County responds to grand jury 'wait time' report

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Last week, the Riverside County Board of Supervisors approved its response to the April grand jury (GJ) report titled, "You Call 9-1-1: Then What? Riverside County Emergency Department Delays May Impact Your Care."

Without any discussion, the board approved the response unanimously.

The report had four findings and three recommendations to address its findings. The county agreed with the majority of findings and recommendations.

The first finding related to the GJ's concern about patients remaining on gurneys for a long period before their transfer from the ambulance to the hospital facility. However, the county's response corrected this slightly.

While a hospital may not have immediate room to place a patient, the transfer of actual care occurs when "... EMS personnel arrive in the [emergency department] and provide a patient report to ED staff. Universally, ED medical staff are using that report and visual assessment to 'triage' patients upon arrival."

The response also noted that hospital emergency department staff will assess the patient's condition and apply triage based on the conditions provided in the patient's report that the ambulance EMTs provide.

The county's response to the recommendations was positive, but qualified. The first recommendation was "Riverside County Board of Supervisors to review, approve, and support programs, including telehealth and Safety-Net Ambulance Programs, throughout Riverside County to alleviate ambulance patient off load delays."

While the county acknowledged agreement with the concept, its response noted this needed further analysis. The Emergency Medical Services Agency already collaborates with all the partners — hospitals and fire departments. These steps would benefit from an update to the current EMS Strategic Plan which the county hopes to have completed by the end of July 2024.

For example, telemedicine is already implemented in some county areas and nearly all hospitals and insurers offer some form of telemedicine, according to the county. With regard to EMS telemedicine, the county said models have been tested and it continues to look for viable telemedicine solutions.

These agreements will be presented to the Board of Supervisors within the next year. The GJ then recommended the county encourage other hospitals to implement procedures to reduce ambulance wait times similar to the Riverside University Health Systems' and other high-performing hospitals'.

In this case, the county responded, "The recommendation has been implemented." Senior county officials for EMS have held multiple meetings with leadership at hospitals that have a poor record on wait time.

During these meetings, the county said extensive discussions and reviews were had of the hospitals' off-load performance, data collection and metrics, improvement best practices and REMSA expectations for improvement.

However, the county EMS is not sure which hospitals have made the recommended changes.

The third and final recommendation proposed an interim solution: "RCFD [Riverside County Fire Department] and AMR [American Medical Response] to utilize available personnel to relieve delayed fire and/or ambulance times at the hospital emergency departments."

However, the county evaluated this recommendation and replied that it would not be implemented since it is not warranted.

The principal reason is that the governor's State of Emergency during the COVID pandemic was rescinded.

U.S. Forest Service to raise campground fees

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

The U.S. Forest Service (USFS) has announced fee increases for recreational sites in the San Bernardino National Forest (SBNF). Comments on the proposal should be submitted by Oct. 1.

Seven of the sites are in the San Jacinto Ranger District. Six campgrounds — Black Mountain group, Boulder Basin, Dark Canyon, Fern Basin, Marion Mountain and Pinyon Flat — will see fee increases if approved. The seventh recreation area is the Ribbonwood Equestrian Camp.

Basically, the current fees will double. For example, a camp site at Boulder Basin is $10 per night and would increase to $20. Also, the fee for an extra vehicle will go from $5 to $10.

The same changes are being proposed for single sites at the Fern Basin and Marion Mountain campgrounds.

The new fees would be the same at Dark Canyon and Pinyon Flats, but the current fee at Dark Canyon is $12 and at Pinyon Flats it is $8.

Black Mountain campground is for groups. A group of one to 24 people currently pays $50 a night and the Forest Service wants to double that to $100 per night. For groups of more than 24 people, the fee would go from $75 to $150 a night.

At the Ribbonwood Equestrian campground, eight are spaces capable of accommodating large vehicles and trailers. The current fee is $15 and would increase to $30.

The other two sites are located in the San Bernardino Mountains. In the Front Country District, the Applewhite Campground fee would increase from $10 to $25 for a single site. At the Mountain Top District, the Big Pine Flat OHV Staging Area fee would go from free to $5 per vehicle.

These fees will benefit the SBNF and will be used to operate, maintain and improve its facilities.

