social media last week. “However, I need to make it perfectly clear to all residents of Riverside County. We will not be setting up any type of police state and this is not a declaration of martial law in Riverside County. Riverside County Sheriff’s deputies will not be stopping vehicles or setting checkpoints for motorists. We will not be stopping you while on a walk with your kids or while you’re out running or hiking.”

Bianco also stated during his message: “Your deputies, police officers, dispatchers, fire and EMS personnel are here around the clock ensuring your safety and protection during this trying time. If we must respond to violations of this order, our ability to respond to emergencies and critical calls for service will be greatly impacted.”

“Cover your faces, stay at home unless absolutely necessary and help out your neighbors as much as possible. If you don’t do it for yourself, do it for me. Do it for my family. Do it for your family. Stay home, stay safe and together we will get through this,” Bianco concluded.

In addition, during a recent Riverside University Health System press conference the comment was made that the county was looking at cellphone data and noticed people aren’t traveling (moving around) as much. When asked about it, Riverside University Health System Public Information Officer Brooke Federico responded: “Some of this is available on Unacast, where counties are graded for their social distancing. In addition, Google created a California mobility report here: <https://www.google.com/covid19/mobility/>.”

If you see nonessential businesses operating at this time, you are able to report them to the county.

Complaints should be made to DOCLiaisonOfficer@rivco.org or 951-351-6866.

“The fastest way for people to get attention to their complaint is to go through that website and/or phone number,” said Riverside County Supervisor Chuck Washington’s Chief of Staff Michelle DeArmond. “They need to be prepared to provide detailed information on the location.”

risk for our benefit. This type of project doesn’t fit with the Nature Center’s mission, and Stephanie Yost of ICC agreed to sponsor it ... The workers at businesses will receive a note asking that they pick an Idyllwild business from which to receive a gift certificate and then ICC will purchase and distribute the certificates.”

The board voted to provide $1,300 for college book scholarships.

The board voted to postpone the annual pancake breakfast that was set to be held May 24. Since it is the group’s most successful fundraiser, they are hoping to hold the fundraiser at a future date. As of now, the group is still planning to hold the Fourth of July Parade, but that may change as the response to the pandemic evolves.

COVID-19 testing

Residents may still call 800-945-6171 to make an appointment over the phone for testing in the Coachella Valley and Harvest Christian Fellowship church in Riverside. Those seeking tests at the Lake Elsinore location are encouraged to use the website <https://www.projectbaseline.com/study/covid-19/> for appointments but may use the above-mentioned phone number. A fourth testing site opened up at the Perris Fairgrounds Tuesday. You must have symptoms and an appointment to show up to the drive-up test sites. Some of the symptoms include fever, sore throat, cough, runny nose or congestion. Those who have risk of exposure may also be tested, which means exposure to a confirmed case.

The newspaper reached out to county health to find out how far out appointments were being made before we went to print last week. Several people contacted the newspaper saying it was taking two weeks to get tested. We still have not heard back.

Hemet Global Medical Center opened the first private COVID-19 drive-up testing site in Riverside County. You can make an appointment by calling 951-765-4757.

The Town Crier's Idyllwild daily high and low temperatures and rain and snow totals in the past were taken directly from the National Weather Service website, which gets its Idyllwild weather information from automatic weather sensing equipment at Idyllwild Fire Station, an official NWS COOP reporter. We are seeking reliable Idyllwild and Pine Cove full-time residents to provide this information. Residents who follow CoCoRaHS procedures would be strongly preferred. CoCoRaHS is an organization of private, amateur weather observers that provides carefully collected data for use by the NWS. If you are interested in providing us with rain and snow reports, please contact [jack@towncrier.com or (951) 659-2145.]

Our weather season is July 1 to June 30. Our season totals now have been corrected for the period July 1 through September 17, 2018, which prior to this issue of the TC had been in error. # How the Town Crier is surviving this stressful period

By JACK CLARK
CO-PUBLISHER AND GENERAL COUNSEL

The Town Crier depends for its survival from advertising and memberships. Together, they defray the costs of payroll, printing, rent, insurance, utilities and more. During this trying time, the Town Crier is doing what it can to limit its expenses while protecting its employees.

