Forest fire restrictions raised last week

Officials with the San Bernardino National Forest raised fire restrictions Thursday, May 26, due to the danger from current and anticipated worsening conditions, such as drying vegetation and continued hot temperatures.

Lower elevations of the forest have reached critically dry fuel moisture levels this week, causing fire officials to raise fire restrictions almost one month earlier than raised in 2021.

The restrictions prohibit the following:

- Campfires and wood/charcoal barbecues at unhosted campgrounds and picnic areas
- Discharging of a firearm
- Smoking
- Operating an internal combustion engine off paved, gravel or dirt National Forest System roads and trails
- Welding, or operating acetylene or other torch with open flame

Some exemptions exist. Some hosted campgrounds and picnic areas will allow campfires, barbecues and smoking (see www.fs.usda.gov/Internet/FSE\_DOCUMENTS/fseprd1026545.pdf).

Gas-powered stoves and fire rings with a fuel shut-off will be also allowed, including when dispersed camping, if used with a free California Campfire Permit, which can be obtained online at www.fs.usda.gov/detail/sbnf/home/?cid=fseprd769862. It is important for permit holders to read and follow the terms of the permit.

Another exemption addresses discharging a firearm. While target shooting at recreational sites like Forest Road 1N09 will be prohibited, it will continue to be allowed at shooting ranges under a special use permit (see first link, Exhibit B). Also, visitors with a hunting license will be able to shoot at legal game bird or mammal.

As fire restrictions and related prohibitions may increase again later this year, forest visitors are highly encouraged to always “know before you go” before each visit by checking current fire restrictions at the second link or calling a ranger station.

HUSD issues statement of district safety following Uvalde tragedy

Editor's note: Hemet Unified School District issued this statement to parents and guardians of students Friday, May 27. HUSD then gave a list of online resources to help parents/guardians talk to children about violence that are not printed here.

Hemet Unified School District is deeply saddened by the tragedy that took place at Robb Elementary School in Uvalde, Texas. We share in the grief of the families who lost loved ones and the Uvalde community who has certainly been devastated by this tragic event.

This senseless act of violence and others in recent days reinforces our stance that the safety and well-being of our students and staff will always be the District's highest priority. We remain committed to our safety protocols and procedures and diligent in evaluating their effectiveness on a regular basis. These procedures include:

- Locked-door policy for all classrooms on all campuses
- District-wide closed campus policy (all gates remain closed and locked)
- Ongoing random K-9 and metal detector searches for weapons and contraband

What victims can teach us after the fire

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

Fire is reshaping the American West. Communities in Wildfire Urban Interface zones, like ours, live in constant tension with a devastating force that can, in a single day, incinerate the homes and earthly possessions of neighborhoods and even towns.

The stories of the big fires that have captured the attention of the world, names like August and Dixie, Tubbs and Camp, dwarf our experience here, but with the Cranston Fire we had an example in microcosm of the forces, physical, legal and economic, that govern these disasters and the recovery from them. The homeowners who lost homes here are few in number, but their losses were just as great, and their experiences cover the gamut; some are once again living in homes they love on the land they love. Some are in strained circumstances as they attempt to rebuild. Some cannot even think of rebuilding. Several have agreed to share their stories with our community.

The stories homeowners shared emphasize one thing above all: the quality of your outcome is dependent on the quality of your insurance. Further, the quality of your insurance is not guaranteed by high premiums, or an agent who was recommended, and that, perhaps above all, the policy you have may not be the policy you think you have.

Those who had “positive” outcomes (successful rebuilds) were very forthcoming in telling their stories. Those who had more negative outcomes (paying to rebuild themselves or homes not yet rebuilt) were sometimes more guarded, being still engaged in mediation or legal action with their insurers. But enough have spoken to the Town Crier “on the record” to allow reporting on the spectrum of conditions and results.

Know your policy

JG: “Yes, insured. In fact, ironically, a month before the fire I had talked to a contractor to make sure we had a policy that was high enough. He told me how much per

Congressional candidates’ coffers before the primary

District 47 campaign financing

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Editor’s note: On June 7, Riverside County will hold a primary to choose two candidates to face off in the November Gubernatorial Election for the U.S. Congressional District 41 seat. Five candidates are on the ballot. The Republicans are Rep. Ken Calvert, the incumbent, and John Michael Lucino. Two candidates, Will Rollins and Shrina Kurani, are Democrat,s and Anna Neven, is registered as No Party Preference. Interviews with four of the candidates were in the May 19 issue of the Town Crier.

