Forest Service will begin pile burns and eventually broader prescribed burns

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

According to the San Bernardino National Forest (SBNF), Garner Valley is the site of pile burning in the next few weeks.

The wet weather has delayed the planned burns, which were scheduled for last week, in the Cranston Reforestation Project, according to Lauren Blake, forest fuels prevention officer for the SBNF.

"Administrative sites like the Forest Service fire stations will work on burning their piles at their stations for the rest of this week," she added. "And if Cranston is not ready, they will continue at the stations next week."

Joshua Tree man sentenced in fatality

By BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

A Joshua Tree man was sentenced to two years in prison for a fatality that occurred in 2021 on Highway 243.

On Jan. 31, Nathan Daniel McConnell, 40, pleaded guilty to gross vehicle manslaughter and reckless driving causing serious injury on May 9, 2021.

McConnell was driving northbound on Highway 243, north of Miller Ranch Road at a speed between 73 and 79 mph. Charles James Shacklock, 31, of New Springfield, Ohio, was driving southbound on Highway 243.

Due to McConnell's speed, he was unable to negotiate a left-hand curve and applied the brake while entering the curve. He lost control, rotated clockwise toward the east shoulder ascending a slope. McConnell rotated the wheel the other direction to correct, coming down the slope, traveling through two lanes of traffic counterclockwise into the Outlander.

The force of impact caused Shacklock's vehicle to travel off the road through a wooden sign into a fence coming to a rest, blocking the southbound lane and the shoulder.

He was pronounced deceased at the scene.

More cases dismissed, court explains

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Last week, the Town Crier reported on the Riverside County Board of Supervisors asking the county executive and its legal staff to develop recommendations to cope with the dramatic dismissal of criminal cases before they could come to trial.

The Riverside County Superior Court issued some comments about the situation last week. District Attorney Michael Hestrin also issued another statement regarding the continuation of these dismissals.

In his press release, Hestrin noted that the number of dismissed cases since October has exceeded 1,500. This includes both felony and misdemeanor. The misdemeanor cases cannot be refiled, he stated.

However, he specifically addressed three criminal cases, all felony child sexual assault charges, that were dismissed in late January. The defendants and the case numbers were Norman Martinez Garcia (RIF2101260), Daniel Cintron (RIF2002317) and Angel Torres Salas (RIF2002269).

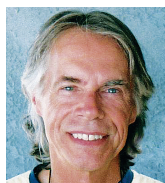

In each instance, the district attorney's office told the court that it was prepared to begin the trial. Nevertheless, each case was dismissed because there was no judge available. However, Hestrin's office has refiled new cases against each defendant.

According to Hestrin, the cases were dismissed "... due to the court's inability to begin the trial within the timeframe required by law ...

"Our office opposed Judge Prevost's decision, arguing that the court's decision to leave several courtrooms closed while their judges attended training, along with other judges being out ill, justified a short continuance of the case,"

Precipitation continues to give hope of lessening drought

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Considerable rain and snow have fallen throughout California since the beginning of 2023. And the Hill has incurred its share of cold and wet weather.

Last week, the California Department of Water Resources (DWR) announced the results of its second snow survey of the winter season. At the Phillips Station, DWR measured 85.5 inches of snow depth, which is a snow water equivalent of 33.5 inches. The snow water equivalent measures the amount of water contained in the snowpack.

The Phillips Station's snow water equivalent was 193% of average for this location Wednesday, Feb. 1. Statewide, the snowpack is 205% of average for this date.

Two months remain until April 1, when the state snowpack usually peaks. According to DWR's press release, the agency conducts five snow surveys at Phillips Station each winter near the first of each month, January through April, and, if necessary, May. The next survey is tentatively scheduled for March 1.

Locally, cold temperatures and precipitation have been abnormally present. The National Weather Service's (NWS) San Diego office reported that Idyllwild has had a severe winter so far. January's average temperature was 38.2 degrees, which is 4.8 degrees below the normal average temperature for the month. That was the largest dip in Southern California.

Rainfall has reached 13.9 inches, which is 9.17 inches greater than the normal January precipitation of 4.74. This also was the largest variance from normal in Southern California.

However, the precipitation was mostly in liquid form. NWS recorded only a trace of snowfall in Idyllwild, compared to the average of 6.3 inches in January, although Idyllwild Fire Department recorded 3 inches of snow last weekend.

Speaking of the Northern California snow, Sean de Guzman, DWR's Snow Surveys and Water Supply Forecasting Unit manager, said in the agency's release, "Large snow totals like today are a welcome sight but also present new challenges for water managers as they walk the fine line between water supply and flood control. As we move into the snowmelt season in the spring, water managers will work to manage flood risk and optimize the snowpack's water supply benefits during peak demands in the summer."

"California has always experienced some degree of swings between wet and dry, but the past few months have demonstrated how much more extreme those swings are becoming," added DWR Director Karla Nemeth. "... While today's results are good news for water supplies, we know from experience how quickly snowpack can disappear if dry conditions return in the months ahead."

At the end of December, more than a third of California was designated as either extreme or exceptional drought. As of Jan. 31, none of the state was in either classification. Now nearly 90% of California is in either moderate or severe drought stages.

