AnnaMarie Santana, new San Jacinto district ranger

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

AnnaMarie Santana is the most recent San Jacinto district ranger in the San Bernardino National Forest (SBNF). She was appointed in September and assumed her new assignment last month. She is staying, not simply visiting, as has actually been the case for more than a year.

Julie Hall was district ranger from February 2019 until March 2022. Another permanent district ranger between Hall's departure and Santana's arrival was Marc Stammer who only stayed a few months. Otherwise, about five people have overseen the San Jacinto Ranger District in the past 18 months.

Santana sounds like her tenure will be longer. "I'm coming home to the mountains. I'm grateful and happy to be working with the forest service," she said, especially since she grew up in Southern California and spent many vacations in the local national forests. She still has family in Banning.

And her opinion of Idyllwild bodes well for her involvement with the community. "Idyllwild is unique. It's a quaint, beautiful and charming town. It's quite friendly and as quintessentially beautiful as any area from here to Lake Tahoe."

Not only is Santana a Southern Californian and an Azusa High School graduate, but she is a veteran forest service employee.

Having grown up near the San Gabriel Mountains, she began her U.S. Forest Service career as a volunteer, but was encouraged to apply for a full-time position. And by the mid-1980s, she was on the fire lines. After time on several engines, she served on a heli-tack crew and Hot Shots.

But as she said, fire was not her only forest service assignment. "I'm a Jane of all trades and a master of none." She has worked in recreation and interpretation. She has been a botanist and purchasing agent while serving in business management and other varied assignments. Early in her career, she worked on the Mountain Top Ranger District on the SBNF. She has even spent time on the George Washington and Jefferson national forests in Virginia. Her last stop before San Jacinto was as a special uses officer on the Angeles National Forest.

Despite this vast forest service experience, Santana is an impressive multitasker. She was married, had and raised two children, a boy and girl and earned two degrees: biology from California State San Bernardino and a masters in educational administration.

The latter seems unusual for a forest service employee, but Santana has a more varied background. She is a former high school biology, chemistry and life science teacher, and then principal. These adventures were in Southern Oregon.

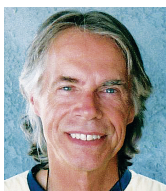

"Even in high school, I was always thinking that I would be a teacher," she said with a smile. "I wanted to do something meaningful. I'm proud of that and gratified."

After a while, the attraction to land management returned and strengthened. Eventually, she accepted a position with the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) in Medford, Oregon, See Santana, page A2

Benefits for military this Veterans Day

At 11 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 11, American Legion Post 800 will host its annual Veterans Day service. Commander Ygnacio Garcia is the speaker, a U.S. Marine Corps veteran.

A free lunch follows the service.

Also this Saturday, the U.S. Forest Service will waive standard amenity fees for all visitors to national forest and grassland day-use areas to show gratitude for the selfless service of the brave military men and women who served the country and the support of their families.

"On Veterans Day, we remember that the Forest Service employs more than 5,000 veterans in jobs throughout the agency," said Jennifer Eberlien, regional forester for the Pacific Southwest Region. "Furthermore, we want to make sure our nation's veterans not only feel valued but also have the opportunity to connect with nature, along with family and friends, on our national forests. This is more important than ever during these challenging times."

The Forest Service offers fee-free access a few times each year to encourage exploring national forests and grasslands. On these special days, standard amenity fees charged for day use sites — like picnic areas, developed trailheads and destination visitor centers — are waived. The waiver does not apply to special recreation permits, cabin rentals, campground reservations, expanded amenity fees on certain highly developed sites and service fees assessed by independent concessionaires operating on national forest land.

Fee-free public lands access is available year-round to U.S. military service members and their families, veterans and Gold Star family members. The Interagency Military Pass is available at no cost to all active-duty military personnel and their families at <https://store.usgs.gov/MilitaryPass>. This pass is honored nationwide at all U.S. Forest Service, National Park Service, Bureau of Land Management, Bureau of Reclamation and U.S. Fish & Wildlife Service sites charging standard amenity or entrance fees.

In celebrating the service of U.S. military veterans, California State Parks is offering free admission to 144 select state parks on Veterans Day, too.

One of those is the Mt. San Jacinto State Park.