Pursuant to the Federal Lands Recreation Enhancement Act, all new fees and any fee changes must be proposed and approved by a citizen's advisory committee. Committee members represent a broad array of recreation interest groups to help ensure the Forest Service is proposing reasonable and publicly acceptable new fees and fee changes.

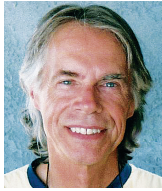

After public involvement, the proposed fee changes will be reviewed by a Recreation Advisory Committee, who will submit their recommendation to the Regional Forester for a final decision, the USFS release stated.

For a map and to submit comments online, visit the Forest Service Recreation Fee Proposal site at usfs.maps.arcgis.com/apps/MapSeries/index.html?appid=f6a8f81baf2843c8bd96c8035d8cc3bc.

Written comments also may be submitted to the San Bernardino National Forest, Attention: Jonar Rodrigo, 602 S. Tippecanoe Ave., San Bernardino, CA 92408. Email is acceptable also to sm.fs.BDFFEEP@usda.gov.

Verbal comments may be provided in person at the San Bernardino National Forest Supervisor's Office (located at the above mailing address) during normal business hours, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Individuals may also call 909-382-2682 to provide comments on the proposed recreation fee changes.

For more information on the proposed project, visit the SBNF website at www.fs.usda.gov/sbnf.

IWD voters to decide board’s fifth director in March

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

The Idyllwild Water District (IWD) Board of Directors met last week with all four directors present, as well as the two candidates for the open fifth seat on the board — R. Mitch Davis and Jessica Priefer. When the board was split on the two applications, they were sent to County Supervisor V. Manuel Perez’ office, but Perez declined to choose. The directors approved a resolution handing the question to the ratepayers, setting an election for March 5, 2024.

An update on the Servpro mold remediation project in the lower administrative building of General Manager Leo Havener and Chief Financial Officer Hosny Showman was given. Dry-wall and floor covering have been removed, and now the extent of the damage can be seen. The studs for about 70% of the walls do not touch the floor (plate) as they have rotted out. Mold is everywhere, with some concentrated areas.

The ad hoc committee dealing with this, made up of directors Steve Kunkle and Steve Olson, reported that the repairs would have to include some exterior concrete work to keep water from entering the wall again. They recommended getting bids from local contractors for the work. Meanwhile, the district will continue to rent office space in the Courtyard Building. The lease is up in September, and Havener expects to renew that for six months.

Havener presented the Operations Report and Olson had questions regarding how wells are listed in the report; in one place it listed 11 wells, one full-time and 10 part-time, but in another place it mentions 12 wells, and on the next page, 20. Havener agreed that one well was missing, and explained that the longer list includes monitoring wells and wells that have not been used for years; the 12 are wells that are available for production “today.”

Olson also asked about the depth of wells and the depths of the pumps in them. Havener reported that this information is buried in the files and uncovering it is a process the staff is “trying to resolve.” The information “should be” in the files, and this is the “first time [he has] ever ran across this” type of situation. Havener said he was looking into acquiring video equipment that would allow the district to find this and other information directly.

Present production from all wells averages out to 333 gallons per minute. Olson asked if the district could pump more than that and Havener said, “A lot more.” Olson also drilled down on the estimates that the district is presently producing 59% of the system’s maximum capacity. “We pump, the wells refill . . .” He called the criteria being used to determine water conservation stages “nonsense,” and asserted that we should be on Stage 1 water conservation. Havener agreed, and President Charles Schelly pointed out that the district is at Stage 1, and there is “no level 0.”

Olson pointed out that well levels are not clearly meaningful; when you stop pumping, how fast do levels rise? Later it was mentioned that some of the wells are “artesianing” or spouting when uncapped, and that Foster Lake is full.

Schelly noted that the question of well depths has been brought up regularly in past meetings, and that determining these numbers is an essential part of producing a new plan for water conservation levels.

Havener presented his general manager’s report. These showed annual revenue of $2,492,165 and expenses of $1,988,030, a surplus of $504,135. Olson noted a few variations from the financial reports, pointing out that he had spotted similar errors in past months, and asked that in the future, with a new fiscal year starting, make sure that the numbers agree.