Ken Calvert

Through May 18, Calvert had nearly $1.2 million cash in his campaign coffers, a decrease of about $140,000 since the end of March. Despite the 10% reduction in cash, Calvert still retained a significant lead over Rollins in available cash. During the seven weeks between the two reports, Calvert’s campaign collected $182,000 and expended $325,000. More than 50 contributors have given $5,000 or more to Calvert’s reelection effort. This includes $93,000 from the “Take Back the House 2022” political action committee (PAC) and many corporate PACs, such as Booz Allen, Boeing Corporation, General Dynamics and PG&E employees.

Will Rollins

During the latest reporting period (March 31 to May 18), Rollins garnered nearly $240,000 in contributions, while spending about $412,000. This reduced his cash available for the final three weeks to about $446,000, down $172,000 from the end of March. Rollins has one contribution of $5,000 and two others, including one from himself, of greater than $4,000. He does a multitude of contributions via ActBlue, a conduit for individuals to make contributions to campaigns. Under federal law, these contributions are small-dollar donations made by individuals; they are not considered PAC donations. ActBlue provides the tools and platform for campaigns and organizations to fundraise online.

Shrina Kurani

In the first three months of 2022, Kurani raised about $150,000 and kept on the same pace through the next six weeks, raising $79,000 by May 18. Her spending accelerated during this period, resulting in a cash availability of $85,000 in the middle of May for the final three weeks of the primary. Kurani has received two donations greater than $10,000. One was from the New Blue Interactive and the other was from Run the World, a progressive, grassroots consulting firm. She also has given more than $18,000 to her campaign. And she has received 70 donations between $2,500 and $3,000.

Other candidates

Neither Lucino nor Nevenic have reported any finance data to the Federal Election Commission since announcing their candidacy.

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Editor’s note: On June 7, Riverside County will hold a primary for the new State Assembly member from the 47th District. The Democratic candidate is Christy Holstege of Palm Springs. The Republicans have two candidates in the race — Gary Michaels and Greg Wallis. The two candidates with most votes will face off in the November General Election. Interviews with all three candidates were in the May 12 issue of the Town Crier.

Christy Holstege

Holstege, a member of the Palm Springs City Council and former mayor, announced her intention to seek a California Assembly seat in July 2021. By the end of 2021, she had about $163,000 in her campaign coffers. During the first third of 2022, she received another $218,000 in contributions. After expenditures, she had $183,000 in cash on April 23. In the past four weeks, she garnered $86,000 more in contributions, while her campaign spending was over $205,000. Her cash availability for the campaign’s final weeks had dropped to $69,000 on May 21. In July, to start her campaign, Holstege loaned it $25,000. Since earnestly campaigning, she has received 10 contributions of $9,700. These have come from employee Political Action Committees, such as the Service Employees International Union local 721, the Southwest Regional Council of Carpenters, and the California Teachers Association.

Greg Wallis

Greg Wallis is one of two Republican candidates seeking the nomination for the 47th Assembly District seat. The 31-year-old is currently the District Manager for Assemblyman Chad Mayes (Neighborhood Preservation Program [NPP] District 42), who announced in January that he would not seek re-election. His campaign did not get started until January. By the April 23 reporting period, he had received $125,000 in contributions. His campaign committee spent nearly $50,000 during this period, leaving a cash balance on April 23 of $82,000. During the next four weeks, Wallis collected another $29,000 in donations and used $85,000. As of May 21, his cash campaign funds were $30,000 for the final weeks. Thus far, his largest single contribution has been $4,900; but he has received 17 donations of that amount, many from Republican State Senate candidates. Other campaign donors include the Pechanga Band, the California Dental Association and Anheuser Busch companies. Although trailing Holstege in contributions, in late April, Wallis was confident of finishing in the top two for the primary and facing her in the November election. “We have more than enough for primary. I’m feeling fully funded,” he told the Town Crier. Gary Michaels As of May 29, Michaels has not filed any campaign financial reports with the California Secretary of State’s Office.

Please support advertisers who support the TC

By JACK CLARK
Co-Publisher

Town Crier advertising has picked up steeply during recent months. As more and more businesses and organizations return to full operation, they are running ads in the TC letting customers and clients know their new business hours, their wares, fares and services, and their return-to-full-operations specials — as well as advertising for the new employees they will need.

Businesses both on and off our Hill need to know their Town Crier ads are working for them. So, please patronize our advertisers, and please tell them you saw their ads in the TC.