For the next three months, February through April, NWS is forecasting equal chances of below average or above average precipitation for Southern California, with the same likelihood on warmer or cooler temperatures.

"For the period of mid-January through April, drought is most likely to persist across Southern California," the office reported.

The new bivalent booster dose vs. the Omicron XBB.1.5 variant

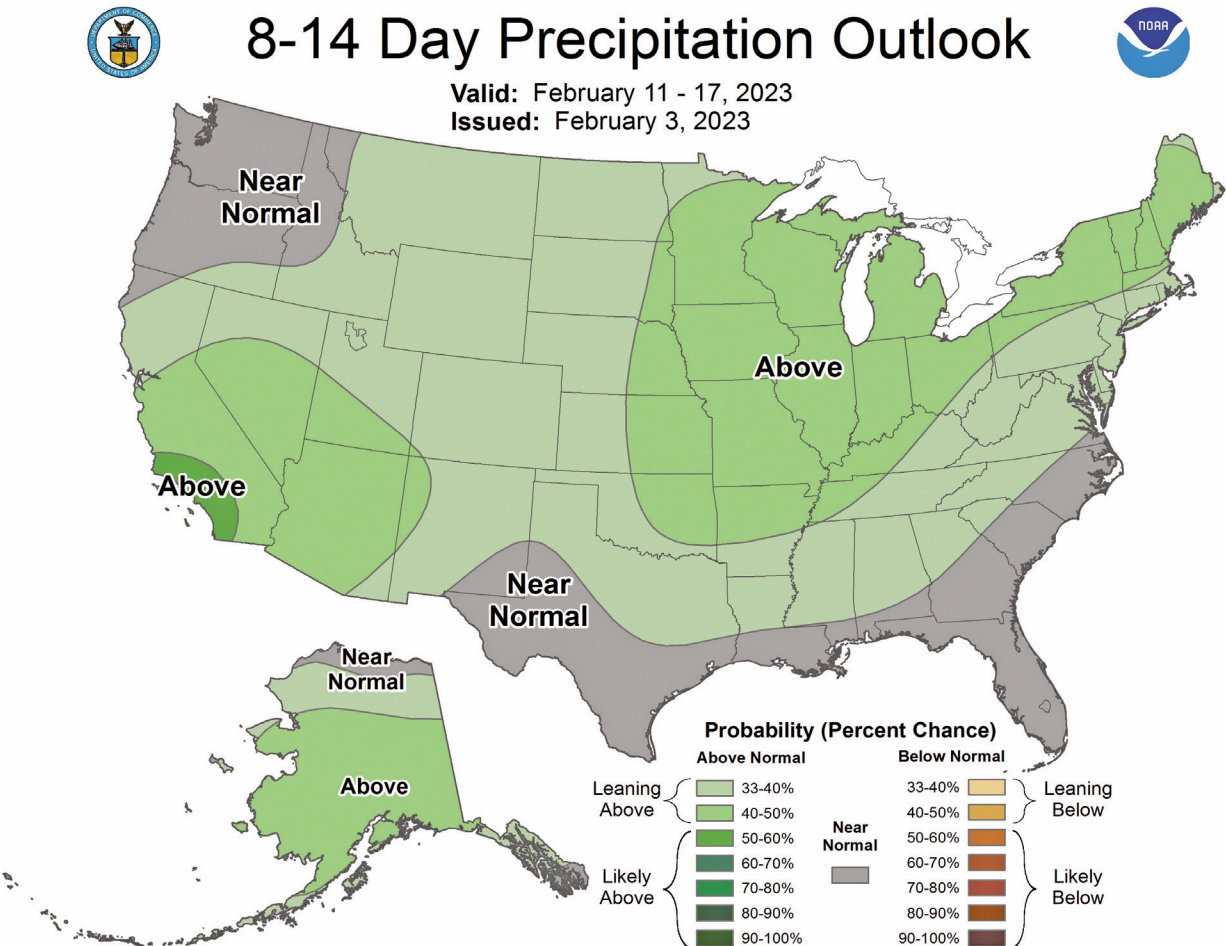

The Centers for Disease Control (CDC) reports that the COVID XBB.1.5 is now the predominant variant in circulation in the United States, currently accounting for 66.4% of new COVID cases. It is likely that this variant will continue to spread, says the CDC. Preliminary indications are that the updated COVID boosters provide protection against XBB.1.5 and other recent Omicron variants for at least the first three months after vaccination. "Those who are up to date on their COVID-19 vaccinations have the most protection to fight off an infection caused by XBB.1.5," the CDC advises.

The CDC continues to rate Riverside County among the "low community level" counties in the country. CDC recommended actions for low community levels are: "Stay up to date with COVID-19 vaccines. Get tested if you have symptoms. Wear a mask if you have symptoms, a positive test, or exposure to someone with COVID-19. Wear a mask on public transportation. You may choose to wear a mask at any time as an additional precaution to protect yourself and others."