The Town Crier remains open for business, although the office building itself is closed to in-person visits. So, to place display ads or service directory ads, contact Lisa at lisa@towncrier.com. To place classified ads, legal notices or service directory ads, call Mandy at 951-659-2145 or email her at mandy@towncrier.com. We suspended our weekly, open-to-the-public news meetings until the coronavirus crisis has passed. Our thanks to all our business and organization advertisers and to all our members for enabling us to keep the Town Crier serving our Hill community during this trying period.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE

By CALLIE WIGHT

Are you or someone you know being harmed at home? Or perhaps you are close to the abuser? Domestic Violence (DV) experts expect to see increased rates of DV while isolating at home.

DV includes stalking, physical, emotional and sexual abuse. Women and men are victims, although to date, the majority of victims are female and the majority of abusers are male.

Some indicators of DV include:

- You frequently make excuses for your partner's behavior to friends and family.
- You find yourself hiding and withholding information from friends and family so you don't have to explain or make excuses.
- You know something is terribly wrong, but you can never quite express what it is, even to yourself.
- You start lying to avoid your partner's put downs and reality twists.
- You have trouble making simple decisions.
- You have lost control over your own finances.
- You have the sense that you used to be a very different person — more confident, more fun-loving, more relaxed.
- You wonder if you are a "good enough" partner.
- You feel hopeless and joyless.
- You feel as though you can't do anything right.

COVID-19 impacts DV victims:

- An abusive partner may feel more justified and escalate their isolation tactics.
- Abusive partners may withhold necessary items, such as hand sanitizer or disinfectants.
- Abusive partners may share misinformation about the pandemic to control or frighten survivors, or to prevent them from seeking appropriate medical attention if they have symptoms.
- Abusive partners may withhold insurance cards, threaten to cancel insurance or prevent survivors from seeking medical attention if they need it.
- Programs that serve survivors may be significantly impacted — shelters may be full or may even stop intakes altogether. Survivors may also fear entering a shelter because of being in close quarters with groups of people.
- Survivors who are older or have chronic heart or lung conditions may be at increased risk in public places where they would typically get support, like shelters, counseling centers or courthouses.
- Travel restrictions may impact a survivor's escape or safety plan. It may not be safe for them to use public trans-

How to get a letter published

The Town Crier welcomes letters reflecting all opinions.

- Letters should be concise and to the point.
- They should be no longer than 400 words.
- Letters must be typewritten, double-spaced and in upper/lower case (not in all caps).
- Letters must be identified with the author's name, address and weekday phone number.
- The Town Crier will not publish

- “thank-you” letters, consumer complaints, form letters, clippings from other publications or poetry.
- Political letters during election season cost 10 cents per word but are not accepted the week before an election.
- We reserve the right to reject or edit letters for length, taste, clarity or frequency of submission.

- Only one letter per author within a 28-day period.
- Letters do not necessarily reflect the opinions of Town Crier staff.
- Letters may be submitted by e-mail to melissa@towncrier.com.
- The deadline is 10 a.m. Monday.

Quiet skies above

EDITOR:

On the meadow in Dutch Flat, Idyllwild-Pine Cove at 7 p.m. on Saturday, April 11. Eyes closed with my head tilted back and all the other senses soaking in nature as it gradually darkens. Birds are singing the seasonal stream burling. Sounds of nature. Sounds of tranquility. No Highway 243 traffic. No dogs barking. No jets overhead. COVID relief. COVID darkness.

To the people of the Hill, go outside your homes and appreciate the absence of man-made noise and the presence of the positive sounds of nature. Remember these moments, these smells, these sounds, this peacefulness. We may not sense them again in our lifetime. Unless ... we unite to call for the designation of Riverside County's only mountain community — Idyllwild, Pine Cove and Mountain Center — as a county-designated Tranquility Zone.

Quiet Skies Idyllwild has brought this idea to Chuck Washington, our county supervisor. Let's raise awareness of the preciousness of nature's sounds in our community and our attention to eliminating controllable noise. We shouldn't be known to snow players, but rather tranquility seekers.

posting details the recent tightening of this restriction. Our small village is vulnerable. Our two local markets are doing their best to keep us supplied with essentials. We do not have doctors or access to testing for the virus. Medical treatment and medical facilities are a long distance away. Yet, we see visitors who go about without masks and whose actions imply that they think our pristine mountain air and isolation are all the protection they need. There are already three cases on the Hill, and if this spreads further, it will be a catastrophe.