The Town Crier is available for purchase at 10 locations around our Hill: Pine Cove Market, Village Market, Mountain Top Liquors, Idyllwild Chevron, Idyllwild Shell, Idyllwild Pharmacy, Fairway Market, Mountain Center Market, Lake Hemet Market and the Town Crier office. And Idyllwild Realty and the Fork & Spoon Café in Mountain Center make it available to their customers.

The Town Crier is in the USPS mailboxes of TC Members in Idyllwild and Mountain Center. It is mailed to the homes of Town Crier Members from Alaska and Hawaii to Florida and Maine and many states in between. Canadian Members are reading their TCs online.

Many of these folk have second homes on our Hill, and they want to know about the goods and services available here in our community and its surrounding areas.

More than 2,000 U.S. newspapers have disappeared during the past 15 years, hundreds in California, but the Town Crier has no intention of departing with them. The Town Crier continues to serve our Hill because of supporting advertisers and because of our Members. Both are critical to our newspaper's continued existence.

We appreciate our Town Crier advertisers for increasing your advertising, and to our Town Crier Members for renewing your Memberships and for supporting our advertisers. Together, you all are keeping the TC serving you and our Hill community.

School safety

- Strong partnership with Riverside [County] Sheriff and Hemet Police Department through ongoing two-way communications, regular updates on community safety issues, and contractual agreements which place officers full time at many of our school sites
- Conduct regularly scheduled lockdown and shelter-in-place drills at every school site
- Regular monitoring of site surveillance cameras during and after school hours
- Vigilant campus security officers who provide monitoring and supervision support
- District level advanced security notification system for all sites (triggers an automatic lockdown in the event of an emergency and an immediate call to police)

We know that providing safe and welcoming school environments is instrumental to the success of students. We need the support of staff, students, families and the community to be the eyes and ears of the district. Please reach out to district administrators or contact the police directly should you see or hear any potential threats to school sites or students. This has proven to be a very effective method of prevention to help mitigate tragedies like these.

Lastly, we know that acts of violence like these can be deeply upsetting to students. They are hard to understand and can create a great deal of fear and anxiety.

After the fire

square foot it would take to rebuild. He was on it. Our limits were high enough, but it's something you need to verify every couple of years. I have nothing bad to say about our insurance company, they were fabulous."

TC: "You are rebuilding now?"

JG: "We're in the final stages. We've been under construction for a year and 10 months. That's physical construction, that doesn't count getting the design and permits. It took six months to get just the permit. (The county was probably the worst part.) It should all be happening in May, we're very close." [The interview took place earlier than May.]

TC: "What was your experience with the insurance company like?"

JG: "They couldn't have handled it better. Our claims adjuster was out at the house while Idyllwild was still under evacuation. Nothing was left; it was like it had never been there except the chimney and the debris. The attitude of the insurance company was that it was catastrophic and their objective was to give us policy limits on everything. They would call us to ask if we needed anything, if we were OK."

TC: "The name of the company?"

JG: "North Light, a subsidiary of Allstate. They were amazing. One thing I was dreading was dealing with the insurance company."

TC: "Your advice to homeowners?"

JG: "Review [your insurance] regularly, every two or three years, if this inflation continues, more frequently. The appliances took nine months to get; it would have cost 30% more to order them the day they arrived. You can imagine how much more it would cost to build from scratch right now."

Most of us are 'underinsured'

Andrea Bond lost her house, too, and also is completing the rebuilding process.

TC: "What was your experience like dealing with your insurance company?"

AB: "Positive all around. Like most, I was underinsured. I had a new policy, three years old. I had to build smaller. One part I want to raise awareness about: We are replacing a structure from the ground up. What we don't see is what's under the foundation. When a contractor comes out and calculates costs, he can't see boulders or underground water.

"There is an allowance for code upgrade in policies; I'm glad I had it. They give you a 'bid' or 'time and materials estimate,' but they have to say, 'I can't see underground.' If they find unknown issues, they don't know how much that's going to cost. The homeowner is thinking they are inside their budget, but these unknown things may cost a few thousand or $50 thousand."

Another pitfall Bond highlighted is the importance of updating the limits on your policy.

AB: "People are starting to become aware that they are insuring their home for the cost to replace it, not for its market value. Their cabin may have been built in 1960. It may be insured for $200 per square foot. The cost to rebuild now may be closer to $450 per square foot. You have to update with the actual cost of materials and labor as they go up and down, mostly up. During COVID, demand spiked costs, labor became scarce. Contractors are not as willing to do bids these days; fluctuations in prices are too much. My contractor was very keen on buying materials ahead of time when prices are lower and storing them, looking out for the client's pocketbook.

