County offers temporary restrooms until permanent ones built

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Until the public restrooms planned for North Circle Drive in front of the Mile Hi Plaza are completed, 4th District Supervisor V. Manuel Perez and Riverside County have arranged for restrooms in the Fort to be available temporarily to the public.

At their Sept. 12 board meeting, the supervisors unanimously approved allocating $25,000 for operating and maintaining temporary facilities.

Suzanne Holland, director of the county's Office of Economic Development, told the board that the permanent restrooms would be ready in about six months.

The staff recommendation to the board said, "The Office of Economic Development is currently engaged in construction of public restroom facilities located in the core commercial tourism district of Idyllwild to serve visitors, guests and local residents; construction is expected to be completed by the end of 2023. With the need for immediate safe and sanitary restroom services for tourism, the County's Department of Environmental Health has negotiated temporary use of private facilities for public use during construction."

The need for temporary restrooms initially rose at a community meeting with Perez. Stephanie Yost, Idyllwild Community Center president, raised the question about the need for public restrooms before the county has constructed a permanent facility.

"We got Environmental Health engaged on this and they helped brainstorm and explore a number of solutions. Assisting the Fort was the idea that stood out as the most preferable and practical solution," wrote Darin Schemmer, communications director for Perez, in an email to the Town Crier.

"We know that there are quite a bit of tourists who visit Idyllwild," said Perez in his press release. "While we have a brand new public restroom coming in, which will be very helpful for the town and comes after many years in the making, we also wanted to see how we could address a short-term situation where there had been no or very limited public restrooms available in the meantime. I appreciate our county team for working on this after our listening session in Idyllwild and making this a win for the community."

The funding source is a portion of the Funding American Rescue Plan Act — funds that Riverside County received to support economic recovery efforts that were damaged and negatively affected by the COVID pandemic.

"Idyllwild was impacted by COVID due to its shut down and the shuttered venue of tourist activities," Holland told the board. Even though permanent visitor restrooms are being constructed, she stressed, "... the weather changes and interest in coming to the Hill for tourism and activities ... have begun to revive the need for the public restrooms sooner."

The new restrooms will be in a 210-square-foot facility along North Circle Drive within the Idyllwild Historic Preservation District (IHPD). The county included IHPD's construction guidelines as part of the specification package. These facilities will be compliant with the Americans with Disability Act.

The total cost for planning, construction and installation was estimated to be about $580,000.

Redistricting litigation settled

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

The litigation filed against Riverside County opposing its December 2021 redistricting of the five supervisorial seats has been settled and no changes to the current boundaries of the supervisorial districts will occur.

Thursday, Sept. 14, Yaoska Machado, senior public information specialist for the county, provided the following statement, "The County has entered into a settlement agreement with IE United and other plaintiffs regarding the 2021 Redistricting process. This agreement preserves the map of the current Supervisorial District boundaries, which was adopted after extensive public participation over several months, and reflects the County's ongoing commitment to increase participation in the electoral process."

The proposed settlement was initially announced Wednesday, Sept. 13, in a press release from the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) in Southern California. This stated, "Today, Inland Empire United and six county residents reached a settlement with Riverside County that will increase political access for historically underrepresented communities in the tenth most populous county in the U.S."

While the plaintiffs and their attorneys negotiated and agreed to the settlement, it still fell short of their goal.

"We still do not believe that the county chose the most fair map and we would've loved for this suit to end with a new one, but the map was a symptom of a larger problem," said Sky Allen, executive director of Inland Empire United. In an email to the Town Crier, Allen wrote, "The reason we entered this fight was to make our local government more fair and more accessible, specifically for Latine residents and voters. I'm proud that this settlement achieves such strong commitments to improving education, outreach, and access."

While the county does not have to revise its current supervisorial districts, it did agree to significantly improve its service to Spanish-speaking residents and outreach to them during elections and primaries.

In the settlement, the county agreed to expand voter outreach and education. Examples of this include voter workshops or community forums in advance of elections. The use of media — social, print or video — to advertise these sessions or an upcoming election, how to register to vote or how to vote is another option.

For these efforts and initiatives, the county has agreed to spend a minimum

HUSD meeting at Idyllwild School covers much

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

Hemet Unified School District (HUSD) held its board meeting this month at Idyllwild School Tuesday, Sept. 12. The board visits Idyllwild usually once a year. The six members of the board and Superintendent Dr Christi Barrett were joined by five other district employees and an audio-visual team, and over 40 members of the community, mostly Idyllwild School faculty and staff.

A bit of local color was provided by Idyllwild School third grader Cooper Jones Darling, who led the “Pledge of Allegiance” before receiving an award for his improvement in math and reading assessments.

Trustee Jeremy Parsons also presented Idyllwild School Behavioral Support Specialist Briana McGrew an award for her impact on, among other things, citizenship, academics and attendance, and a check for $500.

Hamilton High School’s National Honor Society President Olivia Lopez gave an update on the activity of her school’s sports teams.

