IWD sets rate increase public meetings

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

In its May 17 meeting, the Idyllwild Water District's (IWD) slimmed down board of directors approved two assessment fees, returned the district to a water conservation Stage 1, heard the latest on its building rehabilitation, and announced several special meetings or workshops to be held before the next regular meeting currently planned for June 21.

With a vacant directorship and Vice President Peter Szabadi on personal travel, only three directors were present, the minimum for a quorum and to take any actions. Attending the meeting was President Dr. Chip Schelly and colleagues Steve Kunkle and Steve Olson.

The board held two public hearings — both for parcel assessments — during the meeting. Annually, the board must approve resolutions setting assessment standby fees on undeveloped parcels within both the overall water district and the sewer district.

The fee for each is $30 per acre or less. The fee applies only to undeveloped parcels and helps the district install pipelines and ensure water and sewer capacity in a neighborhood that would benefit the future development of these parcels. Thus, the cost of infrastructure is shared with the current customers and potential future customers who will seek these services in order to build on their property.

There was no public comment on the resolutions and the board approved both unanimously.

General Manager Leo Havener reported the latest information on IWD's efforts to renovate, and to remove mold and possible asbestos from its headquarters building.

The latest bid, which he solicited, was for $21,000. However, that appears to be just for mold removal and repair. This contractor suggested that Havener solicit another contractor to analyze the premise for the possibility of the presence of asbestos. He plans to do this soon, and this is actually the next step.

"Before any work is done, he recommended we do an analysis of whether asbestos exists," Havener told the board.

Havener also announced several special gatherings — Town Hall meetings and workshop — before the next regular board meeting on June 21. At 5 p.m. Tuesday and Wednesday, May 30 and 31, IWD will hold "Town Hall" meetings. These are intended to give the rate study contractor an opportunity to explain the rationale for the increases and how they will be applied. Also, it will allow customers and the public time to ask questions and to discuss the proposed rate increases with the contractor and staff.

Havener said these rate increases will be on the agenda of June 21 board meeting for approval. If approved, they would be effective July 1.

A week later, on June 7, there may be a special board meeting to fill the vacant board position created when GenoeSchneider resigned.

Finally, at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 10, the directors plan to conduct a workshop as they draft next year's budget (fiscal year 2023-24). The final budget proposal will be on the agenda of the June 21 meeting for approval and should be available for public review when the agenda is posted.

Water production for the first four months of 2023 was 24.4 million gallons. The first two months were 2.3 million gallons greater than January and February 2022, but March and April were 3.4 mil-

Four Idyllwilders missing

By JACK CLARK
CO-PUBLISHER

According to the Riverside County Sheriff's Department, a family from Idyllwild has been missing since early May.

Mayra Perez Posadas, 33, and her three daughters, Amayrany Perez Romero, 15, Kaylie Perez Romero, 12, and a 5-year-old whose name is unknown to authorities, are described as being from the Idyllwild area, but were recently staying at a hotel in Hemet.

The sheriff's department lists this matter as a parental abduction and is seeking public assistance. If you have any information regarding the whereabouts of any of these individuals, contact Investigator Martinez at the Hemet Sheriff's Station, (951) 791-3400, or call Riverside County Sheriff's Dispatch at (951) 776-1099.

Losing candidate files lawsuit against Riverside County

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

In November, former Riverside County Auditor-Controller Paul Angulo lost his bid for reelection to Ben Benoit. On April 24, Angulo filed a $1.480 million claim against the county as a result of its certification of Benoit winning the election.

Angulo argues that the state requires a county auditor-controller to have "... certain experience and formal training." He argues that Benoit is not qualified and should not have been on the ballot.

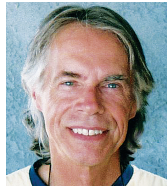

But the county points out that the ordinance, 583.1 containing these qualifications was repealed.

State Government Code section 26945 specifies the qualifications for individuals to hold the office of county auditor. The options include a degree in accounting, a CPA license, or experience as a county auditor. However, the following section, 26946, specifies, "The provisions of this article shall become effective in only those counties in which ... the board of supervisors by a unanimous vote, at a regular meeting with all members present, enacts an ordinance adopting the provisions of this article. The ordinance so adopted may be repealed by the board of supervisors at any time."

Riverside County did adopt Ordinance 583.1 in December 1997; however, Ordinance 583.2 was subsequently passed in August 2001, more than 20 years ago. This ordinance repealed 583.1.

Six county areas subject to fire season closure

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Several areas within Riverside County have been closed to public access because of high potential fire danger. At its May 25 meeting, the Riverside County Board of Supervisors approved County Fire Chief Bill Weiser's recommendation to close six areas — North Mountain and Indian Canyon, Whitewater Canyon, Ramona Bowl (closed daily noon to sunrise), Bautista Canyon, Steel Peak and the Eagle Canyon/Tin Mine area.

The closures will be effective June 1 and will continue until Weiser believes it is safe to reopen them to public use. "Hazardous fire area" means public or private land covered with grass, grain, brush or forest and situated in a location that makes suppression difficult, resulting in great damage. Although drought conditions have been removed, the winter precipitation has created a very extensive grass crop. Consequently, these areas are particularly vulnerable and were closed during the 2022 summer also.

Weiser recommended their closure except for public roadways and private property within these areas that is inhabited.

Riverside County Ordinance 787 restricts public access to these identified hazardous fire areas unless private property access is required. It does not prohibit residents or owners of private property within any closed area, or their invitees, from going in or being on their lands.

Violations of the closure may be subject to a minimum fine of $100 for first-time offenses.

While Idyllwild and Pine Cove and other Hill communities are surrounded or adjacent to U.S. Forest Service land, the North Mountain, Indian and Bautista canyons areas are very close to Hill communities to the west and south.

IFPD workshop on Mutual Aid and fire prevention

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

The Idyllwild Fire Protection District (IFPD) Board of Commissioners held a special meeting Tuesday, May 16. Henry Sawicki, a former commissioner who lost reelection, will assume the seat Cristina Reitz recently vacated.

Although announced as a policy workshop for the board, the majority of time was taken by presentations from IFPD Chief Mark LaMont and former IFPD employee Dan Diaz, now a battalion chief with the Cleveland National Forest. They presented a review of fuel reduction projects around the community and explained IFPD's Mutual Aid agreements and contributions.

LaMont told the board that fire agencies voluntarily enter Mutual Aid agreements. Each agrees to help the others in emergencies while always maintaining a "draw down" level of staffing to deal with anticipated local need. In return, IFPD has a large network of partners in which to rely.

