Missing man was camping at Lake Hemet

By BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

A man camping at Lake Hemet is missing from the area, according to the Riverside County Sheriff's Department.

Martin Leon, 58, of the Banning Pass area, was last seen at about 9 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 6, at the Lake Hemet Campground.

He is described as 5 foot, 8 inches tall, 150 pounds with a large scar on the right side of his face. He was last seen wearing a red polo shirt, blue jeans and dark shoes. He is not considered being at-risk.

According to the sheriff's department, "The perimeter of Lake Hemet, the campground area, the area below the dam, and the surrounding forested area was searched by our deputies, detective unit, canine unit, equestrian unit, drone unit, aviation unit, and boat. [Flies] were also distributed to local businesses."

COUNTY SHERIFF'S DEPARTMENT

The sheriff's department gave no additional information, such as whether his campsite was abandoned or details about any vehicle involved.

The department believes he may be in the Cabazon or Banning area.

To report any information about his whereabouts, call Investigator Atkinson at 1-951-791-3421 or dispatch at 1-800-950-2444. The case number is D222190057.

One of at least three massive cranes swings into action along South Circle Drive Wednesday, Aug. 17 as several Edison subcontractors cleared several trees that could damage power lines should they topple, particularly during winter weather. A lone deputy sheriff, surveying from his parked car, said he was there "to see that everyone gets along."

How the Inflation Reduction Act may help you

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

On Aug. 16, President Joe Biden signed the Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) (H.R. 5376) into law. While addressing inflation in several ways, such as imposing a minimum corporate income tax, the law's ambition includes a gamut of other critical issues, from drug costs and Medicare to electric cars, tax savings, and funding to catch tax violators and protect federal lands.

One of the possible provisions that will reduce inflation is requiring companies making more than $1 billion to have a minimum tax of 15%. These revenues are estimated to reduce the deficit by $300 billion over the next decade.

For individual taxpayers, the law provides numerous means to save taxes, from credits for purchasing new or used electric cars to energy-efficient home appliances. But most importantly, in his signing statement, Biden said, "No one — let me emphasize — no one earning less than $400,000 a year will pay a penny more in federal taxes."

Health and Medicare costs and actions to address climate change are the principal focuses of the new law. About half of the estimated $700 billion cost is directed toward energy savings and clean energy production.

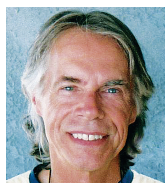

But for many Americans, particularly the elderly and low income, the immediate pocketbook effect will be lower medical costs or access to medical coverage.

Medicare

The IRA extends insurance subsidies for the Affordable Care Act ("Obamacare") policies. These were begun in 2021 and set to expire at the end of 2022. This law extends the support for another three years.

Inflation Reduction Act

Earlier this summer, Covered California estimated that 220,000 Californians might have to forego health insurance if these subsidies were not continued. The extension may also reduce Covered Cal’s proposed 2023 average premium increase from 6% to 5%, according to its July press release.

Health insurance premiums will be limited to 8.5% of a family’s income for those making four times the poverty level. This could amount to an annual savings of $800.

For individuals who have Medicare Part D (drug coverage), the annual costs will now be capped at $2,000 beginning in 2025. For those who need insulin, monthly costs will now be capped at $35.

Placing a limit on out-of-pocket drug spending under Medicare Part D will be especially helpful for beneficiaries who take high-priced drugs for conditions such as cancer or multiple sclerosis.

Also, Part D catastrophic cost-sharing coverage will be eliminated in 2024.

Another Part D change is expanded coverage of vaccines beginning next year, 2023. For vaccines that the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention’s Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices approve for adults, copayments will be eliminated.

According to AARP, “This will be important relief for Medicare Part D-covered vaccines that currently require cost-sharing, such as shingles.”

Future prescription savings will occur now that Medicare is allowed to negotiate drug prices with pharmaceutical companies. The drugs subject to negotiated prices will be limited to those without generic or similar competition already covered under Medicare. In 2026, Medicare can begin negotiating prices for 10 Part D drugs, 15 in 2027 and in 2028. Part B drugs without generic competition also are eligible for negotiation.

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services will not have to originate a process nor enter drug negotiations as novices since the Department of Veterans Affairs already negotiates drug prices. So, there are already contractors and government officials who have expertise in this area.

Energy Improvements

When the IRA’s details were released, Resources for Future estimated that, “The average household will experience approximately $170-$220 in annual savings from smaller electricity bills and reductions in the costs of goods and services over the next decade.”

The law’s energy provisions provide many ways for climate help and pollution reduction — clean energy tax credits, a production tax credit and investment tax credits for solar, wind and storage projects.

The law’s provisions would result in reduced emissions: “2030 electricity sector emissions are projected to drop from 70% to 75% below 2005 levels, compared to 48.5% below 2005 levels without the policy.”

For example, tax credits for purchasing electric vehicles will be extended and increased. Individuals who buy a new electric vehicle might have a tax credit of $7,500 and $4,000 if the vehicle is used. The buyer’s income and vehicle cost will affect the amount of the credit.

Other tax credits and rebates will be available for home improvement projects from energy-saving water heaters, heat pumps and HVAC systems to installing solar panels.

“It’s going to offer working families thousands of dollars in savings by providing them rebates to buy new and efficient appliances, weatherize their homes, get tax credit for purchasing heat pumps and rooftop solar, electric stoves, ovens, dryers,” Biden stated.

The IRA extends and enhances two existing tax credits for energy-efficient home improvements. These might include installing new, energy-efficient windows, doors, water heaters, furnaces or air conditioners.

The Nonbusiness Energy Property Credit expired at the end of 2021, but the Inflation Reduction Act extends it. In 2023, the Energy Efficient Home Improvement Credit will increase from 10% to 30% and the annual tax savings limit will increase from $500 to $1,200.

The Residential Energy Efficient Property Credit is the second current credit to be revised. Now to be known as the Residential Clean Energy Credit, the credit is now extended for 10 years through 2034.

The credit is worth 26% of the cost to install qualifying systems that use solar, wind, geothermal, biomass or fuel cell power to produce electricity, heat water or regulate the temperature in your home. It was scheduled to fall to 23% next year and expire in 2024.

The IRA extends and increases the credit to 30% from 2022 to 2032. It then falls to 26% in 2033 and 22% in 2034, and then will expire.

The IRA also offers rebates to low- and middle-income families who purchase energy-efficient electric appliances, such as stoves, ovens, ranges or even a heat pump clothes dryer. Equipment that produces more energy-efficient usage is also eligible for rebates. This includes a heat pump for a water heater, space heating or cooling.

Also rebates are offered for non-appliance purchases such as insulation, electric wiring or others. To qualify for a rebate, a family’s total annual income must be less than 150% of the median income where they live.

And there are $10 billion worth of tax credits for constructing clean technology manufacturing facilities,

Other provisions

The 273-page bill includes a variety of other provisions, such as added funding for many federal programs and more tax credits and rebates.

The bill provides $80 billion to increase and to improve the Internal Revenue Service’s (IRS) operations, such as enforcement, operations support, business system modernization and taxpayer services. This money will be available through 2031.

COVID BA.5 and local stats

Current Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) guidance for students: Stay home when you’re sick with anything. If you have COVID symptoms, get tested immediately. If you were exposed to COVID but you do not have symptoms, wait at least five full days and then get tested. Staff and students should wear masks if their CDC Community Level is high or if they have been exposed to COVID or are returning from isolation. Wash hands and cover coughs and sneezes. Optimize ventilation opportunities. Stay up-to-date with vaccinations.

The CDC rates Riverside County’s Community Level as medium.

As of Tuesday, Aug. 23, Riverside County stats showed 345 total COVID cases have been reported in the Idyllwild-Pine Cove area, with 336 recoveries and seven deaths, leaving two active cases in our area.

Anza reported 430 COVID cases with 421 recoveries and seven deaths, leaving two active cases in the Anza area, also.