The board oversees a district with an annual budget over $300 million, and the agenda was quite long. A number of decisions made during closed session were announced at the beginning of the public session, including the appointment of a new principal at McSweeney Elementary School, and the suspension without pay of an employee pending dismissal.

Action items for the open session numbered 18, and a “master motion” rolled 58 small items into one vote. Another 10 items dealt with Community Facilities Districts, the districts that are voted into being when a developer sets out to build more housing that HUSD will serve. Informational reports were given on finances, this year’s summer session, and the district’s progress toward implementing new state standards for ethnic studies.

Assistant Superintendent Dr. Nareyda Gonzalez briefed the board on the progress of developing the district’s Ethnic Studies program. By 2025, the district must begin offering these classes, and by 2030 they will be among the requirements for graduation. They will be part of the “A-G” curriculum (seven basic subject areas) and multiple options to comply will be embedded into 10th grade Social Studies or 11th grade U.S. History classes.

Teachers have been meeting, and representatives of local tribal groups — including Soboba, Cahuilla, Anza and Santa Rosa Native Americans — have been consulted. This year students will begin to see the materials in “fishbowl events,” and by May there should be feedback from the community to bring back to the board. A website will allow the public access to the units of study as they are developed, and parents will be informed about this.

Gonzalez also presented a report on this past year’s summer school program. This year summer classes were offered at six sites, with transportation available. Days were long, nine hours, with four hours for academics and five for Expanded Learning Opportunities Programs. This included field trips to March Air Force Base and the Western Science Center, and career exploration trips. Some students told their teachers they had never been outside Hemet.

This year’s session served 1,336 students from elementary grades, 409 from middle school, and 1,968 from high school. Thirty-four students graduated during the summer. In the first session, 1,968 students earned 7,030 credits; in the second, 1,505 earned 5,210 credits. Before 2017, according to Gonzalez, summer school was only available at one site, with 649 students enrolled. Now HUSD has triple the students earning almost four times as many credits.

HUSD board agendas are available online, with links to documents that explain each item. One example with a local impact was an “Approval to File Notice of Exemption from the California Environmental Quality Act” for a project to replace HVAC equipment at Idyllwild School. The notice explains that the project intends to replace heating and AC for classrooms 1 to 4 and 14 to 22. The existing units, the Notice of Exemption states, are “over 20 years old and have exceeded their useful life. They require continued maintenance to remain in working condition and are prone to routine failure.” Because the replacement involves “negligible or no expansion of existing” use, an environmental impact report is unnecessary.

One item, H-9, is a contract for catering and event space for the HUSD Leadership Colloquium 2024, to be held July 17 to 19 of next year at Soboba Casino. HUSD is contracting to use the Grand Ballroom and at least six smaller rooms, and for catering. The meeting space rental is being waived, along with set up and tear down of the furnishings for each room, based on the district paying a minimum of $10,000 per day for food and beverage, a total minimum of $30,000.

The agenda item lists financial impact as “not to exceed $120,000.” A second item, H8, was for a past event, a two-day Colloquium in July of this year. The contract discussed two days for a minimum of $20,000, and the amendment increased that to $30,000, but the agenda lists a financial impact of $78,834.72. There was also a request to ratify an amendment to an agreement for a July event held at Pechanga, due to “inflation and additional services provided.” The original agreement included $2,500 for rental of four event rooms and a minimum catering bill of $15,000. The agenda listed the financial impact as $125,833.20. The Crier was unable to get a clarification from the district before press.

Another item, H50, is an agreement between HUSD and the Hemet Teachers Association, changing pay for teachers for Saturday school. The previous contract had stipulated a lower rate for Saturdays. Now they will be paid at the “Extra Duty Rate.”

H51 was another agreement between the district and teachers, this one authorizing a $10,000 stipend for teachers in the Alternative to Suspension program, to cover their work during prep time retroactively to July 1, 2023. This will be an annual stipend. The impact is listed as $40,000.

Near the close of the meeting, individual members of the board expressed their thanks to Idyllwild School for the effort involved in mounting the meeting. It was noted that the acoustics in the cafeteria are better than in the gym, and several members briefly added that they have family ties, and family memories of Idyllwild going back to their youth.

This Monday, HUSD notified the public of the “unexpected passing” of Tahquitz High School Principal Dr Kari McGowan, due to a sudden “health condition,” leaving behind “a devoted husband and baby boy.” Barrett’s letter noted that “Dr. McGowan has been an integral part of our district’s leadership for many years, and her upbeat personality, bright smile, dedication, passion, and commitment to our students’ success have left a tremendous mark on all of us.” A moment of silence in her memory was planned for Tahquitz High’s homecoming game, scheduled for Monday, Sept. 18.

Registrar of Voters on administrative leave

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Riverside County Registrar of Voters Rebecca Spencer has been placed on paid administrative leave from her position.

