Zambranas in need after serious collision

BY BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

Idyllwild Help Center (IHC) Client Services Administrator Skye Zambrana and her husband Mike are recovering from serious injuries they both suffered in a traffic collision Monday night, May 2.

According to IHC Executive Director Colleen Meyer, the Zambranas, who moved to Hemet a year ago because they could not find housing in Idyllwild, were returning home from picking up sandwiches when a 16-year-old unlicensed male driver's vehicle T-boned their vehicle, causing their vehicle to flip upside down. This occurred on the Ramona Expressway in San Jacinto.

Skye was airlifted from the scene with a broken pelvis and right arm, said Meyer. Mike has four broken vertebrae. Both were in the same hospital room at Riverside Regional Medical Center.

California Highway Patrol's Jeff Osteen said the report was incomplete as to the details of what occurred but he did say that a 16-year-old male of San Jacinto was involved, driving a white 2011 BMW 328i, and he was either unlicensed or did not have a license in his possession. The Zambranas were in a gray 2010 Nissan Murano. He confirmed the collision occurred on the Ramona Expressway in San Jacinto at 6:18 p.m.

Mike said he was in the hospital until May 5 and Skye was in for a week.

"I don't remember the moment before the impact," said Mike. He remembers being cut out of the seatbelt. "When I woke up, I was upside down in the car. Skye wasn't there." He said it was very surreal. I kept asking, "Where's my wife? Where's my wife? Is she OK? They wouldn't tell me."

He could only think the worst had happened. He said he then heard her breathing in an odd way outside of the vehicle and talking.

She may have been ejected, he said, but neither of them know for sure.

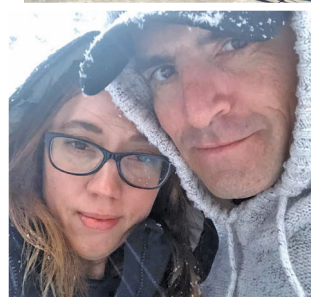

Skye broke both her pelvis and her right arm in two places. He said she just started taking her first steps Monday. "I'm still walking with a walker," Mike said but if he's on his feet for too long, his back swells. Now that Skye is home, he needs to take care of her, too.

"Both Skye and Mike will be out of work for a period of time and their only car was totaled in this accident," wrote IHC employee Kim Negrete. Mike has no estimate as to when they will be able to return to work. Doctors estimate 12 weeks for Skye's pelvis to heal.

"Skye tirelessly helps others all day for our community, so let's all rally together to help them as they have a long road to recovery. No amount is too small and all donations are appreciated," said Negrete.

The Zambranas have been married for 21 years and have two children: Zoe is a junior at the University of California, Santa Barbara, and Zach works with his dad at Pino Tree Service where Mike is a safety director.

Due to the fees GoFund me charges, IHC is requesting that donations be made directly to the Zambranas through their PayPal account at thezambranas@hotmail.com, or donate cash or checks made out in their name at IHC and Thrift Store.

Humber Park closed from May 16 to 20

The Humber Park trailhead and parking lot, which includes the Devil's Slide Trail (3E05) and Ernie Maxwell Scenic Trail (3E07), will be inaccessible from the afternoon of Monday, May 16 to Friday, May 20 due to contractors mitigating an infestation of Goldspotted oak borer beetles (GSOB).

With windy or rainy weather, this work and the closure may be postponed until the following week (May 23 to 27) or June 6 to 10.

Alternative trails into the San Jacinto Wilderness include:

- Deer Springs Trail (3E32)
- South Ridge Trail (3E08)
- Marion Mountain Trail (2E14)

To manage the already-infested trees and limit further spread and tree mortality, the San Jacinto Ranger District will be spraying a California-registered insecticide on large, high-value oaks in this area. Spraying must be done at or before the beginning of the "flight season" (mid-May through October) when adult beetles emerge from beneath oak bark and spread to uninfested trees.

GSOB has caused extensive oak mortality in San Diego County and is now spreading north throughout Southern California. There is a potential for significant economic, ecological, cultural and aesthetic losses in the region as well as threats to public safety from hazardous dying trees.

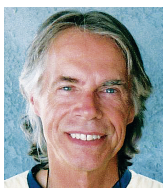

For more information on the beetle, visit www.GSOB.org.

Brian Nash seeks first elective office

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Editor's note: On June 7, Riverside County will hold a primary for the two candidates to represent District 32 in the California Senate. The only candidates in the primary are Brian Nash (Democrat) and Kelly Seyarto (Republican). Both will move to the General Election ballot in November. Interviews with both candidates are in this issue of the Town Crier.