Revenues for water showed as $1,747,291 on the revenue vs. expenses graph, but as $1,761,338 on the statement sheet. Expenses showed a smaller discrepancy: $1,485,029 on the graph, but $1,486,538 on the statement. The graph for sewer expenses gave $503,001, while the statement showed $450,310. Havener promised to “straighten this out.”

Olson also pointed out that because accounting is done on a cash basis, when the audited statements come out, some of the surplus will disappear due to “accrued liabilities and expenses that are not reflected.”

Havener noted that more revenue is going into the reserve fund.

Last fiscal year’s production, 279 acre feet (almost 91 million gallons), was about average, 268. In the last 10 years, this has varied between 231 and 284. A discussion of production and sales led to the interesting information that “nonwater sales” is actually “water not sold,” for instance water drained from a tank before repairing it.

Havener also mentioned “I and I,” the influx and infiltration from stormwater that swells the intake into the wastewater treatment plant (WWTP). Last winter’s I and I was the highest since 2010, increasing the intake from the normal 0.95 million gallons daily to 1.156.

Later in the meeting, he showed a photo from a recent visit by Houston and Harris, a company that provides cleaning and video inspections of sewer pipes. The image showed a clay 8-inch main line with many cracks, with a blockage from tree roots visible in the background. Cracks like these are the source of I and I. The blockage, according to Havener, was too large for the company to remove, and so IWD will have to buy equipment to do this. Said Havener, “It’s probably worse past the blockage.” The company will go maintenance hole to maintenance hole looking at laterals and mainlines, but not the lines from individual houses. The examination will continue. There will be a list of needed repairs. Some repairs IWD can take on, others may require outside contractors. These repairs could take “months to years” to complete.

Another set of pictures showed a padlock, used by the district to lock a residential meter closed, that had been cut with bolt cutters. This happens occasionally, and when a house with locked service shows water usage this is often the cause. The district, Havener told the board in answer to a director’s question, has a dozen or more locked meters presently. There is a protocol; contacting the owner, trying to ascertain responsibility. Owners “95% of the time” have no idea who could have done such a thing. There are fines.

The board increased rates last month that will begin showing up on bills received in August.

Other expenses included re-coating Foster Lake Tank #1 (in process) and the purchase of a new blower (included in the capital improvement projects) for the WWTP. The blower is on order and is expected to arrive in November.

The Vehicle Maintenance Report discussed three crashes this year: In January, truck #27 hit black ice inside the company yard and hit a corner of the shop, causing $4,000 damage to a headlight and fender. In March, truck #3, on the way to the WWTP, also hit black ice on “an easy corner” and hit a tree, also causing $4,000 damage. Both these repair bills were paid by the district.

A few weeks ago, while exiting the WWTP, a driver operating truck #13 bent over to pick up a “dropped object” and lost control, hitting a tree and causing $22,500 worth of damage. An adjustor will determine if the truck is totaled. The air bag was deployed, and that alone costs $5,000.

The three crashes involved three different drivers. Havener explained that all employees are now required to take defensive driving class, and to have a commercial license so they can operate all the vehicles the district owns. This includes a dump truck and trucks with air brakes. Employees are presently completing the training to fulfill this new requirement.

In closed session, the directors discussed two land purchases and an employee performance evaluation for Havener. There was no reportable action. The next scheduled meeting is at 6 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 16.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

On August 3-6, Idyllwild Arts will welcome back to its campus, FWB FEST 2023. This is a private event on the Idyllwild Arts campus that will feature speaker sessions, workshops, culinary experiences, and live musical acts in most of IA’s performance venues, including the Holmes Amphitheater.

FWB is a worldwide group of cultural creators, thinkers, and builders who convene both digitally and in person to collaboratively shape the future of internet infrastructure (Web 3). The FEST includes 500 guests, 50 FWB staff members, and approximately 20 performing artists.

FWB has a long history of creating, producing, and managing safe events for thousands of guests all over the country and working with some of the most prominent artists and promoters in the world. The event upholds the highest industry safety standards and will be conducted in coordination with all state and local authorities. Riverside County Sheriff’s Department will be on-site during the event, and Idyllwild Fire Department will once again have a contingent present to keep a watchful eye on activities. IA’s Emergency Response Team will be on campus and will help to ensure that all musical acts cease no later than 10:00 p.m., which is in accordance with the noise ordinance of Riverside County.