"State Parks recognizes the many sacrifices members of our nation's military and their families have made and continue to make in the service of their country," said California State Parks Director Armando Quintero. "It is appropriate to invite all military veterans, reservists, and active-duty personnel to visit state parks for free and connect with nature."

Signed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. in 2013, Assembly Bill 150 (Olsen), authorized California State Parks to offer veterans, active duty, and reserve military personnel from the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, and the National Guard of any state a reduced fee or free day use at participating state parks.

A full list of the participating park units can be found online at parks.ca.gov/VeteransDay2023. To enter these park units for free, a valid military ID or a California driver's license identifying the individual as a veteran must be shown to park staff.

Visitors are asked to recreate responsibly, plan ahead and visit the web or social media pages of their destination to confirm hours of operation and view visitor guidelines.

where she served as an assistant district manager. “The forest service and BLM are sister agencies — both land management,” she said, describing her brief time with BLM. “It was a great opportunity.” And it was an introduction to a management position. By 2019, she was back with the forest service at the Angeles National Forest in Southern California. There she served as a special uses officer and managed several projects. As a Southern California native, Santana is aware of and knows about the various natural disasters — wildfires, floods and earthquakes — that can occur here. “I grew up here and have felt earthquakes,” she stressed, and she is already studying the wildfire plans and preparation with her district fire officer. And as she begins to know her staff, she was already noting how great they are and how fortunate she is to have such talent and competence. Recognizing the many district rangers since Laurie Rosenthal left in 2013 after serving 11 years as district ranger, Santana stressed, “I plan to be here a long time. Stability is important for the district.” “I’m proud to work for an agency that cares for its staff and serving the public. I’ll do my best and I am passionate about the job and mission,” she said and then offered a quote from John Muir: “The mountains are calling and I must go and I will work on while I can, studying incessantly.”

Sunday afternoon at Town Hall, the local U.S. Forest Service district staff honored the local Forest Service Volunteer Association (FSVA) with an annual appreciation party. This year it was a larger crowd because the group is now taking on the fire lookout program. Open enrollment for Covered Cal ends Jan. 31

ADUs may no longer be accessories

By JP CRUMRINE
CORRESPONDENT

Open enrollment in California’s Covered California (CC) began Nov. 1 and will end Jan. 31, 2024. Signing up by Dec. 15 will ensure coverage beginning Jan. 1, 2024. Open enrollment is the time of year when eligible consumers can sign up for health insurance.

“2024 will be a historic year for health care coverage in California,” Gov. Gavin Newsom said in the CC news release. “Here in the Golden State, we are removing barriers and increasing access as we work to create a healthier California for all.”

About 1.6 million Californians (as of March 2023) get health insurance through the CC marketplace. According to the news release, “Open enrollment begins with a record-low uninsured rate of 6.5% among Californians, according to federal data. Since Covered California’s first open-enrollment period in 2013, California’s uninsured rate has fallen from 17.2% to 6.5% in 2022, which is the largest percentage point drop for any state in the nation over this time period.”

Enrollment can start either by visiting the website, www.coveredca.com, or calling (800) 300-1506. Anyone can cancel CC enrollment at any time.

In the area comprising Riverside and San Bernardino counties, the average cost of a plan increased 9.7%, according to CC. However, the average premium can be reduced 4.2% if consumers shop and switch to the lowest cost plan in their current medal tier (Bronze, Silver or Gold or Platinum).

Premiums can be lowered or be less expensive for several reasons, according to CC. “The new state-enhanced cost-sharing program will strengthen the Silver Cost Sharing Reduction [CSR] plans, increasing the value of Silver 73 plans to approximate the Gold level of coverage and increasing Silver 87 plans to approximate the Platinum level of coverage. Silver 94 plans already exceed Platinum-level coverage.”

Another important benefit is the elimination of deductibles in all three Silver CSR plans. Other benefits will vary by plan but will include a reduction in generic drug costs and copays for primary care, emergency care and specialist visits, and a lowering of the maximum out-of-pocket cost, according to the release.

“There has never been more financial assistance available to help Californians pay for health care through Covered California than there will be in 2024,” said Jessica Altman, CC executive director. “We want every uninsured resident to know that affordable health care coverage is available and within closer reach than ever before.”

Inland Empire Health Plan, one of the 10 largest Medicaid health plans in the nation that serves more than 1.6 million residents, will join CC and begin offering coverage in Riverside and San Bernardino counties.