Short-term rentals still operating

EDITOR:

We are grateful that the majority of our Idyllwild community is observing the shelter-in-place restrictions that have been instituted to prevent the rampant spread of the coronavirus and to protect ourselves, our families, our loved ones and our neighbors. However, we are deeply concerned that some innkeepers and Idyllwild residents, who have turned their homes or investment properties into short-term vacation rentals, continue to advertise and rent to visitors while under the quarantine restriction. Getting help

The National Coalition Against Domestic Violence (NCADV) has been directly supporting victims for decades through its hotline. The hotline is never closed. Call 1-800-799-7233 (SAFE) and 1-800-787-3224 (TTY).

See below links for hotlines for specific communities e.g., Transgender people, individuals who are hearing-impaired and Native Americans. During a hotline call, the victim gets help creating a realistic personal safety plan — anyone who is concerned about their own safety or the safety of someone else can participate in this planning.

Also, there is help for the abuser. The Domestic Abuse Intervention Programs (DAIP) in Duluth (see link below) intervenes directly with abusers but also trains others to do so. There is an online training coming up in May. Responsible communities keep each other safe — victim and abuser.

Some safety tips from Cal Fire:

1. Don't mow or trim dry grass on windy days.
2. Never pull your vehicle over in dry grass.
3. Target shoot only in approved areas, use lead ammunition only, and never shoot at metal objects.
4. Check and obey burn bans.
5. Ensure campfires are allowed, and if so, be sure to extinguish them completely.
6. Report any suspicious activities to prevent arson.
7. If you see something — say something.

Steps for earthquake safety

The Earthquake Country Alliance has prepared seven steps for people to take before, during and after an earthquake.

Before:

Step 1: Secure your space by identifying hazards and securing movable items.

Step 2: Plan to be safe by creating a disaster plan and deciding how you will communicate in an emergency.

Step 3: Organize disaster supplies in convenient locations.

Step 4: Minimize financial hardship by organizing important documents, strengthening your property and considering insurance.

During:

Step 5: Drop, cover and hold on when the earth shakes.

Step 6: Improve safety after earthquakes by evacuating if necessary, helping the injured and preventing further injuries or damage.

After:

Step 7: Restore daily life by reconnecting with others, repairing damage and rebuilding community.

Most parents are worried school closures will leave their students behind, survey finds

BY JOHN FENSTERWALD
EDSOURCE

Four out of 5 parents of California public school students say that school closures from the coronavirus are making them feel stressed, and 9 out of 10 are worried their students will fall behind academically, according to a survey released Wednesday (<https://west.edtrust.org/press-release/poll-ca-parents-concerned-about-school-closures-caused-by-covid-19/>).

The survey of 1,200 parents statewide for the non-profit student advocacy organization Education Trust-West also found that 44% of parents said that their child’s teacher had contacted them personally, and fewer than a quarter had been provided access to or contact with a school counselor.

At the same time, however, parents gave good grades overall to this point, with 81% saying their child’s school or district is doing an excellent or good job providing learning materials and instruction during the closure. They’ve done this by email (63%), text messages (35%) and personal phone calls (26%), plus other means, like robocalls.

Noting that parents gave schools high marks in handling the crisis of shutting down schools and getting out information, Elisha Smith Arrillaga, Ed Trust-West’s executive director, indicated the transition to distance learning has been uneven, particularly in providing services for English learners and special education students.

“What we found is a tale of two crises. There’s the immediate crisis — keeping students safe, healthy, fed and housed; shutting schools down in an orderly way; getting information to parents. And then there’s California’s longstanding education equity crisis,” she said. Months-long school closures “will only exacerbate those gaps,” she said.

Global Strategy Group, located in New York City, conducted the web-based survey from March 26 through April 3. Many California school districts had not formally launched distance learning plans by that point, assuming schools might reopen in early April, and so will be stepping up their efforts over the next two weeks. That could account for some parents’ unmet expectations.

Smith Arrillaga said that while she is “cautiously optimistic” that the rollout of distance learning will improve in coming weeks, the survey contains “warning signs about how closures will worsen existing inequalities.” Parents confirmed what educators have assumed, that disproportionate numbers of low-income, Latino and African American families lack the technology that are prerequisites to remote learning.