This partnership is in alignment with our mission and goals, and we thank our neighbors for their support and understanding.

Open letter to Idyllwild and Supervisor Perez

DEAR EDITOR:
While I've debated speaking out publicly one last time in reference to the short-term rental (STR) debacle on the Hill, I've obviously chosen to do so.

We are down to the wire, and by that, I mean Supervisor Perez has made his initial recommendation to the county planning board who has written up their recommendation that will be presented in the near future at a county planning board meeting, followed by said recommendations to then be presented to the five Riverside County supervisors for a final vote.

The amendments to the STR ordinance are a disappointment at best, but feel more like a slap in the face to the majority of the town who is looking for some relief once the moratorium is lifted.

I sat for many, many hours and listened to the opposing side talk about fairness and their right to do what they pleased with their house, while we pushed back talking about our right and the rights of the residents of Idyllwild to live in peace and quiet in their homes in residentially zoned neighborhoods. The ironic part about the whole thing is the two folk that we had to continue to listen to do not have to deal with the situation that the average homeowner does who lives across the street or next-door to an STR, since one lives in a homeowners association that does not allow STRs and the other industry rep doesn't even live in our town, yet both of them spoke at length about how the impact their industry has on the average Joe was minimal.

Perez chose to side with industry and while yes, it appears we will get some type of a cap, it may be higher than the actual current registered STR count, and the pathetically small distance he's allotted for the density means folk can still be inundated by STRs and it will offer little, if any, help to those that already are surrounded.

Idyllwild has the highest percentage of STRs in Riverside County by a long shot. We were never pushing to shut down registered, existing, good-standing operators; we always agreed they would be grandfathered

MATTER OF FACT

In last week's story on Pine Cove Water District (PCWD), we reported that the annual audit will be discussed next month. It will not be discussed until November. We also reported that PCWD has four meter books when it has seven. Town Crier regrets the errors.

Also in last week's Town Crier, a news release from the Arts Schools Network reported that Pamela Jordan is the Idyllwild Arts Foundation president and head of school. She is president, not head of school.

in. We simply wanted something that over the course of time would allow the neighborhoods to slightly transition back to what they originally once were, a quiet place to live and relax.

Supervisor Perez, you came to our town a handful of times, and unfortunately, I believe it was to simply placate the majority not associated with the STR industry. You seem to have ultimately made decisions based on the industry, which will end up being a great disappointment to the majority of our town.

It is not too late to do the right thing, sir. Modify your recommendations to the county planning board on cap and density. Make a reasonable compromise that will continue to keep a normal, level-headed STR owner happy, while at the same time renewing the town's faith that your intent and actions regarding Idyllwild are legitimate.

Sure, you are going to try to throw money at a problem by hiring more enforcement officers, but the simple solution to the problem would have been to listen to what the town was asking for — a reasonable cap and density that would have rectified the problem on its own.

To say I am disappointed with the decisions and recommendations you have passed on to the planning board, at this point, is an understatement, and to be perfectly honest, as stated earlier, it is a slap in the face to our town.

Candidates already seeking contributions for 2024 Congressional race

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

The 118th U.S. Congress began in January. It will end in December 2024 — 17 months into the future. The next congressional election is 16 months away in November 2024. The spring 2024 primaries have not even been scheduled, but candidates already have solicited and collected millions in contributions to prepare for the next election.

Since January 2023, Republican Ken Calvert, representing California's 41st District, which includes the Hill communities, has already raised $1.6 million for his next race. And his 2022 opponent and likely opposition in 2024, Will Rollins, has raised nearly $900,000 during the past six months.

Ken Calvert

From Jan. 1 through June 30, Calvert garnered nearly $1.6 million in donations and has a cash balance of $1.5 million in his campaign coffers. At the end of 2022, following the tight race with Rollins, which he won, Calvert was left with only $70,000 in cash.

He defeated Rollins by 4.7% of the vote in a close election. And he expended nearly $3.9 million to earn this victory. This was his 16th Congressional election.