“Increased competition benefits our marketplace and provides our enrollees with meaningful choices for their health coverage,” Altman said. “With Inland Empire Health Plan joining the marketplace and carrier partners like Aetna CVS and Health Net expanding their service areas, Covered California consumers will have more choices than ever to shop, compare and find a plan that best fits their family’s needs ...

“Nearly 90% of Covered California’s enrollees receive financial help, with many paying $10 or less per month for their health insurance,” Altman said. “With the enhanced subsidies and increased affordability support available to consumers, access to high-quality, affordable health care has never been more within reach for Californians.”

To check one’s eligibility or look at other plans, CC recommends the Shop and Compare Tool at: apply.coveredca.com/lw-shopandcompare/.

The theme for this year’s open enrollment campaign is Bridging the Gap. CC wants to focus on how uninsured Californians can obtain health insurance. CC offers a “... bridge for those who are no longer eligible for Medi-Cal or may have lost their employer-based coverage,” according to the news release.

“With the end of the federal continuous coverage requirement in March, Medi-Cal began its yearlong renewal and redetermination process for more than 15 million members in April. To help those deemed no longer eligible for Medi-Cal, Covered California launched its auto-enrollment program to eliminate gaps in coverage and aid a seamless transition from Medi-Cal to a health plan offered by Covered California.

“Consumers who have been auto-enrolled in a Covered California plan must take action to start their coverage, by opting in or by paying for their first month’s premium, if one is required — and crossing over into coverage with the exchange,” CC stated.

One may have a legitimate reason outside of open enrollment, to seek CC’s help, which is called the Special Enrollment Period. If this open enrollment period is missed, it may be possible to enroll for health insurance before the next open enrollment in the fall of 2024 if a “qualified life event,” such as losing coverage through a job, having a baby, moving or getting married, has occurred. These types of life changes allow individuals to apply for enrollment at any time. A full list of life changing events can be found at the CC website: www.coveredca.com/support/before-you-buy/qualifying-life-events/.

During its recently concluded session, the state Legislature enacted a bill affecting accessory dwelling units (ADUs). It’s intended to help increase home ownership, but could it affect the short-term rental (STR) market, too?

Assembly Bill (AB) 1033 amends state law and permits homeowners, under specific conditions, to sell their ADU, as if it were a condominium.

An ADU can come in many forms. Often it is referred to as a “Granny Flat” or other references include second units, in-law units, backyard cottages, casitas or junior accessory dwelling units. The number of ADU permits has grown 10 times from about 1,300 in 2016 to more than 14,000 in 2019. In Riverside County, 93 ADU permits were issued in 2019.

Under current state law, they cannot be separated from the main housing structure, but AB 1033 allows local jurisdictions to enact laws that would permit the sale of these units. One of the principal requirements will be that utilities and local governments are notified of the added unit.

Assembly member Phil Ting (D-San Francisco) introduced AB 1033 in February 2023. His intent was to find another way to lower the cost of housing in California.

The Assembly’s report on AB 1033 noted, “One potential pathway to homeownership for moderate- and lower-income households could be through the sale or conveyance of ADUs. The average size of a single-family home in California is 1,860 square feet. By comparison, the average size of an ADU in California is less than one-third of that, at 615 square feet.”

“The lack of home ownership opportunities in most California communities for working families is contributing to the state’s growing population of renters and driving families out of state so that they can buy a home,” Ting said, introducing the legislation. “Many neighborhoods have become de-facto gated communities, with median home prices of $700K to $1M keeping out all but a small percentage of Californians from ever dreaming of home ownership ... AB 1033 allows cities and counties the freedom to pursue homeownership programs and to create a path to wealth-building for families by repealing the current law prohibiting the separate conveyance of ADUs.”

The bill also requires written and recorded evidence that each lienholder consents to establishing condominiums. If a property is within a homeowner’s association, that homeowner’s association must approve creating the condominium.

After Gov. Gavin Newsom signed AB 1033, Denise Pinkston, president of the Casita Coalition, said, “Signing AB 1033 into law will help families burdened by high housing costs. Our children won’t have to move out of state to purchase a home; employers will be able to attract and retain workers who would otherwise leave our state due to lack of affordable homes; and elders who want to downsize and stay in their communities will have new options,”.