Brian Nash, the 42-year-old Democratic candidate for Senate District 32 seat, should overwhelm any opponent since he stands 6 foot, 7 inches tall. However, the size of a candidate is no longer how the voters judge them. Nash will have to convince voters of his merits through his statements and positions on the various campaign issues.

Nash is a Michigan native and now lives in Murrieta. This is his first race for elective office and he says his motivation was Donald Trump and the antics of his devoted followers.

"I could never imagine this happening. I can't believe all that is going on," he said with angst. On his website, he wrote, "The pandemic has depleted our patience and kindness. Cowards, grifters, and sociopaths are trying to move us closer to autocracy."

Nash addressed all the major issues — education, health care, climate change and taxes — that are prevalent in current political races. Influencing his view on these and other issues is his belief in Punk Rock ethics. On his website, he noted, "The punk community was decades ahead of the general public on many significant social issues."

On education, he wants to increase state funding, if elected, particularly teachers' pay and add more teachers to reduce classroom size.

"People are not going into the profession as they should. They're underpaid," he contends. "And there are a lot more challenges." He believes that greater school funding will help meet current needs and ultimately lead to significantly increasing student score results.

While the state Department of Education (DOE) is reporting falling student populations, Nash argues that is simply a temporary phenomenon of the pandemic. Parents were concerned about their children being exposed to the COVID virus in groups.

Consequently, more parents chose to home school. "At the beginning of the next school year, it should start to return," he maintained.

In an April press release, the California DOE reported, "The annual snapshot of fall enrollment shows a fifth year of decline as the state emerges from two challenging years of the COVID-19 pandemic . . . California enrollment declines are consistent with national trends that show enrollment is dropping across the country. These declines began prior to the pandemic and are projected to continue into the future in California."

Climate change is a problem that Nash said "can't just be ignored. We have to work with it." One of his indicators of the problem and eventual improvement will be wildlife conservation. He strongly feels there needs to be a balance. More data assessing the risk mitigation of new projects needs to be used more in decision making.

"Every being within the environment plays a role," he said.

Health care is another issue for which Nash has strong feelings and seeks change. He favors a

Kelly Seyarto seeks to move to state Senate from Assembly

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Kelly Seyarto lives in Murietta with his wife, Denise. For 35 years of his 62 years, Seyarto was a firefighter. In 2015, he retired as a battalion chief for Los Angeles County Fire Department.

Besides raising three daughters with Denise, he currently is finishing his first term representing the voters of the 67th Assembly District. He also has served as a Murietta City Council member and mayor.

As a former firefighter, Seyarto understands what State Responsibility Areas are and how Cal Fire, the U.S. Forest Service and local fire agencies must work together to reduce the risk of wildfires and to suppress a fire if one starts.

"Working for LA County Fire, I've had a lot of interaction between the Forest Service and us," he noted.

"And it's important to have local fire departments," he added. From his own experience, he mentioned that the local departments know every nook and cranny of the locale and are crucial to evacuations and initial attacks.

More fiscal resources for Cal Fire is one of his goals. He recognized the importance of Hemet Ryan Airbase for fighting wildfires in the San Jacinto and San Bernardino mountains.

"They have a new helicopter to deploy for aggressively fighting against fires," he acknowledged.

And as an Assembly member, he has already introduced legislation (Assembly Bill 380) addressing some fuel reduction issues.

"One major issue occurs when fuel reduction contracts [are being developed] by any agency. The [California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA)] can sometimes be frustrating. And it may take years and years to get the contract through," Seyarto asserted. "Sometimes you can't wait that long."

His bill builds on Gov. Gavin Newsom's 2019 Emergency Proclamation that exempts certain fuel reduction projects from various legal requirements, including CEQA review requirements. Seyarto wants Cal Fire to identify critical fuel reduction projects each year that need to be completed soon and would qualify for these exemptions.

Unfortunately, the Assembly Natural Resources Committee did not hear the bill, but Seyarto noted that more members are supporting it and he hopes to gain approval if elected to the Senate.

Besides the Natural Resources and Emergency Management committees, he is vice chair of the Assembly's Elections Committee. When asked if he believes the 2020 election was stolen, Seyarto replied, "We didn't focus on that day. We address issues that originated with

Life Tribute
Barbara Glee Hunt
1936-2022

Barbara Glee (Wilson) Hunt passed away Wednesday, April 27, 2022, peacefully at her Idyllwild home surrounded by family at the age of 86.

Barbara was born at her grandmother's home in San Jacinto. John and Inie Wilson took their beautiful baby daughter back home to Idyllwild, where Barbara remained her entire life.

She had the distinction of being the oldest continuously living Idyllwild native.

Barb had a younger brother, Ron, who became a world-renowned medical doctor in the field of public health.

