COVID-19 update: Idyllwild-Pine Cove still holding at three

By MELISSA DIAZ HERNANDEZ
EDITOR

Riverside University Health System (RUHS) is still reporting three confirmed COVID-19 cases for Idyllwild-Pine Cove. The number has not increased since April 6 when the number jumped from one to two. The first confirmed case in Idyllwild-Pine Cove was April 3.

As of April 21 at 1 p.m., Riverside County has 2,960 confirmed COVID-19 cases. Ninety-three people have died and 757 people have recovered. Two-hundred-forty individuals are being hospitalized and of those 72 are in ICU.

As of April 14 at 1 p.m., Riverside County had 1,961 confirmed COVID-19 cases. Fifty people had died and 376 people had recovered.

As of April 7 at 1 p.m., the county had 1,016 confirmed cases, 28 deaths with 67 individuals having recovered.

To date, 31,928 people have been tested for COVID-19 in Riverside County, according to RUHS. The age range with the most confirmed cases in the county is still those between the ages of 40 and 64.

Specialized teams consisting of personnel from American Medical Response and other healthcare partners were deployed throughout the county last week to "educate and equip employees at licensed care facilities throughout Riverside County," according to a press release issued April 14 by the county. This is in response to having to relocate 84 patients from a Riverside skilled nursing facility after employees did not show up to work for two consecutive days.

"There has been so much incorrect information that has spread that many employees in these facilities are scared to show up for work," said Kim Saruwatari, director of public health. "Information is power and by providing these employees with accurate information about how COVID-19 is and is not spread, they will be confident when they report to work."

The county is now allowing drive-up religious services to occur. The order was amended April 17. The county asks that social distancing be maintained, people stay in their vehicles and do not interact with others.

Martha Pearson is living her dream

By JENNY KIRCHNER
REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

Certain people in the world are meant to help people. It's a desire to be of service. For those that have that passion, there's no denying it.

Martha Pearson has lived in Idyllwild her entire life — 47 years to be exact — and been driven to help people from a young age.

"I just like helping people," Pearson said. "When I was right out of high school, I was an EMT."

In the mid-90s, Pearson worked for the Idyllwild Fire Protection District (IFPD) for a short time after getting her EMT certification from Mt. San Jacinto College.

As Pearson pursued her dream of helping people, she ran into the challenges of being a female in a prominently male-driven field. Needing more experience, Pearson found work off the mountain but always wanted to help her community.

"I worked for an EMT company called Rescue One in the Los Angeles area in my

Vote by mail in May 12 special election

By CALIFORNIA SECRETARY OF STATE
CONTRIBUTED

Tuesday, May 12, 2020 is the Special General Election to fill the vacancy of the State Senate district seat that was left by State Sen. Jeff Stone who resigned to become the Western Regional Director of the U.S. Department of Labor.

To ensure the safety of all voters and elections officials during the COVID-19 pandemic, Governor Gavin Newsom signed an executive order requiring county elections officials to mail every registered voter a ballot for this election.

You are strongly encouraged to fill out your ballot at your earliest convenience and return it in the mail. There will only be limited in-person voting opportunities for voters who need assistance.

Returning your ballot

Your vote-by-mail ballot comes with a prepaid postage return envelope. Simply fill out your ballot, seal it in the return envelope, sign the back of the envelope on the designated line and put it in the mail. For more information, watch the vote-by-mail ballot return video at <https://youtu.be/LqLL-QGQVkw>.

Your ballot must be postmarked on or before May 12. Ballots will be processed and counted as long as they are postmarked on or before May 12 and arrive to county elections officials no later than May 15.

Tracking your ballot

You can sign up to receive automatic email, text (SMS) or voice notifications on the status of your vote-by-mail ballot. You will be notified when your ballot is on its way to you, received by county elections officials and counted. Sign up at wheresmyballot.sos.ca.gov.

Due to extension of the vote counting period for the March 3, 2020 presidential primary, ballot notifications for this special election will not be sent out until April 25, 2020.

In-person voting assistance

There will still be an opportunity to vote in person on or before election day, but due to the pandemic, in-person voting opportunities and assistance will be limited. Please use in-person options only if you require assistance from elections officials.

For more information on in-person voting options, contact your county elections office at 951-486-7200 or <https://www.voteinfo.net/>.