In the aftermath of this winter's heavy snows, IFPD responded to Mutual Aid requests from San Bernardino County for the Running Springs, Big Bear and the Arrowhead area, sending 11 people. The main part of this work was helping to clear the nearly 3,000 miles of roads in those mountain communities to free the nearly 40,000 residents and visitors trapped by snow that reached rooftops. LaMont added that San Bernardino County Fire Chief Dan Munsey will come to Idyllwild to further discuss the "After Action Review" for this event soon.

Although clearing snow is not the first thing that comes to mind when thinking of firemen, LaMont called it part of the "all risk nature" of public safety agencies. In the San Bernardino Mountains snow event, skip loaders and 60 dump trucks had to be rounded up to remove snow too deep to plow, and the gas company was contracted to provide backhoes to open up the berms for individual driveways. IFPD also assisted in distributing water and medication, managing the runoff with hay bales and k-rails, and restoring power to 30,000 customers within four days. Of the 13 casualties reported, LaMont said nine were people already on hospice care, and two others were from traffic incidents. LaMont said no community can afford the infrastructure to respond on its own to events like that. He is pursuing an offer from Munsey for one of that county's Sno-Cats.

Another incident illustrating IFPD's Mutual Aid activities was a fire the prior week in Mecca. There, crews cut lines to protect homes from a brush fire "spotting" as embers blew ahead of the fire, creating many small fires within a 200-acre section.

LaMont announced that IFPD recently stood up its first "hand" crew, not an engine company, but a team to cut fuel-breaks, either as preparation or during incidents. Regulations require at least 14 members in a crew, and this group has 24. The crew is a noteworthy accomplishment as fire departments around the country struggle to hire firefighters, he said.

The longest presentation was Diaz's update on fuel reduction projects, fire breaks. "The only way any community combats a fast-moving wildland fire is by being prepared for it," he said. Even then fires are not completely controllable, but the goal is to steer them, and "it takes every single thing that you've got to hold (fires) outside ... communities."

The review focused on fuelbreaks that surround the valley on three sides. These are the South Ridge and West Ridge projects, Strawberry, and the new Bear Trap project. He noted that IFPD plans for a "seven-year re-engagement," as after five to seven years the break "is not really viable." The placement of the breaks is based on a strategic evaluation of the landscape and the community.

The Strawberry fuelbreak runs from "west of Pine Cove down toward West Ridge, down in the Strawberry (Creek) drainage." The new Bear Trap project is east of and roughly parallel to Strawberry, backing it up in that vulnerable direction, a "belt and suspenders" system. Unlike the others, it is built entirely on private property, Camp Emerson and Buckhorn Camp. There are now two 30-foot wide open swaths with a 90-foot pile of brush in the center. When weather cooperates, control burning of that brush will start, a little at a time, in what is called "chevroning" or "tiger striping." Diaz also noted the "mastication" treatment given to the edges of highways 74 and 243 to give a "buffer" along evacuation routes.

Diaz also gave accounts of historic incidents like the Cranston Fire and explained how the fuels reduction projects had made the defense of Idyllwild possible.

In response to a question from Commissioner Stephanie Yost about evacuation zones, LaMont provided some insight into the Mountain Area Safety Task Force (MAST) plan. MAST does provide pamphlets to residents explaining evacuation

Holiday closings

Hill businesses and institutions, normally open, that will be closed Monday, May 29, to observe Memorial Day, are:

- Area post offices
- Fern Valley Water District
- Hemet Unified School District
- Idyllwild Library
- Idyllwild Pharmacy
- Idyllwild Town Crier office
- Idyllwild Water District
- Pine Cove Water District
- PNC Bank
- Riverside County offices
- U.S. Forest Service

routes and processes, and home preparation, but the master plan itself is not "forward facing," or public, because it reveals in detail the tactical vulnerabilities of the area. Shelter-in-place areas are known by first responders but residents would only be directed there by first responders in an emergency. LaMont cited successful early evacuations in 1996, 2013 and 2018 as evidence that the plan works.

He also noted that "we are currently working with the MAST partners to create an electronic version that can be forward facing ... over the last year." He added that in general, evacuation is simple: "You go north or you go south on 243." Of course, further details will be provided "through WNKI ... the sheriff ... and all of our other resource capacity." He underlined that zone evacuations are used to avoid the bottlenecks that led to casualties in the Camp Fire, and recommended the Public Broadcasting Service special "Fire in Paradise" for "lessons learned and mistakes that were made."

The last part of the meeting was the review of basic board policies: definition of policies; adopting and amending them; copying public documents; public contributions (IFPD is not a 501 nonprofit, ask your tax preparer about the deductibility of donations); credit card usage (commissioners don't get them); benefits (commissioners also don't get these); membership in organizations (the board may join associations); and Rules of Order. These were all read, discussed and approved.

Grand jury concerned about time for offload of emergency patients at hospitals

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

When a medical emergency occurs outside a hospital, the time it takes for first responders to transport the individual to a hospital for care is critical. And the care received during this period has been the focus of recent attention.

Both a grand jury and the Riverside County Board of Supervisors are concerned about emergency care in the county. The latest is a Riverside County Civil Grand Jury (GJ) report about the time it takes to transfer a patient from the ambulance to the hospital's care. Last month, the supervisors expressed their concern with the work of the county's ambulance contractor, American Medical Response (AMR).

For the first time since 2015, when Riverside County awarded the emergency ambulance service contract to AMR, the bboard has denied AMR's request to extend the contract's expiration date.

The GJ has focused on the delay it takes to officially transfer patients to hospital care after the ambulance arrives at the hospital. It is not unusual for this transfer to take more than 30 minutes. It happens enough that the emergency service administrators have officially named it, “Ambulance Patient Offload Delays” (APOD). First responders — ambulance or fire crews — who are responsible for the patient until the hospital takes over, call it “wall time.”

According to the GJ report, “County departments, state government and hospital emergency departments have not improved in any significant way.”

APOD applies to patients with nonthreatening emergencies. Patients with trauma, stroke or heart issues are immediately accepted and transferred to emergency treatment areas.

Other patients may have to wait for available space or staff to help. Until the hospital takes responsibility, the transfer teams, and occasionally this includes a fire paramedic, must stay with the patient. Consequently, the ambulance or its crew cannot respond to any other call while awaiting the patient transfer.

The GJ reported there were more than 38,000 APOD incidents at Riverside County hospitals in 2022. That is nearly a 20% increase in three years.