Barbara attended Idyllwild Elementary, Hemet Junior and Senior High schools. Before graduating in 1954, she met the love of her life while waitressing at the Koffee Kup Cafe. Bud and Barb were married for 67 years and had two children: Kristi (1956) and David (1958).

Barb spent many years as a waitress at the Schwartzwald Haus and the Chart House, then began a long career in real estate. She loved finding just the right home for her clients and took great pride in being open and honest with people.

Bud and Barb were a great team for knowing the history of every house on the Hill and always had great historical stories to tell.

Many residents knew Barb as the "squirrel lady". Any time a baby squirrel was found out of its nest, it was taken to Barb to raise and release.

She loved animals of all kinds and raised chipmunks, rabbits and a wonderful bluejay, among others. She was also a very talented artist and photographer.

Barbara is survived by her son David (Kris); grandchildren Alison (Jon) Ballard, Hayden Hunt and Sydney (Dan) Dang; sisters-in-law Carol Hiskey, Diane Matthews, Bonnie Hunt and Teri Wilson and their families.

In remembrance of Barbara, please treat our mountain with respect, love each other, be happy and support the Idyllwild Fire Department (in lieu of flowers).

A private burial service will be held for family members. Barbara requested that a public memorial service not take place.

Christy Holstege
seeks to move from city council to state Assembly

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Editor's note: On June 7, Riverside County will hold a primary for new State Assembly member from the 47th District. The Democratic candidate is Christy Holstege of Palm Springs. The Republicans have two candidates in the race — Gary Michaels and Greg Wallis. The two candidates with most votes will face off in the November General Election. All three have spoken to the Town Crier and the interviews are in this issue.

Christy Holstege, a member of the Palm Springs City Council and former mayor, announced her intention to seek a California Assembly seat in July 2021. After the State Redistricting Committee finished its redistricting work in December, she then officially announced her candidacy for the Assembly District 47 seat.

The 47th is very similar to the previous 42nd seat, which Assemblyman Chad Mayes represents. It includes many desert cities — Palm Springs, Cathedral City, Palm Desert and Yucca Valley, and Oak Glen, Cherry Valley, Banning and Cabazon, as well as the additions of Idyllwild, Pine Cove and Mountain Center. In January, Mayes announced his intention not to seek reelection to the Assembly.

Holstege, 35, is mother to an 18-month-old son and is a fourth-generation Palm Springs resident, she said proudly. She is the first woman to serve as mayor in the history of Palm Springs — and is also the first openly bisexual mayor in the country.

When asked if elective office had been a lifetime ambition, given her four years' experience on the Palm Springs City Council and her July announcement to seek an Assembly seat, "No," she quickly replied.

"I went to law school [Stanford Law School] to help my community and make a difference," she said. "As I grew up, I saw discrimination, especially as a girl."

As a lawyer, her practice has been focused on providing community aid to individuals needing help. Her clients range from tenants, homeless, discrimination victims, disabled, domestic violence and sexual assault survivors, LGBTQ clients, seniors, veterans, Spanish-speaker, and minority groups seeking legal advice and assistance.

And as a council member and mayor, her focus continued to be this constituency. She helped obtain a $10 million federal grant to build housing for the homeless in Palm Springs. During the COVID pandemic, she gained Council approval for hero pay for essential workers, $1 million in small business relief, and for the use of the Palm Springs Convention Center as a COVID-19 testing site.

She seeks the Assembly seat to gain more state funds for local projects and efforts.

"I will be a fighter for our fair share of jobs and investments in our region," she said. "It's important that our voice be heard as a desert or mountain community. For example, the state's COVID relief for our region was considerably less per person than the large cities nearby."

Gary Michaels, a
Republican, seeks Assembly seat

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Gary Michaels is making his second run for state office. In November 2020, he was the Republican nominee against Democrat S. Monique Limon, the winner, for the 19th District State Senate seat. Michaels garnered about one-third of the vote.

In 2022, Michaels, 65, is seeking to become the representative of the Assembly's 47th District that includes Idyllwild, Pine Cove, Mountain Center, as well as many desert cities — Palm Springs, Cathedral City, Palm Desert and Yucca Valley, and Oak Glen, Cherry Valley, Banning and Cabazon.

It overlaps largely with the previous 42nd seat and in early January, the current incumbent, Assemblyman Chad Mayes, announced his intention not to seek reelection.

Michaels is a Chicago native but has been in California since 1984. Early in his career, he worked with media and then with TimeWarner Cable where he oversaw the late-1990s fiber optic build out. In recent years, he has become an entrepreneur and owns his own company.

On his website and during the discussion, Michaels describes himself as a "constitutional conservative." This is his distinction between himself and current state Legislators who enact legislation which, he believes, appears to have no relation to the U.S. Constitution.