Covid

The county had previously allowed drive-up services for Easter weekend only.

As of Monday, April 20, the county is allowing non-contact outdoor activities (with restrictions) such as golf, tennis, equestrian activities, hiking, biking and pickleball in a revised order that had previously closed golf courses to aid in containing the spread of COVID-19.

Under this revised order, social distancing must be maintained and face coverings must be worn at all times. Large gatherings are prohibited until June 20. The county still prohibits the use of picnic tables, playgrounds, team sports or other similar public events and gatherings, according to the April 20 press release. Additional restrictions for golf include: Play shall be limited to foursomes that will be required to observe social distancing (six feet separation between players at all times) and no caddies.

"After consulting with public health officials and local leadership, we have made modifications for golf and other forms of recreational activity, such as use of parks, trails and outdoor areas for hiking, biking, pickleball and tennis to resume," said Riverside County Board of Supervisors Chair V. Manuel Perez, who represents the fourth district. "With proper safety guidelines, our residents can benefit from healthy activities that promote physical exercise, wellness and behavioral health so long as physical distancing is practiced. We will continue to listen and base decisions on thorough review, best practices, data and science."

Riverside County Third District Supervisor Chuck Washington, who represents the area of Idyllwild, is still urging tourists to stay away from Idyllwild. In a statement released Friday, Washington said, "I was deeply disturbed to learn that people blatantly defied the state and county Stay-at-Home orders last weekend and risked the health and safety of Idyllwild residents. I've asked Sheriff [Chad] Bianco to pay extra attention to the mountain areas this weekend and be on the lookout for non-essential visitors."

On Sunday, there were two Riverside County Sheriff's deputies positioned on both sides of Highway 243 near The Fort.

Enforcement

An order was issued by the county's Public Health Officer Dr. Cameron Kaiser stating that people could be fined or arrested for public congregations of any size and for not wearing a face covering. This order runs through April 30.

"This is a valid order and enforceable by fine, imprisonment or both," said Bianco in a message he posted on social media. "However, I need to make it perfectly clear to all residents of Riverside County. We will not be setting up any type of police state and this is not a declaration of martial law in Riverside County. Riverside County Sheriff's deputies will not be stopping vehicles or setting checkpoints for motorists. We will not be stopping you while on a walk with your kids or while you're out running or hiking."

If you see nonessential businesses operating at this time, you are able to report them to the county. Complaints should be made to the email address DOCLiaisonOfficer@rivco.org, 951-351-6866 or the RivCoMobile App. The county asks that you have detailed information on the location. The county also banned short-term lodging until June 19 unless it is being used to contain and mitigate COVID-19.

COVID-19 testing

COVID-19 testing has been expanded to those without symptoms. In a press release issued Friday, Dr. Cameron Kaiser, Riverside County public health officer, said "The modification of the testing criteria will allow anyone who wants to be tested the opportunity to see whether they have the illness. Officials have said expanded testing — for those with and without symptoms — will give health experts a better idea of the extent of the illness in Riverside County."

Residents need to call 800-945-6171 to make an appointment over the phone for testing at all five locations — Coachella Valley, Harvest Christian Fellowship church in Riverside, Perris Fairgrounds, Blythe Fairgrounds and Lake Elsinore. Those seeking tests at the Lake Elsinore location are encouraged to use the website https://www.pro- jectbaseline.com/study/covid-19/ for appointments but may use the above-mentioned phone number.

The newspaper reached out to county health to find out how far out appointments were being made before we went to print two weeks ago. Several people contacted the newspaper saying it was taking two weeks to get tested. We still have not heard back.

Hemet Global Medical Center opened the first private COVID-19 drive-up testing site in Riverside County. You can make an appointment by calling 951-765-4757.

Local entities update

The Town Crier's Idyllwild daily high and low temperatures and rain and snow totals in the past were taken directly from the National Weather Service website, which gets its Idyllwild weather information from automatic weather sensing equipment at Idyllwild Fire Station, an official NWS COOP reporter. [We are seeking reliable Idyllwild and Pine Cove full-time residents to provide this information. Residents who follow CoCoRaHS procedures would be strongly preferred. CoCoRaHS is an organization of private, amateur weather observers that provides carefully collected data for use by the NWS. If you are interested in providing us with rain and snow reports, please contact jack@towncrier.com or (951) 659-2145.]