According to Riverside University Health System Public-Health, the county is not reporting cases, recoveries, and deaths for communities with populations fewer than 2,000, such as Mountain Center and Garner Valley.

As of Tuesday, Aug. 23, Idyllwild School reported seven students and two staff members with COVID, while Hemet High reported 32 students with COVID, along with three staff members. Hamilton Elementary reported one student and one staff member with COVID while Hamilton secondary reported three students and one staff member.

IRS Commissioner Chuck Rettig commented, “During the next 10 years, these funds will help us in many areas, including adding critical resources to not just close the tax gap but meaningfully improve taxpayer service and technology. This will allow the IRS to provide services to taxpayers in the manner they expect and deserve . . . Given the scope of the bill, keep in mind these changes will not be immediate. It’s a 10-year plan, and it will take time to put these provisions into place.”

The federal government will increase its auctions of land for oil drilling. There are tax credits for coal and gas-burning plants that rely on carbon capture technology.

And $2.15 billion is appropriated to the U.S. Forest Service for hazardous fuels reduction projects in the wildland-urban interface, vegetation management projects, environmental reviews and protection of old-growth forests. Another $1.5 billion is available for tree planting.

Only two local districts need election to fill seats

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

The number of local agencies with seats on the November ballot has winnowed to two from possibly three. Only the Hemet Unified School District (HUSD) and the Idyllwild Fire Protection District (IFPD) will have candidates this fall. The Idyllwild Water District (IWD) will no longer need an election to fill the two seats whose terms expire in December.

If an incumbent board member, commissioner or trustee chooses not to seek reelection, the deadline for filing is extended for possible new candidates. HUSD, IFPD and IWD have an incumbent retiring. Consequently, the deadline for anyone else to file candidacy papers for seats on those boards was extended until 5 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 17.

No new candidates stepped up to challenge the already qualified candidates. But HUSD already had three candidates for two seats. So HUSD will have voters choosing trustees for Area 7 (the Hill and Anza).

Besides IWD, Pine Cove Water District (PCWD) will not need an election.

HUSD

Vic Scavarda, one of HUSD’s Area 7 (which includes the Hill, Garner Valley and Anza) trustees, chose to retire, which is why the filing deadline for HUSD was extended to Aug. 17. No new candidate filed, but there already were three candidates qualified to fill one seat. Last spring, a redistricting of the trustee areas resulted in just one seat in Area 7 whereas before spring, the area was called Area 5 and had two seats.

Incumbent trustee Megan Haley, Al Fernandes, a retired educator, and Jeremy Parsons, a law enforcement officer, are the three candidates who previously filed and qualified to be on the November ballot.

IFPD

Four candidates will be on the November ballot for three IFPD commission seats. Commission President Henry Sawicki, Rhonda Andrewson, Dan Messina and Stephanie Yost, president of the Idyllwild Community Center, will be the four people seeking one of three seats.

IWD

Two candidates — Steve Olson and Gene “Geno” Schneider — have qualified for the two seats whose terms are expiring in December.

Olson was appointed to the board in June 2021 to finish the term of former Commissioner David Hunt who had resigned. Schneider is a longtime Idyllwild resident.

PCWD

Three seats have terms expiring in December and all three incumbents — President Robert Hewitt, Lou Padula and Rose Venard — will be reelected. No one chose to challenge them, so an election is not necessary and later this fall the board of supervisors will officially appoint them to new terms.

Life Tribute Ben Pine 1931-2022

Ben Pine went to be with his Lord and Savior Monday, Aug. 8, 2022, at Desert Regional Medical Center.

He was born in West Hollywood to Carrie and Paul Pine on Sept. 13, 1931.

He was educated at West Hollywood Elementary School and Bancroft Junior High, where he met his future wife at age 12 in Mrs. Taylor’s Social Living class.

He attended Hollywood High and UCLA, graduating in 1958 with a degree in business administration, a wife and two kids.

He served in the U.S. Army during the Korean Conflict in Anchorage, Alaska.

His first job after college and his service was with IBM as a customer engineer in Phoenix, Arizona.

He began his own firm, Pine Company, marketing research data processing, many years ago with one employee, himself. And it flourished for 35 years with 150 employees, operating 24/7 and he as chief executive.

He was the ultimate Bruins fan although sometimes very critical of the Athletic Department. He served on its board of governors. He and his wife gave the Department of Spanish and Portuguese its first endowment —The Ben and Rue Pine Travel Award.

During his busy career days, he bought a cabin in Cedar Glen that they kept for 21 years, bringing all of their kids and grandkids for vacation time.

He and Rue were intrepid world travelers, visiting 51 countries with nary a cruise or tour except Tibet and the Galapagos where it was required. They rented a car and off they went. He went to Corfu, Greece 26 times over a period of 43 years and knew almost everyone in his village of Agios Stephanos.

He loved basketball, football, the opera and ballet. He was truly one of a kind — loving and generous. He was active with Rue at the Community Church where they began a small group program with the pastor.

He and Rue also were members of the Idyllwild Town Crier.

Ben and Rue moved to Idyllwild six years ago leaving Brentwood after 44 years in the same house. He was often heard to say, “Best thing we ever did!”

He leaves behind his wife of 68 years, Rue, daughter, Pamela (Greg) Martin, son Paul (Juliet) Pine and adopted daughter Cory (Gary) Jacoby; and eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

A celebration of life service will be held at Idyllwild Community Church with Pastor Bob Mitchell officiating. For more information, call the church office at 951-659-2935.

A new mayor

DEAR EDITOR:

Wouldn't it be great if the next Mayor Max could be a rescue/shelter dog? What a great statement that would make to our community and to all of the people the mayor will greet — not just in Idyllwild but also in other towns and venues.

I'm sure there is a nice young golden retriever-type out there who needs a good home and would love to become the next mayor of Idyllwild. And maybe the next mayor doesn't have to be a golden retriever either.

Papers are not necessary. Tail-wagging is a must, however.

New legislation tackles inflation, climate, health-care and drought

Editor's note: This column will appear periodically and may be written by various residents.

By MELANIE LAMAGA
ORGANIZER, PALMS TO PINES CHAPTER OF CITIZENS CLIMATE LOBBY

For years, polls have showed that a significant majority of Americans are alarmed about climate change and want the government to do more — yet legislation to address the problem seemed out of reach. That changed on Aug. 16, when President Biden signed The Inflation Reduction Act (IRA) into law.

Although the IRA includes provisions on drilling that demonstrate the ongoing power of the oil and gas industry, this bill represents the single-largest investment in climate action in U.S. history and contains additional provisions that will benefit the American economy, households, and small businesses.

The Inflation Reduction Act will:

- Create a net reduction in the federal deficit of $300 billion (on top of the 1.7 trillion in reductions already projected for this year).
- Lower average energy bills by $500 to $1,000 per year by helping families switch from higher cost fossil fuels (which are driving inflation) to cheaper, cleaner options.
- Lower health care costs by:
  - Saving the average Affordable Care Act enrollee $800/year.
  - Allowing Medicare to negotiate lower drug prices.
  - Requiring drug companies to rebate medication price increases that are higher than inflation.
- Capping out-of-pocket prescription drug costs for seniors at $2,000 annually, saving roughly a million seniors about $1,000 each year.
- Create manufacturing jobs: By investing more than $60 billion in businesses, the bill will spur domestic production of batteries, solar panels, wind turbines and more, creating millions of clean-energy jobs.
- Invest in environmental justice initiatives: to assist communities who have experienced dangerous long-standing environmental and health threats.
- Close corporate tax loopholes. Every corporation with at least $1 billion worth of profits will pay a minimum of 15% of their profits in taxes, putting an end to the practice of large, profitable companies who pay no taxes at all.
- Crack down on wealthy tax cheats. Increased funding for the IRS will be directed toward seeking revenue from taxpayers and large corporations making more than $400,000 a year who have used loopholes to avoid paying their fair share.
- Protect families and small business. This legislation is not funded by tax increases on small business or working families making under $400,000 (roughly 98% of all Americans).