On Tuesday, Feb. 7, the Hemet Unified School District dashboard reported no cases of COVID among either students or staff members at Idyllwild School. Hamilton elementary reported one student and two staff members with COVID. Hemet High reported one student and no staff members with COVID, while Hamilton secondary reported one student and one staff member with COVID.

CORRESPONDENT

Last week, Gov. Gavin Newsom appointed V. Manuel Perez, Riverside County's 4th District supervisor, to the California Air Resources Board (CARB). This position requires Senate confirmation and there is no compensation.

Since 2018, Perez has been a member of the governing board for the South Coast Air Quality Management District (SCAQMD), which is the air pollution control agency for Orange County and major portions of Los Angeles, San Bernardino and Riverside counties. During his time there, Perez has encouraged greater use of renewable energy in the county.

For example, SCAQMD developed the Coachella Valley Residential Energy Efficiency Retrofit Program and provided $1 million to upgrade homes in disadvantaged communities located in Coachella at no charge to the homeowner. The program was targeted to homes located in communities where air pollution is major problem.

These upgrades made residential homes more energy efficient and improved air quality, including replacing lightbulbs with LEDs, installing smart thermostats, insulating attics, and air sealing to reduce the amount of air that leaks in and out of homes.

As a result of his activities with the SCAQMD, in October, Perez was invited to speak at the Association of Women in Water, Energy and Environment Clean Air Day 2022. He discussed the burden of air pollution on Southern California residents — especially those who live in low-income, minority communities close to the pollution sources.

But his concern about air quality preceded his time on the board of supervisors. Perez served three terms in the state Assembly, beginning in 2008. Near the end of his tenure, in 2014, he was elected as the Democratic Majority leader. Before that, he served as chair of the Select Committee on the Renewable Energy Economy in Rural California.

A front window was broken on the far left side early Monday morning and an attempt was made to actually steal the safe from Fairway Market. Alarms went off and it was unsuccessful. Riverside County Sheriff's showed up and made a report. An investigation is ongoing.

During his time in the Assembly, Perez worked on many environmental issues and submitted supporting bills. Among his efforts was facilitating renewable energy development in the desert region through streamlined permitting and local planning grants. He also assisted in obtaining the approval for a clean-burning, natural gas power plant to bring $900 million in investment, hundreds of jobs and energy reliability to the region.

One of his major efforts was a bill to push California utilities to procure more than half their power from renewable resources, including geothermal energy from the Salton Sea. The bill would have raised the state's renewable energy target from 33% in 2020 to 51% in 2030. It also would establish a new approach to energy planning for the state's utilities, requiring them to consider energy efficiency, greenhouse gas reduction and grid reliability in addition to cost.

Other legislation included securing $2.3 billion in clean tech economic recovery bonds to help local governments attract business and create jobs, and focusing state level attention on the heavily polluted New River and securing funds to draw down nearly $4 million in federal grants to begin its clean up.

His environmental passion has continued during his time on the board of supervisors. Last year, he served as chair of the Riverside County Transportation Commission, which includes elected officials from the county's cities and supervisorial districts.

From July 2021 to 2022, he served as president of the Salton Sea Authority Board of Directors.

Unfortunately, neither Perez nor his staff responded to a request for comment about his appointment to the CARB.

By JACK CLARK
Co-PUBLISHERS

You may think the Town Crier doesn't need advertising since it has a Membership model. Not so. While the Membership plan has indeed kept our paper's nose above water, advertising will always be the chief source of income when it comes to paying our bills: payroll, printing, rent, utilities, several types of insurance, Xerox and security system fees, postage, office supplies, gas and oil, and more.

Without more and regular advertising, the Town Crier risks the fate of more than 2,000 American newspapers that folded during the past 14 years — hundreds of them in California.

Since we purchased the TC nearly 10 years ago, we made advertising more affordable in several ways. Currently, we offer display ads in full page, half-page, quarter-, eighth- and even sixteenth-page sizes. Sign a year contract and you'll save 10% off. (Non-profit organizations always receive a 10% discount.) And we always — always — encourage our readers to patronize Town Crier advertisers.

Perez coming to Idyllwild for listening session

Riverside County 4th District Supervisor V. Manuel Perez is holding a listening session in Idyllwild from 5 to 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 21, at Town Hall.

Perez is organizing this meeting to introduce himself to the community in person and hear from community members.