At the Tuesday, Sept. 12 board meeting, the supervisors met in closed session for a “Public Employee Performance Evaluation/Title: Registrar of Voters.” On Wednesday, Spencer’s administrative leave was revealed in a story from the Press Enterprise.

“Chief Operating Officer Juan Perez, from the County’s Executive Office, will work closely with the department’s leadership team and dedicated staff to continue to prepare for upcoming elections and to ensure the delivery of services for the communities we serve,” wrote Yaoska Machado, senior public information specialist for the county.

According to the county, “This is a personnel matter and no additional information will be available until after the next Board of Supervisors’ meeting,” which is scheduled for Sept. 26.

Spencer joined the Registrar’s Office in 1999 as an intern. Since then she has served as on staff, as chief deputy registrar, assistant registrar and twice as interim registrar until her appointment as registrar in 2014. Both her bachelor’s and master’s degrees are from the University of California, Riverside. She is a member of the California Association of Clerks and Election Officials and the Certified Election and Registration Association.

Redistricting

of $1.75 per voter in any district where the turnout rate — ballots divided by registered voters — in the most recent statewide primary election in a nonpresidential election year was lower than the countywide voter turnout rate for that election.

The county also agreed to translate notices, agendas and minutes of board of supervisors' meetings into Spanish.

And also to offer Spanish interpretation during board meetings or hearings. This may be accomplished with headsets for members of the public attending the session in person or via software for those watching or listening remotely.

"Despite the size of our Latine community, we've yet to fully ensure folks can see themselves in our local governing chambers," Allen said in the ACLU press release. "This settlement guarantees, for the first time, that our neighbors are welcome to participate as equals in future meetings. This is a really meaningful step towards full representation of everyone who calls Riverside home."

The county concurred in its statement, "The agreement demonstrates the County's continued effort to ensuring equal opportunity for all of its residents to participate in the voting process by providing additional investment to enhance education and outreach in those communities with low-voter turnout and providing Spanish translation of Registrar of Voters official notices and forms, legally required documents, and public meetings.

And Julia Gomez, staff attorney at the ACLU Foundation of Southern California, concurred, hoping these types of services would expand to other California counties.

While both the ACLU of Southern California and Inland Empire United concurred in the proposed settlement, there was some disappointment that new maps for supervisorial districts were not part of it. Both Gomez and Allen expressed similar sentiments.

"Communities need information to fully participate in the democratic process, whether it is information about how to vote or about what the board will be discussing at a meeting," said Gomez in the press release. "While we are disappointed that the County did not adopt a new supervisorial map, this settlement opens more doors for our Latine community members in Riverside to participate in the future health and success of their home regions."

And Gomez added, "Our goal was to ensure that Latine voters have equal opportunities to participate in the political process, and the settlement includes many important commitments that move us towards that goal."

"I'm disappointed that litigation was needed to get these Spanish translation services, but with full context I'm not surprised," Allen wrote in an email to the Town Crier. "To my knowledge, there isn't a jurisdiction in all of California that is offering full language translation services, so hopefully Riverside County can become a model and start a trend where government takes language access more seriously."

The lawsuit challenging the December 2021 board-approved redistricting plan for supervisorial seats based on the 2020 census was filed in June 2022. The basis of the action was Inland Empire's argument that the redistricting plan did not comply with the California Constitution and the federal Voting Rights Act. The new districts diluted the voting power of Latines in Riverside County.

During the board's redistricting discussions and debates in December 2021, District 4 Supervisor, V. Manuel Perez was the lone vote against the current redistricting plan.

But this January in an interview with the Town Crier, Perez acknowledged that the current board does reflect diversity of the population. Yxstian Gutierrez, 5th District supervisor, joined him on the board, so there are two Latinos. Chuck Washington, of the 3rd District, is black and Karen Spiegel, representing the 2nd District, is a female.

"It was a different time back then. Is the litigation still necessary? That's up to the ACLU. But I don't think so; that's just me. It's far better now," Perez concluded.

It takes a village

DEAR EDITOR:

This couldn't be truer than it is now. ARF works hard to educate the “village” as to pet care and the importance of spaying/neutering.

We all need to be responsible for our own dogs and cats, and we all need to help in curbing the annual kitten explosion. Sadly, ARF can't do it all.

Just this past weekend, we found a crate left at the ARF House, and in the crate were three kittens.

This is not helpful as ARF is over-run with cats, not to mention that abandoning any animal is against the law. Our cattery is full. We have no room at the inn.

This creates an additional problem for ARF volunteers. We receive phone calls and emails nearly every day from people who want us to take in more and more cats/kittens. Again, we have no room.

ARF was founded over 29 years ago to take in pets from those in a bad situation. We have cats (and we've taken in hundreds of dogs) from people who have passed, have become homeless or are in a very bad home situation. We were never meant to become a shelter or offer the same services as animal control.