- Provide over $4 billion to the Interior Department's Bureau of Reclamation for Western drought mitigation and resilience programs, national water programs and emergency drought funding.
- Reduce carbon emissions by roughly 40% by 2030 through an historic climate investment in clean energy. This includes 10 years of tax credits for modifications like heat pumps and rooftop solar, and provides $4,000 in consumer tax credits to buy used electric vehicles.

WE LOVE YOU IDYLLWILD!

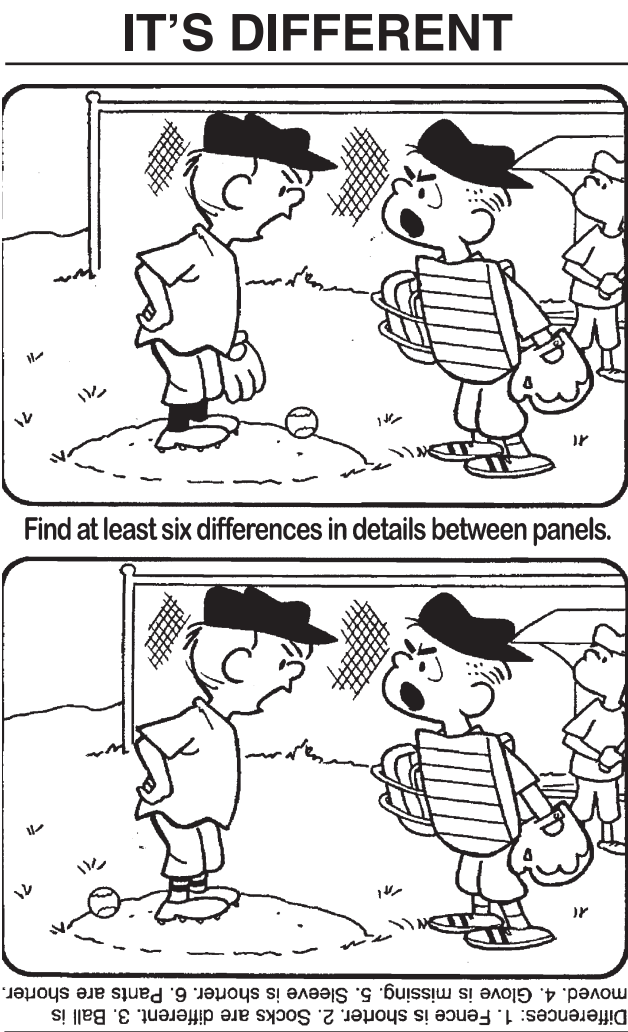

You have seen us for many years in our yellow jackets, helping with traffic and parades, around the village in twosomes, assuring the community that we are watching.

Sheriff Bianco came up with a good plan to unite all volunteer groups as well as explorer groups in Riverside County. We all now wear the same green uniform polo shirt with the sheriff insignia on the front as well as our names, volunteer is written in big letters on the back.

There is strength in numbers. It was not easy to make the transition for some of the folks on the mountain community patrol who have been members for over 20 years, but changes are necessary, and in this case it gives us versatility to meet up with other volunteer groups when they might need help and vice versa.

Mountain community patrol/MCP is still the same, you can count on us. Your safety and welfare is our goal. We are also actively seeking new members, and any questions or interest regarding joining the patrol or otherwise, should be addressed to our president Joel Feingold, his phone number 310-613-5746.

One of the very original members of the mountain community patrol, Gisela Stearns, is still an active member and it was very important to her and others, to convey this message to the community!!

Seeking EMax award nominees

For the 12th consecutive year, the Idyllwild Town Crier is requesting nominations for the annual Ernie Maxwell Community Spirit Award. Bring your nomination to the Town Crier office at 54405 N. Circle Dr., mail it to P.O. Box 157, Idyllwild, CA 92549, or send by email to becky@towncrier.com by 5 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 25.

The honor is given to an individual or group who represents EMax's spirit of community and volunteerism. Prior awardees took actions that created a spark sufficient to bring others into the fray just as Maxwell did with his activities involving the environment.

The nomination information should provide the reason why the individual or group has been nominated. They should have demonstrated a tangible, perhaps physical, effect on the community. The Ernie Maxwell Scenic Trail is an example of accomplishment.

How long has your nominee been active in the community?

Provide a description of their vounteer contributions and accomplishments for the community.

And finally, can you show how these efforts have been adopted or expanded by the community?

The previous awardees were the Mountain Communities Fire Safe Council in 2011, Dawn Sonnier in 2012, Robert Priefer in 2013, Annamarie Padula in 2014, Wendy Read in 2015, Janice Murasko/Robert Hewitt in 2016, Jay Mulder in 2017, Dave and Loie Butterfield in 2018, Phyllis Mueller in 2019, Stephanie Yost in 2020, and Mara Schoner and Mark Yargas in 2021. A plaque in the Town Crier office lists the awardees' names.

Later, you will have an opportunity to vote for the top three 2022 nominees. Group noting, e.g. collecting a list of signatures at a meeting, is not permitted. Votes must be on original, not copies of, ballots available in the Town Crier.

New feature on Caltrans app

Caltrans launched a new push notification feature on its QuickMap app that allows drivers to automatically receive real-time notifications about nearby road closures, emergencies and other traffic updates.

"With this new QuickMap upgrade, Californians now can receive instant traffic notifications based on their location," said Caltrans Director Tony Tavares. "Drivers can use this information to adjust their plans when needed, compare route options, save time and travel safely to their destinations."

QuickMap is a mobile app and website available to the public at no cost for travel planning.

When a device with the QuickMap app enters an area within 10 miles of a road closure or other traffic-related event, a pop-up message will appear alerting travelers of the incident, including time, location and reason for closure.

Caltrans reminds drivers to use their mobile device responsibly, including only in hands-free mode when operating a vehicle.

For more information, and to use the new feature, download the QuickMap app onto your phone or visit QuickMap.dot.ca.gov.

Every day throughout the United States, newspapers publish thousands of public notices about events, conditions or actions that affect countless individuals, families, neighborhoods and businesses. Public notices cover many topics, including business matters, liquor licensing, public auctions and sales, estates, zoning, public meetings, bids to sell goods and services to the government, local government finances and state and local elections. Public notice is a fundamental component of our system of representative democracy, which depends upon the participation of educated, responsible citizens.

Newsom drought plan to protect the future

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

On Thursday, Aug. 11, Gov. Gavin Newsom unveiled a plan to increase California’s water supply. In the third year of the latest drought, with its end still in the future, state water and environmental officials predict that “... hotter and drier weather could diminish our existing water supply by up to 10% by 2040.” To provide critical water for future Californians, Newsom’s plan goes beyond asking or mandating greater conservation from individuals.

This plan intends to increase water supply from various sources. The results will not be immediate; many will take until the end of this decade and more will require longer. But the intent is to save water for beneficial uses.

“The best science tells us that we need to act now to adapt to California’s water future. Climate change means drought won’t just stick around for two years at a time like it historically has — extreme weather is the new normal here in the American West and California will adapt to this new reality,” Newsom said in the press release. “California is launching an aggressive plan to rebuild the way we source, store and deliver water so our kids and grandkids can continue to call California home in this hotter, drier climate.”

Newsom’s plan, “California’s Water Supply Strategy: Adapting to a Hotter Drier Future,” identifies four major efforts to increase the state’s water supply. These include more water storage, greater recycling of wastewater for safe use, desalination, improving capture of stormwater runoff and more efficient water use.

“The last few years, the hydrology in the state is beginning to change pretty significantly and we have a renewed sense of urgency to address the issue,” Newsom said the news conference announcing the Water Supply Strategy. “It’s not just from a scarcity mind-set. We are focused on creating more supply. The reality is we need to be more creative and more aggressive.”

The California Department of Water Resource’s estimate of a 10% water loss could be between 6 million and 9 million acre-feet (AF) annually, more than Lake Shasta’s (California’s largest reservoir) capacity of 4.5 million AF.