In a joint letter to the state Health and Human Services Agency and the Emergency Medical Services Administration, the president of the California Professional Firefighters and the California Hospital Association urged the state to find solutions to the problem.

“Efficient and timely transfer of care between EMS providers and hospital emergency departments is imperative. A delay in the transfer of care creates stress on EMS system participants and their response times but most concerningly, delays care for the patient,” wrote the two officials.

The state's Emergency Medical Services Agency (EMSA) set the standard for a delay at more than 30 minutes. Based on the county's EMSA reports, there were nearly 800 APOD in the week from Feb. 26 to March 4, this year. That's about a quarter of all patient transports to local hospitals. And the transport crew is unavailable for other calls until the hospital accepts its patient.

While ambulances are the required vehicle for ground transport to hospitals, sometimes fire crews also are affected. Emergency dispatch (9-1-1) will send both a fire crew, which includes a paramedic, and an ambulance to the site of an emergency. Sometimes the emergency is so critical that the fire team paramedic will travel with the ambulance to the hospital.

Of course, that means this fire vehicle is out of service until its full crew is available. This is the reason APOD is a critical problem. Not only ambulances, but occasionally, fire engines are out of service.

Riverside County has 17 hospitals. The occurrence of an APOD varies among them. During that same week, four local hospitals — Eisenhower, JFK, Palo Verde and Riverside University — had APOD for less than 6% of the transports to that hospital. But noticeably, three hospitals — Hemet, Riverside Community and Temecula — had APOD during more than 50% of the transports to their facilities. This represents almost 400 patients, more than half the APOD during that week.

A variety of reasons can cause a delay. According to the GJ, the California Hospital Association (CHA) explains that the potential for delays can be caused by “limited physical space, limited staffing and other issues in recent years, such as the pandemic, patients with substance abuse, and patients with behavioral health needs using the hospital emergency departments for care or medications. County residents sometimes have no primary care doctor and use the hospital emergency departments for their routine medical needs.”

The CHA in its own report noted, “An increase in staff does not increase space in other care settings where patients who do not need emergency services should be transferred. Many hospitals are already using hallways, waiting rooms, disaster tents, and other areas to increase capacity. In addition, COVID-19 has taken a toll on the health care workforce — not just in California but across the country — and hospitals are facing the worst staffing shortage in recent memory.”

To reduce APOD, the Riverside University Health System (RUHS) has taken several steps, according to the GJ. First, RUHS changed its parking area to better accommodate first responder vehicles.

The emergency department now has a dedicated nurse to triage ambulance arrivals. Some equipment, such as X-rays and labs, are now located in the emergency room to avoid the time to move the patient. Walk-in emergency patients are treated in another area.

To address a period when several ambulances may be out of service, Riverside City and Corona have established additional ambulance staff or squads to be available when other ambulances are unavailable.

In its conclusion, the GJ made three recommendations to the county. The first was for the supervisors to review, approve and support programs, including telehealth and Safety-Net Ambulance Programs. These may reduce ER demand or alleviate the shortages when APOD augment.

The second recommendation encouraged EMS to help other county hospitals to systematically work with the Riverside County EMSA to implement improvements similar to RUHS and other high-performing hospitals using “best practices” to decrease APOD.

Thirdly, as an interim solution, Riverside County Fire Department and AMR use available personnel to relieve delayed fire and/or ambulance teams at the hospital emergency departments.

The board and county agencies have 90 days to respond to the GJ.

The supervisors did take some action to try to identify solutions. In January 2002, they approved a request from Supervisor Kevin Jeffries to extend the responsibility of its Fire Ad Hoc Committee to include “working with EMD and other relevant County Agencies to help resolve APOD/Wall Time problems in Riverside County.”

But extended wall times are not a unique Riverside County problem. In January 2021, the state Assembly Committee on Emergency Management held an oversight hearing on the impact of APOD on emergency responses.

This year, Assemblymember Freddie Rodriguez (D – Pomona) introduced Assembly Bill 40 to address this issue. On April 19, the Health Committee approved the bill 15-0. Last week, the Appropriations Committee also approved it unanimously.

Besides telling local EMSAs, such as Riverside County's, to set an APOD of 30 minutes, AB 40 requires acute care hospitals with emergency departments to meet that standard 90% of the time. Also, hospitals would be required to develop an APOD reduction protocol by June 1, 2024, file the protocol with EMSA and require EMSA to monitor monthly APOD data to ensure the standard is being met.

After the April action, Rodriguez said in a press release, “Extended wall times impact everyone in our emergency medical system as first responders are unable to respond to their next call, the patient they are currently waiting to offload does not receive timely care, and the next patient calling in a life-threatening situation cannot be picked up and transported expeditiously. Patients deserve better, and concrete policies must be adopted to alleviate this issue and ensure timely care.”

lion gallons less than last year. For the four months, production was about a million gallons less than 2022.

Consequently, Havener recommended the board move back to Water Conservation Stage 1 from Stage 2.

However, usage during this period is nearly 13.6% greater than the 10-year average for these four months, although Havener said production was back to normal. With no discussion, the board unanimously accepted his recommendation.

The district's Ordinance 66 is for adopting a water shortage contingency plan. The ordinance provides for five water shortage levels. Stage 1 — Water Supply Watch — is the lowest of the five and is defined as “... while near-term supply and storage conditions may from time to time improve due to wet weather, there are continued long-term challenges that warrant continued wise and efficient use of water. ... Under Stage 1 conditions, the District's Basic Capacity Ratio (BCR) is 0-50%. Customers are requested to continue to use water efficiently and practice sensible voluntary water conservation.”

The principal criterion for determining in which water conservation stage the district will be using for conservation limitations is called the BCR. This is simply the prior month's water usage divided by the district's supply capacity. Havener's Operations Reports indicates the BCR was 50% in April. For the last six months, the BCR only exceeded 50% in January.

Forest Service has online tool to assess threats to forests; comments desired

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

A year following policy enunciations from President Joseph Biden and Tom Vilsack, secretary of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, about dangers to the country’s forests, the U.S. Forest Service is responding. In developing its policies, the agency is requesting public comment and opinion about “How should the Forest Service adapt current policies to protect, conserve, and manage the national forests and grasslands for climate resilience?”

Also, the Forest Service has developed an online tool (Forest Service Climate Risk Viewer) to help identify and to assess “wildfire and climate change-driven vulnerabilities, threats, and risks to key resources and values in the National Forest System.”