Our weather season is July 1 to June 30. Our season totals now have been corrected for the period July 1 through September 17, 2018, which prior to this issue of the TC had been in error. Restaurants Restaurant Gastrognome and Café Aroma are closed until further notice.

All the following restaurants and food purveyors will be doing to-go orders: Coyote Red's, Candy Cupboard, Ferro, Fratello's, Idyllwild Brewpub, Idy Sushi Roll, Idyllwild Ice Cream & Jerky, Idyllwild Pizza Company, La Casita, The Lumber Mill, Tommy's Kitchen, Mamma Mia Crepes & Desserts, Mile High Cafe, Mountain Center Cafe and The Red Kettle.

Schools

Hemet Unified School District: (Information updated as of press time.)

The county has ordered schools to be shut down through June 19. This closure includes all extra-curricular activities, afterschool programs and district-sponsored events during this time. Visit the district website (<https://www.hemetusd.org/>) for updates.

Instruction

Hemet Unified School District is providing guidance with supplementary resources, digital and non-digital (work packets that can be picked up with the lunch/breakfast), that can be used at home to review and reinforce knowledge and skills learned this school year. Students and families will not be required to use these resources but are welcome to do so. Visit hemetlearnstogether.org. Teachers have now set up video conferencing software to communicate with students for distance learning.

Nutrition

During district closure, Nutrition Services will provide breakfast and lunch meals free of charge to children 18 years of age and under. Breakfast and lunch will be served Wednesdays only from 9-10:30 a.m. You will receive 10 meals (breakfast and lunch) per child for the week. It is a drive/walk-thru type of meal service. For those driving, HUSD asks that you stay in your car and meals will be provided for each child present. If you have students at multiple schools, you only need to visit one location. Children need to be present to get their meals.

Town Crier Members and Advertisers are being great during all this!

By JACK CLARK
CO-PUBLISHER

Like many other small businesses, the Town Crier has been impacted by COVID-19. We are cooperating with the expert-prescribed economic shutdown by closing our office to the public and doing business by phone and email.

Our Members and Advertisers have been golden. Every day Members are renewing their Memberships, and new Members join us weekly — and our faithful Advertisers have been great, as well.

So, because you Members and Advertisers are staying with us during these tough times, when the California reopening eventually arrives, the Town Crier will be here — ready to handle the expected flood of advertising from inns, restaurants, shops, service providers and our great service organizations here on the Hill — all eager to let folks know they're back in business.

Thank you, thank you to you all!

Every day Members are renewing their Memberships, and new Members join us weekly — and our faithful Advertisers have been great, as well.

How to get a letter published

The Town Crier welcomes letters reflecting all opinions.

- Letters should be concise and to the point.
- They should be no longer than 400 words.
- Letters must be typewritten, double-spaced and in upper/lower case (not in all caps).
- Letters must be identified with the author's name, address and weekday phone number.
- The Town Crier will not publish "thank-you" letters, consumer complaints, form letters, clippings from other publications or poetry.
- Political letters during election season cost 10 cents per word but are not accepted the week before an election.
- We reserve the right to reject or edit letters for length, taste, clarity or frequency of submission.
- Only one letter per author within a 28-day period.
- Letters do not necessarily reflect the opinions of Town Crier staff.
- Letters may be submitted by e-mail to melissa@towncrier.com.
- The deadline is 10 a.m. Monday.

Losing a job often means also losing insurance

By TRUDY LIEBERMAN
COMMUNITY HEALTH NEWS SERVICE

The growing numbers of unemployed Americans — likely to hit 20 million or more thanks to the effects of the coronavirus — bring with them a loss of employer-provided health insurance coverage. The pandemic has laid bare the deficiencies in America's main vehicle for providing health insurance.

The system, which grew up after World War II as a way to attract workers, had already begun to decline. Over the past 20 years the share of non-elderly Americans covered by job-based insurance dropped from 68% to 57%.

Significantly, that drop has been true for all income groups below $104,800 for a family of four and about $51,000 for a single person.

Those grim stats raise a crucial question: How will laid off middle-income workers be able to pay for insurance premiums on their own let alone the deductibles, coinsurance and copays that come with policies these days? Many cannot.

Still if you are in this predicament or know someone who is, this column lays out the main options available. A warning: All have drawbacks.