"Maybe they insured in 1989, maybe the agent never saw the house. Decades pass, the house burns down, now they can only replace half the house. A lot of people go to mediators, asking, 'Why did the agent not look at my house, why did they not say 'Hey, you are up for review, it's been five years.'"

"My company has a decent process. It's best for everyone if we get the right data and understand the consequences of underinsuring. Maybe a smaller house, no landscaping, things you may not be able to do for a while. This year they sent me a form letter saying I might want to revisit my policy. Companies seem to be more aware ... People beat up on insurance companies. We have expectations, we pay our premiums, but there is an aspect of all insurance; we have to know our coverage."

TC: "What was the rebuilding timeline like?"

AB: "The time it takes to rebuild is different for everyone. At first, I was just trying to survive mentally and emotionally. I couldn't even think about designing a house. It was months and months before I was able to sit down with a designer. Six months, and the clock was ticking. From that time until they were able to pour the foundation was a year and a half. It's been four years now. I am still working on it. I moved in late January."

Bond, like several others interviewed here, wanted to point homeowners to the nonprofit group United Policyholders. "They educate on all aspects of insurance, helping homeowners become aware about their policies, getting help in lots of arenas." Their website, uphelp.org, is a good place for every insurance consumer to visit and get to know.

The policy you have may not be the policy you think you have Alta Kavanaugh is not finished rebuilding her home, and her claim is still in mediation.

AK: "It has been three years since I filed a claim with the California State Insurance Commissioner's Office so that I can have mediation with my insurance company, (State Farm.) [It provides] a mediator in cases where there is a dispute. I was underinsured and State Farm gave enough funds to build approximately 'half of a house' and that was with building costs of three years ago."

Kavanaugh was working as a school teacher in Sonoma County and renting out her Deerfoot property. She had recourse to local groups there for guidance and advocacy.

AK: "Sonoma County Legal Aid offered me the services of an attorney who specializes in disasters, and she has been very helpful. It is estimated that approximately 60% of homes lost in Sonoma County ... to fires were underinsured."

She explained the process by which her property became underinsured without her being aware: "When I left my home on Deerfoot Lane to take a teaching job in Sonoma County, my cabin became a rental, I requested my policy be changed from a homeowner policy to a rental policy. I was never informed that the rental policy would have less coverage, and indeed it does. In 1984 when I purchased the cabin ... I was assured by the agent that we were like 'partners' and that in case of disaster I would have the coverage to rebuild a similar house. Like so many people I felt confident that my insurance coverage was adequate. I never was told otherwise or contacted about increasing my coverage.

"Since the fires, I have talked to homeowners who were contacted yearly to meet with their agent for a review of coverage. Many of the plans that were available 40 years ago with complete coverage are no longer available; in the '90s, companies began offering a variety of plans. I suggest all homeowners request a meeting rather than wait for the agent to contact them."

Like Bond, Kavanaugh suggested "doing some research" at the United Policyholders site. "They really are 'on your side.' ... established to help the homeowner translate their coverage and ... prepare in case of a disaster. When the fires struck Sonoma County they sent staff to organize and set up monthly meetings for anyone who had been affected. They did the same after the Paradise and Woolsey fires."

Specifically, Kavanaugh advised homeowners to check their policies to see if they have "'extended coverage,' because that is what you will likely need to rebuild a similar home to what you have now .... My home is currently under construction, and it is going to be a challenge to complete with the cost of building materials rising so drastically. I qualified for a Small Business Disaster loan [because the house was a rental property] at a low interest rate and worry that it will not be enough. I am a 76-year-old retired school teacher, a cancer survivor whose earning days are over. I live on my pension and have my fingers crossed that State Farm will do the 'right' thing and help me with 'gap' funding to allow me to complete my home. At this point they claim they have no further responsibility. I have spent three years looking for funding to fill in the 'gap'; applying for any possible grant I could find. FEMA funds were not available since the Cranstion Fire did not qualify in size. I have not received any additional funds and mediation with my insurance company is my only option. I am hoping that State Farm will stand by their iconic slogan, 'Like a good neighbor, State Farm is there.'"