The Forest Service also is seeking comments on its Beta version of the Viewer, which is available at <https://storymaps.arcgis.com/collections/87744e6b-06c74e82916b9b11da218d28>

The viewer has the capability to “... illustrate the overlap of multiple resource values with climate exposure and vulnerability ... [which] allows for a place-based analysis of the need for climate adaptation to maintain, restore, and expand valued forest ecosystem and watershed characteristics.”

This capability is accomplished with the use of 28 datasets such as rainfall, snow, watersheds, old growth and mature forests, and much more that are available at the state or national forest level. The Forest Service stresses that the Climate Risk Viewer is “not intended for local or site-specific planning.”

Nevertheless, because of the shape of the San Bernardino National Forest, the San Jacinto Ranger District is clearly identifiable on these maps.

Where to submit comments

June 20 is the deadline to submit comments on the Viewer as well as Forest Service policies directed to climate resilience and outcome performance measures. Comments may be submitted directly or through the Federal Register website. Written comments may be mailed to Director, Policy Office, 201 14th Street, SW, Mailstop 1108, Washington, DC 20250-1124.

Online comments also may be submitted via the Federal Register website (www.federalregister.gov/documents/2023/04/21/2023-08429/organization-functions-and-procedures-functions-and-procedures-forest-service-functions) At the website, select the “Submit a Formal Comment” button (in green) at the top.

For more information, contact Christopher Swan-ston, Director, Office of Sustainability and Climate, at (202) 205-0822. Individuals who use telecommunication devices for the deaf may call the Federal Information Relay Service at 800-877-8339 24 hours a day, every day of the year, including holidays.

Key terms

Climate vulnerability and climate exposure were the two key terms coming from the president’s April 2022 Executive Order (www.whitehouse.gov/briefing-room/presidential-actions/2022/04/22/executive-order-on-strengthening-the-nations-forests-communities-and-local-economies/) and Vilsack’s June 2022 “Secretary’s Memorandum (www.usda.gov/media/press-releases/2022/06/23/secretary-vilsack-directs-usda-forest-service-take-bold-action).

The Forest Service’s work on this project defined “vulnerability” as the degree to which physical, biological and socioeconomic systems are “... susceptible to and unable to cope with the adverse impacts of climate change.” This includes current climate conditions as well as projected changes.

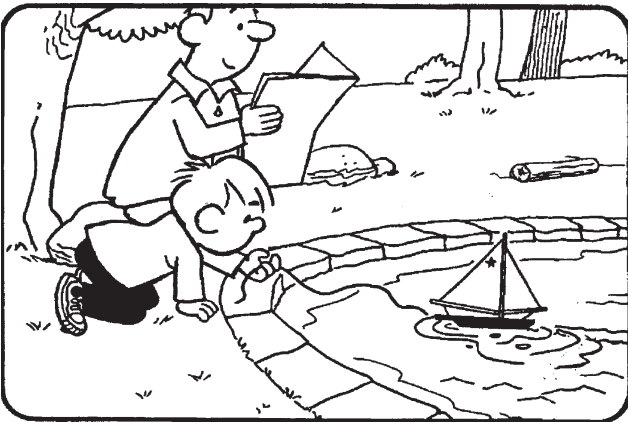

And “exposure” meant “the degree to which a system is exposed to climatic changes, including direct effects (such as increases in temperature, changes in precipitation patterns, and more), indirect effects (such as changes in hydrology, sea level rise, vegetation changes, and so forth), and the interactions between these and non-climate stressors such as development and invasive species.”

Types of data

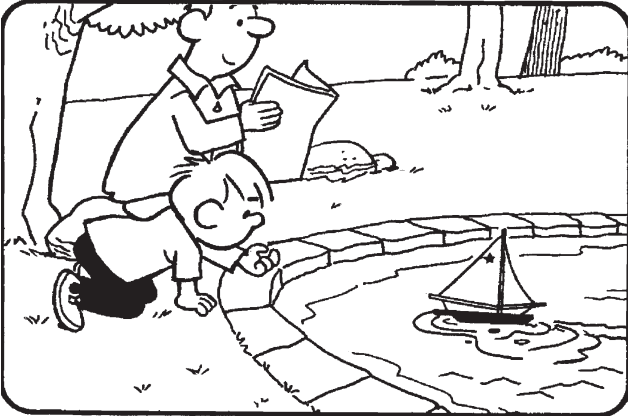

The Forest Service used various data sets to develop its viewers. Among the types of data included are time lapse aridity and forest disturbances. This provides information on how the vegetation becomes more flammable and susceptible to mortality from bark beetles as precipitation declines. Boundaries for the projects receiving funding from either the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law or the Inflation Reduction Act are identified in the Viewer. These projects are intended to help mitigate wildfire risk to critical infrastructure and communities.

Human modification of forest lands, such as their development, construction of oil and gas equipment, or powerlines, logging and more also are identified. The absence of these incursions helps identify lands that are relatively intact.

The changes in climate (temperature and precipitation) also are identified in the Viewer. The Dashboard also has a choice for “Climate by Forest.” Visit <https://usfs.maps.arcgis.com/apps/Cascade/index.html?appid=f09164baef5d47d3ad728dea1a28e7b>.

HONORING MEMORIAL DAY

REMEMBER • HONOR • APPRECIATE

This 3 bedroom, 2 bath mountain home welcomes you to enjoy yourself in nature and is not far from town. The dining and living areas flow together for easy living. A large Fisher wood burning stove keeps you warm in the living room. A quaint country style kitchen is right off the dining area with access to the 1-car garage. There is a bonus area which boasts a large window looking out to the backyard. The back deck has a privacy wall perfect for your outdoor serenity as well as a view of the trees & looks down to the generous backyard. The lower level has access to the lower back deck. The lower deck leads you down to the fully fenced back yard which is dotted with oaks and pines. Bring your family to the mountains and enjoy yourselves in this lovely mountain home. (2010100) $525,000

This 2 bedroom, 2 bath mountain home is set on a hillside surrounded by boulders and trees. The setting is just beautiful! Spacious inside and out. Walk across the large inviting front deck to enter the home. Entering the living room you will be greeted with vaulted tongue and groove ceilings and a freestanding wood stove. The open floor plan allows you to continue to the dining area and out the large glass doors accessing the generous back deck which overlooks the hillside below. The kitchen, which is right off the dining and living area, makes entertaining a breeze. In the hall you will find a full bathroom with an oversized bathtub and double sinks. There is also a bonus room with a nice sized closet, possible office, nursery, etc. Walk-in access to under the house. Dual pane windows, propane FAU, W/D hookups. A partially fenced yard for your fur babies and a large storage shed. The property runs street to street. Come see this one before it's gone! (2010179) $525,000