We do raise funds to help families with veterinary costs for their beloved pets. We do offer pet food for those in need. We do offer low-cost vaccination and nail trim clinics as a convenience for locals. We do offer pet parent education. We do help with homeless animals when we are able.

But we need the village to help.

Please spay/neuter your dogs and cats. Please let financially strapped neighbors know that ARF is here to help. Consider grabbing that neighborhood cat or trapping that feral cat and getting it altered, then simply release it back into the neighborhood, or if the cat is friendly, maybe you could make it your own.

Please help us help the village. We are doing our best, but we cannot do it alone.

New trial date set for Solis on Halloween

By BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

Former Idyllwild restaurateur Luis Delgado Solis, 45, had a new trial date set at his information arraignment Monday, Sept. 11. The new trial date is Tuesday, Oct. 31.

His case was dismissed in August because of the unavailability of witnesses and the Riverside County District Attorney filed a new case.

In the first case, Solis was charged with eight felony sex charges involving two minor female children beginning in August 2015 and ending Wednesday, April 26, 2023, the day before he was arrested. He pleaded not guilty to all eight felony charges.

In the second case, filed charges are seven felony sex counts to which he has pleaded not guilty. He remains in the Southwest Detention Center on $5 million bail.

He faces potential life imprisonment if found guilty.

Telemedicine for emergency responses coming to county

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

At its Sept. 12 meeting, the Riverside County Board of Supervisors unanimously approved an initial three-year contract with TELE911 that will allow the county's emergency response agencies real-time telemedicine evaluation. Several months ago, in response to a county jury report on hospital transfer time, the county Emergency Medical Services Agency (EMS) promised to submit a telemedicine proposal.

Low-acuity patients and patients who refuse ambulance transport to an emergency department and may be at high-risk if they are not transported may benefit.

“In addition, through TELE911, EMS desires to maximize EMS resource availability and improve [Emergency Department] bed capacity in Riverside County by properly referring medically triaged lower acuity 911 calls and linking patients to a variety of resources when safe and appropriate ... It has been shown in multiple published research studies that a significant percentage of EMS patients transported to a hospital ED may be safely treated in place through an approved telemedicine program,” EMS said in its recommendation to the board.

Although unanimously approved, telemedicine will not be immediately available. Dan Bates, deputy EMS coordinator for the county, explained that each of the county's emergency response agencies has to develop its own separate agreement with TELE911. For example, each city within the county, as well as Riverside County, must reach an agreement with TELE911. However, he did not think this would be a significant delay.

“This will give us options for individuals' safety,” he added.

During the discussion of this item, 3rd District Supervisor Chuck Washington said, “I'm really excited about the progress we're making ... Riverside County is taking innovative steps to prevent long wall time and get our ambulance and firefighter paramedics back into the streets.”

Since March 2022, TELE911 has been providing telemedicine services. Besides California, it also operates in Florida and Texas, Brad Bihun, operations manager for TELE911, said. Within the state, Alameda and Kern are the only other California counties to use this option for emergency calls.

County EMS officials have been concerned about the care for patients and the ability to respond to timely emergency situations. A county grand jury report also spoke to these issues.

In May, the grand jury reported about the time it takes to transfer a patient from the ambulance to the hospital's care.

The grand jury focused on the delay it takes to officially transfer patients to hospital care after the ambulance arrives at the hospital. It is not unusual for this transfer to take more than 30 minutes. It happens enough that the EMS administrators have officially named it Ambulance Patient Off-

Insurance among issues at PCWD meeting

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

Pine Cove Water District (PCWD) Director Lou Padula had a number of questions regarding items on the financial report at last week's meeting. Two had to do with insurance.

Another item questioned was a check for almost $2,000 to former General Manager Jerry Holldber. This was for an “80% full propane tank” to be used at Rocky Point to service the emergency generator for the communications unit. A new tank alone would cost $3,500, General Manager Jeremy Potter noted.

Padula also inquired as to fees from PNC bank: A $250 service charge was a bimonthly charge for all the electronic transfers from customers paying bills, and $43 was the charge for a large electronic deposit from the Local Area Investment Fund.

Potter gave the operations report, beginning with static well #10, which has risen .84 inches to 69.9 feet. He noted that last year the well level was 140 feet. “Good winters bring full wells,” he said. Rain also means less demand, so production is down slightly: about 12% from the last two years.

Installing new smart meters continues: the first two of seven books (meter reading routes) have been finished. Old meters are being sold for $2 each to a recycler, and the first check for $600 was received.

When time allows, the crew is repairing and replacing the last hydrants with discrepancies discovered during the summer's inspections. A few had leaks between the meter and the hydrant. Several on Overlook Drive had been slated for replacement for decades. As new lines are being laid, some old hydrants will be removed.

Well #13, near Thousand Trails, has been completely refurbished. It was inspected with a camera, and Potter described seeing the sides of the bore through solid granite, and the cracks through which water was entering the well “just pouring in.” The well is about 400 feet deep, with the pump 300 feet down. Once the water has been tested it will be brought online.