While 29% of families statewide said access to reliable internet would be a barrier to distance learning, the proportion rose to 38% of low-income parents, 35% of Latinos in Los Angeles suburbs and 47% of parents in Northern California, including the Sacramento area. Fifty percent of low-income parents and 42% of Latino and African American parents statewide said they lacked “sufficient” devices at home to serve multiple siblings at home.

Through purchases by districts and partnerships with Goggle and nonprofits, the state hopes to quickly provide tens of thousands of Chromebooks and internet hotspots. But State Superintendent of Public Instruction Tony Thurmond, participating in a press conference on the survey results, said those would not be enough to fill the need and called for further donations.

The survey also found:

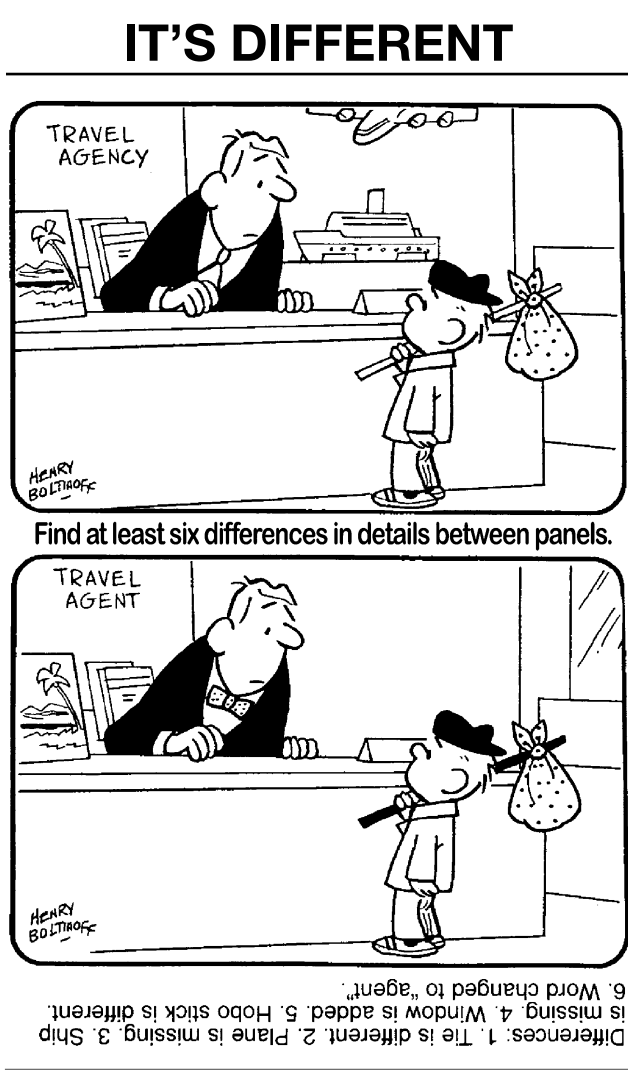

- 54% of parents have received academic and/or other resources from their school daily or at least three times each week.
- Only 31% of parents reported that their school or district is providing instructional materials for English learners.
- 24% of parents reported their school or district was providing instructional materials and other resources for special education students.
- 75% characterized themselves as every effective in using technology to communicate with their child’s teacher.
- 72% of Spanish-speaking parents, 62% of African American parents and 61% of low-income parents said they were very concerned that school closures would throw their children off track to go to college, compared with 51% of parents overall.
- 58% of low-income families and African American parents said they were very concerned about their ability to provide financially for their families during school closures, compared with 48% of families overall.

Even before the coronavirus, Smith Arrillaga said, there was an equity gap, with Latino and African American students lacking equal access to qualified teachers and college-level courses, as well as technology. With school closures widening disparities, the state should be looking ahead to summer and the fall resumption of school to ensure “the most resources to the people who bear the brunt of the pain.”

Araceli Simeon, director of the Los Angeles-based Parent Education Network, agreed and said that moving ahead, teachers should receive training on how to engage families, materials to parents should be translated in the language spoken at home, and there should be more one-on-one meetings between parents and teachers.