"It's like they never read the Constitution and care less about it. They're oblivious of some issues," Michaels lamented.

He strongly opposes ideas such as "defunding the police" and "sanctuary cities." If elected, Michaels will devote effort to "securing our border" from the "invasion of immigrants."

This invasion, in Michaels' opinion, is being supported, if not sponsored, by the Democratic Party in order to "replace many of us by bringing the illegals to re-make America."

When asked if he, like his fellow Republican Greg Wallis, distinguishes between national Republican issues and local or state Republican issues, Michaels acknowledged no difference.

While he lists President Ronald Reagan as someone whom he looks up to and would like to follow, Michaels clearly had disdain for Reagan's 11th Commandment — "Thou shalt not speak ill of any fellow Republican."

"Greg Wallis is right there with [Mayes] supporting legislation repugnant to Republicans. They haven't advanced or articulated a conservative view," Michaels said with scorn.

In Michaels' opinion, Mayes and Wallis are the same and epitomize the problem many Republicans have in California. He argued that since Mayes stepped down as Assembly Republican leader in 2017, the Republicans have been "bleeding seats."

His familiarity with Idyllwild and the Hill is little since he admitted, "I have driven through it quickly." But he plans to do some campaigning here.

Greg Wallis seeks to replace boss,
Chad Mayes, in Assembly

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Greg Wallis, a third-generation Californian, is one of two Republican candidates seeking the nomination for the 47th Assembly District seat. The 31-year-old is currently district manager for Assemblyman Chad Mayes (NPP 42nd District), who announced in January he would not seek reelection.

After seven years working as Mayes' district manager, Wallis was intrigued with the opportunity to seek the seat for himself. "I really never thought of myself as running for office. I thought my career would be behind the scenes," he disclosed. But after a discussion with his wife, Desiree, he entered the race.

"I'm originally from Silicon Valley. The cost of living and housing is driving young folks out. I've seen too many leave the state because of high prices," Wallis said, describing his motivation to work at the state level.

One of his major priorities will be "affordability." He argues that housing prices are a statewide issue. "[This] stems from policies coming out of Sacramento," he said. "There is not enough supply to meet the demand we need to build more housing."

He attributes the decline in new home building to the misapplication of the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA). "While CEQA is well intended, it has been used to drive up costs to consumers. We've got to streamline the regulations to make them business friendly," Wallis declared.

He will work to make health care more accessible and affordable. While he offered no specific changes, he feels this can be accomplished through better efforts to increase nonpartisanship of the legislative process.

From his experience as staff, he has seen close-up how partisan behavior can push aside possible effective compromise and solutions. "I want to get everyone — the California Medical Association, insurance companies and regulators — in the same room. That's how we can reduce the costs of health care," he believes.

His thoughts about improving public safety are similar. "Public safety has been under attack the last couple of years. Instead of looking for ways to reform the process, we point fingers. Eliminating the funding is the wrong direction," Wallis stressed.

Although a Republican, Wallis recognizes climate change is "a real threat" and needs to be addressed. And again, he offers bipartisanship and compromise as the path to improvement and a better future.

"Some policies do more harm than good. We have to get the stakeholders together and work toward a common goal," he said.

Wallis highlighted that all politics are local. Consequently, state and local party leaders can have different priorities and views than party officials in Washington.

"It may be the same for the Democrats. But what they value in D.C. is not specifically relevant to issues in California. Sacramento's focus must be on issues related to the state," Wallis emphasized. "It's frustrating to be put

Bans Off Our Bodies

DEAR EDITOR:

A gathering of mostly women drew the interest and concern of a bevy of six police and fire vehicles on the first day of May. The small group represented one of many citizen turn-outs across the country, to protest the leaked Supreme Court decision regarding Roe v. Wade.

Planned Parenthood T-shirts and posters proclaiming “Bans Off Our Bodies” were on display, but the crowd was mostly just grateful to be together to support a woman’s right to choose her future. The talk amongst the group was filled with dismay but included resolute camaraderie. Beyond the park, a few stone-faced locals stared at the “Bans Off Our Bodies” protestors. Participants wondered if the law enforcement and emergency vehicles lined up across the street were there to protect them or the disgruntled onlookers.

In reality, the current Supreme Court’s decision to dismiss a citizen’s “right to privacy,” as it relates to personal decisions about life, will have an impact on everyone’s future . It will undermine our ability to make choices about how and who we choose to love.

For now, one woman and four men have chosen to open the door on a pregnant woman’s future; it includes the risk of incarceration or death for an unwanted or untenable pregnancy.