To supplant this potential loss, the plan proposes that the state invest more in wastewater recycling and desalination technology. The proposed goal is to provide 800,000 AF by 2030 and another 1.8 million AF in the next decade.

The 2030 goal will halve the current level of urban water that flows to the ocean and direct it to water needs. The Water Supply Strategy (WSS) notes that not all wastewater can be recycled. Some is needed to discharge brine, and some is necessary to maintain stream flow for fish and wildlife.

WSS commits the State Water Resources Control Board (SWRCB) to identify local projects for recycling water that could be operational by 2030 or completed by 2040. A comparable effort for desalinating brackish groundwater also will be undertaken.

This priority was popular among many water agencies. “California urgently needs water recycling supplies to combat the current drought and the ongoing impacts of climate change,” said Jennifer West, WasteReuse California managing director. “[We] believe there is great potential to increase the use of recycling in California through the adoption of Direct Potable Reuse regulations (currently under development), funding the backlog of water recycling projects in the state and streamlining permit and approval processes.”

Another major priority is expanding water storage facilities. One piece is greater groundwater recharge. By October, WSS promises that the SWRCB will raise the priority of recharging projects.

Completing major water storage projects already funded is part of the plan as well as rehabilitating dams, whose storage volume must be lowered for public safety downstream.

Reinforcing his urgent point, Newsom emphasized that the state is not borrowing money or waiting to start projects. In the last two budgets, $8 billion, from the surplus, have been appropriated “... to actualize, not just promote, the plan and to implement its principles and we’re doing it with urgency.”

“[The Association of California Water Agencies] supports the governor’s call for the development of new water supplies through increased recycled water, desalination, above- and below-ground storage capacity, and groundwater replenishment,” said Cindy Tuck, ACWA deputy executive director for Government Relations.

Besides more efforts to increase conservation, WSS notes that the state’s water rights laws, more than 100 years old, can become an impediment. Consequently, there will be efforts to “... consider regulations, legislation, and pursuing resources needed to streamline and modernize the water right system, clarify senior water rights, and establish more equitable fees.”

Besides water rights law, another target for change is environmental regulations.