As a general rule, the option that gives you the greatest coverage, for the lowest price, for the longest time is the best choice.

COBRA: The Consolidated Omnibus Budget Act passed in 1985 gives employees who have lost job-based coverage the right to remain on their employers' policies for at least 18 months, longer under some circumstances. COBRA applies to employers with 20 or more employees, and workers who've lost their jobs have to pay the entire premium plus a small administrative fee. The average annual family premium for employer-provided coverage last year was $20,500 with the employee paying only $6,000 of that amount. This isn't likely to be a great option for someone who was just laid-off.

AFFORDABLE CARE ACT policies are a better option for many workers who've lost their jobs. While they are a good solution for some people, they are problematic for others. Those with low and middling incomes below 250% of poverty, or a little more than $64,000 for a family of four, should consider an ACA policy. You'll receive government help paying the premium and, most important, help paying the deductibles, coinsurance, and copays, which are increasingly pinching family budgets, making it hard for them to afford care.

Families with incomes between 250% and 400% of poverty (nearly $105,000 for the family of four) do get some help paying the premiums, but the amount of help declines the higher the income. The biggest problem for families in this group is that there is no help from the Affordable Care Act with the cost-sharing expenses: deductibles, co-insurance and co-pays. That makes these policies less attractive, especially when someone gets sick and finds that a deductible of $8,000 means they won't get any help until they have paid at least that amount out of pocket.

How will laid off middle-income workers be able to pay for insurance premiums on their own let alone the deductibles, coinsurance and copays that come with policies these days? Many cannot.

If you don't qualify for cost-sharing subsidies, you'll have to make this choice: Go with a cheaper premium but higher cost sharing and be prepared to pay more if you get sick. Or pay more up front and have more protection when illness strikes.

Remember that having a preexisting health condition is not a barrier to obtaining an ACA policy. That is a huge help to anyone who is ill.

Since the president has said he will not open the federal ACA marketplaces now closed, you'll have to apply for a policy through a special provision that lets people enroll if they've lost employer coverage in the last 60 days or expect to lose it in the next 60 days. You can also qualify if you've lost the coverage you had through a family member. Go to this website for more information: <https://www.healthcare.gov/glossary/special-enrollment-period/>

MEDICAID is a good option for people with very low incomes. It provides comprehensive coverage, but it's hard to get. In most states, an adult's income must be no greater than $17,609 to qualify. Some states have even lower limits to receive benefits. Some have tried to impose work requirements as a condition for receiving benefits, but those are gone now. And the Families First Coronavirus Response Act that Congress passed on March 18 bans states from disenrolling anyone who was covered by Medicaid as of that date, making it easier to maintain coverage.

SHORT-TERM POLICIES are an alternative made available last year by the Trump administration. They offer coverage for up to three years and can cost as much as 50% less than more comprehensive policies. But they generally don't cover preexisting conditions and often don't cover maternity care, mental health or prescription drugs. I call them the "buyer-beware" option because some consumers have purchased them only to be left with large bills when they got sick. If you're offered one of these, proceed with extreme caution.

Navigating this marketplace has never been easy. Send your health policy questions and concerns to Trudy at trudy.lieberman@gmail.com.

Some safety tips from Cal Fire:

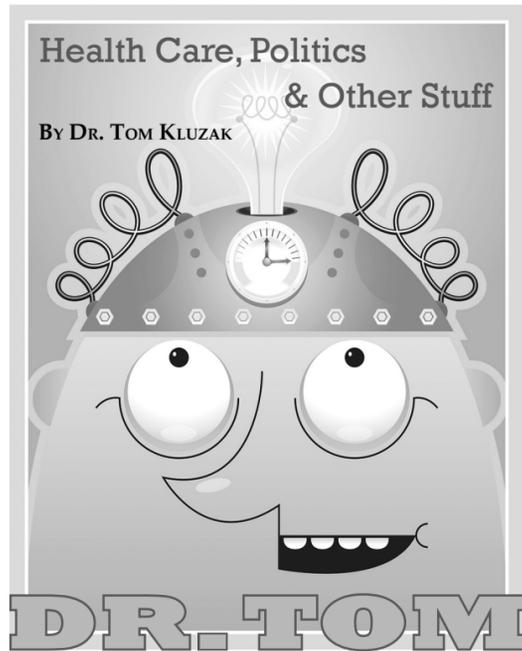

1. Don't mow or trim dry grass on windy days.
2. Never pull your vehicle over in dry grass.
3. Target shoot only in approved areas, use lead ammunition only, and never shoot at metal objects.
4. Check and obey burn bans.
5. Ensure campfires are allowed, and if so, be sure to extinguish them completely.
6. Report any suspicious activities to prevent arson.
7. If you see something — say something.