Next Saturday, May 14, 2022, citizens will gather again and stand together to talk about the injustice and possible loss of life women will face in 13 states if Roe v. Wade is overturned.

It’s time again to thank our essential workers

By JACK CLARK
Co-PUBLISHER

While the experts are predicting yet another COVID surge with BA.2 and BA.2.1.12, our community’s essential workers soldier on, serving the public and meeting our needs while risking their own health in the process. As we’ve pointed out before, these folk staff our health service centers, law enforcement agencies, fire stations, ambulances, help center, food distribution projects, post offices, markets, pharmacy, library, water districts, restaurants, filing stations, stores, shops and shuttle services, among others.

And another big thank you to those truck drivers and delivery service personnel who come from off our Hill to keep us supplied in this third year of uncertain times.

We sincerely appreciate and thank you all.

MATTER OF FACT

In last week’s story on A02 about Riverside County district attorney candidate Lara Gressley, she was misquoted as saying “I want to end over-jealous prosecution.” Instead, she said “overzealous.”

Also, the word “principal” was used twice in the story and should have read “principle.”

Town Crier regrets the errors.

Inflation and rising costs are major issues concerning Holstege. “Low wages, the cost of public transportation and taxes are making the cost of living a significant issue,” she stated. “It won’t go away without fighting it.”

“I am familiar with the entire district. I will represent the people of Idyllwild,” she stressed. “I’ve worked closely with communities throughout the district, talking about providing direct representation to advocate for these areas.”

Holstege is quite familiar with the issues related to short-term rentals. “I have had to deal with them throughout my five years on the [Palm Springs] City Council,” she said.

“We have an ordinance,” and if Holstege represents Idyllwild in Sacramento, she added, “I will work for you on this issue to see what the state role is.”

Since July through the end of April, Holstege has raised more than $400,000 for her campaign. She has received several $9,700 donations from political action committees (PACs) such as Professional Engineers, Service Employees Union (721) and the Southwest Regional Carpenters. Another 15 were for nearly $5,000 from individuals and PACs, too.

She is considerably ahead of her opponents entering the final month of the campaign. Earlier this year, the California Democratic Party endorsed her for the primary.

“I feel confident about the election and dedicated to my track record,” she said. “I’ve gotten and can get things done for the community that no other candidate has and that speaks for itself.”

Michaels

As of the end of April, neither Michaels nor his campaign team have reported any fundraising success. But he said, “I am raising funds and haven’t had time to turn in the paperwork.”

The Secretary of State’s campaign financing website does not have any fundraising data from Michaels’ 2020 campaign either.

If elected, Michaels said he plans to have a weekly social media production. Its intent would be to educate the public about current government issues and proposed legislation so they understand the conservative positions.

“I’ll be in a campaign mode all the time, even outside the 47th [District],” he vowed. “We’ve got to get Republicans elected elsewhere.”

in a box about who you supported in another race when what’s important here, for example, is the drought!”

Wallis and his wife have visited and camped in Idyllwild several times. “I am aware of the issues, such as fires. As the representative of Idyllwild, I’ll meet with community leaders, local business people to get an idea of what they want from Sacramento.”

To become Idyllwild’s representative, Wallis must be one of the top two candidates in the June primary and then defeat his likely opponent, Democrat Christy Holstege, in November.

As of the end of April, Wallis trails her significantly in fundraising. His total available cash then was about $82,000, less than half of her total. But he remains confident of the future results, “We have more than enough for the primary. I’m feeling fully funded.”

Soon he plans to unveil a television campaign that he hopes will significantly increase his support, including financing for the General Election.

Nature Center seeking rain catchers

Idyllwild Nature Center Park Ranger Steve Perez said the center has “an enormous roof profile” and is seeking rain catchment tanks not being used to beautify the park.

Donors may receive a tax donation receipt for them and Perez said, “I am happy to take care of pick up.” Call 951-659-3850 or email spperez@rivco.org.

COVID

es of COVID among students and one active case among staff members at Idyllwild School. Hamilton School reported no students or staff members with COVID. At Hemet High, one student and two staff members were reported as active cases.

On Friday, May 6, California reported there have been 8,654,420 total confirmed COVID cases statewide (48,757 more than were reported the previous week). The state reported 89,851 total resulting deaths (269 more than were reported the previous week).

CDC advises that vaccination, along with other important prevention strategies, continues to be the best defense against severe COVID disease. Everyone ages 5 years and up is recommended to be vaccinated, with boosters for everyone ages 12 and older — specifically the Pfizer-BioNTech booster for those ages 12 to 15.