Calvert was first elected to the U.S. House in 1992. Since then, various redistricting plans have modified the area he has represented. But all included some portion of western Riverside County. The 2022 election was the first where Hill communities were part of his district.

Nearly 45 political action committees (PAC) have already given him $5,000 each. This includes several defense contractors such as General Dynamics, Textron, Boeing and Honeywell. Calvert does head the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee. Other PACs include Amazon, Sierra Nevada and PG&E employees.

Also, more than 300 individuals have contributed from $3,300 to less than $100. Another 150 contributions came from the online RedWin site. Total contributions from individual donors to Calvert was $925,000 in the first six months of 2023.

“Our campaign continues to receive extraordinary support from people who understand what's at stake in this next election,” Calvert said in a press release.

Will Rollins

Rollins, a Democrat, wants to challenge Calvert again. And for this race he has already collected nearly $900,000 and had $820,000 in cash at the end of June. But he will have to win a primary since two other Democrats have filed and submitted financial reports to the Federal Election Commission (FEC).

Rollins is a former federal prosecutor and now lives in Palm Springs.

More than 90% of Rollins' contributions have come from individuals, but only six names were identified on the FEC report.

Rollins ended his 2022 campaign and the year with $45,000 in cash. But for the election, he raised more than $3.6 million in contributions, nearly 90% from individuals.

The other potential 2024 Democratic candidates are Timothy J. Sheridan and Brian Hawkins. Their fundraising has been paltry compared to Rollins and Calvert.

Sheridan has $7,115 in cash and Hawkins has $250.

Hawkins is a pastor in San Jacinto, sits on the city council and was recently arrested in Lake Elsinore on suspicion of assaulting a child. He has said that he was disciplining his children and yelling at them.

County assessments exceed $400 billion

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Last week, Peter Aldana, Riverside County’s assessor-county clerk-recorder, announced that the county’s total real estate assessment valuation has exceeded $400 billion for the first time. The 2023 assessment of $404 billion is $35 billion (9%) more than the 2022 total.

“Surpassing the $400 billion mark is a historic achievement for Riverside County,” Aldana said. “It signifies the remarkable growth of our county and reflects the confidence individuals, businesses, and investors have in our region. Plus, once again, I have to give credit to the coordinated team effort that completed a growing assessment roll on time during another busy year.”

This is the second consecutive year that valuations grew more than 9%. Only four years ago in 2019 was the first time valuations exceeded $300 billion, but it took 13 years to reach that level from $200 billion in 2006. Overall, the real estate valuation in all unincorporated areas rose 12.7%.

Aldana’s press release provided the following information for property owners who may have questions: A review of the 2023 assessment roll value is available on the Riverside County assessor’s public access online services website at ca-riverside-acr.publicaccessnow.com/ or calling 951-955-6200.

For concerns about a valuation, owners may file a free decline-in-value application online by visiting ca-riverside-acr.publicaccessnow.com/E-Forms/DeclineInValueApplication.aspx. The decline-in-value objections are due by Nov. 1.

Property owners also may request a formal hearing before the Assessment Appeals Board. The deadline to file is Nov. 30. The application is available on the clerk of the board’s website at Assessment Appeals Online \(aao.countyofriverside.us\)).

For more information or to contact the Riverside County assessor-clerk-recorder, visit www.rivcoacr.org.

Grand jury

ed in March. During its application, more paramedics could be found through various channels, such as AMR and the State Medical Mutual Aid System and they could help local hospitals with emergency patients.

With the termination of the emergency order, though, the county expects local hospitals to hire their own EMTs. But confirmation of these steps is not available.

“... REMSA and all EMS system partners wholly disagree that it should be EMS provider agency staff that is utilized. All EMS providers within the County are currently experiencing staffing shortages. Utilizing their staff to support underperforming hospitals would further degrade EMS system resource availability.”

But extended wait times are not a unique Riverside County problem. In January 2021, the state Assembly Committee on Emergency Management held an oversight hearing on the impact of ambulance patient off-load delays (APOD) on emergency responses.

This year, Assemblymember Freddie Rodriguez

(D-Pomona) introduced Assembly Bill 40 to address this issue. In May, the Assembly passed the bill and forwarded it to the Senate where several committees have reviewed it.