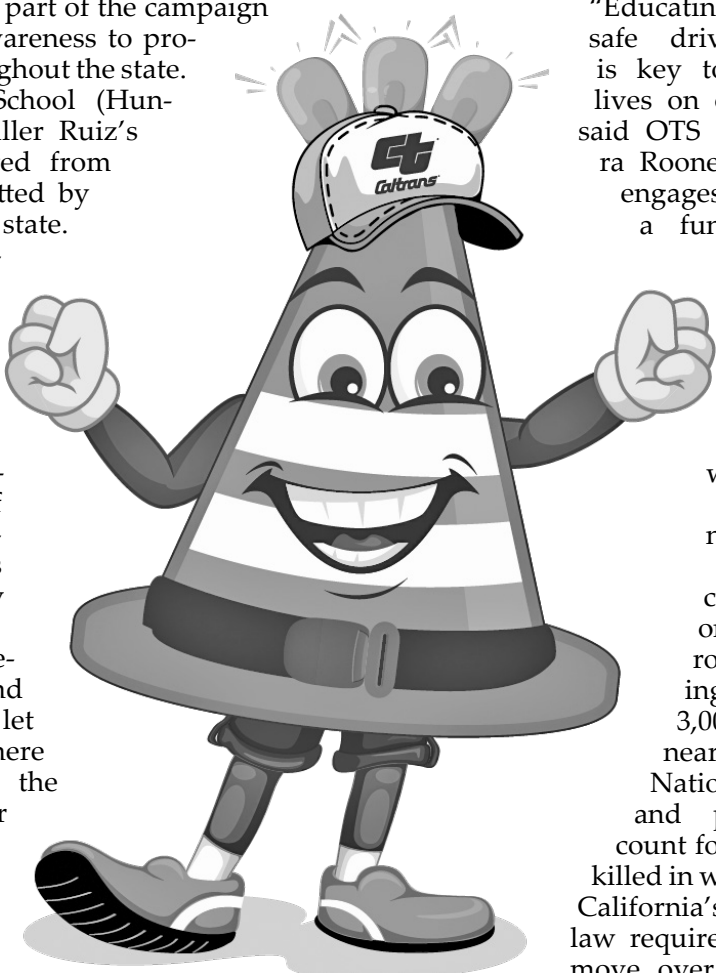

Caltrans unveils new mascot

The California Department of Transportation (Caltrans) and the California Office of Traffic Safety (OTS) unveiled Safety Sam as their new safety cone mascot. The name was selected in a statewide student contest and is part of the campaign to expand public safety awareness to protect highway workers throughout the state.

Huntington Christian School (Huntington Beach) student Miller Ruiz's winning name was selected from nearly 2,000 entries submitted by K-12 students across the state.

In recognition of his winning suggestion, Miller received a laptop, a $500 gift card, a $500 gift card for their teacher's classroom, T-shirts and a visit from Safety Sam. The mascot will educate Californians on the importance of moving over a lane or slowing down when they see his orange friends and highway workers.

“Caltrans makes safety priority number one, and safety cones are critical to let drivers know when and where highway workers are on the road,” said Caltrans Director Tony Tavares. “Including young people in our safety awareness campaigns helps us raise the awareness of both the next generation and current drivers, and we're excited to make Safety Sam the face of the important work being done to keep our highway workers and the traveling public safe.”

“Educating the public on safe driving behaviors is key to helping save lives on our roadways,” said OTS Director Barbara Rooney. “Safety Sam engages the public in a fun and interactive way while serving as an important reminder to be attentive when approaching work zones.”

In 2020, nearly 7,000 work-zone crashes occurred on California roadways, resulting in more than 3,000 injuries and nearly 100 fatalities. Nationally, drivers and passengers account for 85% of people killed in work zones. California's “Move Over” law requires all drivers to move over a lane if safe to do so, or if unable to do so safely, slow down when they see amber flashing lights on Caltrans vehicles, law enforcement, and other emergency vehicles and tow trucks. Failure to obey the “Move Over” law can result in fines up to $1,000, plus points on your driving record.

The statewide contest ran from Nov. 21, 2022, through Jan. 20, 2023. Safety Sam will be used by Caltrans districts for community outreach and engagement efforts. The mascot's image will also be used in materials aiming to inform the public about the importance of the “Move Over” law and work zone safety.

With safety as its top priority, Caltrans is using the Safe System approach to achieve its goal of reducing to zero the number of fatalities and serious injuries on state highways by 2050. This approach builds on its ongoing work to improve safety throughout its network and on all transportation projects the department funds or oversees, which includes “complete street” features that provide safe and accessible options for people walking, biking and taking transit.

LAO on state budget: ‘Prudent,’ but more cuts needed

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

On Jan. 10, Gov. Gavin Newsom released his proposed fiscal year (FY) 2023-24 budget. Total expenditures will be nearly $297 billion, of which $223 billion will be for the General Fund accounts. Because anticipated revenues will not meet the budget needs, the proposed budget has a $22.5 billion deficit.

Shortly after, the Legislative Analyst's Office (LAO) issued its preliminary review of the governor's proposal.

In summary, the LAO concluded, “Both our office and the administration project that the state faces a manageable budget problem this year. The governor addresses the budget problem primarily with spending-related solutions ... Notably, the governor does not propose using any reserves. This approach is prudent given the downside risk to revenues posed by the current heightened risk of recession.”

The administration's projections and the LAO's are close for FY 2023-24. The LAO's projection is about $4.5 billion less than the governor's $22.5 billion budget problem. Consequently, both the LAO and the administration agree that the state must prepare for budget problems.

However, the LAO is more pessimistic about the state's revenue collections in the next few years. The LAO anticipates that “revenues will be lower than the administration's projections for the budget window, particularly 2022-23 and 2023-24.”

The governor's budget proposal expects operating deficits of $9 billion in 2024-25, $9 billion in 2025-26, and $4 billion in 2026-27. “Future budget problems,” said the LAO. With anticipated declining revenue, the LAO also expressed concern about the proposed budget's effect on future budget balances.