ADUs are currently permitted to be STRs in Riverside County; however, this change allowing them to be bought and sold separately may encourage more ADUs bought as a second home to rent.

What if?

DEAR EDITOR:

I am asking, what if? What if the God of the Holy Bible is real? What if all the words in the Bible are true? What if heaven and hell are real? What if there is truth and there are lies?

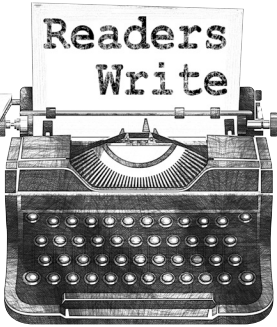

What if God made only two sexes, male and female? What if God wanted only a man and a woman to marry each other?

What if lying, stealing, adultery, fornication, drugs, getting drunk, murder abortion are wrong?

What if all of us have sinned and need to repent? What if J-E-S-U-S are the letters to accept? What if Jesus is the way to Father God who loves us? — God who gave us His only Son and whomever believes in Him will not perish? What if?

What if He, Jesus, is the answer to our problems? What if He will meet all our needs, our need for love, joy, peace, our sorrow, hurts, fears, rejection, aloneness, loneliness, our addictions, our emotional and physical pain, plus more?

Yes, what if?

Veterans Day

DEAR EDITOR:

Veterans Day, observed annually Nov. 11, is a day of reflection, gratitude and respect for all those who have served in the United States Armed Forces. The holiday began in 1919 when President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed Nov. 11 as Armistice Day to memorialize the end of WW I and to reflect upon the heroism of those who died in our country's service.

This day holds a special place in the hearts of all Americans as it provides us with an opportunity to express our deepest appreciation for the men and women who have selflessly defended our freedom and way of life. While most people recognize veterans on this day once per year, it is important to not overlook the role veterans play each day in America. Veterans service organizations, such as the Veterans of Foreign Wars, strive to highlight the importance of veterans all year long.

In California, home to a significant number of veterans and military installations, the impact of their service is particularly profound. Californians have a proud tradition of supporting our veterans, and Veterans Day is an occasion for us to unite in celebrating that tradition. It is a day for parades, memorial services and gatherings where we express our gratitude to those who have served, and also for educating future generations about the value of service and sacrifice.

This Veterans Day, we encourage you to reflect on the important contributions veterans make both in our nation and in our individual communities. Take a moment to thank a veteran for their service or contact your local VFW Post to see how you can make a positive difference in the lives of veterans and their families. Lastly, let us reaffirm our commitment to ensuring that no veteran is left behind and that their sacrifices are never forgotten.

A homeless man was convicted in a felony vandalism case and will be sentenced Jan. 4, 2024.

On Aug. 23, Samuel Noah Gray, 30, was staying at the victim's residence because he was apparently homeless, according to Riverside County District Attorney Information Specialist John Hall. Hall said, "... Gray damaged the outside of the home and also broke two windows."

The total damage was $400. He was arrested at Highway 243 and Pine Crest Avenue, and booked into the Larry D. Smith Correctional Housing Unit on $10,000 bail. He was released Oct. 4 after pleading guilty.

Idyllwild man found dead in ravine

By BECKY CLARK
EDITOR

The Riverside County Coroner's Office reported that Fred Robles, 45, of Idyllwild, was found dead in a ravine near Highway 243 about 0.4 miles south of Westley Street in Banning Wednesday, Nov. 1.

It is unknown when Robles died. California Highway Patrol (CHP) Public Information Officer Jonathan Torres said the CHP investigating officer did not have a cause of death. The coroner's office would have to provide that information, he said, when the autopsy is complete.

Left, Jeff Galizio (right), a volunteer at the Idyllwild Nature Center, spoke to the Idyllwild Rotary Club Wednesday morning, Nov. 1, at American Legion Post 800. Galizio's detailed update on the various projects at the Nature Center was enlightening to the club. Rotary President David Cutter thanks him with a Rotary mug.

San Jacinto Valley Animal Campus officially reopens to the public

Riverside County supervisors gathered with county executives and the Department of Animals Services team to kick off the grand reopening of the San Jacinto Valley Animal Campus Friday, Nov. 3. The event served to formally welcome community members to tour the campus and maybe find a new pet to adopt or foster.