Besides telling local EMSAs, such as Riverside County’s, to set an ambulance patient offload time (APOT) of 30 minutes, AB 40 requires acute care hospitals with emergency departments to meet that standard 90% of the time. Also, hospitals would be required to develop an APOT reduction protocol by June 1, 2024, file the protocol with EMSA and require EMSA to monitor monthly APOT data to ensure the standard is being met.

After the Assembly passed AB 40, Rodriguez said in a press release, “Our communities expect and deserve immediate emergency transport and a hospital ready to receive them for treatment when they call 9-1-1. Unfortunately, non-urgent calls and other factors put immense pressure on our EMS system. AB 40 and AB 296 will alleviate these pressures, getting our first responders off the wall and enabling our system to run efficiently and effectively.”

Riverside County’s Emergency Medical Services Strategic Plan revision

The Emergency Management Department has already selected a contractor to lead the review of the next version of the EMS Strategic Plan. Through a competitive process, AP Triton LLC was recently selected as the primary consultant to review and complete an updated five-year EMS System Strategic Plan. The contract period is for one year ending on July 31, 2024.

The Ghost Notes return next week in concert

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

Idyllwild's free outdoor Idyllwild Summer Concert Series (ISCS) in the Butterfield Amphitheater continues Thursday, Aug. 3, with The Ghost Notes, a Grateful Dead tribute band, and openers Sandii and Friends. Music begins at 6:05 p.m., with the headliners taking the stage at 7 p.m.

The Ghost Notes are ISCS veterans; this will be their third appearance. While the band is a "Grateful Dead tribute band," lead guitarist Damian Lautiero describes them more broadly as an "improvisational rock n roll band specializing in the music of the Grateful Dead." That leaves some room for the individuality and chemistry of five well-rounded musicians to create something new every night.

Lautiero pointed out the broad influences that shaped the Dead and the Ghost Notes: "The music of the Grateful Dead celebrates so many purely American genres of music ranging from Folk Americana, Bluegrass, Jazz, Blues, Country, and Rock and Roll ... All genres of music we love and are inspired by."

In addition to founder Mike Hammons on bass and vocals and Lautiero on guitar and vocals, the band includes Tim Jones on keyboards, Robert Peterson on drums and Bert Vela on percussion. The two percussionists allow the kit drums that familiar freedom dead-heads will recognize, with a rolling swing as they reinforce and counter each other.

On their wide-ranging influences and spirit of improv, Lautiero wrote, "As musicians, we love the ability to explore and expand instrumentally, and this music naturally lends [itself] to wide-open jams and improvisations. The band members each have extensive and eclectic musical backgrounds that are very diverse. When mixed together, it creates something sonically interesting and unique. We really enjoy each other's company as people first and foremost, which then really lends to us being able to explore arrangements and push each other musically."

Sandii Castleberry also is an ISCS regular, and she said the group she is bringing "really is a band because of all the musical friendships I've forged over the years." These friends have appeared in many combinations and under many names, including "Hot Flash," "The Girlz" and "Castleberry Creek."

This year, Castleberry teams up with longtime friends (and local musical heavy-weights) Barnaby Finch on keyboard and Bill Saitta on bass. "I'm excited to play with Bill Saitta ... and revisit some of the songs from our Creek House days. And Barnaby, well, he is always a delight to play music with, and is so much fun ...

"My first summer concert was in 2004. I played with Kevin Hamby and Orange County fiddler Paul McIntire. I have been a concert opener for just about every summer since. It's been such a joy to play the openers because I get to choose who to play with from such a variety of talent here on the Hill, that I also consider as friends. I would vary the set lists year to year based on who I [was] going to play with."

The concerts are all free, but donations are gratefully accepted. The funding is met through contributions from the community, and the series always starts on a wing and a prayer from series mastermind Ken Dahleen. The budget this year is $36,900. Contributions, checks payable to "Idyllwild Summer Concert Org," may be sent to P.O. Box 1542, Idyllwild, CA 92549-1542 or call 760-413-4638.

Remember that temperatures drop in the summer evening. Come prepared with an extra layer. Butterfield Amphitheater, 54201 Ridgeview Drive, is accessible through the Idyllwild Community Center Playground Parking lot on Highway 243 just south of town.