While the proposed FY 2023-24 budget is balanced (even with declining revenues), the future year budgets are not and that means the proposed budget is when to begin addressing this situation. The LAO suggested that the Legislature could consider its own solutions to the advancing budget issues and “... avoid enacting a budget that plans for future deficits ...

“We recommend the Legislature: (1) plan for a larger budget problem and (2) address that larger problem by reducing more one-time and temporary spending,” the LAO recommended.

A few options the Legislature might consider, according to the LAO, include converting some of the proposed spending-related delays into actual reductions; also, more out-year trigger reductions, increasing revenues or shifting costs between funding sources.

Because the state constitution requires the state to pass a balanced budget, the governor must propose solutions when the administration estimates the state faces a budget problem. “The state has many types of solutions — or tools — for addressing a budget problem, but the most important include: reserve withdrawals, spending reductions, revenue increases and cost shifts (for example, between funds),” the LAO stated.

The governor's proposed budget employs mostly spending adjustments. These represent about 75% of the deficit reduction and shifting costs are most of the balance, according to the LAO.

The proposed budget uses three types of spending adjustments: actual reductions, delays and trigger cuts that may be restored if revenue improves.

The governor's budget addresses the estimated budget problem without using funds from the state's reserves. The LAO supports this approach.

In his news conference, Newsom made clear, “We're not touching the reserves. We'll be cautious and prepared for the May revision. I'm presenting the January budget with a fluid mind-set. We'll know more in May, so we're not touching the reserves yet.”

Ultimately, the continuing revenue declines could result in the administration recommending using reserves.

But until that point, the LAO recommended that the “Legislature avoid enacting a budget that plans for future deficits. A key way to accomplish this would be by reducing proposed spending delays and making more spending-related reductions instead. However, the Legislature also could address future year deficits by adding trigger reductions (rather than restorations) — to trigger off more multiyear spending if needed — or by using other budget solutions, such as revenue increases or cost shifts.”

The LAO's specific recommendations total more than $14 billion in spending reductions and delays. “To hedge against possible lower revenues in May, we also recommend the Legislature plan for a larger budget problem by identifying more than $6 billion in spending reductions,” the LAO added.

Besides the LAO, state legislators also had comments on the budget proposal. State Sen. Scott Wiener, a member of the Appropriations Committee, has said, “We're analyzing the impacts on transit of the governor's proposed budget. It's not pretty. The proposal allows transit to go over a devastating fiscal cliff (huge service cuts). Plus, it imposes [a] multi-billion cut on transit capital

Free COVID testing and treatment

Residents hoping to avoid crowded emergency rooms are being urged to be tested, then treated for COVID-19 at clinics throughout Riverside County. Riverside University Health System-Public Health (RUHS-PH) is offering the clinics in partnership with OptumServe.

“We continue to see significant impacts to our hospital emergency departments with individuals seeking COVID-19 testing and/or COVID-19 therapeutics. We have an opportunity to remind the community that there are additional resources to assist with accessing COVID-19 testing and medications,” said Misty Plumley, program chief for Immunizations and Emergency Response.

The one-stop-shop allows patients to be tested for COVID-19, have a telehealth communication with a doctor and receive an oral antiviral treatment — all during the same visit. Riverside County, like other regions throughout the state, has seen a sharp rise in COVID-19 cases over the past several weeks.

The clinics are free and health insurance is not required to be seen and treated.

Patients may simply walk in or make an appointment at <https://lhi.care/covidtesting>.

Sites are available throughout Riverside County, including at Idyllwild Pharmacy. Visit www.ruhealth.org/public-health/covid-19-treatment-options to view all sites.

Judges

Hestrin said in the release.

“I understand the need for ongoing training, however, when our courts are experiencing a crisis and engaging in the mass dismissal of cases, victims of crime deserve the right to be the priority,” said Hestrin. “Over the last three months, the courts have dismissed over 1,500 cases, some of which are serious felonies such as these three sexual assault cases involving children.”

While acknowledging the shortages of judges, the Superior Court listed several reasons for dismissing cases.

The first, and primary reason, was the shortage of judges. According to the most recent assessment of judicial needs based on county population, Riverside County should have 112 judges but only has 90.

Consequently, there are more cases ready for trial than judges available to oversee the proceedings and the California Supreme Court has established reasons for continuations.

“The continuance of a case beyond its last day for trial is based upon a finding of ‘good cause.’ ... but prior rulings by the California Supreme Court have made clear that chronic neglect by the state in providing adequate judicial resources does not constitute good cause to continue a case, i.e., suspending an individual’s constitutional right to a speedy trial, within the meaning of Penal Code Section 1382,” the Superior Court explained in its press release.

In anticipation of the increased trial caseload, Marita C. Ford, public information officer for the Superior Court said the “... Court took a number of steps to help minimize the number of cases that might be dismissed.”