This 3 bedroom, 2.5 bath renovated spacious home includes the adjacent vacant parcel of land which comes to a total of .39 acres. Upstairs boasts an open floor plan with gorgeous cathedral ceilings and large windows that draw the eye to the outside forest. The kitchen does not disappoint with a workstation sink, plenty of cabinets, quartz countertops, a walk-in pantry and a large island. Walk out to the spacious upper deck through the large sliding doors to find a modest view of the mountain ridge. The laundry room has plenty of storage plus an oversized closet and exterior access. The basement offers space for a workshop and more storage. Enough space for parking at least four cars! All appliances included. (2010081) $650,000

"Whispering Pines" will charm you with its circa 1958 knotty pine walls, ceilings and kitchen cabinetry. Let your stress dissipate while relaxing in the large backyard amongst the pine and oaks trees. Entering the cabin you find yourself welcomed into the open kitchen and dining. Adorning the kitchen is a brick fireplace, vaulted ceilings and access to the 3/4 bath. The living room continues the knotty pine walls and ceiling, there is a propane stove and plenty of light through multiple windows. The generous bedroom is attached to the kitchen and 3/4 bath. Walking out from the bedroom through the glass door you will find yourself on the back deck overlooking the spacious backyard. Close to town, Idyllwild County Park and hiking trails. Nature awaits! (2010138) $390,000

If you do not file your Response on time, the court may make orders affecting your marriage or domestic partnership, your property, and custody of your children. You may be ordered to pay support and attorney fees and costs. For legal advice, contact a lawyer immediately. Get help finding a lawyer at the California Courts Online Self-Help Center (www.courts.ca.gov/selfhelp), at the California Legal Services website (www.lawhelpca.org), or by contacting your local county bar association. Tiene 30 dias de calendario despues de haber recibido la entrega legal de esta Citacion y Peticion para presentar una Respuesta (formulario FL-120) ante la corte y efectuar la entrega legal de una copia al demandante. Una carta o llamada telefonica o una audiencia de la corte no basta para protegerlo. Si no presenta su Respuesta a tiempo, la corte puede dar ordenes que afecten su matrimonio o pareja de hecho, sus bienes y la custodia de sus hijos. La corte tambien le puede ordenar que pague manutencion, y honorarios y costos legales. Para asesoramiento legal, pongase en contacto de inmediato con un abogado. Puede obtener informacion para encontrar un abogado en el Centro de Ayuda de las Cortes de California (www.sucorte.ca.gov), en el sitio web de los Servicios Legales de California (www.lawhelp.org) o poniendose en contacto con el colegio de abogados de su condado. NOTICE - RESTRAINING ORDERS ARE ON PAGE 2: These restraining orders are effective against both spouses or domestic partners until the petition is dismissed, a judgment is entered, or the court makes further orders. They are enforceable anywhere in California by any law enforcement officer who has received or seen a copy of them. FEE WAIVER: If you cannot pay the filing fee, ask the clerk for a fee waiver form. The court may order you to pay back all or part of the fees and costs that the court waived for you or the other party.

AVISO - LAS ORDENES DE RESTRICCION SE ENCUENTRAN EN LA PAGINA 2: Las ordenes de restricción estan en vigencia en cuanto a ambos conyuges o miembros de la pareja de hecho hasta que se despidia la peticion, se emita un fallo o la corte de otras ordenes. Cualquiera agencia del orden publico que haya recibido o vista una copia de estas ordenes puede hacerlas acatar en cualquier lugar de California. EXENCION DE CUOTAS: Si no puede pagar la cuota de presentación, pida al secretario un formulario de exención de cuotas. La corte puede ordenar que usted pague, ya sea en parte o por completo, las cuotas y costos de la corte previamente exentos a petición de usted o de la otra parte.

FVWD revises investment policy

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

The Fern Valley Water District’s (FVWD) Board of Directors changed its regular monthly meeting to the third Thursday from the third Friday of each month. The resolution establishing the change was approved unanimously last week. The next regularly scheduled FVWD board meeting is 9 a.m. Thursday, June 15.

Since FVWD has a four-day workweek, the change will benefit staff who will not have to come for the fifth day on weeks when the board meets.

In other action, the board agreed to revise its investment policy. Currently, all of the reserves and cash are deposited with the state’s Local Agency Investment Fund (LAIF). Most California local governmental agencies (cities, counties and special districts) rely on LAIF to protect and to provide interest on available reserves.

Harrison Stenberg of Time Value Investments (TVI) in Seattle, Washington, made a presentation to the board on other possible financial strategies. Examples of investments were bonds, including U.S. Treasury notes. These were all yielding more interest than LAIF currently offers.

Stenberg stressed that FVWD should limit its investment in any particular bond to less than $250,000. The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insures investments up to this amount. This agency also insures individual bank accounts.

TVI clients include cities, counties, colleges and local districts, such as hospital, irrigation, water and sewer, schools and others.

After discussion, the board agreed to amend its policy to allow for the purchase of other investments besides LAIF. FVWD has about $1.9 million in reserves with LAIF.

The initial plan is to leave about half its reserves with LAIF and to invest the other half in federal CDs and bonds. The difference should generate about $20,000 or more for the district annually.

The board also approved another financial action to improve its cash management. Unanimously, the directors approved taking action to predeposit funds with the state that would cover future pension liabilities payments accruing for staff until retirement.

The state, through CalPERS, offers programs to help reduce future retirement costs associated with retirement benefits other than the actual pension. FVWD currently participates, along with nearly 600 other California agencies, in the California Employers’ Retiree Benefit Trust Fund (CERBT). By joining this trust fund, California public agencies can help finance future costs for retiree benefits such as health, vision, dental and life insurance, in large part from investment earnings CalPERS provides.

At the May meeting the board approved a second agreement with CalPERS that will help fund the pension costs. This program, California Employers’ Pension Prefunding Trust Fund (CEPPT), is dedicated to prefunding employer contributions to defined benefit pension systems. Like the CERBT fund, earnings from this fund can help finance future costs in large part from investment earnings provided by CalPERS.

The CEPPT is only four years old and has about 75 other public agencies as members.

“The CEPPT program allows [us] to pay down and eliminate pension liability payments by completely funding our portion of the retirements in advance,” said General Manager Victor Jimenez.