Purchasing Pine Cove Park from the county is moving forward; it is expected to enter escrow on Sept. 15.

The district's two temporary employees have begun laying blocks for the new vehicle maintenance pit. Once that is done the wall will be grouted and when cured, back-filled. Then prepping for the 60-foot-by-20-foot concrete slab will begin. Material for the shade cover is on hand.

Potter has been pursuing a mower deck attachment for the skid-steer. A new one, capable of cutting saplings up to 7 inches, would cost $10,505, but the district's tractor mechanic, Ted Johnson in Garner Valley, found a slightly used unit for $2,600. It will take out saplings up to 4 inches and “we only need to cut grass,” Potter said. Potter plans to haul the skid-steer down to Lake Skinner and demo the attachment before purchase. Last month, PCWD paid $2,300 for mowing its lot in Dutch Flats.

Director Lou Padula had a number of questions regarding items on the financial report at last week's meeting. Two had to do with insurance: The district, in addition to its responsibility for medical insurance under CalPERS for full-time employees ($9,363), also pays for life insurance ($98.93 monthly, and checks were issued on first and last of this month, the next month being paid a few days early) and ADOM, in which the district reimburses employees up to a $1,000 limit for audio, dental, optical and medical expenses.

President Robert Hewitt asked Office Manager Becky Smith to brief the board on an upcoming increase in health insurance premiums: As of Jan. 1, they are set to rise 12 to 15% on top of a “huge increase” last year. The monthly $9,363 payment to CalPERS adds up to over $112,000 a year.

A table of available plans was included in the packet. Presently, employees are given a choice of PERS “gold” and “platinum” plans. No significantly cheaper options are on the list. They may opt for a plan that includes only themselves, one dependent or a whole family; the district has covered the amount up to the one-dependent plan, and employees pay the difference if they wish to cover their whole family.

Next year, one-dependent plans will be $1,718 and $2,431, and family plans will be $2,234 and $3,161 monthly. The family plan for the less expensive plan is less than the other plan with one dependent, and so the popular option. Employees on the gold family plan will begin to pay $516 unless the board changes its policy.

Presently, Smith, slated to retire late this year, is the only employee on the platinum plan, with the other five full-time employees opting for gold. After retirement, employees may opt to continue their coverage, with the district contributing a “minimum maximum” of $120, but Smith said she did not intend to do this.

Smith and Potter both described the present plans as good ones, even “top of the line.” The gold offers 80/20 co-pays, the platinum 90/10. The gold has a good network, but platinum allows a wider choice of specialists. The plans are PPOs and doctors on the Hill are providers within them.

Smith recommended the board form a committee to review current policy and consider how much the district is willing to pay. She will continue to talk to CalPERS to determine what options the district has; PCWD's contract with the system may limit how it restricts employee choice. “It's my understanding ... that we can pick from any of these [plans],” she said. “Kaiser does not insure anybody in the 92549 ZIP code, Peace Officers [plans] wouldn't be [for] us ... But the district has the right to set a cap.” Smith also provided the board with the earlier resolution (#144, from 1981) that sets the present policy, and an amendment from 2012.

Hewitt asked directors Padula and Vicki Jacubac to form an ad hoc committee and report back with a recommendation and resolution for the November meeting. His own opinion: “I know it's a lot of money, but if there's one thing we should be spending money on, it's our people.”

The board meets next at 10 a.m. Wednesday, Oct. 11.

Telemedicine

load Delays. First responders — ambulance or fire crews — responsible for the patient until the hospital takes over call it “wall time.”

One of the grand jury’s recommendations was to begin using telehealth capability or telemedicine. In its July response to the grand jury, the county stated, “With regard to EMS telemedicine, models have been tested and we continue to look for viable telemedicine solutions. These agreements will be presented to the Board of Supervisors within the next year,” and last week that occurred.

Although the county has not contacted Idyllwild Fire Department, Chief Mark LaMont agreed with the benefits telemedicine offers. “... we have, however, been discussing the possibility of utilizing such a product with our medical director Dr. Romness ...

“I think that it will likely help on more chronic cases that would like to be seen by a physician but may not actually need an emergency ambulance ride,” he added.

With telemedicine, when first responders are sent to a scene that requires medical attention and a possible transport to a hospital, they will now have another option for some cases. When the first responders feel it is appropriate, they will be able to request a consultation from TELE911 medical staff who are Emergency Room Board-certified physicians, Bihun added.

“They are the same as ER doctors,” he said. “That’s a critical part of the program. The patient has the same level of care as if they are transported.”

With the software installed on first responder’s field computers, they will be able to contact a TELE911 medical staff. The telemedicine providers will make a recommendation based on the patient’s condition. If the patient agrees, the outcome could be treatment in place and a TELE911 provider will follow up with the patient.

Other choices might be the patient refuses transport against the medical advice offered. TELE911 will continue to follow up.

Transport to either the nearest emergency room or to an alternative destination are the other two options available.