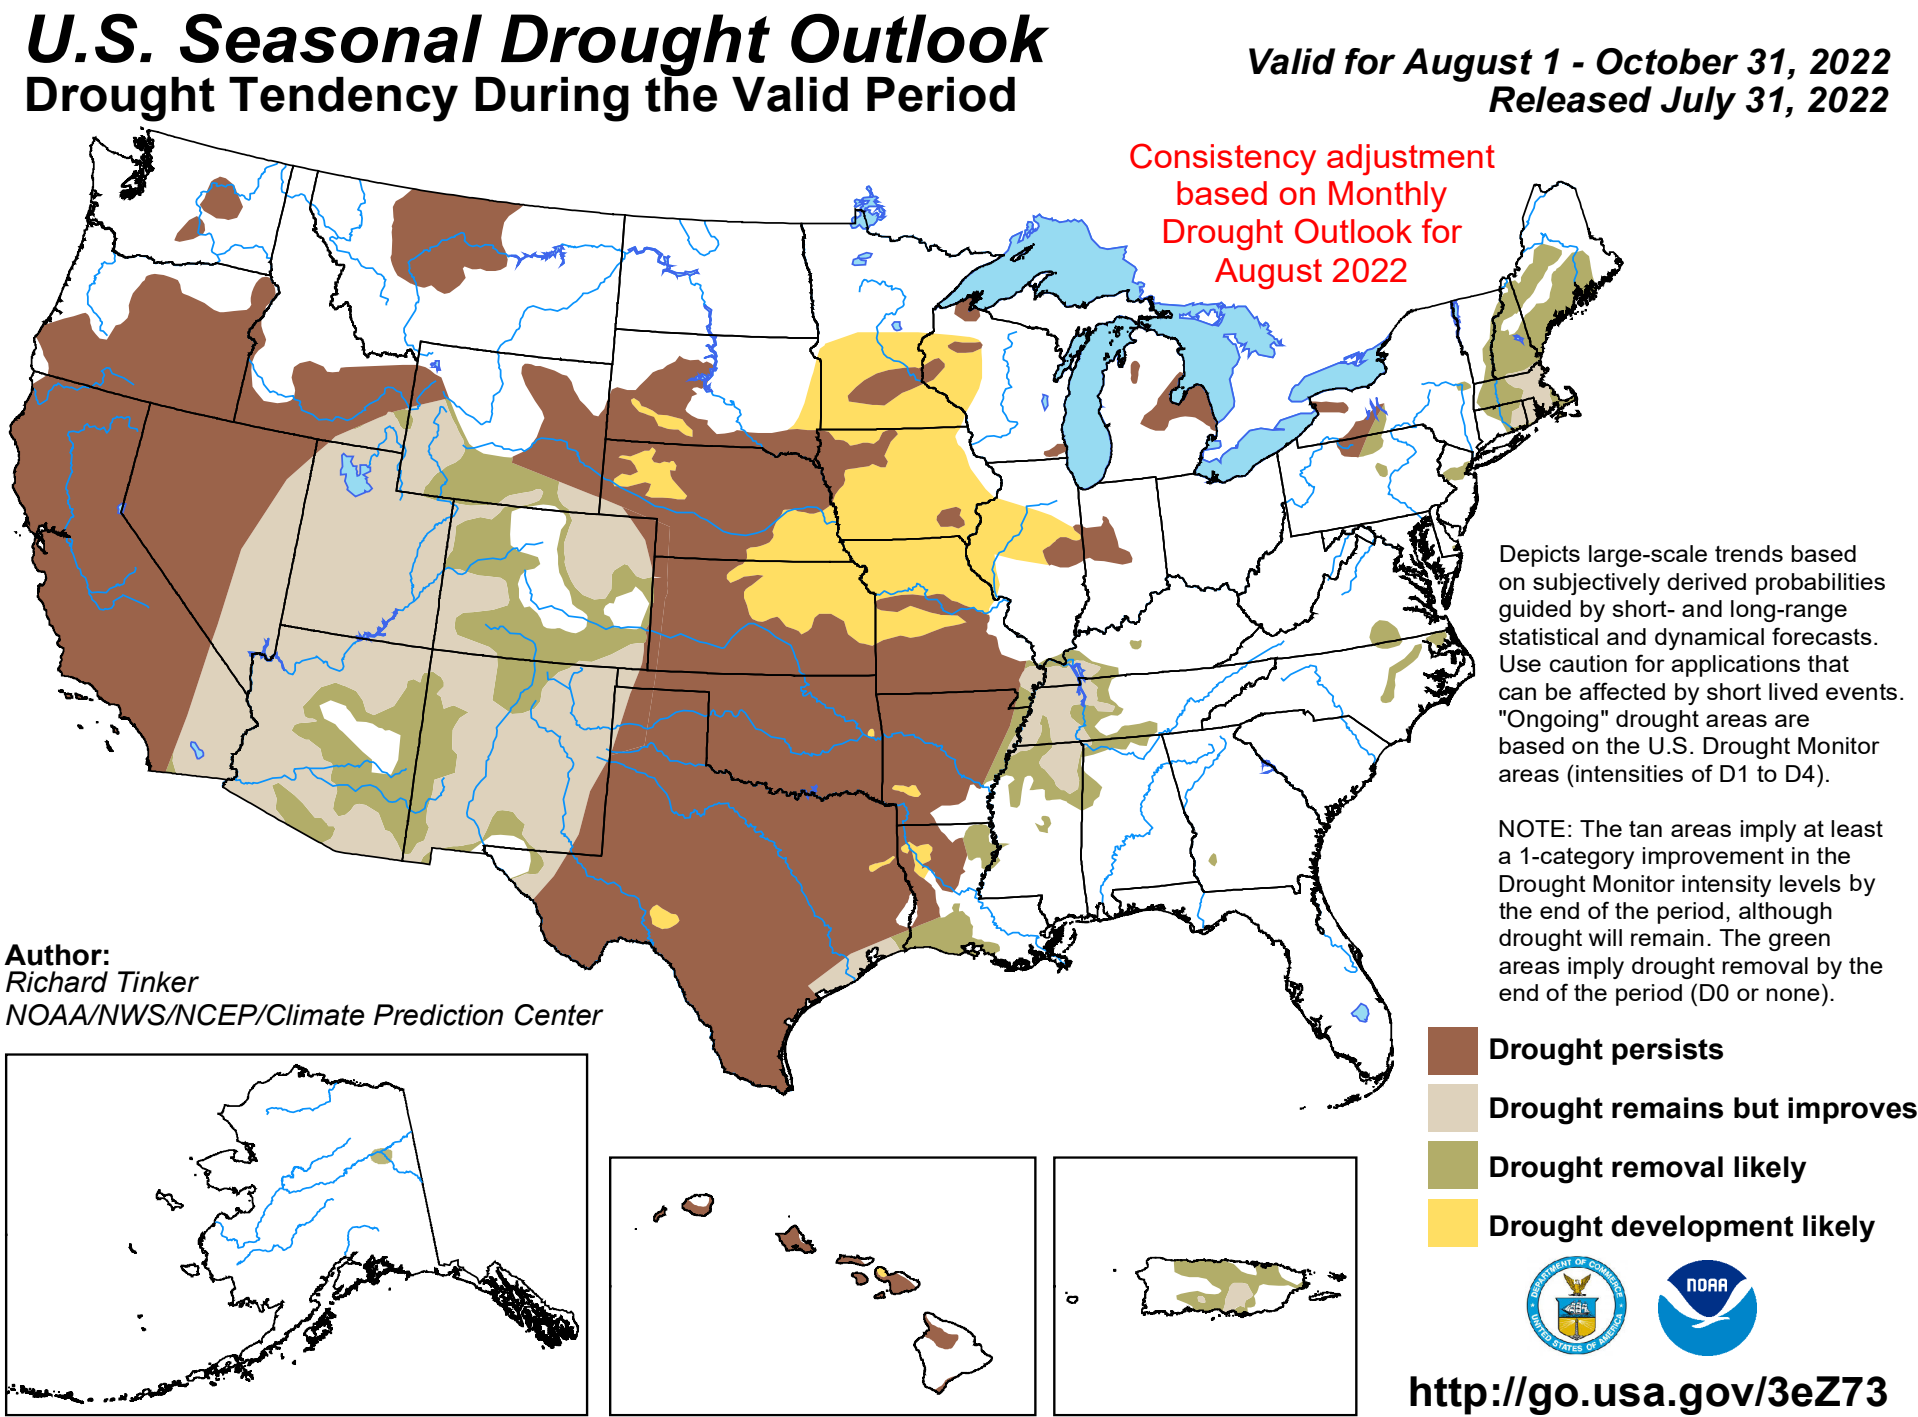

“The time to get these damn projects is ridiculous, it’s absurd, it’s reasonably comedic,” Newsom lamented. “In so many other ways the world we invented is from an environmental perspective now getting in the way of moving these projects forward so that we can address the acuties of Mother Nature. Permits that take years and years and years, one principle of this plan is our efforts to change our permitting.”

However, WSS did not please all concerned about California’s water supply. While the Sierra Club of California acknowledge that WSS contains many environmentally beneficial water supply projects such as water conservation, improved efficiency, water recycling and stormwater capture, which it has long advocated, Brandon Dawson, director of Sierra Club California, still offered significant criticism of the overall plan.

“Unfortunately, this strategy doubles down on promoting water storage projects, such as Sites Reservoir, that won’t provide new water supply but will detrimentally affect California’s rivers, lakes, streams, and communities,” Dawson wrote in a Sierra Club press release. “And it doesn’t address the harmful impacts that Newsom’s antiquated tunnel project, the Delta Conveyance Project, will have on the Bay-Delta region.”

But others reacted more favorably. General Manager Adel Hagekhalil of the Metropolitan Water District of Southern California said, “We appreciate the administration’s support for new supplies and infrastructure projects such as Pure Water Southern California. We will be working hand in hand with the Governor’s office and the water agencies across the state, the southwest and Metropolitan’s service area to develop new supplies and infrastructure that will provide resilience to protect our health, economy and environment with no one left behind.”

As he finished his statement, Newsom said he would bring these proposals to the legislature before its August recess. “We need to fast track these projects and address the regulatory thicket to move things forward.”

IWD suffers large water loss in July

By BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

Idyllwild Water District (IWD) staff and directors discussed a large water loss and the employee investment policy, as well as approved a proposal for a five-year rate study at last week’s Wednesday, Aug. 17 meeting.

In the July operations report, a 19% loss of water raised the eyebrows of directors. General Manager Leo Havener said he did not know why so much, 275,000 gallons, was lost. He supposed it could be a leak that no one told IWD about, Idyllwild Fire Department training or contractors taking water that isn’t on meters.

President Charles Schelly said, “We need to be very vigilant about leaks and we know that we have a very old system.”

Director Peter Szabadi noted that water demand for the month of July was 70% of capacity, up from 59% in both May and June. If it continues next month, he asked if Havener would move to Stage 3 water conservation level. “Correct,” Havener said.

Right now, IWD is in Stage 2, voluntary conservation. In order to move to a higher stage, the demand must exceed the lower of a stage’s threshold by a certain percentage for a certain period of time. The threshold for Stage 3 is between 61% and 70%.

IWD, based on its own stage criteria, should be in Stage 3 now because it exceeded 13% demand over 61% in just one month — July.

Havener had two wells capped off that he said had not been used in years. “I hired people to do this,” he told the board.

“I think it changes the formula for the stages,” said Szabadi. Szabadi has questioned the stage policy over several months and has asked that staff revisit the policy.

Gene Schneider was present at the meeting. In December, he will be taking the seat of Director Les Gin who moved out of the district.

Szabadi said, in rewriting the employee manual that he hopes will be approved at the next meeting, every employee hired since Jan. 1, 2019 will be considered an at-will employee. Those hired before that are contract employees.

Chief Financial Officer Hosny Shouman talked to the board about employee investments losing money at a rate of 22 to 25%.

IWD puts 10% of an employee’s salary into a retirement investment account for each employee. If the employee opts to put more money from the salary into the same account, IWD will match it up to 5%. (Shouman said later that the employee is responsible for paying taxes on any of the investment.)

The employee only has access to the money when they leave IWD.

Gin pointed out that the employee “is not losing anything but he isn’t gaining anything.”

After discussing investment options — including buying rental property — directors concluded that since this money belongs to the employees when they leave, they should decide where to invest the money. “The risk must stay with them,” said Szabadi.

“If we’re in charge of directing funds and then funds go down ... it looks bad for our board,” said Schelly.

Director Steve Olson, who maintains his IWD seat this year because he ran unchallenged, said, “Give Hosny some latitude to go out and talk to some people so employees can give him some direction.”

IWD is opposed to CalPers, a retirement investment program many governmental agencies use. “CalPers is underfunded,” said Szabadi. “For us to go in, we have to pay it back ...,” said Havener. “We’d have to prefund and the prefund will kill you.”

Though the board agreed that employees should bear much of the responsibility of investment decisions, disagreement arose when directors considered the proposal to conduct a water and wastewater rate study.

Havener prefers Bartle Wells Associates at $30,850 out of Berkeley out of four proposals and only presented that proposal for consideration to the board.

Director Steve Kunkle asked why not use the past company IWD used, NBS, whose proposal was $42,470? Kunkle argued that even though NBS’s proposal was higher, “I would like them to be local and they are tried and true.”

“Why do you want them?” asked Gin of Havener preferring Bartle. “I worked with them before ... excellent job, never had a problem with them ... Their numbers are pretty solid,” said Havener. He added that he wouldn’t anticipate their bid to rise more than 5% and that would probably involve travel.