“When I first took office, many complaints I came across was that the county only had two active animal shelters: one being in Riverside, and the other being in Coachella,” said 5th District Supervisor Yxstian Gutierrez. “One day, I came across a heartfelt story when I heard a child who lives in San Jacinto lost his puppy and could not retrieve the dog because Coachella was too far of a commute for his parents. Can you imagine losing your best friend due to lack of resources? This motivated me even more to champion the re-opening of this shelter.”

Families brought gently used towels and blankets for the animals and donated stacks of newspapers to the shelter. In turn, residents were treated to free pet adoptions to celebrate the grand reopening of the animal campus.

Among the officials to take part in the reopening festivities was 3rd District Supervisor Chuck Washington, Gutierrez, Riverside County Chief Operating Officer Juan C. Perez and Riverside County Department Animal Services Director Erin Gettis, as well as city representatives and local partners.

The Riverside County Board of Supervisors voted unanimously in June to provide funding that would make it possible to reopen the San Jacinto shelter after it was shuttered in 2020 due to budgetary concerns during the COVID pandemic.

“By reopening the San Jacinto campus, the county is better able to serve our mid-county residents and their pets,” said Washington. “The community will now enjoy the entirety of benefits that a fully staffed animal shelter can offer.”

While the facility, located at 581 S. Grand Ave., in San Jacinto, has provided some limited services to unincorporated areas of the county, the $3.4 million budget adopted and ratified by the bboard on June 20 now allows for a broader spectrum of public amenities to include licensing, sheltering and fostering, and adoption opportunities.

“Not only does reopening the shelter improve the Department of Animal Services’ ability to provide comprehensive services, but it will play a vital role in addressing the overcrowding of our shelters here in Riverside County, much as we have seen across the nation,” said Gettis.

More than 20 new staff have been hired or assigned to the shelter to include animal control officers, animal control technicians, animal adoption counselors and support services technicians. Veterinary care is also being explored depending on access to specialized and available resources.

2023 EMax Award recipient: Les Gin

By DAVID JEROME
CORRESPONDENT

Readers have voted, and the recipient of this year's Ernie Maxwell Community Spirit Award is Leslie Moon Gin. The award recognizes those who, through their own tangible effect on the community, represent EMax's own spirit of community and volunteerism, and inspire others to join in.

Les came to Idyllwild after a long career in banking in Tucson and Phoenix, but got his bachelor's degree in finance, business administration and real estate from Point Loma University in San Diego. Beginning at 22 as a loan officer, he worked for a number of local and regional banks and served as vice president at Valley National Bank, J.P. Morgan Chase Bank and Wells Fargo Bank. He was the founding president of the first Asian bank in Arizona.

He is no newcomer to community service; In addition to working with numerous Asian and Pacific Island local groups, in 1982 he founded the Pan Asian Community Alliance to unite the Asian communities in Tucson. At the top of his game, he was sitting on 16 boards concurrently. In Idyllwild, he tried "retirement" and that lasted about two years. "Overrated," he said.

The Crier called Les and spoke with him this week. He and his wife, Holly Parsons, were surprised and delighted to be recognized by the community. It should be noted that the two of them speak as one, with one completing the other's thoughts, and lots of laughter. Les sometimes refers to her as his "publicist" or "manager."

TC: Your involvement with local groups includes being a director of Idyllwild Water District and Idyllwild Community Center, and membership in the Art Alliance and Rotary. Are there others we should know about?

LG: Mountain Community Patrol volunteering to help the sheriff ... and I'm with Mountain Community Mutual Aid; we do the food bank. I take care of the excess food. I may end up with potatoes, carrots ... I go to the local restaurants and distribute it to the cooks and service workers, not the owners. The food bank distributes noon to 2 p.m. and the workers can't make it. I also drop off for the American Legion.

We have another food bank, first Tuesday of the month, called Feed America, at Town Hall. They have a farmers market in Hemet, Bautista Creek Farms, and they donate what is left over. Every Friday, after 2 o'clock, for the last three years I do that, pick it up. We store it. The Brewpub donates space in their walk-in fridge. This adds produce to the boxes. Feed America just had canned goods and dry goods. This adds another dimension, gives recipients fresh produce. Because of the generosity of Bautista Creek Farms.

HP: Les has a history in the grocery business. His family owned a grocery store in Tucson, Arizona. He was at the cash register from about the age of 6. He didn't speak any English yet, but he knew the name of everything in the store. He went into banking. However, he's happiest when he's moving food around this town.