Local sisters to perform in El Cajon

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

Two Idyllwild sisters are blazing trails artistically with the premier of their second project as Cinballera Entertainment, melding elements of cinema, ballet and opera. Tiffany, 22, and Rebekah, 19, are daughters of James and Teresa Brannan. Their new production, based on material from Tolkien's "Lord of the Rings," is called "Lady of the Ring," and will take place from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Friday Sept. 22, which is also "Tolkien Day," at Water Conservation Garden, 12122 Cuyamaca College Drive West, El Cajon. Tickets are $25. For more information, visit cinballera.org.

Cinema, ballet and opera are infrastructure-intensive art forms, with costly productions and hierarchical structures where performers are "cogs in a machine," but the Brannans have found a way to express their own visions within the traditions they love. Their first production was "Stolen Love: a Chamber Ballopera." It combined a comic opera — Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief" — with an original ballet based on that composer's only piano concerto.

"The Lady of the Ring" tells its story twice: once through a chamber opera based on a song cycle Tolkien himself commissioned, supplemented with adaptations of art songs; and then again through an original ballet set to a Shostakovich piano concerto. The work will be realized by "a fellowship of nine performers." The intent is to release video productions of Cinballera's projects.

The Crier spoke by phone with Tiffany Brannan this week to find out more about the sisters and their latest project.

TC: Were you and your sister Idyllwild Arts [Academy] (IAA) students?

TB: No. Both of us were home-schooled, and graduated at 13, but we studied privately with excellent teachers who also taught at IAA. We've been studying privately with college professors for singing as well as dancing since we were young. I became a professional journalist and Rebekah became a professional ballerina, and now I am a professional opera singer.

TC: Tolkien is a popular franchise.

TB: A lot of people like to do their own take on it.

TC: And this is explicitly a woman's take?

TB: Yes. Instead of the Dark Lord, we made it a Dark Lady, and then after she is killed by Smeagol (who becomes Golem), her spirit is in the ring, and so anyone who puts it on sees her spirit, as Precious. Instead of just an evil mastermind genius she is also a femme-fatale.

TC: And femme fatales are juicy roles for an opera singer?

TB: Yes.

TC: What are some favorite femme fatales from opera?

TB: Carmen is maybe the most famous. There is Delilah in Saint-Saëns' "Sampson and Delilah," there's the Queen of the Night in Mozart's "Magic Flute." She was seductive but she was also very dangerous, and similar to the Dark Lady.

TC: You are premiering the work at the Water Conservation Garden? That sounds dry?

TB: Yes, the conservation garden. It is very beautiful. It has a couple of water features. Mostly it is showing how a California landscape can be laid out to minimize water usage. This garden has a wonderful amphitheater available for events, and we're bringing our own stage.

TC: You wouldn't want a dancer to go "en pointe" on concrete.

TB: No.

TC: And the music is a piano?

TB: Electric piano.

TC: Who is playing?

TB: Abe Fabella, a very accomplished pianist and music director for many venues. He played for our previous show and we're using him again.

TC: So, the piece is two parts. First a concert?

TB: We put together our own opera using music by Donald Swann. He wrote the song cycle, "The Road Goes Ever On," and Tolkien collaborated on it, in 1967.

TC: How would you describe the musical style?

TB: Very typical of English art songs from 18th century. High musical quality, but more playful than what you'd find in the movies ... It gives you a kind of insight into what kind of music Tolkien thought would go with his story. We are using six out of the seven songs in the cycle, changing the words for one.

TC: You drew from sources in several languages, including Tolkien's invented Elvish?

TB: In addition to the cycle, there are 15 art songs; we changed the lyrics to fit the story — one in German, one had Portuguese and instead we put in some Elvish text, it's the "One Ring" song that we put in as an opening song. Besides those two, the thing is in English, so it's very accessible.

TC: You don't need to be a native Elvish speaker?

TB: No. One other thing that makes it easy to understand is that between songs we have Bilbo reading from his book, to tell the story the songs are portraying.

Bilbo's "book" is the hobbit's autobiography; during his adventure he often thinks of writing a memoir, to be titled "There and Back Again, A Hobbit's Holiday." The Brannans have apparently discovered his legendary "Red Book of Westmarch."

Indigenous Peoples Day at Idyllwild Arts

Idyllwild Arts presents its second-annual Indigenous Peoples Day Celebration Sunday and Monday, Oct. 8 and 9, on campus. Idyllwild Arts is an institution rooted in respect, reverence, and support for Native American people, culture, and art, and is the only residential arts high school in the country to offer a Native American Arts Center led by a Native American Executive Director Shaliyah Ben (Diné). Idyllwild Arts respectfully acknowledges the Qawishpa Cahuillaangnah (also known as Cahuilla Band of Indians) on whose land the Idyllwild Arts community resides.