Szabadi asked, “How much are they going to participate in public meetings?” “Up to us,” said Havener. But Olson noted that the proposal states nine meetings.

The proposal passed with three yea votes. Kunkle voted no and Schelly abstained.

The water and wastewater rate study will be for the years 2023 to 2028.

In other business, the board approved minutes from a special meeting held Aug. 3, to discuss the wastewater treatment plant project (WWTP) status.

Nathan Thomas and Nicole Cook of California Rural Water Association attended through Zoom. Schelly asked for a realistic date to break ground on the project. It is estimated to be August 2024.

Directors asked other questions to get a better sense of the status of the project since IWD already has spent 55% of the contractor for the first two task orders.

IWD was told it could expect to be able to request grant funding in February 2023. Cook said the association will submit a funding memo to IWD by the end of the month. She also told the board that second homes could lower the amount of grant funding available.

IWD is replacing its WWTP because it is more than 30 years old and also needs expansion. Idyllwild Arts Foundation is considering selling some of its land to IWD to expand the facility.

IWD is the only water district on the Hill with a sewer system. However, not all IWD customers are on the system. Many still require septic systems.

New FVWD directors get up-to-date at meeting

By BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

Much of the Fern Valley Water District (FVWD) Board of Directors meeting Friday morning was spent bringing new directors Kevin Scott and Chrissie Teeling up to speed on FVWD operations.

In discussing FVWD warrants, General Manager (GM) Victor Jimenez and Assistant GM Jessica Priefer explained to directors the costs of Southern California Fuels’ deliveries. Priefer noted that the cost had dropped. Jimenez said FVWD receives a discount for buying fuel locally from this company. The last cost was $5.01 per gallon for diesel and $4.82 per gallon for gasoline. The cost for delivery was $9.92. They receive delivery every three months and Jimenez said he has been using this company for two or two-and-half years because the cost of delivery was so low.

This month, Pine Cove Water District (PCWD) directors rejected an amendment to a Riverside County agreement that would charge PCWD $300 for delivery every three months.

FVWD’s California Employers’ Retiree Benefit Trust (CERBT) was fully funded a few years ago, Jimenez said, and gives better yield than the Local Agency Investment Fund with a yield of 0.75%. The balance is $1,171,193 as of Aug. 15, 2022, compared to $1,283,102 on Aug. 16, 2021. So, CERBT has increased $70,300 from the previous month at a yield of 6.4%.

In his GM report, Jimenez noted that he had left the Hill the night before but had to return and call back the crew when a big leak was discovered on Strong Drive. He said it was a hydrant lateral without a valve. A hydrant lateral is the pipe and fittings that run between the main water line and a fire hydrant.

“We got it repaired by about 8 o’clock at night,” he said. It was leaking at about 10 to 15 gallons a minute. “It leaked 30 to 50 gallons per minute when we opened it up,” he said.

“It hasn’t been a problematic line.” It is a directly melded T right into the main line, he told the board.

In the budget discussion, Priefer pointed out that Riverside County tax income has increased during the 2021-2022 fiscal year. The budgeted figure was $750,000 but it has increased to $820,584 because of home sales, she said. She told the board that the county sends two large checks a year, one in December and one in May. (This is the same with the other districts on the Hill.) Throughout the year, late payments trickle in, too.

Because of the recent storms, FVWD is able to take more water from Strawberry and Tahquitz creeks. Director Jon Brown explained to the new directors that it is much cheaper to take water out of the ground because wells require pumps. Over the past few months, FVWD has installed timers on all the well pumps so they do not operate during peak hours. Jimenez said wells 13 and 14 are still waiting for parts so FVWD is not using those wells. He said the electric bill has dropped from almost $1,000 to about $35 to run the pumps.

Scott asked about installing solar. The staff and board in the past have considered and investigated using solar. Jimenez said, “Solar doesn’t work for water because we’d have to build large solar fields to pull enough solar.”

Jimenez also told the board that Brown gave him a heads-up that ordering ductile, the iron pipe FVWD uses, is taking a year to receive once ordered. He said it used to take six weeks. He said FVWD prefers ductile over PVC pipe because, even though PVC is a lot cheaper and faster to receive, it can be destroyed easily when companies such as Edison accidentally dig it up when working in FVWD.

Administrative staff have been meeting with El-Co Contractors to discuss next year’s pipeline project and materials delays, as well as working on that project’s drawings and specs.

Lake Hemet is either about half empty or half full

By BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

Lake Hemet’s lake level when full is 135 feet, according to Lake Hemet Municipal Water District (LHMWD) General Mike Gow in his report to directors at the board meeting last Thursday. The report stated that when the lake is half full, the level is 118 feet. As of July 26, he wrote, the level is only 120.5 feet.

LHMWD is purchasing raw, imported water from Eastern Municipal Water District (EMWD), well 17 and groundwater banked through the Hemet-San Jacinto Watermaster from associated wells for irrigation demand in the farm areas of Valle Vista. According to EMWD’s website, “The Hemet San Jacinto Watermaster (Watermaster) is a judicial creation of the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the County of Riverside through the Stipulated Judgment entered on April 18, 2013 (Riverside County Superior Court Case No. RIC 1207274). The Stipulated Judgment declares individual rights of Eastern Municipal Water District (Eastern), Lake Hemet Municipal Water District (Lake Hemet), City of Hemet (Hemet), City of San Jacinto (San Jacinto) and other private groundwater pumpers to Groundwater in the Canyon Subbasin, the San Jacinto Upper Pressure Subbasin downstream to Bridge Street and the Hemet Subbasin ...

“The Watermaster, established by the Stipulated Judgment, is a board composed of one elected official and one alternate selected by each of the Public Agencies and one Private Pumper representative and one alternate selected by the participating Private Pumpers.”

Gow reported that lake water releases “will not begin until early fall when supplies are expected to be at their lowest levels.”

LHMWD is installing above-ground tanks at about $8,000. Removing existing underground tanks will cost $109,000.

Also in his report, Gow wrote that the Association of California Water Agencies has filed a letter with the California Supreme Court asking it to review a case that would define bees as fish under the California Endangered Species Act (CESA).

He wrote, “Fish are eligible for listing under CESA, and Fish and Game Code Section 45 defines fish as ‘a wild fish, mollusk crustacean, invertebrate [which includes bees], amphibian, or part, spawn, or ovum of any of those animals ...’”

The reason he brought this up was because he said this would “... ultimately result in increased regulatory requirements and compliance costs for water agencies.”

SCE sends civil claim to PCWD for repairs

By BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

At the Wednesday, Aug. 10, Pine Cove Water District (PCWD) board meeting, directors were surprised to learn of an incident that occurred in February involving Southern California Edison (SCE) and Piño Tree Service at Dutch Flats on PCWD property.

General Manager Jeremy Potter and Office Manager Becky Smith explained to the board that in February, a Piño truck had backed into an SCE pole, damaging equipment on the pole.

Potter and Smith said they contacted SCE about the damage at the time. They expected to receive contact from SCE about a cost to repair the pole but did not until a Claim Against a Governmental Agency dated Aug. 4, 2022, was sent certified to PCWD.

PCWD contacted Koosje Piño, owner of the tree service, who the two said came to the office right away and paid the total cost. According to the SCE claim copy the Town Crier obtained, the total cost was $7,926.33.

1st Division Marine Corps Band next ISCS concert

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

This Thursday, Aug. 25, the Marines are coming to Idyllwild. A tradition in Idyllwild dating back even before the present Summer Concert Series (ISCS), the 1st Division Marine Corps Band will perform a concert of patriotic and American wind ensemble music for the audience at the Butterfield Amphitheater. The concerts are free to all, supported entirely by donations from the community. There will be no opening act and the music starts at 7 p.m.

ISCS Vice President Pete Holzman said the Marine Corps Band has “been a mainstay in the concert lineup for most of our 22 years ... and a favorite of the concert goers.” Holzman and ISCS Founder Ken Dahleen have been doing this since 2000. Dahleen, as director and contractor for his Big Band Staff, has the crew and equipment to put on professionally produced events on a big stage.