The board also quickly reviewed its draft fiscal year (FY) 2023-24 budget. Total income is currently projected to be about $1.8 million, about $12,000 less than the projection for FY 2022-23, which ends June 30.

Expenses are higher, about $1.3 million, in order to finance several pipeline projects, yielding a projected deficit of about $870,000, which would be financed with a portion of existing reserves. The work, which will involve replacing pipelines, valves, hydrants and services, will be in the Howland, Cougar and Silver Tip street neighborhoods.

Excluding capital expenses, the operating budget is projected to be about $1.3 million. This is about $75,000 more than the current estimate for the end of FY 2022-23, but only $15,000 more than the approved budget.

The board will approve its FY 2023-24 budget at the June 15 meeting.

In the first four months of 2023, FVWD water production of 9.6 million gallons was about 775,000 (8.8%) gallons greater than the same period in 2022, although the April production decreased 15%.

While there are some minor leaks and meter failures, nothing major has been identified. Jimenez will consider using leak detection equipment to determine if more leaks have not appeared on the surface yet. All of the known leaks have occurred in older pipelines, he added.

All of the district’s meters were replaced between 2018 and 2020, Jimenez said. While there were some bad meters, these have mostly been replaced already, he added.

Angulo

Former board Chair Tom Mullen told his colleagues, “If this ordinance [583.2] is adopted, these enhanced qualifications for candidates will be repealed and the minimum requirement for candidates for auditor will be a registered voter in the county of Riverside.”

“... No additional action has been taken since then to increase the qualifications to run for Auditor,” county Senior Public Information Specialist Yaoska Machado wrote in September, after discussion with the Registrar of Voters Office.

Nevertheless, Angulo is asking for four years of salary at $245,000 annually and $500,000 for pension benefits, plus any attorney fees.

In his handwritten claim, Angulo repeatedly refers to Ordinance 583.2 as the basis for the requirements to be an Auditor-controller. Benoit does not have the educational accounting degrees. However, Angulo does not acknowledge the ordinance has been repealed.

“The question is do board approved ordinances matter or not? Are they to be arbitrarily applied depending upon whom the board favors? Do fair elections matter in Riverside County,” Angulo argues.

While he wrote that he has no intention of embarrassing the board, he is willing to go to trial if his claim is rejected. The basis for possible litigation, in Angulo’s opinion, is “corruption of the electoral process, gross negligence, obstruction, retaliation, and dereliction of duty.”

On May 8, the board wrote Angulo acknowledging receipt of his claim and formally rejecting it.

Besides claiming that Benoit is legally unqualified for auditor-controller, Angulo also claims Benoit has withheld legally owed travel expenses due to Angulo.

“Further, in retaliation, the new, yet unqualified auditor-controller, withheld certain lawfully approved travel costs due the complainant.”

Angulo did not respond to a request for comment about his claim.

DEAR IDYLLWILD ARTS COMMUNITY,

I want to extend my heartfelt appreciation to each and every one of you who contributed to the success of Idyllwild Arts Giving Day 2023.

Because of you, we raised more than $120,000!

From the dedicated members of our Board of Trustees who initiated several challenges, to our exceptional faculty and staff who demonstrated persistent commitment, to our loyal parents, alumni, and long standing friends who showed their love and support for our school, and even our inspiring students who took the initiative to rally their peers – each of you played a crucial role in making this day an unparalleled triumph. Thank you for your dedication and steadfast belief in Idyllwild Arts. Your contributions truly make a difference.

The outpouring of support from our community reflects a deep understanding of the significance of investing in Idyllwild Arts. Your contributions pave the way for countless transformative experiences for our students.

To our students, who everyday personify exceptional talent, your philanthropy speaks volumes about your character, your conviction, and your commitment. I am so very proud of you and thankful for you.

Our community’s generous support enables us to continue the charge to change lives through the transformative power of art so that we can maintain facilities, attract exceptional faculty, and provide the resources necessary for our students to thrive academically, socially, and personally.

On behalf of the entire Idyllwild Arts Community, I extend my deepest gratitude for your unwavering support. We are privileged to have such an extraordinary group of individuals who believe in our mission and are committed to advancing our promise for a vibrant future ahead.

Sincerely,

President, Idyllwild Arts Foundation

You Members have been keeping the Town Crier afloat

By JACK CLARK
CO-PUBLISHERS

Since 2008, more than 2,000 newspapers have gone belly-up in the U.S. — hundreds of them in California. Becky and I (especially me) are into retirement age. When we retire, the Town Crier may retire with us. This is a problem for our community because the Town Crier is the sole news medium that covers six local governmental agencies on our Hill — including four water districts, the historical review board and the fire department. These agencies are owned by you, the rate-paying taxpayers. The directors, commissioners and administrators of these agencies work for you. But you can’t always attend their meetings where they make decisions as to how much of your rate and tax monies they spend and what you get for them. So, the Town Crier does its best to attend those meetings and report on them to you. We need local businesses, on and off the Hill, to support the TC with more of their advertising. Maybe with the decline of COVID, we’ll benefit by more of that. But it’s been you Members who have been keeping the Town Crier publishing these past several years. We thank all our advertisers who have stuck with the Town Crier for the benefit of our Hill community, and we invite all the rest of you businesses, on and off the Hill, back — and new businesses, as well. And we always ask our Members and readers to patronize the TC’s advertisers and tell them you saw their ad in the Town Crier.

THURS., MAY 25, 2023

A scene from the Idyllwild Arts Academy's "Bat Boy: The Musical" in mid-May on campus. PHOTO COURTESY OF IAA/MELANIE ROSE PRINCE

Shana Halligan appeared and sang with Marshall Hawkins, upright bass, and Patrick Bailey, guitar, at the Rustic Theatre Friday night. She sang two songs and then a documentary was shown, it was called "What the Hell Happened to Blood, Sweat & Tears." Blood, Sweat & Tears was the first band to tour behind the Iron Curtain and the number one band in the world at that time. The evening was basically a tribute from Halligan to her dad Richard "Dick" Halligan, who was a founding member of Blood, Sweat & Tears. He wrote and arranged for the band and played keyboards, trombone, flute and piano. He was an Idyllwild resident for many decades but, unfortunately, died last year. His daughter also tours with two major electronic music bands, Thievery Corporation and Bitter:Sweet. PHOTO BY JOEL FEINGOLD

IAA FILM & DIGITAL MEDIA DEPARTMENT PRESENTS 2023 FILM SHOWCASE & AWARD CEREMONY

This highly anticipated event is the year's only opportunity for Film & Digital Media students to showcase their works, and you won't want to miss it! In their films, our hardworking students have come together with their passion, talent and unique voices. All the films have themes concerning the younger generation, including mental illness, trauma, healing, political unrest, and following one's dreams despite all odds. Student accolades this year have included acceptance into the All American High School Film Festival in New York City, as well as some of the best film schools in the world, such as New York University and Chapman University. Please join us for one or more of the week's events to help us celebrate all the students' hard work.