COVID vaccinations are available at no charge in Idyllwild by appointment at Idyllwild Pharmacy (1-951-659-2135). Additionally, Riverside County Public Health (RCPH) is now listing two upcoming Thursdays — May 26 and June 23 — on which dates both Moderna and Pfizer vaccines will be administered at Idyllwild Library. Visit <https://rivcoph.org/COVID-19-Vaccine-with-Registration> to schedule vaccinations through RCPH.

Also, CDC suggests visiting www.cdc.gov/coronavirus/2019-ncov/COVID-data/COVIDview/.

single-payer system for California. However, when asked about the estimated cost of $350 billion, he quickly replied, “I never said we should move to single-payer immediately. But people don’t feel confident with it because of a lot of disingenuous arguments.”

People who have health insurance have it through their jobs, Nash noted. Consequently, they are tied, almost permanently, to those employers, because of the need for health care.

Also, their insurance policies often dictate which doctors or services they can use. Nash wants to break this connection between insurance and employment so that people have more freedom and ultimately can chose their own doctors and health care. He is confident this approach would be successful and accepted. “We saw it with “Obamacare.” As time went on, more and more people saw its value,” he assured.

To pay for these programs, Nash advocates finding the means to tax what is currently capital gains of entrepreneurs as ordinary income. This would avoid their ability to accumulate wealth without paying taxes, he argues.

Nash has not been to Idyllwild yet, but he plans a visit. He acknowledges the concern about wildfires and sees a parallel with the damage and destruction the Camp Fire caused in Paradise in 2018.

“As someone new to the area, as a candidate, it’s my responsibility to get out, not just to Murrieta, Temecula and Corona,” he replied.

On the Secretary of State’s Campaign Financing website, Nash has no financial reports posted. He admitted, “So far we have minimal donations. I feel confident we’ll do well after the primary and people will donate.”

callers’ concerns, especially security. We wanted to help address accessibility and security for future elections.”

As an incumbent Assembly member and Senate candidate, he stressed that his first steps in office were and will be to poll his constituents about what is important to them. In the 67th District, they found public safety, education, government reform and helping veterans were the four most important issues.

“So, I have crafted my bills around these issues,” he declared. One of his bills assisted veterans to sign up for classes and he has advocated finding a means to credential more substitute teachers.

Seyarto wants to find solutions to other vital public issues, such as the drought, lack of water and fire.

The new 32nd Senate District essentially goes southeast from Norco and Lake Mathews, includes Temecula and Murietta, east to embrace the mountain communities, including Anza, and then south and east into San Diego County to include Borrego Springs and Julian.

Although the Hill is not in Seyarto’s current Assembly District, he affirms that he has frequently visited Idyllwild “... to hike in the mountains and my wife and I celebrated our anniversary there three years ago.”

At the end of April, he had about $135,000 in campaign funds available and has received about $20,000 more in contributions since then.

Theater company presents ‘Chapatti’

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

With “Chapatti,” Idyllwild Actors Theatre (IAT) brings a heartwarming Irish tale of older animal lovers finding each other to the Rustic Theatre. The title refers not to the delicious Indian flat bread, but to a man’s best friend, an adopted stray dog.

The play, set in Dublin, has been described as a “deft mix of heartache, despair and gentle comedy” by the Chicago Sun Times. IAT has once more dipped into the Irish stream (after most recently Conor McPherson’s adaptation of “The Birds”) finding, in Christian O’Reilly’s tale of older animal lovers connecting, the perfect vehicle for two actors, and the perfect benefit for local charity Animal Rescue Friends of Idyllwild.

O’Reilly has a long list of stage, TV, film and radio theater credits in the UK, including at least 12 plays.

Actors Kathleen Walker and Robert W. Norman bring a gentle and honest script to life, finding that “while dogs and cats can aid us through the lonely rough spots in our lives, there is no substitute for tender human connections.”

The casting pairs Norman, a relative newcomer to the stage (this will be his third IAT play) with Walker, a theater “lifer” with a bio including a master’s degree in fine arts from Penn State, and further experience at the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York City and Juilliard School of Acting. Her experiences living with eight cats also has informed her interpretation of her latest role.

Norman’s “Dan” is contemplating “moving on” and looking for a home for his “companion” Chapatti. Walker’s “Betty,” “a real life-affirmer” with a house full of cats, sees possibilities when the two protagonists cross paths.

Director Suzanne Avalon, in her 20th year at IAT’s helm, describes the production as a “fully staged reading” that, with a director-inserted “cliff-hanger,” has been split into two acts. Although no animals will appear onstage (they always steal the show) the actors are so deft at conjuring up their world that Avalon said, “I see Chapatti’s tail wag every time we’re in rehearsal.”