Health care now, pay later

Like all of you, we are wondering when we can go to a restaurant, when we will feel safe going to the essential businesses that remain open.

A friend is in danger of bankruptcy because his business in the desert is required to be closed but his landlord still wants rent. How will people survive and how can we help them? I wish I had answers.

We can just hope that people will go back to work safely and pay their rent and be able to buy food to feed their families. But one group of people, I am afraid, will not fare so well.

We have all heard about those who survived after 10 days on a ventilator, have weathered the quarantine and got to hold their newborn, have telecasted from their basements while hoping their families didn't get infected. But how many of those people are going to end up with bills that they can't pay and end up declaring bankruptcy?

Previous pandemics have resulted in changes when they revealed social contracts that didn't work for our citizens. This pandemic likewise shows a fatal flaw in our approach to health care, namely: Tying health insurance to employment is irrational.

Of course, we knew that before. But it is now much worse for the people who have lost their jobs. We have heard ad nauseam the promotions from the health insurance industry about the 150 million people who had jobs that provided health insurance and supposedly loved it, but 60 million of them changed jobs every year and therefore had to change insurance.

Those people faced new networks and deductibles and copays and lists of approved drugs — con games that have accompanied the profiteering and administrative excesses that have made the medical industrial complex so lucrative for so many.

When the linking of insurance to employment took a giant leap forward during World War II because of wage controls that exempted some perks like insurance, it was a different era.

Such is not the case now! Add to that the huge increase in unemployment that has accompanied the COVID-19 pandemic and we end up with a system that is nonsensical for the majority of Americans who cannot afford a surprise $400 bill.

The joy that those who survived a long hospital stay, perhaps in the ICU, will be muted somewhat when they receive bills for many thousands or hundreds of thousands of dollars that will force them into bankruptcy — bills that we all pay.

How much simpler would it be to finance health care with payroll taxes akin to Medicare but covering everyone, allowing the government to negotiate rates for care and drugs that are reasonable, avoiding bankruptcies, drastically decreasing the number of pencil-pushers and administrators and recognizing the simple fact that, in the wealthiest country in the world, health care is a basic, affordable, human right?

Most recognize the value in that approach and know we will get there eventually. I hope it is not too late for those most impacted by these difficult times.

Fatal motorcycle crash on Highway 371

BY JENNY KIRCHNER
REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

A fatal motorcycle collision occurred on Highway 371 last week, according to California Highway Patrol (CHP) Public Information Officer Matt Napier.

On April 15 at 2:57 p.m., Albert Charles Farrell, 79 of Palm Springs, was driving a gold and blue 2010 Harley-Davidson Electra Glide east on Highway 371 just west of Highway 74 when, for unknown reasons, he made an unsafe maneuver, causing him to lose control and crash. His motorcycle was towed by Valley Auto.

Farrell was pronounced deceased on scene at 3:20 p.m. and transported by the Riverside County Coroner to its office. There were no witnesses or other vehicles involved. The crash is still under investigation.

Equifax data breach settlement: What you should know

In September of 2017, Equifax announced a data breach that exposed the personal information of 147 million people. Under a settlement filed today, Equifax agreed to spend up to $425 million to help people affected by the data breach. If you were affected by the Equifax breach, you can't file a claim just yet. That's coming. But you can sign up for FTC email alerts about the settlement at ftc.gov/Equifax. Not sure that you were affected? The breach claims site will have a tool to let you check. Sign up for an FTC email update to find out when that tool is up and running.

Steps for earthquake safety

The Earthquake Country Alliance has prepared seven steps for people to take before, during and after an earthquake.

Before:

Step 1: Secure your space by identifying hazards and securing movable items.

Step 2: Plan to be safe by creating a disaster plan and deciding how you will communicate in an emergency.

Step 3: Organize disaster supplies in convenient locations.

Step 4: Minimize financial hardship by organizing important documents, strengthening your property and considering insurance.