LG: Making a difference.

HP: He's aware that he is representing a diverse community himself. That's one of the reasons why he does it.

LG: I worked all the way up to bank president; one of the first Asian-American bank presidents in the U.S. Always I got the question: "Where are you from?"

TC: Tucson, Arizona?

LG: Born, native American.

HP: He gave a speech at Rotary two years ago about "micro-aggression" and the forms in which it can happen to minorities in a community.

LG: Not just Chinese; Asian, Indigenous. I am fortunate that I am in positions where I am able to do these things.

Les shared this speech with the Crier. It includes a moving retelling of his family's story; 25 generations in one village; his parents-to-be, youngsters uprooted by war, coming to Tucson, resolved to succeed and be good members of the community. His father died when Les was 11, and his mother worked tirelessly in the family grocery, drilling into her son's head the customer service mantra, "Make everybody feel welcome." The speech describes the stereotyping he has experienced in his own life with a sense of humor and serious purpose, and fleshes out his seemingly insatiable desire to become involved in organizations, to serve and connect people.

TC: What has Idyllwild meant to you?

LG: Just a magical place, very spiritual. We've got four seasons here. I was accepted; it is a warm and accepting community.

TC: How did you find this place?

HP: He was looking at property, and asked, "Where is Idyllwild?" We both went to college in San Diego but had never heard of it. We were starved for beauty and greenery and nature from all that time in Phoenix. We found it right out of the gate, the first place we went to and the place we stayed. We didn't even look at Big

World Kindness Day!

November 13 is World Kindness Day! Join people around the world on this day and commit random acts of kindness!

The Lion and the Mouse

This famous Aesop fable tells of the importance of kindness.

Late one night in the jungle...

Gotcha!

Please don't eat me, sir!

And why not?

If you'll be so kind as to set me free, I'll pay you back by helping you some day!

YOU? Help ME? HA! HA! Haaaa-ha HAAha!

LATER

HELP! HELP! Someone PLEASE help me!

It's you! Oh my gosh! Hunters tied me up! They'll be back any minute!

Don't you worry! I'll chew through those ropes in no time!

Thanks, little buddy!

Discuss these questions:

- What unexpected acts of kindness did the lion and the mouse each do?
- How did acts of kindness change both their lives?

Standards Link: Civics: Know character traits that contribute to the health of American democracy.

Random Rocks of Kindness

Read the news story below. Fill in the missing words on each blank line using the words in the word box.

In 2018, Tiffany Lester of Regina, Saskatchewan in Canada wanted to do something kind for _____ in her community. She and some friends started painting rocks and _____ them around the community.

People in the community _____ going outdoors to _____ for the rocks. Some started painting more rocks and hiding those. When people find a rock, they are asked to post the _____ on social media.

What do they do with the rocks? Most of them _____ them again, to keep the fun going.

Children are _____ off their digital devices and spending more time _____ trying to find the rocks.

Gather some friends and paint and hide kindness rocks. That would be an act of kindness for your community!

Bear. We did not know how to live on a mountain in a forest. It's been an exciting and adventurous learning curve that we love. We were both city slickers. Now we're mountain folk. We are so brave now. We just leased a house high up on the mountain, tucked in under the Ernie Maxwell Trail. We're both such extremists we just go with it.

TC: Looking forward to being buried in the snow?

LG: Exactly. That's what our friends say. We'll thaw out in March.

TC: You seem to think as one. How long have you been together?

LG: 11 years; friends for six before that. Married a year ago, here in Idyllwild.

TC: You were also publishers of Idyllwild Life Magazine?

HP: Yes. We felt like we wanted to try our hand at expanding the profile of what Idyllwild is all about through this glossy publication. Then, when COVID came around, I became very sensitized to the fact that the magazine was bringing a lot of tourism to the Hill. We were delivering about 10,000 copies into our demographic in San Diego. We just wrapped it up with a third issue. We sold the magazine to a guy who put out one issue and let it go.

TC: That must have been a lot of work.

HP: We did have a couple of guest editors. It was a labor of love, but it was a lot.

TC: Any closing thoughts?

LG: I want to thank Idyllwild for the opportunity to serve. Rotary's motto is, "Service above self." We mean it.