Some of the actions the court took Ford listed as:

- Re-designated more departments to hear criminal trials.
- Opened four more criminal trial departments as new judicial officers were appointed. Two more criminal departments were to open based upon the appointment of two new judges Jan. 31, 2023.
- Moved court reporters from nonmandated court assignments to allow opening more criminal trial departments.
- Designated all unlimited civil judges as possible criminal trial departments. Since October, these judges have handled 41 criminal cases in addition to their full civil caseloads.

- Continue to operate mandatory settlement conference calendars regionally to facilitate disposition.
- Calling criminal trials multiple times per day in the event a trial courtroom becomes available.
- Assigning criminal trials to a courtroom immediately after it becomes available, such as when the jury in its previous case commences deliberations.
- Using every available retired judge through the Temporary Assigned Judges Program administered by the chief justice’s office.

Last week, Gov. Gavin Newsom also announced two appointments for judges on the Riverside County Superior Court. Jason Armand, 45, and Laura Garcia, 45.

Armand has served as a deputy district attorney at the Riverside County District Attorney’s Office since 2007. Garcia has served in Riverside County. Currently, she is a commissioner at the Riverside County Superior Court. Before 2021, she served as a deputy public defender in the county’s Public Defender’s Office from 2008 to 2021.

Senior visual arts show at Idyllwild Arts

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

The Idyllwild Arts Academy Visual Arts Department held an opening for the first of the winter semester's three senior shows last Friday. The theme, "Solitude," drew varied and surprising responses from the artists. Works expressed the positive and negative aspects of solitude; peace and freedom to dream, but also mortality, vulnerability and disability. Eight seniors were included in the show. The works included painting, sculpture, cartoon narratives and electronic media.

Harper Donaldson contributed "Forensics: Presented by FI Vine!" This is a narrative cartoon in which "Forensic Investigator Vine," bristling with macabre de-

Palm to Pines Golf Association update

By JIM CRANDALL
PALMS TO PINES GOLF ASSOCIATION
HANDICAP CHAIR

Idyllwild's Palms to Pines Golf Association played its regular monthly tournament at Menifee Lakes Country Club on the Palms Course Friday, Jan. 20. It was a nice, sunny winter's day and the course was in pretty good shape.

In the A-flight tourney, Gary Brown (course handicap 12) shot net 74 for first place; Dennis Chavez (8) shot net 77 for second; Henry Gutierrez (10) shot net 81 for third; Bob Wadlow (12) shot net 84 for fourth, and Paul Cozens (8) rounded out the top 5 with a net 86.

In the B-Flight, made up of golfers with handicap indexes of 19 or higher as of August, Chris Kramer (27) shot net 77 for first place; Lee Lanfried (27) shot net 78 for second; Pete Capparelli (18) shot net 80 for third; Dan Morgan (35) shot net 84 for fourth; and John King (18) and James Sullivan (21) shot net 90s to tie for fifth.

The closest to the pin winners on the par 3s were David Hiemenz #4; Cozens #7; and Brown #15.

Here are the 2022-23 point standings for the season which runs from August through July:

A-flight stats (Handicap index below 19 as of August)

Place	Golfer	Points
1	Bob Wadlow	28.5
2	Gary Brown	18
3	Paul Cozens	15
4	Jim Crandall	14
5	Steve Olson	13
6	Pete Holzman	11.5

8	Lee Amson	4
9	Don DePalma	2
10	Mick Lynch	0.5

The top eight-point finishers of the year in each division go into playoffs in August, September and October to determine the club champions. A member has to compete in at least five regular-season tournaments in order to qualify for the playoffs. The champs goes on to play in the Southern California Tournament of Club Champions in December.

Palms to Pines Golf Association plays a tournament off the Hill once a month at a different golf course. The games are usually played on the third Friday of the month but may be adjusted for holidays.

Tournament fees range from $40 to usually no more than $75 and the fees include green fees, tournament entry fees, golf cart and range balls. Guests usually pay $10 less since they don't compete in the tournament.

The club is a Southern California Golf Association member and is sanctioned to establish handicaps for members.

Steele to play in Phoenix Open

By JACK CLARK
PRO GOLF CORRESPONDENT

Brendan Steele will tee it up this week in the $20-million Waste Management Phoenix Open on the TPC Scottsdale Stadium Course in Scottsdale, Arizona. Through Thunderbirds Charities, this tournament raised more than $10.5 million for local charities last year alone.

The native Idyllwilder has enjoyed considerable success in this event, having played it in each of his 13 years on the PGA Tour. He has amassed a record of six top-20s, including four top-6s, two of which were top-5s in this event.

Brendan currently stands 93rd on the FedExCup list and 113rd in the Official World Golf Ranking. He tees off Thursday at 12:28 p.m. playing with Ryan Palmer and Danny Lee and Friday at 7:43 a.m. playing with Palmer and Chris Kirk. The tournament will be telecast on the golf channel with CBS joining in on Saturday and Sunday.

MDP donates AEDs to ICC

The nonprofit Mountain Disaster Preparedness (MDP) has donated two automated external defibrillator (AED) units to the Idyllwild Community Center (ICC) for placement at Idyllwild Town Hall and Butterfield Amphitheater.