IDYFILM COMMUNITY SCREENING

Thursday, May 25th at 6:00pm
The Rustic Theatre
54290 N Circle Dr.

Join our students' families to experience their films on the big screen! Suggested donation of $10.

AWARDS CEREMONY

Wednesday, May 24 at 6:00pm
William M. Lowman Concert Hall
Idyllwild Arts Campus

Full red carpet experience with formal dress code, VIP guests, a live band performance, and lots of smiles.

FILM SHOWCASE

Tuesday, May 23 at 2:30pm and 4:30pm

Observing Memorial Day

Complete the crossword puzzle. Then circle those words in this article.

Memorial Day was called Decoration Day when it started as a day to honor the nation's Civil War dead by decorating their graves.

After the Civil War, people across America started a tradition of setting one day a year aside to decorate the graves of fallen soldiers.

On May 30, 1868, General James Garfield made a speech at Arlington National Cemetery. After the speech, thousands of people who came to hear him decorated the graves of more than 20,000 Union and Confederate soldiers buried there.

After World War I, Decoration Day was expanded to remember those who had died in all American wars.

In 1971, Congress declared Memorial Day a national holiday to be celebrated the last Monday in May.

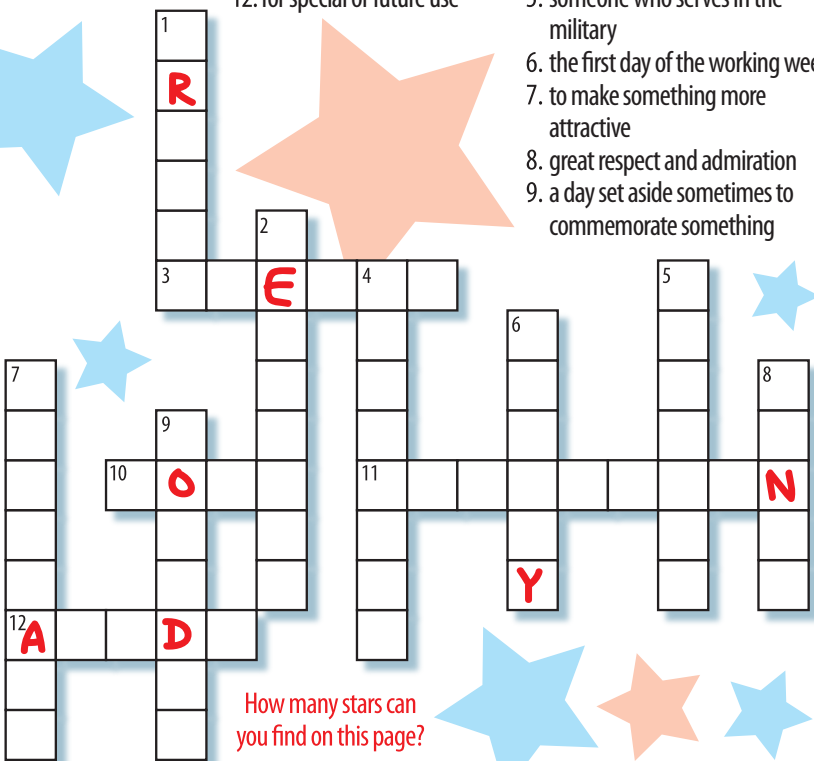

Today a flag is placed on each grave at Arlington National Cemetery. The president or the vice president gives a speech and lays a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Across

- 3. a talk given to an audience
- 10. monument to the dead
- 11. a long established custom
- 12. for special or future use

Down

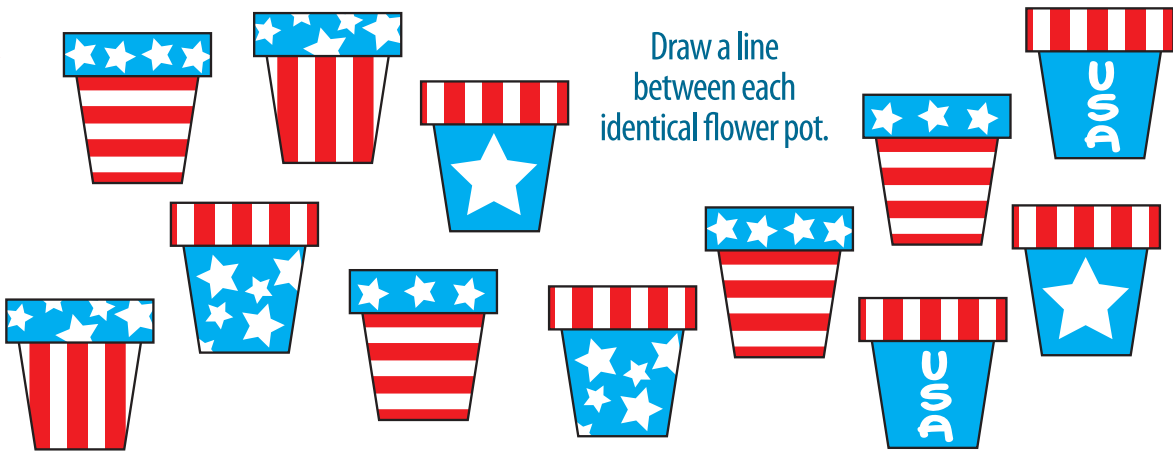

- 1. final resting places
- 2. to retain an idea in the memory
- 4. ground where dead are buried
- 5. someone who serves in the military
- 6. the first day of the working week
- 7. to make something more attractive
- 8. great respect and admiration
- 9. a day set aside sometimes to commemorate something

Patriotic Pottery

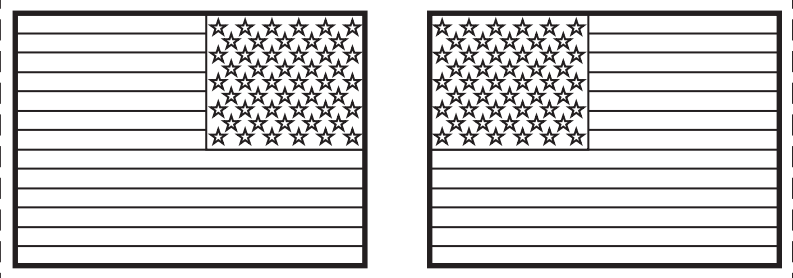

A GREAT CLASSROOM CRAFT: Paint terra-cotta flower pots, coffee cans, jars and other containers in stars and stripes. Then, plant some flowers in them and deliver them to a local veterans hospital or to neighbors who have lost a family member serving our country.