Avalon noted another “interesting thing about the play. A lot of it is directed to the audience. The characters are speaking to nonpresent confidants. Their asides when they are in dialog are in different voices, revealing different parts of the characters. It takes a very skilled actor to pull this off. Luckily, I have two of them.”

Walker explained the staged reading presentation as “two characters, and everything else is imagined. It’s theater at its most creative; it engages the audience to step into the world of Dan and Betty.”

Reviewers have agreed with Walker’s judgment that the play is “not sappy; very heart-felt.” buzznews.net described it as “... filled with a gentle warmth at times, but it also surrenders to heavy emotional conflicts ... [‘Chapatti’] depicts an astute picture of emptiness but also presents a sense of hope and how one can be freed from the shackles of despair at the most unexpected moment.”

The play comes to the Rustic Theatre at 7:30 p.m. Friday, May 20, and at 2 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturday, May 21. Tickets are $20 and available online at www.idyllwildactorstheatre.com/shop.

Robert W. Norman and Kathleen Walker rehearse “Chapatti” coming to the Rustic Theatre May 20 and 21.

Steele T51 at Wells Fargo

By JACK CLARK
PRO GOLF CORRESPONDENT

Brendan Steele posted an 8-over-par 68-70-78-72 — 288 at the Wells Fargo Championship in Maryland last week to tie for 51st place.

The Idyllwild native’s drives averaged 281 yards. He hit 57% of the fairways and 58% of the greens in regulation, but he lost about 2.3 strokes to the field with the putter.

Brendan now stands in 55th place on the PGA’s FedExCup points list and is ranked 156th in the Official World Golf Rankings.

B is taking this week off.

CLUBS

Idyllwild Garden Club

The Idyllwild Garden Club will offer the Mountain Garden Tour Saturday, May 21.

It will include five unique and lovely home gardens throughout Idyllwild, plus the club’s garden at the Idyllwild Area Historical Society and Museum.

The price per person has been kept at $15, (under age 12 is free). Tickets will be on sale the day of the event at Harmony tree monument, near the Idyllwild Inn on Village Center Drive, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m., and the self-guided tours are from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Venues vary, showing what part-time residents can accomplish — different ways to use the natural terrain; how to use and combine native plants, incorporate vegetable gardens; and how to create properties that entice one to spend more time with nature outdoors. Some venues also will have musicians.

Strike Up the Band!

You are surrounded by idiophones! And anyone can play them!

What is an idiophone? Idio means self and phone means sound. Idiophones are instruments of solid materials that vibrate when hit, shaken, plucked, scraped, rubbed, stamped or crashed together. But who's to say what's an instrument?

Stomping your foot on the floor turns the floor into an idiophone. Tapping a pencil on your desk uses the desk as an idiophone. Think of other things that could be idiophones.

Standards Link: Performing Arts/Music: Students perform a varied repertoire of music on instruments.

Make a Gutbucket!

STUFF YOU'LL NEED:

-  A sound box (you can use an empty coffee can, bucket or cardboard box)
-  Pencil or dowel
-  String or wire

A stick about twice the height of your sound box

File a notch on one end of your stick. The notch will help hold the stick in place on the rim of the can.

On the other end of the stick, have an adult drill a small hole. Feed the string through and tie to secure.

Turn the coffee can upside down. Have an adult punch a small hole in the bottom of the can. Feed the string through and tie a pencil or dowel on the end of it. Set the notch end of the stick on the rim of the can. Hold the gutbucket as shown here pulling the string taut. Then, start plucking!

Find the difference between the two pictures.

Kid Scoop Together:

What is a Yankee Doodle Dandy?

You know the song. But do you understand its meaning? Fill in the missing words using the Word List to discover the origins of this classic American song.

British _____ used the song Yankee Doodle to make fun of the American colonists during the Revolutionary War. In response, the American _____ adopted it as their _____ song. When the war began, Americans were proud to be called Yankees, and Yankee Doodle became the colonists' most stirring anthem of defiance and liberty.

But why macaroni?

When the song Yankee Doodle first became _____, the word macaroni in the line "stuck a feather in his cap and called it macaroni" didn't refer to the _____. Instead, a macaroni was a traveled young man who liked overdressing in very _____ clothing. So by just sticking a _____ in his cap and calling himself a "macaroni," Yankee Doodle was proudly claiming to be the country _____ (an awkward and unsophisticated person) that the English mocked.

Singing Glasses

During the 1700s, playing music on glasses was a popular pastime. The glasses were partially filled with water and the person playing the glasses would slightly wet a finger and rub it around the top of the glass.

The more water you put in the glass, the deeper the note it will play.

Fill some glasses with different amounts of water, and see what kinds of sounds you can create. Try tapping the rim of each glass with a pencil or spoon for another kind of sound.