This event is integral to the school's mission to change lives through the transformative power of art. The special public program is designed to educate and uplift the Native American community with guest artists, scholars and performers who will share a vast array of knowledge based on traditional philosophies. The following programming is free and open to the public.

Sunday: The festivities will kick off with a welcome reception at 2 p.m. on the patio of William M. Lowman Concert Hall at the Idyllwild Arts campus, featuring light appetizers and beverages, with Idyllwild Arts President Pamela Jordan and Ben hosting. Learn more about the recent expansion of the Native American Arts Program and how to get involved.

Following the reception and presentation, guests will be welcomed into the concert hall for a concert Native American Music Award (NAMA)-winning pianist, Connor Chee presents at 3 p.m. The Navajo pianist and composer (born in 1987) is known for combining his classical piano training with his Diné (Navajo) heritage. Chee made his Carnegie Hall debut at age 12 after winning a gold medal in the World Piano Competition.

Monday: This free, day-long event includes public programming from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., which will celebrate the many contributions Indigenous People make to humanity.

• 9 a.m.: Margaret A. Cargill Commons

The day of celebration will commence with Sean Milanovich, Ph.D., vice president of the Native American Land Conservancy, giving a welcome. Milanovich will provide insight on the significance of the land on which the Idyllwild Arts campus is situated and share thoughts about the importance of Indigenous-led land stewardship. Bird Singers from neighboring Cahuilla communities will share social songs to usher in the day designed to celebrate and uplift Indigeneity in the arts.

• 9:30 and 10:45 a.m.: William M. Lowman Concert Hall and IAF Theatre

Event attendees will be invited to two separate morning presentations; after each presentation, attendees will switch venues:

William M. Lowman Concert Hall will host Derrick Suwaima Davis (Hopi/Choctaw) and Ryon Polequaptewa (Hopi), who will present "Dancing with the Universe: Native Style," an original theatrical work that tells a story of seasons, cycles and the value of respecting the natural order of the universe. Davis is a seven-time world champion Hoop Dancer and the artistic director of Native Trails, an intertribal collaborative. He has been featured on the covers of leading publications such as Smithsonian and Native Peoples and was once named Cosmopolitan's "Man of the Year."

IAF Theatre will host Bethany Yellowtail (Northern Cheyenne), who will share a presentation about her work as one of the nation's top fashion designers. A 2009 graduate of the Fashion Institute of Design and Merchandising, she founded her label in 2015 upon leaving a career in corporate fashion. Driven by the desire to see herself and her communities authentically and equitably represented in mainstream fashion, Yellowtail has become a leading voice in the fashion industry. She recently won a grant from the Visa She's Next in Fashion program to fund the expansion of her clothing brand, B. Yellowtail. Her mission is to share authentic Indigenous designs with the world, empowering the next generation.

• Noon: Holmes Amphitheatre

Idyllwild Arts will be offering a Native Foods Luncheon on a first-come, first-served basis, with Indigenous-inspired fare including lean meats, corn, beans, squash and crowd favorites like frybread. While visitors enjoy lunch, Indigenous R&B singer and TikTok sensation Tia Wood will perform an outdoor concert. Wood, 23, is a Cree and Salish singer and creator based in Vancouver, British Columbia, who has garnered international attention for her unique talent. Vogue Magazine recently praised Wood as "one of the most inspiring, and most stylish creators out there."

The afternoon is student-facing workshops with Idyllwild Arts Academy students Sherman Indian High School students from Riverside having curated educational sessions. This special invitation for Sherman students provides an important point of access for Native American students who otherwise would have not had the opportunity to meet and connect with these Native artists.

• 5-8 p.m.: Creekstone Inn, 54950 Pine Crest Ave

A one-of-a-kind concert by Native folk and blues rocker Keith Secola (Ojibwe). Secola is an award-winning rock/folk musician best known for his upbeat song "NDN Kars" from the film "Dance Me Outside" considered across Indian Country to be a uniting anthem. Hoop Dancing demonstrations also will take place and more musical guests will join in. The evening also will feature a discussion about the recent expansion of the Idyllwild Arts Native American Arts Program into a newly established center. Learn about the goals of the Native American Arts Center and how it will contribute to the rich artistic and cultural fabric of the Idyllwild. Light refreshments and beverages will be provided.

Kid Scoop Together

What's the difference between sweat and tears?

Your body makes liquids. Some of those liquids are tears.

Why do I cry?

Everyone Cries Sometimes

Crying is natural! Sometimes crying gets the sadness out, and after a good cry, we feel better. There is a good reason for this. Tears contain some special ingredients that make you feel better.

Happy Tears

When people have a lot of happy feelings inside, that can bring out the tears, too.

Circle the things that sometimes make you cry happy tears.

Seeing a family member who lives far away

A happy ending in a movie or book

Laughing with your friends

Winning an award

Why do tears come out of my eyes?

Your eyes always have tears. There are special glands near your eyes that make tears. Most of the time, they make just enough to keep our eyes clean and healthy. If something gets in your eye, more tears are made that rinse your eyes and remove what shouldn't be there.