During:

Step 5: Drop, cover and hold on when the earth shakes.

Step 6: Improve safety after earthquakes by evacuating if necessary, helping the injured and preventing further injuries or damage.

After:

Step 7: Restore daily life by reconnecting with others, repairing damage and rebuilding community.

Social Security scam

Getting calls saying your Social Security number is suspended because of suspicious activity? It's a scam. The Social Security Administration (SSA) is not calling you, no matter what your caller ID says.

Medicare does not give out DNA kits

The FTC is getting reports that callers claiming to be from Medicare are asking people for their Medicare numbers, Social Security numbers, and other personal information in exchange for DNA testing kits. The callers might say the test is a free way to get early diagnoses for diseases like cancer, or just that it's a free test, so why not take it? But the truth is, Medicare does not market DNA testing kits to the general public. This is yet another government imposter scam.

How Chris Fogle accidentally built his ideal career

REPORTER/PHOTOGRAPHER

In 1979, Chris Fogle was seven years old and moved to Idyllwild with his family. Being fond of the outdoors, Fogle was in paradise and spent his youth backpacking, rock climbing, hiking and engaged in many other outdoor activities that the mountain provides.

Fogle decided to get a summer job with the U.S. Forest Service (USFS) in July of 1992. It seemed to be a perfect fit.

"I loved being outside in the mountains and wilderness," Fogle said. "At 19 years old, one of my friends I grew up with had gotten a job with the USFS, so I applied. In July of 1992, I was offered to be a member of Engine 52 at the Kenworthy station located in Garner Valley."

His summer job turned into a 17-year stint with Engine 52, working his way up through the ranks and building a career.

"I got to combine those things I loved to do along with protecting the community I loved and lived in," Fogle said. "In 2007, I was offered a battalion chief position and am supervising fire staff, engines, helicopter and hotshot crews."

Fogle has been working for the USFS for almost 30 years and knows the mountain like the back of his hand.

"When I started doing this, I was just looking for something to do in the summer," Fogle explained. "It was fun and exciting but not a planned career goal. Then before you know it, you've been doing it for a long time and advancement opportunities have come around. It's been a wonderful career and it's been quite the honor to be able to help protect the mountain and the communities."

Within his career, Fogle has noticed the changes in fire activity as the weather has changed and the population increased.

"In the 28 years I've been doing this, it went from more occurrences but smaller sized fires to less occurrences but larger sized fires," Fogle said. "In the last 10 years, the fires seem to be getting larger and moving quicker."

Everyone wants the same outcome and that is to protect our mountain.

"Thinking back, we've had some very large fires that I've worked here — the Bee Canyon Fire in 1996, the Esperanza Fire in 2006, the Mountain Fire in 2013 and the Cranston Fire in 2018," Fogle recalled.

When you've lived in a community for 41 years, the emotional investment runs deep. Fogle has been on fires all over the country, and while he takes every fire seriously, there is something different about managing fighting fires in the community he grew up in.

"It's always different fighting a fire in your own back yard," explained Fogle.

"It's been fun and really is a privilege to help protect this mountain. My dad protected it for many years as the resident sheriff when I was growing up and it's been a great career for me working for the Forest Service." — Chris Fogle

"I've been on details in other areas of the country, and while evacuations are never taken lightly, you don't have that vested personal interest of the land and area. Watching people drive by that you know puts a completely different feel to it. When you spend the amount of time as I have here, you have those connections and you understand what's at risk more when there is something threatening town."

However, there is the benefit of knowing the area that makes a huge difference. "The benefits of those fires are that I grew up on this mountain," Fogle said. "I've been on most of these ridges before I started working for the Forest Service. So now, you already know where the best access points are."

Fogle, who just turned 48 this month, will have the option to stay in the USFS for another nine years. The USFS has a mandatory retirement age of 57 for those who are in a primary fire position.

"It's been fun and really is a privilege to help protect this mountain," Fogle said. "My dad protected it for many years as the resident sheriff when I was growing up and it's been a great career for me working for the Forest Service."

Fogle also shared a bit of advice for those wanting to join the USFS.