Road fatality on Highway 243

By JACK CLARK
CO-PUBLISHER

According to California Highway Patrol (CHP) Public Information Officer Jason Montez, about 10:25 a.m. Tuesday, May 31, near the intersection of Twin Pines Ranch Road and Valley High Road off Highway 243, a single-car crash took the life of Jesus Michael Vidal, 77, of the Twin Pines area. He was driving a silver 2010 Ford Ranger which overturned when it apparently drifted off the roadway hitting a rock and embankment.

Passersby reported the incident and the CHP, Cal Fire and the Riverside Sheriff’s Coroner’s Office responded. Vidal was pronounced dead at the scene and transported by the coroner.

trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those who do not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 916-939-0772 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site: <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the trustee: CA-20-881521-NJ. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. NOTICE TO TENANT: You may have a right to purchase this property after the trustee auction pursuant to Section 2924m of the California Civil Code. If you are an "eligible tenant buyer", you can purchase the property if you match the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. If you are an "eligible bidder", you may be able to purchase the property if you exceed the last and highest bid placed at the trustee auction. There are three steps to exercising this right of purchase. First, 48 hours after the date of the trustee sale, you can call 916-939-0772, or visit this internet website <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-20-881521-NJ to find the date on which the trustee's sale was held, the amount of the last and highest bid, and the address of the trustee. Second, you must send a written notice of intent to place a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 15 days after the trustee's sale. Third, you must submit a bid so that the trustee receives it no more than 45 days after the trustee's sale. If you think you may qualify as an "eligible tenant buyer" or "eligible bidder", you should consider contacting an attorney or appropriate real estate professional immediately for advice regarding this potential right to purchase. The undersigned trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. If the sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid. The Purchaser shall have no further recourse against the mortgagor, the mortgagee, or the mortgagee's attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders right's against the real property only. As required by law, you are hereby notified that a negative credit report reflecting on your credit record may be submitted to a credit report agency if you fail to fulfill the terms of your credit obligations. ## Call of the Wyld Festival Saturday at Town Hall

The Art Alliance of Idyllwild's (AAI) fourth Call of the Wyld Festival Saturday, June 11 feature some of Idyllwild's favorite performers. The festival, which runs from noon to 7 p.m., will be held outdoors at the recently renovated Town Hall.

Bring a chair and enjoy food from Dog-o-Dog, Amelia's Donuts and El Buen Cacao, as well as an offer of wine, beer, soft drinks and snacks for sale. The festival is free and open to the public.

The day's music opens at noon with songs of Jule Phillips followed by Laree Gibson and Bryan Goodhead. The second hour features local favorite Change Required.

Sandii Castleberry is joined by Barnaby and Anne Finch as Songbird Sandii and the Finches starting around 2 p.m.

Up from the desert and big classic rock favorites from last year, The 212 Band plays the next set of the day. The day wraps up with one of the favorite bands of Idyllwild's Summer Concert Series, Lisa Lynn and the Broken Hallelujahs.

This year, The Call of the Wyld Festival is combining with one of the biggest art events in the Idyllwild art calendar — The Eye of the Artist, a judged art show. AAI will raffle off original art from more than 35 artists, and more than 50 silent auction items. Come bid on as many items as you want. Spend a few dollars and you might own a unique piece of art. As a bonus, you are supporting local art programs all year. Drawings for the raffle and silent auction start at 4:30 p.m.

The event also features "Chili Bowls for Charity." Buy a bowl of chili served in a ceramic bowl handmade by Mountain Pottery. Keep the bowl when you are finished.

Proceeds benefit the Idyllwild smARTS program, bringing arts education to Idyllwild School students.

Local skaters raise funds for skate park renovation

By STEPHANIE YOST
IDYLLWILD COMMUNITY CENTER PRESIDENT

The Idyllwild skateboard community held a fundraiser from noon to 7 p.m. Saturday, May 28, at the Idyllwild Skate Park to help raise funds for the facility's ongoing renovation. It is estimated that more than 300 people attended the event throughout the day.

The Idyllwild Skate Park, the Idyllwild Community Center (ICC) owns and operates, is located on the grounds of Idyllwild Pines on Highway 243.

The event raised in excess of $2,600, which will go toward ICC's fundraising goal of $15,000 needed to replace the half-pipe feature removed earlier this year due to safety concerns as well as other needed repairs. This fundraiser donation means the community is more than halfway to this goal.

Primary organizers of the event were Carlos Mercado of Build-A-Board skate shop in Village Lane and local skateboarder Emily Jimenez. Four bands played at various times during the event, including local band Throw the Goat, headed by Brian "Puke" Parnell, who also provided the sound system and tech for the event.