The Marine Corps Band was originally selected as the final concert of this year’s series, but the outpouring of support from local individuals, groups and businesses has allowed ISCS to schedule a ninth concert for next Thursday, Sept. 1. That concert will feature vocalist Jennifer Singer.

The 1st Marine Division is the oldest, largest and most decorated division of the U.S. Marine Corps. Headquartered at Camp Pendleton, the division is a force of 22,000 men and women organized to conduct combat operations.

The Wind Ensemble is regarded as one of the finest military ensembles in the United States today. The concert band performs traditional marches, overtures, instrumental solos, classical transcriptions and patriotic favorites. It performs regularly throughout Southern California, and across and outside the continental United States. Highlight performances include the annual Fleet Week Celebration in San Francisco and Los Angeles, the Rose Parade, and the World War I annual Remembrance Ceremony in Belleau Wood, France.

The band represents the Marine Corps in the western U.S. and traces its origins back to World War II. The 1st Division was then stationed in Australia, and a band was fielded to play for the celebration of George Washington’s birthday in February 1943. It performed the Australian bush ballad, “Waltzing Matilda,” and this became the official march of the division.

One of the ensemble’s conductors, Corp. Matthew Booth, answered a few questions for the Crier this week. When asked if he had ever been to Idyllwild, he replied, “Yes, I have. We’ve been doing this for many years. A Marine band has been playing annually in Idyllwild for over 40 years. We always enjoy coming back; it’s a great venue; it’s great to be in small-town California. It is a really great opportunity to give back to the community, and to America, through music.”

The presence of the Marine Corps Band brings up a connection to Dahleen: he was once a Marine, and a band member. Dahleen’s dedication and can-do attitude were developed and burnished to a fine luster in the Marine Corps, and have since benefited the community in many ways. This week he shared the story of his enlistment with the Crier.

TC: “You didn’t enlist thinking you would be in the band, did you?”

KD: “No, I didn’t. I enlisted and thought I would be a regular Marine and go to Vietnam. I didn’t have any particular anticipation of what they would do with me. I thought I would go over there and end the war, the kind of thing you think when you are a kid.”

Dahleen told the story of how that enlistment happened, one of those chance encounters that change the course of a young life: “I went hunting down in San Diego, with a friend, Carl, who wanted to stop and visit with a Marine, his nephew, who was in the brig. At any rate we got in the base, ‘behind the wire,’ and we were walked over to the brig by a Marine, an MP. All the way there he was bad mouthing the Marine Corps, how tough it was, how unfair it was ... and all the time I was thinking, ‘If that guy can make it in the Marine Corps, I can make it in the Marine Corps. I went and enlisted. I liked it and stayed in.”

TC: “How long did you stay in the service?”

KD: “Just under 12 years.”

TC: “What rank did you hold?”

KD: “When I finally got out, I was E7.”

TC: “And what about the band, did somebody say, ‘Soldier, I hear you play saxophone?’”

KD: “At that time they auditioned me on clarinet. They used me as a clarinetist.”

TC: “Where did you serve?”

KD: “Camp Pendleton, Camp Lejeune.”

TC: “Those bands tour a lot. Any places you remember?”

KD: “Mostly the Mardi Gras [in New Orleans]; we played at military graduation ceremonies. We were always all over the place; we were gone more than we were there [on base.]”

TC: “What can you tell us about the band coming to Idyllwild?”

KD: “They are one of the finest [of the 10] field bands in the Marine Corps. I am happy to have them come to Idyllwild with a full concert band consisting of 45 musicians.”

As noted, there will be an unprecedented ninth concert Thursday, Sept. 1, featuring Jennifer Singer, a crowd-pleasing vocalist whose residencies with cruise lines have culminated in her latest voyage as “Signature Artist” aboard Royal Caribbean’s Wonder of the Sea, its newest and the world’s largest cruise ship. She will be performing contemporary hits and classics from Broadway. That evening will open with Idyllwilders Sam Kessler, David Dapeer and Steve D.

at 6:15 p.m.

As the end of this year’s ISCS approaches, Holzman offered, “Just a huge thank you to all the folks who have helped support the concerts. We need every donation, from the change thrown in the hat by children at the concerts to our major sponsors. Every penny counts and it’s this kind of willingness to pitch in that makes Idyllwild such an amazing place to live.”

These concerts are free to all and supported entirely by donations. The team “passes the hat” at the event, and those who can give more are invited to send contributions, checks payable to “Idyllwild Summer Concert Org,” to P.O. Box 1542, Idyllwild CA 92549-1542, or call (760) 413-4638. This year’s budget was over $34,000.

This year’s major contributors include: Bob and Gisela Stearns, Stephanie Yost and Steve Olson, Donna McLain, Compass Realty, Idyllwild Brew Pub, Roland Gaebert, Will and Kathy Kleindienst, Phil Strong and Linda McCaughin, Mountain High Escrow, Doug and Pat Austin, Idyllwild Rotary Club, Town Crier, Nona Solowitz and Mike Cheley, Tim McTavish, Desert Sotheby’s Realty, Idyllwild Trailer Park residents and Idyllwild Pizza Company.

A hope-filled approach to dementia

The Rev. Anne Cox Bailey will give a free Ponder Anew Seminar from 1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 28, at Town Hall.

In 2006, Bailey’s mother Arlene died of what turned out to be Frontotemporal Dementia, following one of the worst-case progressions she has ever encountered.

At the hands of doctors, officials and trusted friends, the ignorance, apathy, abuse and abandonment both parents and daughter suffered was far worse than the disease itself.

For the past 22 years, Bailey has studied and trained, using the knowledge to help others, serving first as interim and then as rector in parish ministries. A new call began to develop over that time, leading to a new ministry: She has pledged her life to alleviating the fear, the anguish and the ignorance that accompany most people into dementing diseases, so that others don’t have to go through the nightmare her mother and family endured.

Ponder Anew is the ministry that gives people the opportunity to rethink their attitudes about dementia. If a loved one or someone for whom you care is living with dementia, there is hope: It is possible to learn how to create moments of meaning and joy, and how to live with it in relative peace. Bailey places her training and experience at others service, to the glory of God.

Steele T32 at BMW

By JACK CLARK,
PRO GOLF CORRESPONDENT

I apologize to Brendan Steele and his family — including his parents, Kent and Jana Steele here in Idyllwild — and to our readers for my blunder in last week’s Town Crier.

I was under the very mistaken impression that a player needed not only to score high enough on the FedExCup list to advance to last week’s BMW Championship, but that he had also to make the cut in the previous playoff tournament round — the FedExCup St. Jude Championship — to advance to the BMW. Not so. The FedExCup list itself was all controlling, and since Brendan stood 66th on that list after the St. Jude, he was within the top 70 and was eligible for, and did play in, last week’s BMW.

The Idyllwild native posted 76-67-65-73 — 281 in the BMW to finish in a tie for 32nd place and move up to 61st in the FedExCup standings. But since only the currently top 30 on the list advance to this week’s TOUR Championship, his 2022 season has now ended.

However, the new PGA Tour 2022-2023 season begins only three weeks from now in Napa with the first round of the Fortinet Championship, which tournament Brendan won twice — in 2016 and again in 2017 — when it was named the Safeway Open.

BACK TO SCHOOL ROAD SAFETY

Leave early so you don't have to hurry!

Safe is Better Than Short

Take the safe path to school, not the shortest one. Help Amy find the best path to school.

My Safety Story

Finish the sentences using these words:

CARS ALL BUCKLE CORNERS RUN WAYS
HELMET CROSSWALKS STREET CROSSING

My name is _____ and I take time to (YOUR NAME) be safe. I always look _____ before _____ the _____.
I walk, and don't _____.
I never walk between parked _____. I

FACING DRAWSTRINGS

SAFETY IS NO ACCIDENT!