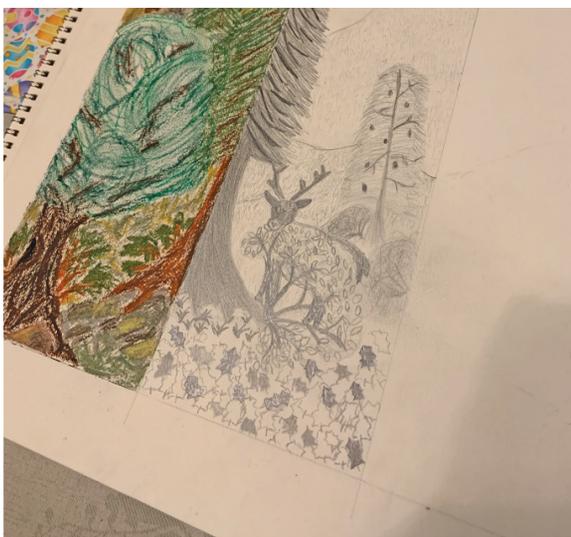

"If you're interested, become a student of fire and learn everything about it," said Fogle. "The more you know about it, the easier it is to control it, manipulate it and stop it when you need to. This is a wonderful career for someone who gets bored easily like I do. It keeps you challenged and occupied."

The Town Crier asked families to share the creative projects they'd been working on while staying home. Below and on page B2 are some of the submissions sent in, including the short story "Snow Day."

The White family worked together to create a special art piece last week, helping pass the time during the Stay-at-Home order. Each of the five family members illustrated one portion of a landscape drawing that created one big art piece.

Snow Day

By INDIGO DAGNALL, 10 YEARS OLD
CONTRIBUTED

Ring, ring, ring, ring. Ugh, time to get up. I reached out my arm to stop my annoying blue alarm clock. I sat up on my bed with my brown strands of hair poking out every which way.

That's when I glanced at the window and realized it had snowed outside! I wouldn't have to go to school! I rushed up to the gleaming glass window. There were just feet and feet of pure white, crusty snow piled up outside. The height was increasing wildly as it snowed more and more.

I must have sat there for about an hour just staring at what looked like a giant piece of white, lumpy paper just covering every square inch of my vision and listening to the birds cry.

Eventually, the smell of sausages and eggs wafted through my door and my mom was calling me down for breakfast in her usual raspy morning voice. I threw on my soft, blue robe and headed down our glistening wooden steps that my mom tries so desperately to keep clean.

I made it downstairs to see my whole family already sitting at our marble table in the center of the family room. This was a strange sight because usually my family of four doesn't eat together.

Normally, my mom makes breakfast around 7:30 a.m. while my dad is already working out in town and my 7-year-old brother sleeps until 9 a.m. My dad doesn't get home until 5 p.m. on a usual day and I get out of school at 2:45 p.m. with my brother.

So, you can tell it was a pretty weird sight. I sat down and greeted my family while my dad started on his usual story of work and why he should get a raise. The rest of us normal people just have to sit there and nod approvingly when there are pauses.

We all ate quickly and my dad said I should go play outside with my brother in 15 minutes.

I grunted, but my mom shot me a look that said, "Do it or you're grounded." So after breakfast, I trudged slowly back up the stairs stomping on every single one to get on my parents' nerves and into my room. I started pulling open my gray, wooden cabinet doors and grabbed a handful of snow clothes.

I have about three to four types of every type of clothing that has to do with the snow. I spent a half hour mixing and matching to get the perfect clothes that would keep me warm. After I was done, I waddled back down the stairs like a penguin and out the front door.

My brother was already out there building snowmen and asked if I wanted to help him make one. I shot him a disapproving look and shook my head. He gave me the stink eye. I told him I was going to make an igloo to keep warm and I didn't get a response.

As time went by, the snow started doing all sorts of crazy stuff. Like at one point, it would start snowing really hard and 10 minutes later it was hailing. There were points where slush started coming down and points where it didn't even snow at all and the sun peaked out.

Every so often when I finished building a couple of snow blocks, I would glance over at my brother to see what he was doing, but every time I did, he would non-stop pelt me with a couple of snowballs. So, I chased him around and when I caught him, I would tickle him to death.

After four hours of being outside, I finished putting my white igloo together and a snowball hit my neck. At first, I thought it was my brother but he wasn't even there! When I turned around, I couldn't even find our house!