Chief Deputy State Superintendent Stephanie Gregson said that the department recognizes that school closures will affect families differently. Thurmond said that the state has begun to look into potential funding for summer learning and Saturday academies, such as the ones that Long Beach Unified is planning. The Education Trust West survey provided useful feedback, which, he said, he appreciated.

community to express their appreciation and gratitude to these critical workers, while simultaneously providing support for our local economy.

The gift certificate recipients are employees of the grocery stores, pharmacy, health centers, post office, hardware stores and gas stations in Idyllwild, Pine Cove and Mountain Center.

ICC spearheaded the organization and fundraising for this project, which proved to be easy through the very generous donations of Idyllwild Rotary, Soroptimist International of Idyllwild, individuals from the boards of ICC and Friends of San Jacinto Mountain County Parks, as well as local friends and supporters of these organizations.

The collaboration and effort of everyone who donated money to “Tokens of Gratitude” demonstrates the goodwill and support community groups and mountain community residents exhibit during challenging times.

Any overage in donations is being converted to $25 gift certificates from local grocery stores that will be provided to needy families through ICC’s coordination with the Idyllwild HELP Center.

Traffic collision on Highway 74 prompts message from CHP

By JENNY KIRCHNER
REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

Four traffic collisions occurred on Highway 74 last week, according to California Highway Patrol (CHP) Public Information Officer Matt Napier.

On April 10 at 7:30 a.m., Giovanni Tapia Ramos, 22 of Coachella, was driving his gray 2020 Toyota Corolla eastbound on Highway 74 near Carrizo Road at a speed of 60 mph, according to Ramos, when he was looking down at his cell phone and drifted to the left into oncoming traffic, according to Napier.

In an attempt to avoid an oncoming car, he ran into the mountainside overturning his vehicle.

About a minute later, Taylor James Randolph, 30 of Desert Hot Springs, was traveling eastbound in his blue 2018 Honda Civic on Highway 74 in the same location as Ramos at 58 mph. While looking at the first collision, he allowed his vehicle to cross into opposing lanes and hit the same mountainside.

Both vehicles were towed by Valley Auto. Ramos had minor injuries but was not near Palm Canyon Drive between 30 and 35 mph when she made an unsafe turn, lost control and collided with the rock embankment on the south side of the road.

Her vehicle continued forward and came to a rest in a drainage ditch. Her vehicle was towed by Valley Auto. Fisher had minor injuries and was transported by AMR to Eisenhower Medical Center.

On April 8 at 10:10 a.m., Kevin Noe Martinez, 27 of San Diego, was driving a rented white 2019 Nissan Sentra eastbound on Highway 74 near Highway 371 at a speed of 35 mph, according to Martinez, when he lost control due to the wet roadway.

Martinez traveled across the highway hitting a reflective paddle marker. The vehicle was towed by Valley Auto. Martinez did not suffer any injuries.

Cathie Davis: Local nurse on the frontlines of COVID-19

BY JENNY KIRCHNER
REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

Idyllwild resident Cathie Davis has called this mountain her home for 36 years. Growing up in Orange County, Davis knew she wanted to be a nurse and had plenty of options on where she could pursue that goal.

"When I was nine years old, I told my mom I was going to be a nurse," Davis said. "It's what I always wanted to do."

At the age of 14, Davis started as a "candy stripper" volunteering and assisting staff in the obstetrics department at Orange County Medical Center, which is now the UCI Medical Center. At the time, volunteers were called candy strippers because they wore red and white striped uniforms.

Davis went to Golden West College in Huntington Beach to become a licensed vocational nurse, which jump-started her career and helped her land her first job.

Davis started at Children's Hospital of Orange County in 1975.

"I always wanted to work with kids," Davis said. "So, my first job was at Children's Hospital of Orange working in the NICU [neonatal intensive care unit] and Oncology."

After moving to Idyllwild, she continued her education at College of the Desert and Mt. San Jacinto College to become a registered nurse (RN), eventually completing her Bachelor of Science in Nursing at University of Phoenix.

"You couldn't choose to take time off back then, so I decided to become a teacher so I could stay home with my kids," Davis said. For 19 years, Davis raised her kids and helped many families by teaching preschool and pre-K.