American Flag Pencil

- 1. Color the two flags at right.
- 2. Cut along the dotted line.
- 3. Fold the little flag around the top of your pencil and use glue to fasten the folded flag.

Where is your ad?

What categories of ads (other than classified) appear in only one section of the newspaper? Chart the ad categories and sections. Why do you think this is? If you were advertising toys, in what section would you place your ad?

Standards Link: Students identify the different kinds of advertising in a newspaper and use categories to organize data.

EACH WEEK IS DIFFERENT!

In these beloved summer workshops for the youngest Idyllwild artists, students explore visual art, music, movement, and drama through creative play and structured activities. Guided by experienced youth arts educators, children work in large and small groups throughout the day and learn how to work cooperatively while also building confidence in their individual creativity and expression. Children may come for multiple weeks and gain new discoveries each session.

All students enrolled in Multi-Arts or Artist Discovery get access to our sparkling pool at the conclusion of their class time. Parent or guardian supervision is required.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS
California Business and Professions Code 7071.13 reads: "Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor."

This is a contractor's responsibility, not a newspaper's, and we are not responsible for it. However, as a courtesy, we will remove references to a bond in contractors' advertising, if we notice it.

Steele misses cut in last week’s PGA

By Jack Clark
Pro Golf Correspondent

(Last week, I told you that Brendan had the week off. Well, he had the week off from LIV tournaments only. I missed that he had qualified for this year’s PGA tournament — one of golf’s four majors — because of his high finish in last year’s PGA. Entirely my error, and you have my sincere apologies. In future, I will be running my columns by golf-guru André “The Giant” Pilon, who with his wife, Pierrette Filion, are Brendan’s Superfans and Town Crier members from Montreal, Quebec, Canada. André set me straight on this one. Merci sincèrement, mon ami!)

In this year’s PGA, Brendan had it rough — he posted a 2-over-par 72 Thursday and followed it with a 4-over-par 74 Friday to miss the cut by a single stroke. Four bogeys on day one, and four bogeys and a double on day two more than neutralized the four birdies he notched over the two days.

Brendan tees it up this week on the LIV tour on the Trump National Golf Club course in Washington D.C. He’ll tee off at 10:15 a.m. Friday PT. As usual, the tournament will be broadcast each day on the LIV app, and Saturday and Sunday on Channel 5, Los Angeles.

HOROSCOPES

May 2023 — Week 4

ARIES

March 21 – April 19
Problems begin to affect relationships, both personal and professional. Act now to shore up those weak foundations before it all comes crashing down around you.

TAURUS

April 20 – May 20
Take a break from all that hard work you've been doing. There's nothing like some well-earned fun and games to charge up those Bovine batteries and send you back fully energized and ready to go.

GEMINI

May 21 – June 21
Deception can sometimes affect perception. You should take a longer, deeper look at what you're being offered. Things might not be quite what you first thought they were.

CANCER

June 22 – July 22
A friend's loyalty suddenly comes into question. But, before you rush to judgment, listen to what they have to say. This could be an important learning lesson for you.

LEO

July 23 – August 22
The time has come for you to set things right. Your courage will help you meet the difficult challenge ahead. Others will be inspired by your actions and rally to support you.

VIRGO

August 23 – September 22
A stubborn insistence that your way is the only way to solve problems could make things worse than they are. Open your mind to suggestions from others.

LIBRA

September 23 – October 22
A close associate reveals a secret that could affect an upcoming decision. Rely on your natural instinct to weigh everything carefully, to help you get through this dilemma.

SCORPIO

October 23 – November 21
Congratulations! Your decision to take action and deal with a long-simmering situation in the workplace begins to pay off. In addition, a family member has some good news.

SAGITTARIUS

November 22 – December 21
You still need to persuade your partner that you're sincere in wanting to save this relationship. Remember: Performance speaks louder than promises.

CAPRICORN

December 22 – January 19
A disappointment in the workplace can be a blessing in disguise. Take another look at your goals and see if this is the path you really want to follow.

AQUARIUS

January 20 – February 18
Avoid winding up in the middle of an unpleasant family situation by reassuring your cantankerous kinfolk that you love them all -- but that you won't take sides.

PISCES

February 19 – March 20
A successful workplace move begins to pay off with offers of new opportunities, but some might come with strings attached. Check them all carefully before deciding.

CREATURE CORNER

BY JANICE MURASKO

Last week in “Days of Our Nine Lives,” ARF kittens impressed the ARF cattery members.

Harley: Adoption news! Come hear the adoption news!

Phil: Since I’m still here, I’m guessing it’s not about me.

Harley: That’s true Phil,

but it’s still good news for Peeta, the little boy kitten.

Rue: So that means I am the only kitten who hasn’t been spoken for. Soon, Effie and Peeta will be gone, leaving me behind, and alone.

Phil: I’m sorry, Rue! I have no doubt you’ll be adopted very quickly. You’re so cute.

Harley: That’s true. Oh, here they come now!

Katnis: Yes, my litter is so adorable, and Rue, I’m certain you’ll have your own family very soon.

Rue: I’m certain you are correct. I’ll just turn up the cute factor for the holiday weekend.

Miss Kitty: Good thinking! Charm folk as they shop at ARF’s yard sale.

Phil: Actually, shopping at ARF’s yard sale AND meeting us felines is a win-win.

Miss Kitty: Right! A loving human can visit us cats, find at least one of us to be irresistible, adopt, then shop for supplies.

Harley: One-stop shopping at its best.

Phil: These visitors should also bring along family and friends, even those not looking for pet supplies.

Don: Because there also will be household items, towels, blankets and fun trinkets for everyone.

Katnis: But the true draw will be us beautiful, friendly and charming cats.

Pepper: And who cannot use a big dose of loving every single day?

Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of “Days of our Nine Lives” each week. And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Highway 243. ARF is open Saturdays 10 a.m.-3 p.m., Sundays 10 a.m.-2 p.m., and during the week by appointment. Please call 951-659-1122.