What's in tears? Use the code!

1 = A	4 = L	7 = S
2 = E	5 = O	8 = T
3 = I	6 = R	9 = W

Mostly 9 1 8 2 6. A little 7 1 4 8 5 3 4, and something that kills germs. When you blink, your eyelids spread the tears around your eyeballs.

The 5 3 4 helps keep the 9 1 8 2 6 close to your eyes.

Some are sweat.

While they are both wet, they do different things.

Tears keep your eyes from drying out. They can also help you feel better.

Sweat comes out of your skin to keep you cool on a hot day. Sweat also cools you down when you exercise.

Brain to Glands!

A part of your brain turns the "tear faucet" off and on. This happens when you feel strong emotions—happy and sad.

Your eye glands can produce more than half a cup of tears in minutes. This is too much for the eye glands to hold, so the overflow tears fall out of your eyes. Sometimes, overflowing tears go down your nose. That's why when you cry, your nose might run.

Circle every other letter to discover what the glands that make the tears that flow to your eyes are called.

REFLEX TEARS

EMOTIONAL TEARS

Made when you're feeling emotional, such as happy or sad.

Happy and sad mean opposite things. Look through the newspaper for words that mean the opposite. Glue the words onto cards and play a game of fish where a "match" is two words that mean the opposite.

About how many tears do our eyes produce each day?

We produce about 5-10 ounces of tears every day.

CREATURE CORNER

By JANICE MURASKO

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," ARF cats and kittens talked about Lilac's adoption.

Harley: Another announcement! Katnis was adopted, and she now has the perfect home.

Pepper: Woohoo! That is such good news. Maybe it portends well for the rest of us.

Phil: Oh, that is a good thought.

Don: Let's use the kittens to draw in potential adopters.

Harley: You know, the man who adopted Katnis originally came in for a kitten, but when he met that beautiful girl, he was sold.

Rosie: I guess I don't mind being used as a lure. You never know, the visitors could fall for me.

Phil: Or me!

Delight: Seriously, who could resist me.

Don: Now that fall is right around the corner, it would be such a good thing for a family to adopt a warm, fuzzy kitty to keep them company.

Starlight: And keep them warm, too.

Twilight: I think so many potential adopters would be pleased to know that all ARF cats are spayed or neutered.

Don: No one can possibly accuse us of adding to the cat explosion problem.

Harley: It is such a relief to know that ARF cats are safe from Starlight: Living with an intact cat — male or female — is not an especially pleasant experience, I've heard. From what I know, intact cats of both sexes are serious about territory, status and sex. Under the influence of their hormones, they roam and fight (especially males).

Twilight: Right, and thanks to their teeth and claws, they are perfectly capable of maiming or killing one another.

Don: If a cat isn't kept indoors, it can disappear for days in search of a mate and may come home with bite abscesses and other wounds from fights.

Starlight: Wow. That is very scary!

Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of Days of our Nine Lives each week. And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Hwy 243. ARF is open Saturdays 10-3, Sundays 10-2, and during the week by appointment. Please call 951-659-1122.

The month of September is sponsored by Charlotte Center Anthony. For those interested in sponsoring future months of Creature Corner, contact ARF at 951-659-1122 or info@idyllwildarf.org.

• Ages 4-5: The Idyllwild Ice Cream Dragonflies played the Canopy Toys Dino Strikers. It was a very entertaining game to watch as Ayla Boyle played great defense for the Dragonflies and Uriah Leigh made some great saves for the Dino Strikers.

• Ages 6-9: The House of Grace Dragons battled the La Casita Black Venom. It was a very close game with Lily Davila making some great passes to her teammates. Joseph Bernier played very great for the Dragons with stellar defense and cleared the ball out many times close to his goal, but it wasn't quite enough as the Black Venom stayed undefeated squeaking past the Dragons 2-1.

Standings

	Wins	Losses	Ties
La Casita Black Venom	2	0	0
House of Grace Dragons	0	2	0
Speakeasy Book Market Gray Wolves	1	1	0

• Ages 10-13: The Idyllwild Town Real Estate Pythons hosted the Idyllwild Backhoe Miami Mess. Just like the first two games that were neck and neck ending in ties, this one was just as close. River Fernandez of the Miami Mess had a great game for the Miami Mess being aggressive and made some great passes that helped his goalkeepers. However, Roman Quintyn of the Pythons counteracted with some nifty dribbling and opened up the field for his teammates to make plays. This game also went down to the wire as the game ended in a tie 1-1. There will now be a shoot-out if the teams tie again during the season.

Standings

	Wins	Losses	Ties
Idyllwild Backhoe Miami Mess	0	0	3
Idyllwild Town Real Estate Pythons	0	0	3

Kayson Adams of the Pythons is dribbling the ball looking for a good scoring chance while Orion Colinson of the Miami Mess is in hot pursuit to try and stop him.