"I worked at Idyllwild Child Development Center for 12 years until it closed," explained Davis. "My mom and I built Trinity Pines the Children's Place. It was open for five years. I then taught preschool and pre-K from my home for two years while I went to school for my RN." Davis explained.

Once her kids were grown, Davis went back to her life-long passion — nursing — and returned to Eisenhower Medical Center. Davis worked at Eisenhower Medical Center for six years before she had her kids.

Davis has worked at Eisenhower Medical Center in Rancho Mirage for a total of 19 years. Currently, she is the director of nurses for 4 East, which handles general surgery. She is also the director of pediatrics.

Davis is now facing the unprecedented battle that many are facing with the COVID-19 pandemic.

She oversees 90 employees in 4 East, and her unit that once focused on surgery recovery, is now a COVID-19 unit.

"As nurses, we typically hold hands and have close contact with our patients," said Davis. "Now, we have gloves, gowns, visors and masks. So, it's difficult to provide that personal care with all that gear on but it is for our protection. We can't take care of the patients if we don't protect ourselves."

Even in these challenging times, Davis looks at her career and when asked if becoming a nurse was everything she thought it would be, she answered: "Yes. It's a blessing to be with people when they are not at their best — emotionally and physically trying to recover. The unit I work in is a surgical unit and we know how to help people get well."

"It's fulfilling with lots of happiness and sometimes a few tears," Davis added.

Davis explained to those looking to go into the nursing field, "You need to have a passion for people. It's such a privilege to have that contact with a person. I've probably cared for 10,000 people in my career and every one of them was a privilege."

Since COVID-19, Davis has been facing a different kind of nursing. However, Davis has seen humanity pull together in this time of crisis.

"One thing I've seen through this is that people are watching out for each other," said Davis. "Neighbors and friends are reaching out to each other to make sure they are okay. People are being kind to one another. I love that."

Davis also explained how much it means to her for her patients to come back and visit.

"Some patients make full recoveries and sometimes patients don't make a full recovery," Davis said. "But they have a quality

AAI donates art supplies to Idyllwild HELP Center

BY JENNY KIRCHNER
REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

For years, the Art Alliance of Idyllwild (AAI) has been providing the community with a place for all artists to share their work. They also support our young artists, encouraging them to explore their artistic abilities.

Getting supplies has been a bit more difficult with the recent Stay-at-Home order. With school now being taught at home, kids are unable to participate in smARTs.

The AAI wanted to change that and make sure art is available for all kids of all ages at home.

"The AAI believes in giving back to our community whilst fulfilling its mission to promote 'education, creativity, and artistic excellence,'" AAI President Donna Elliot said. "What better way than to foster young, talented local artists?"

For many years, the AAI has donated to the Idyllwild HELP Center during the Christmas season so families are able to receive art supplies who may not otherwise be able to have them. With everyone being sequestered at home, AAI wanted to do the same during these tough times.

"AAI has purchased hundreds of dollars of art materials and kits," Elliot said. "These have been donated to the HELP Center. It will distribute these gifts to the families registered with the HELP Center."

When the AAI learned that Earth 'N' Fire created "paint at home" kits, they wanted to support this art hub in our community.

To help Earth 'N' Fire out, the AAI commissioned more than $250 worth of these kits from Zara McMullen, owner of Earth 'N' Fire.

"These, too, will be donated and delivered to the HELP Center for distribution to its families with children," Elliot said.

These kits and supplies are designed for all ages, from young kids to teens.

Can families who are not registered with the HELP Center get supplies? Thanks to the AAI, the answer is yes.

The AAI has also taken things one step further. "In conjunction with the Ruth and Joseph C. Reed Foundation, the AAI has purchased up to $1,000 worth of art materials and kits for further distribution," Elliot said. "These will be available within the next few weeks."

Once the AAI has the supplies, they will publish details on social media and their website so families throughout the community can get these art kits and supplies.

The AAI had many workshops planned and scholarships available for students wanting to attend Idyllwild Arts Summer Program. The AAI still plans to honor all of these events when things get back to normal.

"In addition to the workshops and projects, the Reed Foundation and the AAI were sponsoring scholarships for five students to attend Idyllwild Arts Summer Program," Elliot stated. "Unfortunately, the summer program has been canceled. However, we hope to fund these scholarships during the summer of 2021. Many students dream of attending Idyllwild Arts and these scholarships provide a stepping stone towards that goal."