1. Wear light colored _____ at night.
2. Do not wear clothing with _____ or jewelry that can get caught on playground equipment.
3. Walk or skate _____ traffic, so you can see oncoming traffic.
4. Wear an approved bicycle _____ if you are riding a bike or scooter or skating. If you travel on skates or a skateboard, also wear _____ guards and elbow and _____ pads.
5. Don't walk or skate alone.
6. Before you go anywhere, CHECK FIRST with the _____ in charge. (Check in again if you _____ your plans.)
7. Never take a _____ with someone without checking with your parents first.

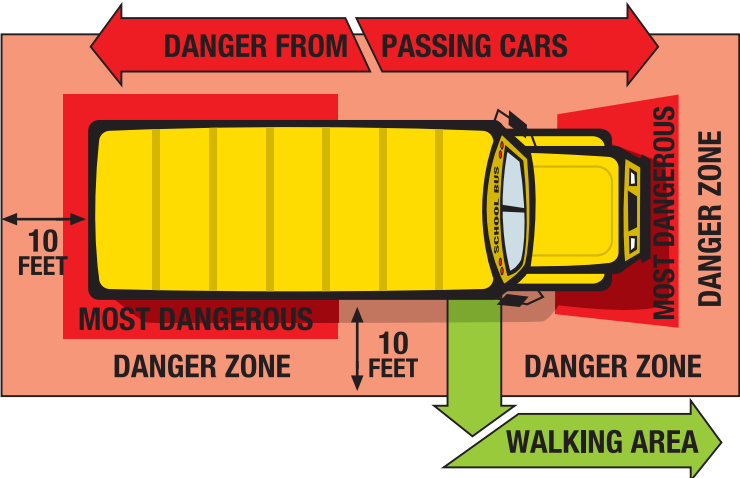

How many differences can you find between these two school busses?

Know your bus danger zone!

Many children are injured each year while getting on or off school buses. This is because the bus driver cannot see certain areas around the bus. The danger zones are shown below.

Avoid these danger zones by always taking 10 giant steps away from the bus after you exit. Always wait for the bus driver or another adult to tell you when it is safe to cross the street.

New private retreat for first responders

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

The Quiet Creek Inn has new owners, Newport Beach-based FR Health, and will now be a private retreat for first responders and therapists who work with them, to be known as Eagle Creek.

Kim Hudson, the local contractor in charge of the transition from inn to retreat, told the Crier: “The new owners, FR Health, are thrilled to become part of the historic and unique Idyllwild community, having carefully chosen this location for its tranquil setting to nurture peace, serenity and healing — bringing with them years of experience serving first responders (fire, police, emergency medical, corrections, etc.) to host wellness retreats and training for those individuals serving our communities. They look forward to opening their doors not only to first responders but also to Idyllwild’s local groups, healers and neighborhood associations.”

FR Health provides training for mental health professionals to learn more about the unique needs of first responders through workshops and courses, and retreats for first responders and those close to them. These retreats include “Sage” for first responder spouses and significant others, “Restoration and Reflection” for those who serve on public safety peer support teams and “Trauma and Resilience” for public safety professionals.

The principal officers of FR Health include owner Joel Edwards, lead clinician Dr. Stephen Odom and Devin O’Day, who founded a mental health residential treatment center in 2015. Edwards spoke to the Crier recently.

TC: “You are training therapists?”

JE: “Ongoing training, yes. Cultural competency for working with first responders.”

TC: “And first responders themselves will be coming for retreats?”

JE: “Yes.”

TC: “Is this your first retreat property?”

JE: “The first we actually own. In the past we’ve usually done Airbnb. We looked at several properties. Quiet Creek served the needs we had been looking for.”

TC: “What brought you to Idyllwild?”

JE: “We ‘found’ Idyllwild after an exhaustive search of locations that were in mountain towns and were close to ... the needed resources to help support the first responders and their families we help as well as provide a healing and restorative environment in nature.”

TC: “It’s a big step. Any thoughts about opening your own retreat?”

JE: “We are excited to have a dedicated first responders retreat and wellness center. There are plenty of wellness centers, even in Idyllwild, but nothing that caters to first responders only. We are excited to be part of [the] Idyllwild community and hope to be able to utilize local resources to provide services we need.”

Information about the retreats FR Health provides can be found at shiftwellness.com/all-retreats. More information is available at www.firstresponder-wellness.com and thecounselingteam.com.

HOROSCOPES

August 2022 — Week 4

March 21 – April 19

A strong social whirl brings a new round of good times to fun-loving Rams and Ewes. Also, Cupid is busy aiming arrows at single Lambs hoping for a heart-to-heart encounter.

April 20 – May 20

A romantic incident could take a more serious turn if the Divine Bovine considers meeting Cupid's challenge. Meanwhile, a professional opportunity is also about to turn up.

May 21 – June 21

A bit of hardheaded realism could be just what the Twins need at this emotionally challenged time. Face the facts as they are, not as you want them to be. Good luck.

June 22 – July 22

Many opportunities are opening up. But, you need to be aware of their actual pros and cons. Check them all out and make your choice from those that offer more of what you seek.

July 23 – August 22

A more stable situation begins, allowing you to feel more secure about making important decisions. Meanwhile, be sure to meet any project deadlines so that you can move on to other things.

August 23 – September 22

Congratulations. A new personal relationship thrives, as you learn how to make room in your busy life for this wonderfully warm and exciting emotional experience.

September 23 – October 22

A new contact opens some doors. That's the good news. But, there's a caution involved: Be sure you protect your rights to your work before showing it to anyone else.

October 23 – November 21

A former colleague might seek to resume a working partnership. Ask yourself if you need it. If yes, get more information. If no, respectfully decline the request.

November 22 – December 21

Good times dominate your aspect. So, why not have a party to celebrate a loved one's success? And do invite that special person you want to get to know better.

December 22 – January 19

The shy side of the Sea Goat soon gives way to your more assertive self. This should help you when it comes time to speak up for yourself and your achievements.

January 20 – February 18

A new period of stability will help you deal with some recently reworked plans. Once you get your current task done, you can devote more time to personal matters.

February 19 – March 20

Things are finally much more stable these days, so you can restart the process of meeting your well-planned goals with fewer chances of interruptions or delays.

CREATURE CORNER

By JANICE MURASKO
Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," new ARF cats played a dog safety game.
Phil: Since we reviewed dog safety in the summer, I think it's time for a review of cat safety.
Atlas: I'm ready. This is more up our alley.
Phil: Multiple choice: Which are signs of heatstroke in cats?
a. Panting
b. Lethargy
c. Vomiting
d. All of the above
Buffie: Kind of like dogs, yes? I'm saying D, all of the above.
Phil: Right, Buffie! Guardians need to cool down their cats immediately and seek medical treatment. If they can't get their body temperature down quickly enough, their cat can suffer serious organ damage or death.
Harley: That is so sad, and preventable.
Phil: And there are several ways to prevent heatstroke in cats. Anyone?
Candy: Cats' playtimes should be in the cooler parts of the day, usually in the morning and evening.
Atlas: And we should always have access to plenty of cool, fresh water.
Phil: Right! Also, cats' fur helps protect them from the elements — even heat. It's important that guardians don't completely shave their cats for summer. However, brushing can help reduce some of the mats and release hairs that may be trapped within the coat. That can help the cat maintain its appropriate body temperature. If guardians keep their cats groomed and free from mats, tangles and excess fur, it's a lot easier for their bodies to cool off.
Pepper: There is another little trick we felines wish our guardians would make note of. There are many delicious and cool treats that can regulate a cat's temperature by giving them something to enjoy. How about freezing water and tuna to create a frozen tuna treat? This encourages cats to drink water from the melting ice while giving them a mental puzzle.
Phil: That would be so, so nice!
Pepper: And yummy!
Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "Days of our Nine Lives" each week. And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Highway 243. ARF is open Saturdays 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Sundays 10 a.m.-2 p.m., and during the week by appointment. Please call 951-659-1122.