There were just large mounds of snow everywhere. It hadn't been snowing for the past hour, but just then, little things of snow started dropping. When I looked up, I spotted a huge snowball hurtling through the air straight towards me. I dove out of the way when another one came down — and another one after that and another one after that.

This went on for about three minutes when I heard a loud voice telling me to wake up. I closed my eyes and when I opened them, I was in my bed. My brother was repetitively smacking my face. So, I guess that was the snowballs and telling me to wake up. It was a dream!

CREATURE CORNER

By JANICE MURASKO

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," ARF cats discussed the new normal for ARF.

Zeus: I'm getting pretty tired of all the quiet around here.

Lulu: I think all of us are and so are the ARF humans.

Whiskers: But I bet we will see humans once they are allowed to meet the kittens.

Flora: That will be very strange for me. These babies really tire me, but at the same time, I will really miss them once they are in their forever homes.

Whiskers: Flora, be certain to be as cute as possible when the humans come to meet your babies. Because there are more potential forever families than there are kittens, one of the humans who doesn't get a kitten just might want to adopt you!

Flora: So true!

Pepper: But I've heard you won't have to try too hard. ARF folks can't say enough about how sweet and friendly you are.

Zeus: Aren't we all?

Pepper: With the right forever families, you bet we are!

Bear: How does a potential adopter meet us or the kittens with this Stay-at-Home thing happening?

Pepper: ARF is being very, very careful and wants to be certain everyone is safe. So, anyone wanting to meet one of us needs to make a special appointment to do so.

Bear: I've noticed that the ARF House hasn't been open to the public.

Whiskers: That is correct, but the ARF humans are still checking phone messages many times each day.

Pepper: They are still engaged with the public and willing to help however they are able.

Lulu: I've heard that they will help provide pet food for families who are in a financial crunch.

Whiskers: If the guardians of a pet need dog or cat food, they just need to call ARF and make arrangements for pick-up.

Lulu: I heard that ARF will continue to do this as long as they possibly can.

Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "Days of Our Nine Lives" each week. Please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Highway 243 from 10 a.m.-4 p.m. on Saturdays and from 10 a.m.-2 p.m. on Sundays, or by appointment Monday-Friday by calling 951-659-1122.

HOROSCOPES
 April 2020 — Week 4

March 21 – April 19
 You still might have to deal with some lingering confusion that marked a recent workplace situation. But for the most part, you should now be well on your way to your next project.

April 20 – May 20
 A new commitment might demand more time than you'd expected to have to give it. But rely on that special Bovine gift for patience, and stick with it. You'll be glad you did.

May 21 – June 21
 You're earning the admiration of a lot of people who like the way you handle yourself when your views are on the line. Even one or two of your detractors are being won over.

June 22 – July 22
 Taking your responsibilities seriously is what you do. But ease up on the pressure gauge, and make time for much needed R & R. Start by making this weekend a "just for fun" time zone.

July 23 – August 22
 Some recently uncovered information might make a change of plans inevitable. If so, deal with it as quickly as possible, and then find out what went wrong and why. What you learn might surprise you.

August 23 – September 22
 Aspects favor moving carefully and deliberately when making any significant changes. Could be there are more facts you need to know, which you might overlook if you rush things.

September 23 – October 22
 A problem neighbor might be looking to goad you into an action you don't want to take. Ask someone you both respect if he or she would act as an impartial arbitrator for both of you.

October 23 – November 21
 A recent workplace accomplishment hasn't been overlooked by those who watch these things. Meanwhile, start making travel plans for that much-too-long-deferred trip with someone special.

November 22 – December 21
 Those money matters continue to move in your favor. Now would be a good time to start putting some money back into the house, both for esthetic as well as economic reasons.

December 22 – January 19
 A changing workplace environment can create job pressures. But, once again, follow the example of your birth sign and take things a step at a time, like the sure-footed Goat you are.

January 20 – February 18
 Cheer up. You could soon have the funds you need for your worthy project. Your generous gifts of time and effort are well known, and someone might decide it's time to join with you.

February 19 – March 20
 Your inner scam-catcher is right on target, and you're absolutely right to reject that "too good to be true" offer. Meanwhile, something positive should be making its way to you.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS

California Business and Professions Code 7071.13 reads: "Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor."

This is a contractor's responsibility, not a newspaper's, and we are not responsible for it. However, as a courtesy, we will remove references to a bond in contractors' advertising, if we notice it.