Art is an amazing outlet and something anyone can do at home. Take advantage of this time at home and create some masterpieces that you can share with your friends and family.

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," ARF cats visited with the new litter of kittens.
Zeus: The kittens are growing very fast!
Lulu: That's no surprise. It will be only weeks before they are ready to go to their forever homes.
Whiskers: Won't Flora be lonely? She is so used to caring for her litter of six.
Flora: I am used to being busy with my babies, but I also look forward to taking breaks.
Whiskers: Hey, I heard that ARF took in a dog a few weeks ago.
Flora: Don't ask me. My life revolves around kittens.
Pepper: It's true, Whiskers. A cute little Chihuahua-MinPin named Hurley.
Zeus: Where is he?
Pepper: ARF placed him with a couple to foster, and they became failed fosters!
Bear: Failed fosters? Is that a bad thing?
Pepper: No way! A failed foster is one who ends up adopting the fostered dog. It's actually a very good thing.
Bear: What a great thing for Hurley. I bet he is happy.
Whiskers: I heard that the humans and the dog are all very happy. They make a cute family.
Pepper: It seems that things around ARF are pretty quiet with the sequestering.
Lulu: Yes, it is.
Whiskers: The ARF House is closed to general visitation, and it seems that people on the mountain are doing a better job at keeping their dogs and cats safe at home.
Lulu: That's a relief for the ARF humans. Maybe it's because people are home all day, paying attention and giving love to their pets.
Whiskers: That could be, Lulu. ARF is getting very few calls about lost and found dogs.
Sadie: I hope it remains that way after the sequestering order is lifted.
Bear: So do the ARF humans. It makes them happy knowing that dogs and cats are safe at home. That's where pets belong.
Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "Days of Our Nine Lives" each week. Please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Highway 243 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturdays and from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on Sundays, or by appointment Monday-Friday by calling 951-659-1122.

HOROSCOPES
April 2020 — Week 3
March 21 — April 19
Don't be put off by a seemingly too-tangled situation. Sometimes a simple procedure will unsnarl all the knots and get you in the clear fast and easy, just the way the Lamb likes it.
April 20 — May 20
It's a good time to go through your work space -- wherever it is -- and see what needs to be replaced and what can be tossed (or at least given away) without a second thought.
May 21 — June 21
Someone who disagrees with your position might try to intimidate you. But continue to present a fair argument, regardless of how petty someone else might be while trying to make a point.
June 22 — July 22
You might find yourself exceptionally sensitive to family matters this week. An issue could come to light that you had overlooked. Ask other kinfolk to discuss it with you.
July 23 — August 22
You might have more questions about a project (or perhaps someone you're dealing with on some level) than you feel comfortable with. If so, see which can be answered, which cannot, and why.
August 23 — September 22
It's a good time to clean up and clear out what you don't need before your tidy self is overwhelmed by "stuff." Then go celebrate the Virgo victory over clutter with someone special.
September 23 — October 22
You might feel a mite confused about why something you were sure couldn't go wrong didn't go all right either. Be patient. Things soon move into balance, exactly as you like it.
October 23 — November 21
At this decision point, you could be moving from side to side, just to say you're in motion. Or you could be considering making a move straight up. What you choose is up to you.
November 22 — December 21
Although your finances should be in an improved situation at this time, thrift is still the savvy Sagittarian's smart move. Advice from a spouse or partner could be worth heeding.
December 22 — January 19
Taking on a new challenge brings out the Goat's skills in maneuvering over and around difficult spots. Best of all, the Goat does it one careful step after another. (Got the idea, Kid?)
January 20 — February 18
Your well-known patience might be wearing thin because of a disturbing (and seemingly unending) problem with someone close to you. This could be a time to ask for help. Good luck.
February 19 — March 20
Be careful about a new venture that lures you into a "just look and see" mode. Be sure that what you're being given to see isn't hiding what you should be seeing instead.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS

California Business and Professions Code 7071.13 reads: "Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor."

This is a contractor's responsibility, not a newspaper's, and we are not responsible for it. However, as a courtesy, we will remove references to a bond in contractors' advertising, if we notice it.