ATTENTION CONTRACTORS

California Business and Professions Code 7071.13 reads: “Any reference by a contractor in his advertising, soliciting, or other presentments to the public to any bond required to be filed pursuant to this chapter is a ground for the suspension of the license of such contractor.”

This is a contractor’s responsibility, not a newspaper’s, and we are not responsible for it. However, as a courtesy, we will remove references to a bond in contractors’ advertising, if we notice it.

CREATURE CORNER

By JANICE MURASKO

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," ARF cats and kittens talked about the perfect home.

Harley: Holy catnip, has it been hot out!

Phil: Yes, but thankfully the clouds and the little bit of rain we have gotten does help.

Harley: When we don't have the advantage of clouds and cooler rainy weather, what can be done to keep us cool and healthy?

Rosy: I'm guessing that we kittens, along with older cats, are very susceptible to heat-related health scares.

Katnis: Very good, Rosy. The basic things to remember are that cats tolerate hot days better than dogs, but indoor temperatures over 85° F can be too warm. If the house doesn't have AC, fans can be used.

Phil: And cooling beds designed for pets are a great option, along with offering plenty of water and wet food.

Pepper: And pet guardians should know to phone the vet right away for signs of heat stroke, like panting, rapid breathing and lethargy.

Don: Also important to know is that temperatures of 85° F indoors and over 100° F outdoors can become problematic for pets and humans.

Katnis: Although healthy cats handle heat better than dogs, if they are overweight, are acclimated to a cooler climate, or have a short muzzle, like Persian cats, they could really suffer during severe temps.

Pepper: Fans were mentioned as a good way to help cats stay cooler when no air conditioning is available. A really effective thing to do is to set up a fan over a bowl of ice to make the air cooler as it flows into the room.

Carrie: Ahhh. Just thinking about it sounds great.

Katnis: I truly hope cat guardians will take heed. I think we have more hot days to come.

Creature Corner is sponsored for the month of July by Charlie Anthony and Shorty George. For those interested in sponsoring future weeks or months, please contact ARF at 951-659-1122 or info@idyllwildarf.org.

HOROSCOPES

July 2023 — Week 4

MARCH 21 – APRIL 19

A change that you hoped for is coming down the line, but you still need to be patient until more explanations are forthcoming. Continue to keep your enthusiasm in check.

APRIL 20 – MAY 20

Your social life expands as new friends come into your life. But while you're having fun, your practical side also sees some positive business potential within your new circle.

MAY 21 – JUNE 21

Your workplace situation continues to improve, but look for advantages you might have missed while changes were going on around you. A trusted colleague can help.

JUNE 22 – JULY 22

Resist the urge to hunker down in your bunker until things ease up. Instead, get rid of that woe-is-me attitude by getting up and getting out to meet old friends and make new ones.

JULY 23 – AUGUST 22

Now that you're back enjoying the spotlight again, you should feel re-energized and ready to take on the challenge of bringing those big, bold plans of yours to completion.

AUGUST 23 – SEPTEMBER 22

A former friend would like to repair a relationship you two once enjoyed. Your positive response could have an equally positive impact on your life. Think about it.

SEPTEMBER 23 – OCTOBER 22

Resist making impulsive decisions. Stay on that steady course as you continue to work out workplace problems. Be patient. All will soon be back in balance.

OCTOBER 23 – NOVEMBER 21

You might feel confident about taking a promising offer, but continue to be alert for what you're not being told about it. Don't fret. Time is on your side.

NOVEMBER 22 – DECEMBER 21

People dear to you might be planning a way to show appreciation for all that you've done for them. Accept the honor graciously. Remember, you deserve it.

DECEMBER 22 – JANUARY 19

Congratulations. Your self-confidence is on the rise. This could be a good time to tackle those bothersome situations you've avoided both at home and at work.

JANUARY 20 – FEBRUARY 18

You feel obligated to return a favor. (Of course, you do.) But heed advice from those close to you, and do nothing until you know for sure what's being asked of you.

FEBRUARY 19 – MARCH 20

Your loving reassurance helped revive a once-moribund relationship. But be wary of someone who might try to do something negative to reverse this positive turn of events.