1/4 1/3 1/2 1/2 1/8

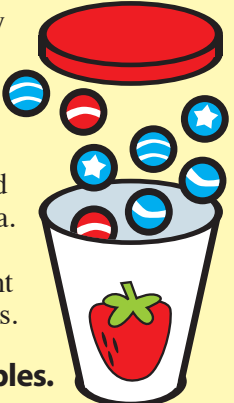

Under each glass, circle the fraction that best describes how much of the glass is filled with water.

Standards Link: Math/Number Sense: Identify and use fractions.

Mini Maracas

Partially fill empty plastic yogurt containers with different things: sand, seeds, marbles, uncooked beans, rice or pasta. Cap and shake. Notice the different sounds each makes.

Match the marbles.

CREATURE CORNER

BY JANICE MURASKO

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," the ARF cats talked about catio.

Phil: OK, feline friends! Gather 'round.

Harley: Don't tell me. Another ARF cat was adopted, and it wasn't me.

Phil: Right. Angeli and Magic found their forever homes last week.

Whiskers: Hurray for Magic and Angeli! And did you hear about the puppies Dolly, Kenny, and Willie?

Phil: I did, and I also heard that Dolly and Kenny have found homes. That was fast!

Willie: (bouncing into the room) Hi! I'm Willie, the only puppy not adopted, yet.

Harley: Oh Willie, you are so amazing that you'll find your home really, really soon.

Willie: I've heard that the ARF folks have two families lined-up to meet me later this week.

Phil: This is true, but they also are ready to line-up even more in case the first two aren't the right fit.

Willie: And I heard that they are holding another adoption fair at Mountain Paws because they will have some more puppies for everyone to meet.

Harley: Dogs looking for forever homes will be there from 11:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. There will be Sable, a 14-pound girl and Sparkle, a 13-pound boy. They are about 8 months old and super cute.

Whiskers: I also heard tof a possibility that another litter of puppies will be there.

Pepper: I heard that, too, but nothing will be confirmed until Saturday.

Harley: Folk really should visit the dogs and then swing by the ARF House to meet us. We will all be so happy to meet them, just as happy as Sparkle and Sable.

Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "Days of our Nine Lives" each week. And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Highway 243. ARF is open Saturdays 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Sundays 10 a.m.-2 p.m., and during the week by appointment. Please call 951-659-1122.

Grants/tech support for new businesses

Caravansera Project has joined the California Dream Fund Grant Program established in 2021 by Senate Bill No. 151 to provide microgrants to seed entrepreneurship and small business creation in underserved small business groups facing capital and opportunity gaps.

Caravansera Project will provide technical support for up to 60 start-up mission-driven entrepreneurs (for profit and nonprofit) in California, with a focus on the Inland Empire but not exclusively, and facilitate access to Dream Fund micro-grants of up to $10,000.

HOROSCOPES

May 2022 — Week 2

March 21 – April 19

A stubborn refusal to go ahead on a project mystifies colleagues who expected more flexibility. But once you explain your position, they'll understand and even applaud you.

April 20 – May 20

A relationship seems to be stuck in the same place. Now it's up to you, dear Bovine, to decide how far you want it to go and how intense you want it to be. Choose well and choose soon.

May 21 – June 21

A relationship progresses more slowly than you would prefer. Best advice: Insist on a frank and open discussion. What is learned could change minds and, maybe, hearts.

June 22 – July 22

It's all right to be grateful to a workplace colleague who has done you a good turn. But gratitude shouldn't be a life-long obligation. The time to break this cycle is now.

July 23 – August 22

It's going to be especially nice to be the King of the Zodiac at this time. A recent money squeeze eases. Plans start to work out, and new friends enter Your Majesty's domain.

August 23 – September 22

Before you make a commitment on any level (personal, professional, legal), get all the facts. There might be hidden problems that could cause trouble later on.

September 23 – October 22

Personal relationships improve. Professional prospects also brighten. A job offer could come through by month's end. An old friend seeks to make contact.

October 23 – November 21

Your senses detect that something is not quite right about a matter involving a workplace colleague. Best advice: Follow your keen instincts and don't get involved.

November 22 – December 21

A prospect offers rewards, but it also demands that you assume a great deal of responsibility. Knowing you, you're up to the challenge, so go for it, and good luck.

December 22 – January 19

A favor you did a long time ago is repaid, as a trusted colleague steps in to help you with a suddenly expanded workload. A family member has important news.

January 20 – February 18

A new job offer could require moving across the country. But before you let your doubts determine your decision, learn more about the potentials involved.

February 19 – March 20

Your sense of fair play doesn't allow you to rush to judgment about a friend who might have betrayed you. Good! Because all the facts are not yet in.