Before moving off the Hill, volunteer MDP board member and Co-Chair Medical Director Dr. Dick Goldberg contacted ICC in May 2022 about emergency preparedness needs ICC might have. ICC, which manages and operates both Town Hall and Butterfield Amphitheater, indicated it would like to have AED units in both locations, but had not yet raised the funds needed to purchase the units, which in total is in excess of $5,000.

MDP's board voted to provide the two units to ICC, which have finally arrived. The first unit is installed in the main room of Town Hall; the second unit will be installed at Butterfield Amphitheater once the weather warms and the facility is reopened for the concert season, scheduled to begin May 28, the Sunday of Memorial Day weekend.

Try these exercises to have fun and exercise the owl way!

The Snowy Owl

Like a ghost, the snowy owl glides through the air in soundless flight. This owl is different from most owls because it hunts during the day and at night. Most owls hunt at night. In the arctic region, the summer days and nights are always light. An owl waiting for darkness to hunt would starve before the dark days of winter arrive.

Connect the dots to draw a snowy owl in flight.

Why White?

Many animals can blend into their environment. This is called camouflage. There are few trees on the tundra, so the snowy owl's white plumage blends with the snowy world of the northern arctic.

In the spring, when the snowy owl makes a nest, the snow has started to melt and the brown earth shows through patches of white snow. The female snowy owl's soft white feathers are streaked with brown so she cannot be seen as she nests on the ground.

Here are three other animals that blend into their habitats, or homes. Can you unscramble their names?

POLEDAR REDE EGIRT

Standards Link: Life Science: Animals have external features that help them thrive in the different environments they inhabit.

How big is a snowy owl?

The snowy owl is one of the largest owls, with a height of about 27 inches (69 cm) and a wingspan of up to 60 inches (152 cm). Wingspan is the measurement from wing tip to wing tip, when the wings are fully stretched.

Microwave oven	25 inches (63.5 cm)
Teacher's desk	40 inches (102 cm)
House cat	25 inches (63.5 cm)
Baseball bat	33 inches (84 cm)
Tennis Racket	27 inches (69 cm)
Small car (width)	67 inches (170 cm)

How many of the things in this chart could fit into a snowy owl's wingspan?

Measure 60 inches (152 cm) on the floor. Now lie down with your arms outstretched along the line. Measure your outstretched arms. How do you compare?

Standards Link: Measurement: Students compare the length of objects by using direct comparison of standard units.

Fly like an owl.

Stretch your arms wide apart and swoop around outdoors.

Perch like an owl.

Squat down like you are sitting on a tree branch watching for mice on the ground. Fold your arms into wings with your thumbs in your armpits. How long can you stay in this position?

Baby owls are called owlets. Can you help the mother owl find her way home to her owlets?

Owl Eyes

All owls have excellent sight so that they can spot creatures like mice that run fast along the ground. Owls' eyes are not the same as human eyes. We move our eyes in their sockets to see from side to side. The owl must turn his head to see in different directions. Owls also have a third eyelid, which protects the eye.

It is a milky white eyelid that comes up from the bottom of the eye. Its purpose is to clean and refresh the owl's eyes. This third eyelid is called a nictitating membrane.

Standards Link: Life Science: Adaptations in physical structures improve an animal's chance for survival.

The Eyes Have It

The snowy owl has round, yellow eyes. Can you find the pair of eyes that match?

Standard Links: Visual Discrimination: Students compare and sort common objects.

Count the Eyes

Look through the newspaper and count the number of eyes that you find. How many are human eyes? How many are the eyes of other animals?

Standards Link: Number Sense: Count and name a number of objects.

Hop like an owl.

Start in the perch position. Then hop to the right, hop to the left, hop forward, hop backward.

Twist and turn.

While sitting in the perched position, turn your head as far to the right as you can. Then turn your head as far left as possible.

Kid Scoop Puzzler

Don't chew your food, dear. Swallow it whole.

The snowy owls need to eat a huge amount each day — enough to equal their own body weight. They don't chew their food — they just swallow their prey whole, including fur, claws, teeth and bones. Then they spit out a pellet of all the parts they can't digest.

What silly things can you find on this owl's dinner plate?

Standards Link: Life Science: Animals need food for survival and have physical structures to help them survive.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS

California Business and Professions Code 7071.13 reads: "Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor."

This is a contractor's responsibility, not a newspaper's, and we are not responsible for it. However, as a courtesy, we will remove references to a bond in contractors' advertising, if we notice it.

CREATURE CORNER

By JANICE MURASKO

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," ARF cats talked about keeping cats indoors.

Atlas: Holy catnip! There has been a lot of activity here.

Phil: No kidding. We have a new momma cat and her litter of five.

Atlas: And they are so cute. Momma is Blossom, and she is very petite.

Harley: And her babies are just as cute. There are two boys, Cedar and Oakley.

Phil: They are not quite ready to go to forever homes, but they are ready to meet humans. It'll be a few weeks until they're ready to move on. Meanwhile, humans may meet them and put in applications and deposits.

Don: Additionally, ARF has two adorable dogs, Toby and Flower.

Whiskers: I heard that Toby is 6 and is father to Flower, who is 4.