Left, Veronica Garcia and Guillermo Magana work the vegetable and fruit table at the Farmers Market Sunday morning at Town Hall. They've been doing it for quite some time and show up religiously to sell their fresh produce.

STUDENTS OF THE WEEK

Mrs. Mary-Alice White (seventh and eighth grade Language Arts teacher) chose the Idyllwild School Students of the Week. Jamie Perez (top) is a consistent and reliable student and friend to those around her. "She always shows up to class with a smile on her face, and is a positive social and academic role model for her peers," said her teacher. Chloe Kenyon (bottom) "... is one of the sweetest and kindest souls I have ever met. She always goes above and beyond on any assignment she is given, and takes an active role in improving student life on campus through her work in ASB," said her teacher.

CREATURE CORNER

By Janice Murasko

Last week in "Days of Our Nine Lives," ARF cats and kittens talked about securing dogs in the car.

Harley: Guess what! We have a new ARF dog!

Pepper: How exciting! Tell us about him, or her.

Phil: Is that the new dog coming in right now?

Rufus: Hello everyone! I'm Rufus, and I think you were just talking about me.

Carrie: Rufus, you are so cute! You look young.

Rufus: I am young, just about 7 months. I am so very happy to be with ARF. My foster is teaching me lots of good behaviors, especially house training.

Pepper: House training is a very important behavior. I'm so glad she is teaching you.

Rufus: My foster also has two dogs, and I want to play with them all the time. When I'm not playing, I'm snuggling with my foster.

Carrie: So you like people, then.

Rufus: You bet. I am so playful that I think a family would be really good for me.

Smokey: You're small, but not so small you'll be stepped on.

Rufus: I'm about 11 pounds now, but being a puppy one can expect I'll put on a few more pounds.

Pepper: I hope some loving families call to meet you very soon.

Smokey: Wouldn't it be so nice if you had a forever family for this holiday season?

Phil: Actually, it would be so nice for each of us.

Eeyore: Ahhh... just imagine waking up on cold winter days knowing we had a family.

Carrie: And I'm pretty certain each of us is skilled in keeping our person's lap nice and warm.

Smokey: If someone would only give us a chance! Be sure to keep up with the animal antics of Days of our Nine Lives each week. And please stop in to say hello to the entire adoptable cast at the ARF House, 26890 Hwy 243. ARF is open Saturdays 10-3, Sundays 10-2, and during the week by appointment. Please call 951-659-1122.

HOROSCOPES

November 2023 — Week 2

ARIES

March 21 – April 19
There's no need for that suspicious Aries mind of yours to work overtime, either at home or on the job. Remember that appearances are often deceiving.

TAURUS

April 20 – May 20
A new opportunity might seem riskier than you would like. Examine all sides; then rely on your good sense to guide you toward the right decision.

GEMINI

May 21 – June 21
You might be enjoying your new relationship, but if you're still unsure of a commitment, continue to hold off. Your instincts are usually right.

CANCER

June 22 – July 22
You might feel under pressure these days, but be careful not to blow off steam in a way you'll later regret. Opt for a calm discussion to air out grievances.

LEO

July 23 – August 22
A difficult situation will need more than your personal charm to resolve it. Put that Leonine intelligence to work, and you'll soon come up with a prudent solution.

VIRGO

August 23 – September 22
A friend might resent your well-intended attempt to offer advice. Back off and let things settle down before you try again. Meanwhile, be cautious about investments.

LIBRA

September 23 – October 22
Be careful about taking on added obligations at work and/or in your personal life without first checking to see whether you can handle the extra load.

SCORPIO

October 23 – November 21
A rejection is no reason for you to give up. Check to see what went wrong and make adjustments. Then try again! Success is in your aspect.

SAGITTARIUS

November 22 – December 21
Things should be looking up at work, as your ideas begin to find favor with both bosses and co-workers. Romantic aspects also improve.

CAPRICORN

December 22 – January 19
Be more loving with your spouse or partner to prove that you're not taking them for granted. In addition, business deals will need careful scrutiny.

AQUARIUS

January 20 – February 18
As the holidays approach, be wary of those who can take unfair advantage of your generous nature. Also, an old injury flares up and needs attention.

PISCES

February 19 – March 20
Expect to see some old friends at upcoming holiday gatherings, including some who were -- and could once again be -- very special in your life.