Event sponsors included Cody Hopkins of Baker Street Snow skate shop, Sean Cliver of Strangelove Skateboards and Carlos Mercado, all of whom donated a wide assortment of skateboards, apparel and other skateboard-related items for numerous raffles. Speak-easy Books donated raffle items and Schnalzer Electric donated refreshments as well.

Many local and off-Hill vendors set up booths at the event that sold a variety of goods, including candles, clothing, jewelry, music, artwork, skate-related goods and more. The organizers also sold food and soft drinks.

"This was truly an amazing event and a great example of what can happen when the community comes together to reach a unified goal," said Will Steichen, ICC recreation and program director who attended the event along with ICC President Stephanie Yost.

Besides music, the event featured multiple skating contests for various age groups, including an event for Best Trick and the game of S.K.A.T.E. (In S.K.A.T.E., Skaters compete round-by-round to execute a particular trick. If the skater fails at the trick, they are assigned a letter (first "s," then "k," etc.). Once they earn the word "skate," they're out.

Skaters at all levels and ages skated together throughout the day to an appreciative and enthusiastic crowd of spectators.

The event organizers and ICC express their appreciation to Idyllwild Pines for their patience and support for the event.

Donations for the skate park renovation project can be made through ICC's website (idyllwildcommunitycenter.org) or ICC's GoFundMe Page by searching "Idyllwild Skatepark Repair Fund."

Stingrays

Stingrays are flat fishes that seem to fly underwater. Stingrays and other rays are sometimes called batoids because they look a bit like bats when they are swimming.

Stingrays got their name from the sharp, venom-tipped spines on their tails that can come out when the tail hits an animal. They only sting when threatened or stepped on.

Stingrays burrow in the sand in shallow waters to hide from predators or wait for prey to swim by. Their colors often match the sand or mud where they hide. This is called camouflage.

Stingray Shuffle

When walking in shallow waters where stingrays live, do the stingray shuffle. Shuffle your feet along the bottom to warn hiding stingrays that you are coming. The shy, gentle creature will hear you and swim away before you step on it.

Largest Ray is the Manta Ray

SPORTS

Youth Baseball

By Will Steichen
Recreation & Program Director
Idyllwild Community Center

Idyllwild Community Center's (ICC) Youth Baseball season is underway. The season is split between practices and games and includes three different age groups (4-6, 7-9 and 10+).

This season's sponsors are Life Writers, Black Mountain Coffee, The American Legion Post 800, Fairway Foods, Sugar Pine Tattoo and Schnalzer Electric. Given the combination of a three-year break since the last baseball season due to COVID, as well as already aging equipment, this year's sponsors made it possible for ICC to purchase a large amount of new equipment and kick-off the season on a great note.

Scores will not be kept as this season is focused on building skill and game knowledge.

Practices and games take place at Idyllwild School's top field, which will be closing for repair immediately after the youth baseball season ends.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS

California Business and Professions Code 7071.13 reads: "Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor."

This is a contractor's responsibility, not a newspaper's, and we are not responsible for it. However, as a courtesy, we will remove references to a bond in contractors' advertising, if we notice it.

CREATURE CORNER

By JANICE MURASKO

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," the ARF cats met the new ARF dog Rio.

Phil: More adoption news!

Harley: Here I stand, so you know it's not me.

Phil: For what it's worth, a dog was adopted, Rio.

Whiskers: He was here only a week, right?

Phil: Yep, and he had several interested families.

Harley: Again, here I stand.

Phil: Enough Harley. The right person will come along and fall in love with you.

Don: Or the kittens. Hate to say it, but they are really cute.

Pepper: And only two are not yet spoken for. Oh, and here they are!

Harley: Welcome, boys! You are pretty darned cute.

Corona: Well, yes. I guess we cannot help it.

Carmel: We are kittens after all!

Whiskers: You are very fun to watch.

Harley: I confess that I peer through the window to watch you. How much longer will you be at ARF?

Carmel: Until we're adopted, of course.

Corona: We cannot leave Mama's side for a couple more weeks, but humans may put in applications and deposits to tag us.

Don: So people just need to call ARF to make an appointment to meet you, right?

Phil: That's what they need to do, unless they stop by on the weekend.

Don: These kittens should bring 'em in!

Corona: In droves!

Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "Days of our Nine Lives" each week. And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Highway 243. ARF is open Saturdays 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Sundays 10 a.m.-2 p.m., and during the week by appointment. Please call 951-659-1122.