Toby: (entering the room) That's right! I'm Toby, and this here is Flower.

Flower: Hello, everyone.

Don: I've heard that you are both very sweet dogs, pretty quiet and easy-going.

Flower: You heard correctly. Toby is a Maltipoo, and I'm a mix of Maltipoo and Chiweenie.

Don: You are very cute! Do you need to be adopted together?

Toby: Not necessarily. It would be nice for us to be in the same home, but we'd be fine apart.

Atlas: Welcome to ARF. You are with a wonderful foster.

Flower: Thank you. She is wonderful, but we're excited for our forever home.

Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of "Days of our Nine Lives" each week. And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Highway 243. ARF is open Saturdays 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Sundays 10 a.m.-2 p.m., and during the week by appointment. Please call 951-659-1122.

Creature Corner is sponsored by Sandi Tulip Mathers.

Idyllwild School students of the week are from Mrs. Paula Williams' (literacy specialist) class. Daniela Amaya Anaya (left) and Lisbeth Meza Ulloa (right) have behavior exemplifying what it means to be a mountain lion. They are brave, kind and eager. They show that they are courageous by asking for help when needed. Their kindness comes in all shapes and forms. They will help out a teacher or a fellow student without even being asked. The eager smile on their faces when it is time to learn can light up a room. Keep up the great work, ladies.

Min Gao contributed two works. The first is a sculpture in duct tape and plaster titled “Deception.” Two figures, one kneeling, the other in their lap, recall a “pieta” but here the interaction is murderous, with one figure stabbing the other. The artist’s statement speaks of being unable to stop loving one who hurts us. The two ghostly figures in the moment of betrayal suggest a cause of solitude. Min’s other work, “Obsession,” is a computer animation, with audio by Huilin Gao. The artist’s statement refers to the many addictions in our world, and expresses the hope that the work will provide a “reminder and a release from the present.” The animation’s fractured narrative seems to hint at separation from a friend or partner that leaves one figure dismembered.

Anisiia Isaeva contributed the ethereal and colorful jellyfish that was used as the poster for the show, a solitary creature that seems to pulse with color and energy. Their other work, “Inner Child,” is an installation, a small room with lights and a projection of a fantastic landscape, decked with hanging ornaments and paper lanterns, where waterfalls pour from the sky. The artist statement calls it a “soothing wonderland ...” which contrast to thoughts of war, separation and anxiety for the future.

Aaron Kim’s “Tranquility, Chaos” is a large work including a digital print in plexiglass and lit by neon, and a large photo-realistic image that has been torn. The torn and shredded image depicts a girl who seems to be seated on a lake, and the revealed image shows a lone figure who seems to walk in an impossible under-sea canyon. The artist statement mentions hidden emotions, and the work is very effective in invoking the two worlds, above and below the surface.

Leo Li’s “Deep” was another striking and unforgettable dream object. Out of a vertical liquid surface a deer thrusts its head and hoof into our space. The liquid surface is resin on wood, and the deer is ceramic, with clear glaze dripping like water. The artist tells us this is the recreation of a dream scene, and the work communicates the stage calm of an impossible encounter.

Lucien Schneider’s “Journey to Diagnosis” consists of a triptych of small acrylic paintings of the artist’s hands, showing indecipherable wounds. In one, a rosary is held as in prayer. A sculpture shows a disarticulated hand with each joint of each finger strung together with red cord at a painful distance. The artist’s statement is a re-telling of their coming to terms with the knowledge of a painful degenerative disease, the kind of knowledge no young person is equipped to process, and the drive to create art that will allow the able-bodied to understand this experience.

The exhibition is from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday to Friday until Feb. 23 at the Parks Exhibition Center on campus. It also is online at www.idyllwildartsgallery.org/solitude.

February 2023 — Week 2

March 21 – April 19
 ARIES
A hectic period begins to wind down. Take time to draw some deep breaths and relax before getting into your next project. A long-absent family member could make contact as well.

April 20 – May 20
 TAURUS
You're eager to move forward with a new challenge that suddenly dropped into your lap. But you'd be wise to take this one step at a time, to allow new developments to come through.

May 21 – June 21
 GEMINI
You're almost ready to make a commitment. A lingering doubt or two, however, should be resolved before you move ahead. An associate could provide important answers to your questions.

June 22 – July 22
 CANCER
Caution is still the watchword as you move closer toward a decision about a new situation. If you act too fast, you might miss some vital warning signs. Go slowly and stay alert.

Your new goal looks promising, and your golden touch does much to enhance its prospects for success. In your private life, Cupid does his best to make your new relationship special.

August 23 – September 22
 VIRGO
That impatient side of yours is looking to goad you into moving before you're ready to take that big step. Stay calm and cool. Let things fall into place before you act.

September 23 – October 22
 LIBRA
A legal matter you hoped would finally be settled could be a pesky problem for a while until all the parties agree to stop disagreeing with each other. Be patient.

October 23 – November 21
 SCORPIO
Partnerships -- personal or professional -- which began before the new year take on new importance. They also reveal some previously hidden risks. So, be warned.

November 22 – December 21
